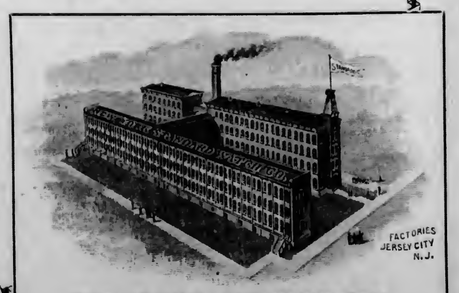
THE most delicate machine in popular use is the Watch. The men who make this "instrument of precision" are trained through long years of accurate manipulation and painstaking care.

When a Watch Company, housed in a great factory, with a world-wide reputation for the quality of its products, adds that Twin "instrument of precision," The Cyclometer, to its line, it is safe to predict for it an enormous popularity, based on its essential merit, and its low price which the economies of large manufacturing make possible.



The "Standard" Cyclometer, made by practical watchmakers, out of watch materials, in a watch factory, is thus unqualifiedly guaranteed.

A GUARANTEE THAT GUARANTEES.

We guarantee that the Standard Cyclometer will stand constant use throughout the life of the buyer. (One was speeded, under power, for 130,000 miles, and showed no appreciable wear). Further, we will repair, without charge, any injured in a mishap to the bicycle. (They are made with a thought of hard knocks).

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH THE LEAGUE?

WE are pained to notice an almost universal anxiety on the part of the cycling press, lest the "good old League" should go wrong.

Knowing as we do, that this solicitude is heartfelt, and also being aware of the fatiguing effects which are produced by mental worry, we hasten to assure our friends of the cycle press that much peace of mind might be secured by looking on the League and its affairs in a more optimistic spirit.

It is extremely probable that cycling and cycling papers would have existed and have been at the present time very successful even had there been no such organization as the League.

But no one who thinks calmly can claim that anything like the fullness of success which has been attained, could have come without the fostering and protecting aid of the L. A. W.

The average cycling editor, whose personal interest in the League amounts to but one dollar per year which he may pay or not as he chooses, can see a great future in the organization if his paper could but be permitted to print the official news, exclusively.

Under such circumstances, the present constitution and by-laws would do well enough, the management could be almost anything, and still there would be great hope for the "old ship."

It would even be considered a good thing if the League would send its official news to all the cycling papers. Though this last method has not quite so good a sound, yet the average "esteemed contemporary" would look upon it with fairly well assumed complacency.

But it was decided to have a new paper whose name and nature should stamp it as essentially the League organ, even though the business details were not directly assumed by the League.

Our e. c., upon learning of this, at once takes on a new aspect, his brow lowers, his general bearing indicates the greatest apprehension, he "views with alarm" where he had hoped to "point with pride."

Dark clouds obscure his horizon; the bright star of future greatness for the L. A. W. is at once extinguished by unreasoning doubt; he sees amid the roaring breakers, the tattered form of the old ship being mercilessly beaten upon the ragged rocks of certain destruction.

His prophetic sense enables him to look down the dim vista of the future and see within the confines of some long forgotten graveyard, a little neglected mound, having at its head the remains of a decaying stone, upon which is the nearly obliterated inscription,

> Here lies the League of American Wheelmen.
> It died because it didn't furnish its news
> To all the cycling press.

The cycling editor sees naught but despair where but a few short weeks ago all was hope and gladness.

Re-organization is talked of, and nearly every scribe who meets the L. A. W. puts on that sad, anxious look, and then at once suggests a remedy for what almost seems to him a real disease.

The c. e. goes home to formulate other diseases and remedies, and the L. A. W. moves on toward an exceedingly hopeful convalescence.

The reader should not forget that this also is written by a cycling editor (a green one, but yet, nominally, an editor). To him the L.A.W.wears a in the business world is what we are all aiming at. Many firms have built up a great business by careful attention to the wants of their customers, and by supplying those wants.

Few bicycle makers pay any attention to the wants of customers. They simply copy the productions of another maker without knowing whether they are correct or not.

Within the past two years the Grand Rapids Cycle Co. has advanced with strides which have surprised all who know them. Their success has been due to a careful study of the wants of local dealers, and a promptness in supplying those wants.

No maker takes more (and few as much) interest in the local dealer than this concern. Last year they wrote all their customers asking for criticisms on the '94 models, and also for suggestions which would improve their wheels. The '95 product of this concern is the result of practical suggestions and improvements of the dealers throughout the country, backed up by knowledge and experience of men who for ten years or more have been practical wheelmen. look which indicates extreme longevity. Its future shines with a lustre never before observable.

He sees in his mind's eye, the "old ship" riding jauntily upon the sun-kissed waves of prosperity; her snowy sails filled with heaven's sweetest oxygen, with Kirkpatrick's brass band on board, and the delightful strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" floating through the ambient air to the uttermost ends of the earth.

We believe this; we shall work for it.

There are thousands of faithful wheelmen everywhere who believe it and who will show their faith by their works.

Many of our esteemed comtemporaries believe it, and for those who do not, we breathe this silent prayer (though not very silent either, considering our circulation).

May the scales fall from their eyes, and may they come out into the sunshine of the new year, which is now twelve-month, and may they always remember that

> "As evening's pale and solitary star
> But brightens while the darkness gathers round.
> So Faith unmoved amid surrounding storms
> Is fairest seen in darkness most profound."

WHY I TOOK IT.

MR. GIBBONS and Mr. Smith, whose pictures are shown above, met recently at a "smoking concert" in Toronto, Canada, and they conferred with each other as follows:

MR. SMITH: Say! have you got any place to sleep to-night?

MR. GIBBONS: No!

MR. SMITH: Neither have I.

MR. GIBBONS: Well, then, come and sleep with me.

This dialogue, somewhat modified, will explain how the L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS got into the present hands.

I have long believed that a permanent Bulletin of some sort would be the most potent factor in getting and keeping together any considerable number of League members.

An effort to make and maintain a satisfactory Bulletin has been honestly followed up even to the verge of disaster, by several able men who had back of them an experience in the business of publishing, which, coupled with the energy and industry put forth should have made it go if there was any of the winning elements in it.

Each time, however, the end has been the same, except that the manner of its taking off has varied just enough to afford scope for the ever ready obituary writer.

The rush after L. A. W. publishing honors finally subsided and it began to look as though experienced publishers, especially those who had had this particular kind of experience, were beginning to be "backward about coming forward."

About this time I conferred with several of the more prominent L. A. W. officials and this is about what was said:

I asked, "Can the League run its own publications?" and the answer was:

"No, the League cannot do so safely."

Then I asked:

"Will the League give me its patronage at a fixed rate per member if I will run the paper?"

The next question was, "What do you know about running a paper?"

My answer to that question need not be printed. I will only say that it was truthful.

I am gravely informed that had I understood any of the fundamental principles which underlie the "art preservative of arts" I could not have desired to rush in where others feared to tread.

When my proposition was first announced to the Assembly, a newspaper man at the press table was heard to remark to his neighbor:

"Elliott must have money to burn."

It might be proper for me to state that his random guess was wide of the facts.

THE WHEELWOMAN
ANNOUNCEMENT.

The time is ripe for a woman's paper devoted to wheeling for women.

A medium is needed for the dissemination of instructive and interesting articles on the subject upon which the existing cycling press is almost unanimously silent.

THE WHEELWOMAN gathers items of interest from all possible sources pertaining to the sport. Fashions in wheel dress and accessories will be given special attention.

THE WHEELWOMAN is in the field, not as a competitor with other cycling papers, but to extend and broaden a work begun years ago: that of bringing women to a realizing sense of the importance of out-door exercise.

THE WHEELWOMAN advocates the highest standard of cycling from a healthful and artistic standpoint.

THE WHEELWOMAN is in no sense a trade journal.

THE WHEELWOMAN advertises and recommends nothing which cannot receive personal endorsement.

Interesting articles by and about prominent women who advocate the wheel, appear each month in the WHEELWOMAN. Able writers contribute to its columns. THE WHEELWOMAN is conducted by

MARY SARGENT HOPKINS.

We offer all Women Members of the L. A W., one year's subscription to THE WHEELWOMAN for 50 cents. The same offer holds good to any woman joining the League within three months of this date. After she has joined, to make the inducement still greater we offer Frances E. Willard's new book, "A Wheel Within A Wheel" (which will be put on the market about April 1st, at 50 cents), with one year's subscription to THE WHEELWOMAN, for 75 cents. This to woman League members. All others can have the book and a year's subscription to WHEELWOMAN for $1.25.

THE WHEELWOMAN PUBLISHING CO., 131 Tremont St., BOSTON.

I am at present burning coal and feel quite confident as to the future, for there are still three coal dealers in Newton to whom I am not in debt.

"Experience keeps dear schools," was written in good faith, and Dr. Franklin probably thought he knew, but I rather like the school of experience, for when you have paid your tuition and got your degree, you own something that they can't take away from you.

Experienced publishers have not made of the BULLETIN a conspicuous success.

It is now in the hands of one who has no fear of Gahenna, for he is too green to burn.

There is no need to say that the result cannot be foretold, for it can.

And is.

The prediction is confidently made that "it's only a question of time."

Well, the "old L. A. W. ship," as Bro. Bassett insists on calling it, is cut loose once more: she floats; she moves, etc. It has been stated by writers, who I fear may be prejudiced, that the "old ship" is badly out of shape, but don't you believe it. She is not what she will be, but that's all right; the hull is sound, the rigging is in fairly good shape and is getting better every day.

And I feel like the boy who Stood on the burning deck

Whence all but him had fled,
While round him lay the bleaching bones
Of BULLETINS cold and dead.

Alternate hope and fear and doubt
Would fill the average man,
But I look on and up and out
At nature's never changing plan.

I know that in the olden days,
If faith enough the people felt,
'T was thought that mountains could be razed,
And rocky hearts be made to melt.

My faith in men is ever strong,
I wouldn't lose it if I could,
And though I often may be wrong,
You 'll always find me sawing wood.

STERLING ELLIOTT.

It looks now as though this year might close with 50,000 L. A. W. members. The 100,000 mark is not far off.

Does anything ever happen in your town which would interest League members elsewhere? If so, send it to the BULLETIN.

THE WOODBRIDGE MASCOT.

The little pickaninny whose cut is here presented is recognized by the members as the club mascot. He was found by them while on one of their annual camping tours on the shores of lake Nipmuck.

The little fellow could hardly talk and could give no clue which would lead to his identity, and the closest investigation failed to reveal who he was or how he came to be lost.

He was taken in by the club, and when his eyes fell upon the tambourines, bones and banjos which always accompany the members on their outings, he was delighted and at once showed remarkable musical talent, and whenever an opportunity presented itself was always ready to take his part.

Last year, if you remember, he sang a song at their minstrel show, and it was there that he won his first laurels. The Woodbridge club, as you probably all know, was the first ladies wheel club organized in America, and has also the honor of being the first ladies club to join the League. Although the club is self-supporting in a sense, it becomes necessary for the members to do something every year to replenish their treasury. Last season they gave a minstrel entertainment at Odd Fellows Hall, North Cambridge, which proved quite a success from an amateur minstrel point of view, and encouraged by their success, and at the request of the League officials the entertainment will be repeated at Association Hall, Boston, May 29, the evening before the annual meet, and a cordial invitation is extended to all wheelmen to come and laugh and have a good time. The circle will be composed entirely of club members. The stump speech is to be written by Chief Consul Elliott, and Secretary Abbot Bassett is to compose a song. The music will be under the direction of Mr. J. Ed. Lakeman. The price of seats is 75 cts., league members 50 cts.

EIGHT men who have occupied the highest official position in the gift of the League, and who have wielded the official gavel in its council chamber will look out of the pages of the BULLETIN this week and into the eyes of over 26,000 members. What would they say if they had tongues to speak? "Stand by the ship, boys, and if it is not all that you desire it to be, put your hand upon the tiller and try to steer the craft in the right direction." They have done what they could in the past, and their records are clean, clear and fruitful. If the future gives to us as fine a set of men as we call up now from the past, we may have a history to be proud of. Our Presidents are without exception good looking men. They have been, to a large extent, the makers of our history. League members are requested to look into their faces and drink in some of the inspiration that they have employed in doing the work that the League intrusted to their hands. We guarantee that it will be a drink that will not intoxicate though it may cheer and inspire. We present the pictures to delight, and the biographies to instruct.

Charles E. Pratt, of Boston, born March 13, 1845 can exhibit more firsts than he who is first in so many things, George Washington himself. As Washington was the country's first President, so Pratt was ours. Mr. Pratt was first to suggest a League of wheelmen, the author of our first Constitution. He is number one on the roll, he was the first President, the first President of the first bicycle club in America, the first editor of the Bi-World, (the oldest cycle paper in the world) the first editor of The Wheelman, the author of the first book on cycling, "The American Bicycler," and finally first in the hearts of wheelmen. He came of Quaker stock and was graduated at Haverford College. He was for many years legal adviser to the Pope Mfg. Co. He has been called the "Father of the League," and this title goes back to the day when he was presented with a silver pitcher by wheelmen in token of their appreciation of what he had done in organizing the League. He was elected President at Newport and served two terms.

William Henry Miller, of Columbus, Ohio, stands second in line. He was elected at Chicago, May 30, 1882, and served one year. His administration was an uneventful one. He was at the time of his incumbency the president of a gas company, but he talked very little notwithstanding. Mr. Miller now enjoys a competency and tries very hard to kill time. He spends much time in his "den." Here no broom was ever used, no dust has been disturbed for years, and the careful hand of sweet order and arrangement has never busied itself.

Dr. N. Malon Beckwith is the only one of the group that has laid down the burden of life and passed across the borderland of the unknown country. He died a few months since at New Rochelle, N. Y., and was universally mourned in wheeling circles. He was a lovable man, always a gentlemen, and a staunch friend. He was elected President at New York in 1884, and served four years, the longest term of all. While he was in office the League passed through many trying positions and many critical situations, but he brought us through all with credit and handed over the trust to his successor in a very satisfactory condition.

Thomas J. Kirkpatrick, Springfield, Ohio, elected at St. Louis in 1887, and for another term at Baltimore in 1888. Kirkpatrick comes of good old Scotch fighting stock and does credit to his ancestry. He was in harness during the days when the League had no money and no work of importance could be done. A League is a good deal like a church. There is no fun when a church is rich and flourishing. The fun comes in when the organization is up to its ears in debt and trying to get out of it. We had lots of fun when Kirk held the tiller. He was an able officer, a sterling good fellow and the prince of story tellers.

Charles Harris Luscomb has been President twice. In 1889-90 and in 1894-95. Mr. Luscomb is and always was a busy man. He is a lawyer, with eager clients calling for his service; a major in the 13th of N. Y. N. G., with patriotic gun carriers waiting for the word of command; a captain in a bicycle club, the Long Island Wheelmen with tireless scorchers ready to do the captain up; a Master Mason looking with others to see the light; and he is the proprietor of a ponderous voice that has put him more than once in the presiding chair. Major Luscomb has filled out his two terms and has but just laid down the burden of his office.

James Randall Dunn is easily first in good looks. He was elected in New York in 1890 and served two years. During his administration the Good Roads magazine was established and the League went ahead as it never went before. Mr. Dunn, more than any other President, attracted the attention of the country to the League and its work, and he did it in a way to command its respect. He was ambitious to take the League into broader fields of usefulness and to this he bent all his energies. He showed results as no other President has shown them and his administration is one to which we point with pride.

Col. Charles L. Burdett was elected at Columbus, Ohio, in 1892, and served two terms. He had a stormy administration but he saw the League enroll a larger membership than ever before. Good Roads, the magazine, was not profitable. It was an incubus on the shoulders of the League. He put an end to the magazine and left the field clear for his successors to start a new periodical. Under his administration the contract with the Wheelman Co. for publishing the official organ was discontinued. He was a good presiding officer and a tireless worker in the interest of the League.

TO OUR ADVERTISERS AND CONTRIBUTORS.

THE making of a cycling paper is new business for us, in fact this is our first offense. We started late in the season and set, what was for our side, rather an early date of publication. This date was decided upon because it was the beginning of the renewal season, and this is the time when the L. A. W. needs an organ.

Advertisers had long since made arrangements for this season's publicity and hence we are without the names of many firms who might have given us consideration earlier in the season.

Our experience as advertisers proves that instances have existed where a new publisher has been known to "shoot a few people to start his graveyard." Without discussing the merits of such a course, let it suffice that ours is a different plan, and however much we may stray from the orthodox methods in other matters we shall follow the custom of the best publications in this one.

Every advertisement published in this paper shall be conclusive evidence that it was ordered by the advertiser and that he expects to pay us for it.

There will be absolutely no advantage given to one advertiser which is not obtainable by all on the same terms.

There will be but one price for advertising space and that will be as low as is consistent with our always modest temporal wants.

Our printers, as well as ourselves, together with type and furniture, are all new, very new.

If errors have been made in your advertisement or your contribution, don't fail to promptly call our attention to them, for that is how we expect to learn. But please do it in a very tender and not too vindictive spirit. So that it may not grate harshly upon the overworked nerves of a somewhat delicate constitution.

You may be a raw recruit in cycling journalism yourself sometime, in which case we will try to remember that

THE OLD GOOD ROADS CONTRACT OFF.

THE Wheelman Co. of this city held a contract for the printing of Good Roads Magazine. This contract had two years yet to run, and it also gave to the Wheelman Co., control of the Good Roads advertising space.

In view of the disadvantage, under which the League would have been placed in an attempt to longer run its two publications separately, it was thought best to combine them.

The contract with the Wheelman Co. stood in the way.

The officers of that company have waived all claims under the contract which allows us to go on with the new paper unhampered.

We take pleasure in using this means of publicly thanking the Wheelman Co., for the courteous treatment received from them during the continuance of the contract (in which time, they furnished gratis, a large number of magazines in excess of the number ordered and paid for), and now for the pleasant manner in which they stand aside, and let us go on with the new paper.

Good Roads make good people and
Good people are much improved by Good Roads.

GOOD ROADS IN A NEW FORM.

IN the fall of 1891 the League of American Wheelmen, through its Executive Committee, decided upon the publication of a monthly magazine to be known as GOOD ROADS.

This publication was first issued Jan. 1st, 1892, under the able editorship of Isaac B. Potter of New York.

Its publication as a monthly was continued, with the exception of a single issue, up to the present time.

While the agitation for improved roads, which the League originated and will always strive to extend, has produced most satisfactory results, it had become evident that as good, possibly better, work might be done by printing GOOD ROADS matter weekly instead of monthly, and, as many of the supporters of the magazine were cyclists and League members, it was decided to combine the two publications under one cover, and thus handle both at a cost which could be met without increasing the total expense to members beyond what had formerly been the standard price of membership alone, viz: $1.00 per year.

This new publication will be devoted to the interests of wheelmen in general, and L. A. W. members in particular.

No single subject interests wheelmen more than the subject of roads, and it is our intention to make this department a feature of the new paper. Short articles and photographs suitable for these columns are wanted.

If you have any thing on your mind don't keep it there but send it to this office.

Of course much material comes to us which we cannot use. Very often a good article gets laid over because it is too long. Another good article may be so poorly written that the busy editor cannot pass upon it without taking too much time, and it goes over to a day of leisure, which alas, he may never see.

Good clean typewritten copy often goes when a better story badly written may not get the credit it deserves.

Short articles well put together and neatly typewritten on clean white paper, stand a large chance of being promptly accepted; if you don't believe it send in one and try us.

If anything notable is being done in your locality we want to know it, our readers may want to know it, and we hope you will send it along.

Civilization is the result of having easy means of communication.

A good dinner well digested is worth any amount of sophistry.

A GIFT TO THE L. A. W.

The following letters are of interest as showing the spirit which is almost universal among the heads of Divisions. The prospect is, however, that the national body will not need more than its share of this year's income.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 13th, 1895.

MR. A. C. WILLISON, PRES. L. A. W.:

Dear Sir,—

The following resolution passed at the meeting of our Division Board of Officers last evening explains itself. The Secretary-Treasurer has forwarded a copy of the same to the Secretary of the L. A. W.

Voted: That the Secretary of the League of American Wheelmen be and he is hereby authorized to retain for the use of the League forty per cent. of all initiation fees of members joining from this Division between February 1st and August 31, 1895, inclusive, on condition that in case of any assessment upon the Divisions by the Executive Committee of the League between the date hereof and the 1st day of March, 1896, the amount so retained by the Secretary shall be deemed as payment of this Division's proportionate share of said assessment, if sufficient therefor, and if not sufficient, then for so much thereof as the same will satisfy.

This, you will perceive, is a gift, not a loan, and is in line with what I thought we might do, and so expressed it, at the last session of the National Assembly. We believe that the Divisions ought to help the national body when in need.

Very truly yours,

GEO. L. COOKE, Chief Consul.

CUMBERLAND, MD., March 19, 1895.

GEO. L. COOKE, CHIEF CONSUL, RHODE ISLAND:

My dear Mr. Cooke,—

Your communication of 13th inst. was received and its contents gratefully noted.

Actions such as this, on the part of our Divisions, encourage your Executive Committee more than you can realize; and if such loyalty were apparent, as it should be, in all Divisions, the League would surmount all obstacles and march to success an hundred thousand strong.

It is gratifying indeed, to your Executive Committee to receive such words of encouragement as have been coming in from the several state officers since our election. Harmony seems to prevail throughout the organization and we sincerely trust, as we believe, that it will continue. Should we, at any time, take action which does not seem to you proper, we request that you advise us frankly and promptly, always feeling that it is either an error of judgment on our part or a misconception on yours.

In the name of the Executive Committee I accept your kind offer in the same spirit in which it is made, confident, however, that we shall be able at the end of the fiscal year to remit it to your Division intact. With sincere thanks and appreciation I am,

Yours truly,

ARCHIBALD C. WILLISON,
President L. A. W.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.

From Bullock-cart Roads to Pleasure Carriage Drives.

BY FRANK KING.

Notes on roads and paving. The road of commerce versus the road of fashion, wealth, and ease. Mode of transporting where the railroad has not yet penetrated, etc.

THE first proposal to pave streets in Buenos Ayres, capital of the Agentine Republic, was in 1786, but paving the public thoroughfares did not commence till 1795. There are in this city 83 streets, running chessboard fashion, north to south, the others crossing at right angles; average length of all, three miles. The appearance of Buenos Ayres in this respect is monotonous and dismal, the calles (streets) being only forty feet wide, with high houses on each side. Each block covers an area of 4 acres, and the streets intersect one another, every 150 yards.

The mileage of paving in the Argentine capital, has grown as follows: —

	Miles.	Cost.
1894	242	20,000,000

In 1894, the area of paving was 867 acres made up thus: —

	Miles, length.	Acres, area.
Cut stone	82	420
Common stone	107	325
Wooden	13	96
McAdam	4	26

At Taudil, 247 miles by railroad from Buenos Ayres, situated in the south part of the province, taking the same name as the capital, may be regarded as the stone depot of the Argentine republic, and within 60 miles in a northerly direction from Taudil marble is found in large quantities.

About three miles distance from Taudil is a famous rocking-stone, weighing 270 tons, and so nicely poised that it swings to and fro in the wind and may be made to crack a walnut, but so firm, that when one thousand horses were yoked together, they were unable to displace it.

Palermo Park, in the Argentine capital, was once the residence of Dictator Rosas, but now and for a few score of years past has been made the great suburban rendezvous of wealth, beauty and fashion, which can be seen on Sundays and Thursdays, between the hours of 3 P.M. and 6 P.M. to their fullest extent. The "parque" is two miles from the centre of Buenos Ayres city, and can be reached by railroad and horse car, but in fine weather is a delightful walk either by day or night. 850 acres is the amount of ground occupied by the park, which has a very fine avenue of palms through the centre of it, and in this avenida it is not uncommon to see 300 or more of splendid carriages (many of North American manufacture) and 10,000 pedestrians. A large menagerie with a good collection of animals is also another attraction to this lovely spot. Attaching on to the Palermo Park, are very fine laid-out grounds for cricket, lawn-tennis, foot-ball and other games. Within half an hour's walk is the most popular race-track — Palermo Hippodrome — in the Argentine Republic; here on Sundays and Fiestas are races held and money lost and won by thousands.

Driving nor riding is not practised by many women of this fair clime; it is left all to the stronger sex. Seldom is a lady found driving her own carriage, and a very unusual thing to see a female on the saddle. During my four years' stay on the South American continent, I can truthfully say that not a dozen ladies on horseback were seen by me in the whole of that period. The reason why these senoras and senoritas do not drive or ride, is that they are not brought up in the good plain style as the Anglo-Saxon girl is, and now it is beyond their courage, seemingly, to make a "dash" above any of her clique. Men and boys here ride extensively on the horse, both in city and country. Milkmen, bakers, butchers, postman, telegraph-messengers, clerks, can all be seen flitting about the streets of Buenos Ayres from morn till night, on the crillo, native horse. A horse for saddle use can be got for ten to fifteen dollars, and his keep per month will cost on an average, all the year round, about what he costs in the first place. For a horse to go in a carriage, either single or pair, which are there mostly of a cross breed, sells for $25.00, rarely more; of course, there are cases when a horse sells for $100, but it is an exception. Race horses, of which there are a good many imported from England, France, and Belgium, here sell at auction sales for $300 to $800 about.

The official statement published two years ago, gave in its live stock category, horses in the Argentine Republic as 4,400,000 at a value then of 257,100,000 national dollars. Buenos Ayres alone has at the rate of 136 horses per each 100 inhabitants, while the United States counts with 25 horses for same number of inhabitants, the former value at $98.00 gold, per inhabitant, and the latter at $40.00 gold, per inhabitant. This Republic that comprises an area six times as large as France, has yet in it, and will have for some time, parts unpenetrated by the locomotive, hence the bullock-cart is used for sending corn and other farm produce to the rail for transportation.

In some cases the "steady" troop is engaged in conveying passengers and baggage far into the interior for distances of about 60 miles, or, say

3 days' riding. The carts hold as much as a railroad wagon does, and are very strong and simply constructed, there being no springs or under-locking carriage combination with these ten-foot high-wheeled conveyances. The horses are what the capataz (farm overseers) ride on, sometimes there being two or three of the overseers sent, when there is a large troop of carts.

Savages have no roads.

The Bicycle is a great civilizer.

WE WANT LADY MEMBERS.

NO organization can be so good that it is not made better by the presence of women.

The tobacco-chewing sex should not monopolize the League tickets.

The girls may have them on the same terms.

The L. A. W. is open to the sisters, and they are ever welcome.

Mary Sargent Hopkins, who needs no introduction to the cycling public, has long believed that something more distinctly feminine should be done in the line of cycling literature, and what is more, she has shown the faith that was in her, by starting a monthly paper, devoted exclusively to the daughters of men.

We have read this new publication, and like it.

It is offered to League members at 50 cents per year; to those outside the fold, it is $1.00.

If any new evidence were needed to prove Mrs. Hopkins' level-headedness, we have it in the fact that she has seen fit to advertise the Wheelwoman in the BULLETIN. See her ad., on another page.

Later, since writing the above, the last number of the Wheelwoman has been received, and the good opinion which I already had of it is much more than sustained.

It is bright and well-edited. The frontispiece is one of the finest samples of cycling art work which has appeared for, lo, these many years.

It represents a handsome young lady riding southeast on a neat bicycle, and, while holding her hat with one hand, is taking the chance of being disqualified by looking around at a herd of rabbits. They employ the usual mode of rabbit transit and seem determined to overtake the flying "cycless" if possible, while each and every one of them wears an expression which plainly says: "We know a good thing when we see it."

The Wheelwoman is as fine as silk, and this opinion goes, in spite of the fact that Mrs. Hopkins persists in spelling my name

"STIRLING."

PESSIMISTS, ATTENTION!

YE who tell us that the League is losing the confidence of wheelmen, look at our application list and crawl into your ignoble cavities. We publish 875 names in our application list to-day. Never before in the history of the League have we opened the season with such a list. The best previous record is 527. The first list in April of 1894 had but 135 names, and the whole month gave us but 720 members. Once in the middle of the busy season of our best year we published 921 names, and we are not yet quite up to that, the best on record, but we are young yet and we have taken a good start. New York tops the record of Division lists with 387 names. Best previous record by California with 386 names. Largest Division list of 1894 was 254 by Massachusetts. Largest total, in one list last year, was 528 names.

THIS FIRST ISSUE of the L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS in its present form is sent to every L. A. W. member whose name is on the secretary's books at the close of the League year, March 31st.

To obtain the BULLETIN after this issue it is necessary to be a subscriber or an advertiser.

As names are now coming in it looks as though the secretary and his clerks would have to work nights.

League Members please read what your Chief Consul says to you in this paper.

"Please excuse haste and a bad pen" we will try to do better next time.

Bicycle Riders use the roads which the League is working to improve.

Therefore, Bicycle Riders should belong to the League.

How are the roads in your town?

WANTED, A PARTNER.

What Professionalism Needs to be Made a Success in this Country.

BY H. E. RAYMOND.
(Ex-Chairman National Racing Board.)

INDICATIONAL specs on the horizon of amateurism, as applied to cycle racing, have from time to time appeared to signal the approach of professionalism under proper control. By some, these phantom signs have been taken for material realities; and strong hopes fostered, only to be eventually shattered, against the strong wall of non-feasibility.

Does this argue that professionalism, successful professionalism, will never become a subject of government by the present body ruling over cycling?

This question is agitating many minds to-day. There are the earnest supporters of this form of cycle racing, the anti-professionalists, the semi-professionalists, and the willing-to-be-convinced-minds. All grasping each argument presented, disecting it, digesting it, and generally becoming more and more confused the deeper the subject is studied. It is easy to explain this.

Each profession of faith mentioned above, can show a good platform to stand on. The semi-professionalist can make the best showing at the present time, it is purely a condition of surroundings however, which permits this.

Professionalism in its true form, is exactly analogous to a commercial venture. It is bound by the same lines which govern the ordinary channels of credit in the business world.

A man of poor standing cannot secure a rating in the commercial agencies, which to-day determines credit. The same man with a good financial partner obtains the rating, and consequent business accommodations and credit.

Professionalism in this country needs a partner.

The League of American Wheelmen is the one factor which, taken into partnership, would give the venture the proper rating.

But — while what I have said above, about the securing of a rating is true—success is not dependent alone on that one feature.

The good man taken into the firm would insure the rating and credit, but once secured, business ability and enterprise are necessary to success.

It has often been said that anyone can buy goods, but to buy what will sell, and sell at a profit, is a species of constructed manhood cheap at any price.

To make professionalism successful in this country a good buyer is necessary, an assortment of goods to select from, and a good place to show the goods off in when purchased.

Let us argue that the buyer must be the League of American Wheelmen, the goods — the racing contingent, the show places — the race promoting clubs. Take any one of these factors away, and the two ends of the circle cannot be made to meet.

The L. A. W. having so much at stake is necessarily made cautious, and hesitates to put one foot before the other, until certain that the ground before is better than the foothold behind.

It is well that it is so. Inaugurating a new system, for the express purpose of controlling the highest type of professionalism, it would be unsafe to move too rapidly toward a more radical departure, without weighing the chances of success with unusual care.

That the L. A. W. could control professionalism is quite certain, whether said control would gain it any prestige is problematical, I might say hardly probable.

With the professional class must come the cash prize. With the cash prize must come the increased vigilance, against division of races, and combinations which sooner or later bring discredit on the sport. This could be accomplished I believe by unceasing care, and employment of competent men, to guard the interests involved.

Entering into this comes the matter of expense. It cannot be disregarded. Are the professional interests of sufficient growth to insure increased income through sanction fees to provide the necessary revenue.

I am doubtful on this point. The present season will largely answer this detail. Let us wait the report of our racing board at the end of this year, and learn what the payment for sanction rule has brought forth.

On the score of goods to be purchased, or in other words the field of racing men, to gather the talent from. This may be answered in the affirmative. It is undoubtedly a fact that we have in this country the finest class of racing men to draw from.

That a sufficient number could be induced to join the professional ranks, I have no doubt if they felt sure of the L. A. W.'s backing.

Now we come to the show places, in which to exhibit our goods. The race promoting clubs. Clubs like ordinary mortals, want to see a profit to themselves, in running a race meet, rather than a labor of love for no return.

It is true that to-day, many clubs, promote meets satisfied with small returns, each local committee working night and day, for no compensation, to turn over to the club a hundred, or hundred and fifty dollars, and sorry to say, in many cases much less, as a result of combined labors. The proportion of meets turning in to the club treasury larger amounts being woefully small.

All this, bear in mind, with a great majority of prizes donated.

It is an admitted fact that a local merchant or cycle manufacturer, will readily give a prize committee some article of merchandise, whereas if cash were requested the amount, where given, would be but small in proportion to the retail value of a merchandise prize — and the resources of the promoting club decrease in said ratio as to its prize giving abilities.

It therefore must suggest itself, that to reach the old standard, the club itself must step into the breach and make up the cash purses, necessary to the professional element.

It at once becomes a pertinent question — how will the club reimburse itself for this added expenditure attached to professionalism?

The answer must be through the gate receipts. Another problematical factor.

Will the additional feature of professional racing —with the same men now seen riding in Class B— attract any larger gates?

Will they be any more attractive to the general public — as say Bill Jones — Professional — instead of Bill Jones, Class B? I think not, but I may be wrong. The above however might be met with the argument — that — adopt the professional class and a few men now ineligible to Class B, could ride at the meets, and then the big gates would ensue.

This would be a dangerous argument to admit as a fact. Just as soon as the success or failure of the sport depends on any one man or small number of men, then that sport is doomed.

The L. A. W. cannot afford to adopt anything based on so flimsy a foundation, for success. It must be the general attraction of the professional class, as a class, that make the foundation for this departure, else never make the change.

The deductions from all this are very clear. If the clubs cannot run the races with a fair margin of financial profit — they cannot give the L. A. W. a place to show off its goods.

If the clubs cannot run the meets, someone else must, to reach success. The L. A. W. could not, and the country is too big for a syndicate to run them, unless confined to a small section of the States.

If the racing men depended on their winnings for a livelihood — and if the racing was honest, and no division of spoils took place, except on merit in winning races, but few would win enough to make it pay.

If therefore it was necessary to cover this big country with meets, expenses must be met; if enough men were to travel from place to place to ride in the races.

Perhaps it will be argued that enough men would enter from each locality to make the meets successful. Wrong — very few men would ride in a professional race, knowingly, for the mere sake of riding in the few races held in their locality—and by said act bar themselves from every specie of amateur sport. The game would not be worth the candle. Therefore it is clear that the bulk of the men must travel from place to place. However, I will admit that with L. A. W. backing probably a large number of the prominent riders of to-day would enter the class if adopted, hence the goods might be secured by the buyer.

Finally, I want to frankly state that I have myself found no more confusing subject to analyze in all my career.

I have turned it every way, let light shine on it from every side, and still I am undecided.

Theorists boldly state because we have done a certain thing we should go a step further and do a still more radical thing.

It is easy to say, sing or shout this, but to put it in practice is another thing.

The thing done, establishment of Class B, was done because it was desired to meet the professional idea, and to just that extent it was feasible; having done that, it seems unwise to go further into the realms of uncertainty and grapple with that which all indications point to as not feasible;

Now — just a word on how professionalism could be made to pay and succeed in this country. When it is possible to match teams representing cities against teams of other cities, on the same lines as base-ball, scoring by points, dividing racing men equitably among local teams, backing each team by its city syndicate, thus dividing expense, I believe the professional idea can be made to pay and insure honest government. When that day comes the L. A. W. could afford to prepare the standard rules. The general public would then be attracted through local pride independent of the individuality of racing men, and a new era would develop in cycle racing.

With the elements mentioned above however, to contend with, the proper control and promotion of professionalism, in this country, to my mind is a herculean task, which I am thankful to say will never fall to the lot of—

WHO SAID PHILADELPHIA WAS SLOW?

ABBOT BASSETT was appointed associate editor of the BULLETIN on March thirteenth at three o'clock P.M. At three forty-five the postman laid down a Philadelphia paper which contained the announcement.

We at once decided to doubt the accuracy of any future statements which Bro. Egan may make as to the rate of speed at which things are done in what he has so feelingly referred to as "William Penn's graveyard."

Names are coming in many times faster than ever before at this season of the year.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

Under this heading, it is our purpose to ask and answer questions.

Of course, owing to our superior wisdom, we shall be prepared to do the heavy answering, while you, inquiring reader, may draw upon us at sight, for such information as your hungry soul yearns for.

Don't imagine for a minute that we don't know.

Don't hesitate to ask a question, because you think it's too hard for us.

Just fire away, and if we don't come up smiling every time then we will hire another man.

APPLIED MECHANICS.

As soon as the new office is in working order, it is the intention of the editor to pay some attention to the mechanical details of the modern bicycle, both from personal knowledge and by the assistance of others.

Practical men in the shop may write to the BULLETIN, with full assurance that their letter will fall into the horny hand of one who has "been there." If you know a "kink" that you are willing to give away, or if you are in trouble over some problem and want help, don't hesitate to come and tell us the story.

We will give some space to what is strictly "shop talk" and still more to those mechanical matters which are interesting to riders who are not mechanics.

Sketches and photographs are always acceptable and whether they are in good shape or not, we can have them redrawn, if the subject warrants it.

Words of encouragement and advice from many Chief Consuls.

ARIZONA.

Members of the Consulate, L. A. W.

PHŒNIX, ARIZONA, March 23, 1895.

I CONGRATULATE the members upon the excellent showing made the past six months, in which Arizona's League membership has been raised from 5 to 42. Arizona is one of only three divisions in the United States which has not shown a loss in membership, and our gain is greater, proportionally, than the other two.

With the work well organized as it now is, a Bulletin and the annual dues, all within a dollar, and a full year's membership from the time a member joins, every member should renew, and as early as possible. All renewals should be sent to the Chief Consul at Phœnix. Send in the applications of some of your wheeling friends at the same time. At the fall election this year, we want to be entitled to elect a Chief-Consul, Secretary-Treasurer, and Vice-Consul. We can only do this by having 100 or more members on our books, October 1st, 1895.

This year will witness a great boom in racing in Arizona, and the National Racing Circuit will certainly include two towns in Arizona, if the circuit includes the West. Local consuls are asked to make recommendations for League hotels at once. Every courtesy should be extended visiting League members at all times.

Fraternally yours,

W. L. PINNEY, Chief Consul.

ARKANSAS DIVISION.

THERE will be no little rejoicing and surprise amongst the voters of this division when they learn that Chief Consul Newhouse has perfected arrangements whereby every member will receive a twelve month renewal to the League and a year's subscription to the official publication without having to call upon their purses for the usual fee.

The indebtedness incurred by the renewal of these members will be reimbursed through the treasury of the Division, which, as all others, derives its revenue from the applications of new members.

The secret explained. It now behooves every member throughout the State to exercise their most earnest endeavors towards recruiting the ranks of the organization, and square accounts with their creditors.

Many improvements could be made on the country roads of the State, the majority of which are in a condition most wretched, thereby interrupting the pleasure of rural peregrinations.

The Vapor City Cycle Club of Hot Springs, will arrange a two days meet the early part of May, which will no doubt attract a large number of riders from the other cities of the State. The track over which the races will be run is being subjected to a thorough renovation, under the direction of Capt. H. O. Price, whose careful consideration of the "boys" welfare and pleasure, is worthy of great praise,

Chief Consul Newhouse has appointed Mr. R. G. Gill, of Little Rock, as local consul for that city, which position he is filling in a most admirable manner, and has offered the names of W. W. Little of Hot Springs, representative to the National Convention, and P. M. Kilroy of Pine Bluff, to the office of handicapper for this district. The gentlemen will prove efficient personages in fulfilling the duties devolving upon the respective offices.

Prof. W. B. Rockofellow of Hot Springs, has composed and dedicated a very meritorious orchestration to the League under the heading of "March, League of American Wheelmen." The composition promises to be a popular one in this vicinity considering the large number of copies which have been purchased.

The League is to be congratulated upon securing the capable and sterling gentlemen appointed to manage the affairs of the organization through the next fiscal year. They have the best wishes of the Arkansas contingency for a most successful career, which in their opinion will be the result of their work.

SAMUEL R. JACKSON, Sec'y-Treas.

CONNECTICUT.

To the Members of the Division.

The present state of affairs in this Division demands prompt renewals from its members.

The administration will be aggressive so far as the main objects of the association is concerned.

You will greatly encourage us in our efforts to place the Division where it ought to be if you make a good showing in renewals this month.

Lack of space as well as the amount of work suddenly put upon shoulders unprepared for it prevents us from giving a synopsis of our plans and the condition of affairs. We can only appeal to you to do your best to keep up the interest among your friends and give the present incumbents a chance to show what they can do. We have no private means to carry on Division work with and must have the "sinews of war." The old arguments hold good; every one counts; don't withhold yours. The work of the Division will be sadly hampered if the returns for renewals do not warrant us in starting any new work. We are familiar with the running expenses of the Division and know what has to be provided for. It will be run in as economical manner as is consistant with good judgment. In the mean time all we can ask is that you trust us as far as to renew your membership at once, thus encouraging us in our labors for the interests of the Division.

Hoping this brief appeal will have the desired result,

I am yours fraternally,

PHILIP W. WESTLAKE, Chief Consul.

INDIANA DIVISION.

To the Members of the L. A. W.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., March 20, 1895.

YOUR chief consul takes this opportunity to call your attention to the fact that Indiana is behind her sister States in number of her members of the League. We have at the present time less than 250 members, and as the affairs of the National body are in a better shape than they have been for several years, it is only fitting that some steps should be taken in our Division to increase our membership, and show an interest in the grandest sport in America.

We need a new road book in Indiana, but the present state of the Division finances will not justify the expenditure unless we can secure a material increase in membership. The only way to secure this increase in membership is for each and every member of the Division to make it a part of his business to secure members in his own city.

During the coming season, there will be large numbers of your friends who will purchase new machines, and it is among these, as well as old riders, that you have a field for work. We should have 1000 members in the Indiana Division, and if we are fortunate enough to secure such a membership the League of American Wheelmen will become a strong organization, and command respect, even more than at present.

I am of the opinion that a man is a very indifferent wheelman who will refuse to pay the necessary fees and join the League, for the outlay is more than returned to him time and time again during the season, and we have, in our own State frequently seen the advantage of such an organization.

Two years ago this winter, the State Legislature had a taste of the effect of organized effort on the part of the wheelmen; thousands of letters were written from all parts of the State objecting to the famous House Bill, No. 215, which practically prohibited the wheelmen from riding on the roads of Indiana. It is not necessary for me to enter into any lengthy argument concerning the advantages of the League, for they are apparent to every thinking wheelman.

Let us set the figure of 1000 as our standard of membership in Indiana for "'95," and let me hear from all wheelmen in the State who have the interests of the League at heart, with his promise to secure additional members during the early spring.

Yours fraternally,

THOS. HAY, Chief Consul.

W. W. HOOPER,

MAINE DIVISION.

To the Maine Members.

PORTLAND, ME., March 21, 1895.

THERE is a new-born ambition to make the State of Maine so attractive to visitors that it shall be the vacation ground of the Nation. Watering places are beautified, summer hotels enlarged and made more comfortable, and desirable seacoast is bought up and developed by foreign syndicates. But up to the present time, there has been no organized, systematic movement toward what would result in more benefit to the State and be of more assistance in making Maine what it is desired it should be, than all the other schemes that have been started — the movement toward intelligent improvement of the highways.

This winter a bill providing for the creation of a highway commission was introduced and ably championed, but those Solons who go to Augusta to legislate for the people, or are supposed to go there for that purpose, have, in spite of executive recommendations and favorable report from the judiciary, turned down the bill through misunderstood motives or misconceived ideas as to the expense involved.

If there is one thing above all others that should arouse the wheelmen to united, aggressive action, it is just this.

On the question of the streets, the City of Portland has been aroused; and after a fight, in which the wheelmen of the city played a prominent part, a bill was obtained creating a Board of Public Works. In the Legislature, we were not so successful, but much good was done and the wedge was well entered and must be driven home with well-directed blows. And the wheelmen must take the lead.

It is argued that wheelmen's rights are now so well established, there is no longer need for the League; it is said that racing is drifting into professionalism and this will destroy the value of the League in sporting matters. If such ideas are in the mind of any wheelman who thereby hesitates to renew his membership, or if there is anyone who thereby argues that the League has no inducements for him, let such pause and ponder.

If, for no other reason, every man in the State of Maine who rides a bicycle should hasten to the banner of the League of American Wheelmen to agitate, to push, to carry through to a successful termination, the movement for better roads. It must be a compaign of education.

The farmers must be made to know what they don't yet comprehend, that good roads are for their benefit and their profit. And the League is the instrument of enlightenment, and every member of it a factor in the work.

Good Roads is the watchword of the League.

The League can do more for this matter than can possibly be done by any other instrument. And the stronger the League, the more effective the work. Will you not renew?

Will you not try to induce every wheelman in your particular section to join?

From all over the State, I have communications from the newly-appointed Local Consuls giving most encouraging prospects for the coming year; and if we all pull together and strongly, we shall not only put the Maine Division among the foremost in point of numbers, but we shall educate the people in the matter of roads so that when the next Legislature meets, it will be thoroughly understood that a system of properly-built and cared-for highways is necessary for the prosperity of the State.

"LOOK HERE, MY MARYLAND!"

THE League of American Wheelmen is an organization to promote the general interests of cycling; to ascertain, defend and protect the rights of wheelmen; to facilitate touring; to regulate the government of sports connected with the use of the wheel, and to secure improvement in the condition of roads by promoting in the public mind a sense of the utility, general economy and desirability of high-class thoroughfares, and an active sentiment in their favor. And the organization is actively engaged in this work with all its general benefits. This may sound like a certain autumn fruit, but it is true! Don't stop, read on! It's going to get funny in a minute! The League has been the means of having the United States Government establish a Bureau of Good Roads in connection with the Agricultural Department. That means national aid to roads sometime in the dim distance.

The Maryland Division has expended over one thousand dollars in protecting, through the courts, its members. In one suit alone, it spent over five hundred dollars—"The Chestertown Bridge Case." The suit was decided against the League in the State courts, but the practical benefits are nearly the same as though it were gained, for, the bridge authorities becoming cognizant of the League's effort to precipitate a test case in a United States Court by having a non-resident wheelman arrested on the thoroughfare, the bridge attendants were given directions not to arrest any wheelman who was not known to be a resident of the State of Maryland.

The Division was the means of having a cycler appointed on the Park Commission to look after wheeling interests in connection with these public pleasure grounds.

It has been the means, also, of having any proposed legislation affecting wheelmen referred to its chief officers for comments before being acted upon.

It has been the means of having mixed road conventions held in different parts of the State, and thereby improving roadways. It has bright prospects on the highway question in the next Legislature.

The wheelmen of the State hold the balance of power at elections, when concentrated in an organization.

The benefits are many and far-reaching, and the pecuniary consideration so small as to practically amount to nothing — one dollar per year — after paying the initiation fee of one dollar. This also gives you the paper containing this article. An organization, with a head and working committee, can accomplish much in too many directions to be fully stated, even in brief. Any ordinary intelligence will supply the good that can be done.

The League is responsible for the Good Roads agitation throughout the country. It initiated the movement which has now become general. Through agitation and a political compaign, based on non-partisan principles, the Maryland Division inaugurated the first successful organized movement in any city in the United States, for improved pavements in its principle metropolis.

The moral effect of numbers combined into an organized body which can be readily handled, is incalculable. Put this weapon in the hands of your chief officer, and enable him to truly say, "Gentlemen, I ask this right, not in my name, but, in the names of so many thousands of voters whom I represent," and the request is practically granted as soon as made known. The more thousands he represents, more beneficial legislation he can induce, the cheaper and better facilities he can provide for you at hotels, on railroads, and in many other directions. The moral effect of the very fact that you are organized instead of being "every man for himself" begets many privileges which you hardly realize, while you enjoy them, and absolutely protects you in directions in which you see no danger.

Therefore, every wheelman should be a member of the League. In fact, your first duty after learning to ride a bicycle, is to join the League, for it is in the nature of an insurance company for you, in addition to all its other benefits.

Can you get some of the benefits without joining the League? Yes! But if you were in a crowd with others, you would not accept their hospitality in "setting 'em up," without reciprocating yourself. No more would you knowingly take advantage of the universal benefits gotten all wheelmen, by the League, without contributing your dutiful quota of one dollar a year. Your self respect, as well as the respect you would have other wheelmen feel for you, would demand this.

The original "excuse" for the existence of the League, was "wheelmen's rights."

The "excuse" is more emphatic now, than it was then. Now, the organization has to be on the alert to protect wheelmen's rights from proposed laws that discriminate against the vehicle, as a class — to protect the riders from hardships in the way of tooting a horn, ringing a bell, sounding a gong, blowing a whistle, carrying a headlight, holding their jaw and getting off the earth to let the one, all-conquering vehicle have entire right of way, without any respect, whatever, for the rights of others, except what may be found in the good nature of the driver. Proposed laws are being constantlyfought; which would require wheelmen to dismount for an approaching wagon, metaphorically bow to the quadruped, and look pleasant at the brute who may be driving—making ten miles on a "thick" road, a day's journey. It would take a week to get from Baltimore to Towson, and back. They would tax your bicycle for this, that, and the other; wear a tag, restrict you to an unreasonably slow rate of speed, leaving the other vehicle unrestricted, and free to run you down from behind, and fine you if you jump the fence, and get on the grass to keep out of the way; make you pay five dollars a clip for a coast, and keep you off the street entirely, where there is a car track.

These are absolute facts and only a few of them.

The proposed laws would be facts, too, if there was not such an organization as the League. Hayseed ingenuity is a constant menace in the legislatures. Encroachments on the rights of wheelmen, as discriminating against them by proposed ordinances in towns, villages, and municipalities, are being attempted, day after day. Eternal vigilance is now the price of wheelmen's rights, and the League is the hundred-eyed Argus that first detects and ultimately protects. The man who thinks this is not true, does not know of the thousand and one details of official life in the League, or the moral effect that such an organization has. Few do know it, except the higher officials, but every member has the benefits, even without the knowledge.

Come and help us, and incidently yourself. Fill out the application blank in this paper, tear it out and send it to Chief Consul J. A. Arnold, 404 South Eutaw Street, Baltimore, Md., or to Secretary-Treasurer Robert H. Carr, Jr., 9 East Lexington Street, and remember, none of the officials receive any pay for this. It is all a labor for love. By the way! send the full two dollars with the application so as to get the paper, and keep in touch with the organization.

To L. A. W. Members.

First we want Local Consuls. If there is no Consul in your town please see to it that an application is made at once in behalf of the right man.

It sometimes happens that the best man for the position is not a League member; in such a case go to him and interest him, get him to join the League, and when he has done so let's make him a Local Consul.

We are offering special inducements this year to Local Consuls.

If you want to be a Consul and with the Consuls stand, let's hear from you.

Every wheelman is directly benefited by the L. A. W.

Every citizen is indirectly benefited by it.

Legislation is a result of politics.

Politics are controlled by individual votes.

You believe, for instance, that a certain road law ought to pass.

You vote for it.

Others do, but not enough.

It fails.

Why?

Simply because all who wanted the law didn't say so in time.

The L. A. W. members wanted it.

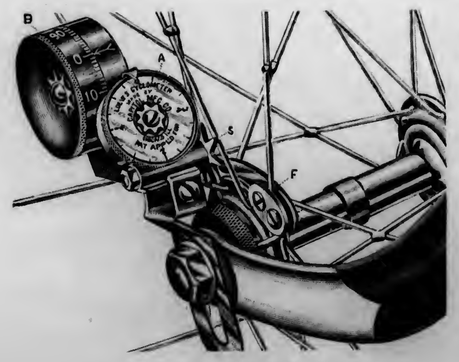
Everybody knew that.

But perhaps they were not sufficiently numerous to make the politicians anticipate the result.

And so the politicians didn't trim their sails as they otherwise would.

You were a League member at heart but you didn't stand up to be counted.

Quality is all right but when it comes to voting the numbers count.



In Massachusetts wheelmen may ride anywhere in the state without being subject to varying and sometimes unreasonable town laws.

The League did it.

You get the benefit.

Did you help?

It's a simple matter: you just make an application and send it with the endorsement of two L. A. W. members, and two dollars. That pays everything including this weekly paper for a year, after that you pay $1.00 per year only.

We want to reach the ten thousand mark this year.

We have over five thousand now.

If each man would renew and send one new name that would do it. Looks easy, doesn't it?

Well it's just as easy as it looks.

If you'll do it.

Will you?

There is no time like the present.

P. S. Don't fail to advise me about the Local Consulship.

MICHIGAN.

The officers of the Michigan Division are laboring toward the duty of furnishing a full and satisfactory answer to the question "What do I get for my dollar," so often propounded by the L. A. W. member. They have in course of preparation a new road book of the Michigan roads, which it is intended shall be distributed free to all members of the Division. In order to make this work more highly successful, we need more funds, and it is the duty of every member of the Michigan Division to not only, at once, remit the necessary one dollar for his dues for another year, but at the same time send along the application of some rider who is now without the fold. The work of the officers of the League and the Division is almost wholly a labor of love for the sport and your assistance and co-operation are highly necessary to the end that we may, by sheer force of numbers if for no other reason, command respect and attention from the public and more especially from bodies of law makers, that unjust legislation may be prevented, the rights of wheelmen secured and maintained, and that we may as an organization give to the movement for better highways an impetus which will do much toward hastening its ultimate success in our own State. Arrangements have also been completed whereby each member gets this paper every week during the continuance of his League membership, and all included in "that same dollar."

The Michigan Division officials are putting forth every possible effort for the attainment of new members. A census of the riders of the State has been prepared showing the names of thousands of wheelmen who are not members of the L. A. W. and these will be circularized to as large an extent as possible commensurate with the financial ability of the Division and the results obtained. A large accession of membership is expected from the Upper Peninsular as a direct result of the recent agitation regarding its attachment to the Wisconsin Division. The officials of the Wisconsin Division are working hand in hand with the Michigan officials to bring about the desired end, and the prospects of the success of these combined efforts are very flattering.

The efforts to secure the funds of the Michigan Division now being held by the deposed officials promises to be speedily settled in a manner satisfactory to the present Division officers. Legislation has been secured during the present session of our legislature enabling the Division to be formally incorporated, and thus place us on more sound business footing, with enlarged powers to force and make contracts and a better means for conducting the affairs of the Division.

All in all the situation is one which is a source of satisfaction to the Division officers, but success can crown their efforts only through the influence and support of the members at large. Will we have this influence and support? It rests with the members to say.

Fraternally yours,

ROBERT STEELE, Chief Consul.

MINNESOTA.

To Members of the Division.

I suppose you have all received my circular in regard to renewals, and I wish to again impress upon you the importance of a prompt and general response. Our first duty at this time is to increase our membership; and the reduction of dues, the excellent paper which we are sure of getting, and the new road maps ought to make this a very easy matter. All that is needed is for you to bear it in mind and ask your friends to join us.

The maps alone are worth ten times the amount of the dues to any one, and to wheelmen who do much touring their value is simply incalculable.

It is unfortunate that we have to appeal to a man's selfishness in some cases in order to secure his application. It would not be worth while to secure such members were it not for the hope of educating them out of some of their selfishness after we get them within reach and thus not only make them desirable members of the League but better citizens.

A wheelman who, after having our objects explained to him, will not join us without extra inducements cannot be a very desirable citizen of any community and for that reason we are justified in appealing to his cupidity for the purpose of bringing him within the fold, where we can do him some good and do a service to the country at the same time.

Let us all go to work now with a will and put our Division in condition to be of some benefit to the cause.

Fraternally,

M. L. KNOWLTON.

MISSOURI.

Wants a Road Book.

To Members

ST. LOUIS, March 21, 1895.

FOR the first time in the history of this Division your officers feel compelled to call on you for a popular subscription, to insure the publication of a first-class, up-to-date road book. A prominent firm of publishers have agreed to furnish the Division with a road book, containing six sectional maps, covering the entire State, scale six miles to an inch, lithographed in colors, showing rock and dirt roads in red and black, distances, grades, and surfaces of all roads. It will be bound in leather and printed on heavy linen bond paper, with all descriptive information to enable the tourist to mount his wheel in St. Louis and get off at Kansas City, without asking any questions. The sum demanded for the work equals $1.00, per member. Inasmuch, as we only receive 35 cents from you on your renewal (40 cents going to the national treasury, and 25 cents for the BULLETIN), you will perceive that we cannot spend $2.00 for $1.00; but if you will subscribe fifty cents to insure the publication of the book, the Division will stand for the remainder, and if you will get us in only one new member your subscription will be refunded to you. Prompt action must be taken to insure the publication of the work on June first, and the first three hundred subscribers will have their names placed in the book under the Roll of Honor.

We must have the money in hand by April 15th, as a guarantee to the publishers.

"He who subscribes quickly, subscribes doubly." A big demand for the Road Book exists and now is the time to show your loyalty by subscribing promptly. The Division will pay over $350.00 out of its treasury for the work, but cannot afford more.

Four members will join us with a fine road book, as an inducement, where only one does now.

Eighty per cent.of the members will renew if a road book is a certainty, against 50 per cent. last year.

We cannot afford to stand idle, and now is the time for all loyal members to come to the Division's aid, by renewing promptly and subscribing 50 cents for a road book.

Fraternally yours,

ROBT. HOLM, Chief Consul.

W. M. BUTLER, Secretary-Treasurer.

MISSOURI DIVISION.

To Members.

ST. LOUIS, March 18, 1895.

THE initial issue of this "Bulletin" marks a new era in the history of our grand organization and with the reduction in the dues we should have no trouble in regaining all our old members and hundreds of new ones.

We contemplate issuing a new Road Book, placing Helping Hand signs as numerously as possible and push the improvement of our roads for the benefit of our members but to do so we must have new members and retain all the old ones.

Cycling has made marvelous progress in our Division, riders are more numerous than ever before and the proportion of League members is below what it ought to be.

All this must and can be changed if you will all pitch in and help us in getting recruits.

We allow a cash commission of 25 cents for every new application provided that all applications are sent to W. M. Butler, secretary-treasurer, 2636 Osage Street, St. Louis.

Application blanks are furnished by him on application as well as all needed information. We want local consuls in every city and town and also one in every ward in the larger cities. I shall be pleased to appoint such on request.

Shelbina will entertain us at the annual meeting on July 3 and 4, and members are cordially invited to make their arrangements to attend. A good time is guaranteed, and a fund of over $700 is already subscribed for our entertainment.

The annual Pike County Tour is billed for the second Sunday in May, and all who have ever attended these enjoyable affairs will be sure to be with us again.

"League benefits for League members only," will be the cry for '95, and we want to start, by a big increase in membership, right at the beginning of the riding season.

Fraternally,

ROBT. HOLM, Chief Consul.

NEBRASKA.

To all members of the Nebraska Division.

The time for the renewal of your L. A. W. membership is at hand. Do not delay but renew now, and thus receive each number of our new official organ that is born to promote a closer fraternity among wheelmen, and to assist our organization to a larger field of usefulness.

Send in your dollar to Abbot Bassett or to the Chief Consul or Secretary-Treasurer of this Division and it will be properly applied without delay. Our Division withstood the trying times of '94 admirably and our Local Consuls deserve praise for their enthusiasm, but we find at the beginning of the new year we have some lost ground to regain. To accomplish this and raise our Division to the position it should occupy we must give a little more time and a little more zeal to the cause.

If each member will spend half an hour of each week in advocating the principles of the League and soliciting membership among wheelmen, our strides toward the front during the coming season will be almost phenomenal. Why not do it? It means but a little time to the individual, and the good that will result can hardly be estimated. An obligation rests on every Local Consul in the State to keep at all times, and to provide the Division officers with, a list of the names of wheelmen in his town and vicinity. Those who have not already done so will please send such lists to the Chief Consul without delay, so that they may be properly classified to aid in our work of recruiting. Members should call on Local Consuls for literature and information pertaining to the League, who will be glad to render any assistance to members, at all times.

Fraternally,

J. E. EBERSOLE, Chief Consul.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

THE Chief Consul has been working upon a road book for some time and which is at the present time in the printer's hands, but expect it to be ready for delivery about April 15. The book although our first issue covers the most of the roads in the principal patts of the Division. This book will be mailed to every member who renews or whoever joins the Division, free of charge. Local Consuls have not been appointed yet but will be in a few days.

Yours,

H. J. TAGGART, Chief Consul.

NEW JERSEY.

To the Members of the N. J. Division, L. A. W.

AFTER a spirited contest, our Division has at length secured the National Meet, which will be held at Asbury Park, July 8th to 13th inclusive, at which time the National Championships will be contested, all kinds of entertainments will be provided at no expense to L. A. W. Members, hotel rates and railroad fares will be reduced to members of the League, and the citizens of Asbury Park will do everything in their power to aid our division in entertaining the L. A. W. royally.

This should be the greatest year in the history of our division, and the securing of the meet is sufficient evidence that your officers are wide awake and vigorously advancing your interests.

It behooves every member of the New Jersey Division, to do everything within his power to help make the meet a success. There are thousands of wheelmen in New Jersey who do not belong to the League; there are hundreds who know but little of its purposes and work. Let each League Member become a missionary in the cause, and let us more than double our membership during the present year.

Blanks will be furnished to each member for renewal purposes; attached to the renewal blank will be found an application blank. Find another wheelman worthy of being a member and secure his application. Every member securing three new applications will receive a bound volume of the New Jersey Road Book, which gives full and complete information as to routes, roads, the character of the highway, the location of League hotels, etc.

No wheelman in the State of New Jersey ought to be out of the League at any time and especially so during the present year. The advantages of League membership are always worth more than it costs to become a member and those who attend the Asbury Park Meet this year will save many times the cost of their membership in the reduction of charges and the free entertainments, which will be given to League members alone.

These are some of the things, in general, that I want each member to give his personal attention to. There are a few specific points I want to call your attention to particularly. They are:—

FIRST: Do not fail to renew your membership.

SECOND: Do so at once.

THIRD: Secure at least, one member for the L. A. W.

FOURTH: Do anything and everything within your power to promote the interests of the L. A. W. in general, and of the New Jersey Division in particular, so that at the end of 1895, we may show by our increased membership, that the giving of the League Meet to our Division has been thoroughly appreciated.

The chief consul will find it necessary to make many communications to Division members during the coming season, especially so prior to the National Meet. The columns of the L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS are open to him for that purpose and thus afford the most economical and convenient vehicle for such communications. He therefore sincerely trusts that every member of his Division will subscribe for the official organ.

Yours fraternally,

ROBERT GENTLE, Chief Consul.

NEW YORK.

To all Members of the N. Y. State Division.

THE officersof our Division are working hard for its success and every member is urged to do the same. Let us make it strong in numbers, widen its influence and brighten its record so that every wheelman in the state shall be glad to add his name to our membership roll.

Membership blanks are ready for distribution. They describe fully the advantage of L. A. W. membership and tell you what the 1895 members will receive. Memberships do not end on March 31, as formerly. A wheelman (or wheelwoman), may join at any time in the year and his (or her) membership is secure for one year from the time of his application. Send for application and renewal blanks and help the work along.

The Chief Consul wants the names of a hundred members who will serve as a special volunteer committee to put membership blanks in the hands of new riders and urge them to join the League. Let every wheelman or wheelwoman who will serve on this committee send me name and address at once.

The Guide Board Bill.

A bill to compel town officers to erect guide boards at country road crossings has passed the Assembly and is now in the Senate. It needs your attention. Write to the Senator who represents your district and ask him to favor the passage of ASSEMBLY BILL 919 (the Guide Board Bill.)

Guide Boards.

Heavy sheet steel guide boards are now being prepared under direction of Vice-Consul W. E. Underhill, (Schenectady, N. Y.) and will be sold at 45 cents and 80 cents each according to size. Handsomely painted and ready to put up. You will receive printed circular fully describing them.

League Hotels.

Every Leage Hotel in the State has filed in my office an agreement to grant special privileges to L. A. W. members, and to none others. If you know of a case where this agreement is violated, notify me at once, and unless satisfactory explanation is made the certificate of the offender will be promptly cancelled.

The New Tour Book

will be ready in April. Every member whose membership extends beyond April 1, 1895, will receive a copy free. Price to all others $2.00 per copy. Full description in new application blanks.

The Road Maps

are out of print. They were distributed among new members as long as the supply lasted. A new edition will be ordered as soon as corrections have been made, and will be sold to Division members at cost (50 cents per set.) To all others $2.00 per set.

The State Meet

will be held at Brooklyn and Coney Island in June. Exact date and particulars to be announced later. The programme will be elaborate and attractive. We shall look for you there, All the net profits of the meet will be spent for Guide Boards on Long Island. A meet will probably be held at Binghamton or Elmira in July or August, and a September meet will probably be held in Buffalo. Profits of these meets will be spent for the benefit of the good roads or guide board movements in the counties where the meets are held.

"Buttons and Pins."

Very handsome designs for a Division Button (or Coat Pin) and for a Cap Pin, have been submitted, and it is expected that a supply will be ordered at an early day. They will be sold to Division members at cost,— probably about 25 cents each.

To all Consuls:—

Certificates have been issued to all Consuls thus far appointed, and all are expected to do their "level best" for the Division. Massachusetts is 2300 ahead of us in membership. Let us make Chief Consul Sterling Elliott hurry to keep his lead. He will read this (or try to) before you see it in type because he "runs the paper"; but if we move all at once we shall get within six or seven thousand of him before he learns how to saw wood and run a printing office in the same breath. Make every member in town your first lieutenant and get him to carry a membership blank in every pocket of his clothes. Keep a supply in every cycle store, repair shop, club house, hotel,— in every place where wheelmen congregate. Post yourself on all the points that argue in favor of the League and be ready to fight its battles. And finally keep every copy of the Bulletin on file and read the official columns from week to week.

Yours fraternally,

ISAAC B. POTTER,
Chief Consul.

NORTH CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22, 1895.

THE time for renewing your membership is at hand, and I hope you will send in your dollar, without delay. All doubts as to whether the League is going to have a boom in this Division, is past, and there is no stopping it. Several of the most prominent clubs have signified their intention of joining in a body; besides Mr. Ravlin, our secretary-treasurer, is receiving daily inquiries from every part of the Division from prospective members. It depends chiefly upon the individual members themselves, whether North California is to jump toward the top of the ladder in membership. Get in with your sleeves rolled up, and do what you can toward securing new members. If any one asks what benefits he is to receive for a dollar a year, tell him this: A free admission to the greatest race meet of the year, at San Jose, on July 4th; and the weekly L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS. It is also the intention of the present Touring Board to publish a new road book, to contain, at least, two more maps than the present one, which has eight maps. Certainly this is enough, to say nothing of the amount to be saved on touring trips by getting the reduced rates at League hotels. Our local consuls in every town will gladly give any information to members, whether they apply in person or by letter. The Division-Attorney, Judge F. H. Kerrigan, willadvise members in any matter pertaining to the general interests of cycling, whether the advice applies to the individual, to a club, or a town. It doesn't rest entirely with the officers of this Division to show the East that California has some wheelmen that have the interest of the sport at heart, but it rests with the individual members. I ask each member to try and secure, at least, one new member, and I assure you that your officers will do their duty cheerfully and conscientiously.

CHARLES K. MELROSE, Chief Consul.

PENNSYLVANIA.

To the Pennsylvania Division.

PHILADELPHIA, March 29, '95.

THE renewing season is here and we need the continued membership of every present member and the application of every reputable wheelman in the State.

New York is wickedly striving to deprive us of second place and it will require the strenuous efforts of ALL to defeat her unholy aspiration.

Every member of this Division is hereby commissioned with full authority to become an active missionary in his or her vicinity to secure the application of all reputable wheelmen. Let each one charge himself with securing at least two new members, and then make it three or more.

Send all renewals and applications to John J. Van Nort, 8 Hallstead Place, Scranton, Pa.

Fraternally,

SAMUEL A. BOYLE.

FROM MR. VAN NORT.

Members of the Pennsylvania Division.

SCRANTON, March 29, 1895.

ON this date, March 29, Pennsylvania has over 600 members in good standing for 1895–6.

We congratulate you all on this most excellent showing. We are informed all our members of '94 will receive the first issue of this new paper, and then only those who pay their dues will get a second copy. To you who have sent on your dollar to me for '95 dues and received your new road book, etc., I want to say get all your neighbors to do likewise, and those who have not been members, get them to send in to me $2.00. To you who have not paid your '95 dues do not delay longer, send in your dollar at once and receive a new road book by return mail, and the other favors Pennsylvania has to bestow, as fast as they are issued. We predict for Pennsylvania the largest membership she has ever had, more League clubs than ever before, more members present at the National meet at Asbury Park than any other State. A State racing circuit, with a rousing State meet. So get in the swim as soon as you can and help push things along. We may want about 5000 different wheelmen to all write a letter to their Senator or Representative about May 1, requesting them to support our road bill on final passage.

Fraternally,

JOHN J. VAN NORT.

Under the new rule, you may join the League any time.

But now is the best time.

TENNESSEE DIVISION.

Tenn. Division, L. A. W.

March 18, 1895.

A GREETING, through the columns of our new Bulletin, that will reach you every week, from this time on. A publication secured you by the earnest efforts of the National Assembly, and that, without any additional expense to its members. Edited, as it will be, by Sterling Elliott and Abbot Bassett, we can safely make the assertion—it will rank among the leading cycle papers of the country. But I will not take up their space and your time preaching Bulletins or Good Roads to you. Mr. Elliott will do that.

Being in a position now where every member can be reached by a medium open to us all, we can readily answer your question of what do I get for my dollar? Here it is: 1st; Membership in a powerful organization, distributed over the United States, offering many advantages to its members in a social way, but whose principle tenets are to push the cause of building good roads, to protect the rights of wheelmen in their legitimate use of the highways, to foster and encourage cycle racing, and last but not least, a weekly publication full of interesting reading matter, to keep you posted and abreast of the times on all matters pertaining to the wheel.

That this publication is a necessity for the membership of the league, was fully demonstrated to us last year, the first since the existence of the League that its membership declined.

Our State this time gained in membership, but this was only accomplished by the hardest kind of work. I do not hesitate in saying, that double, aye, treble, the number could have been gained under the conditions existing now. One of the most important of which is that membership is for one year from actual date of application.

This being the case, 'tis now in order to solicit all good wheelmen and ladies using the wheel to join the League. Those now members have selected me as your Chief Consul to look after the interests of the Division. I have accepted this trust, with which is connected neither "Fee, favor or reward."

I am willing to serve you well and faithfully. But I must have your assistance. Every member of the Division is hereby empowered to act for, and with me, in their various localities.

There may be but one, or there may be dozens of wheelmen in your city, town, or hamlet. Are they members of the League? If not, why not?

Lose no time, ask them to join us.

Get me one new member, and on a postal, or by letter, give me the names of the others not members. It will be of benefit to you and them.

Besides this, I want local consuls, and League hotels. I want to find out what good racing element you have and how we can help each other by promoting race meets.

Tell me about your roads; are they good or otherwise, and make suggestions how they can be improved.

I am addressing this to you personally through the columns of our paper, and I want to hear from you. Rest assured of a prompt answer. We have the proud distinction of being the leading State of three that gained in membership last year; assist me and we will hold it against all comers this year.

I will keep a clear record of all those that help me recruit our membership and will make especial mention of the one sending me the first application with the necessary $2.00. Blanks furnished when desired.

At the last meeting of the assembly, it was adopted that all members dropped for non-payment of dues less than two years ago, can be re-instated and get their old numbers by the payment of fifteen cents per month of the lapsed time.

Kindly bring this to the notice of those interested, and anxious to regain their old numbers.

In conclusion, I address myself especially to non-League members in this State who may notice this and will cheerfully give all the information desired.

Respectfully,

CHARLES J. SCHERER, Chief Consul.

UTAH.

Fellow-Members.

THE season now approaching promises to be one of phenomenal growth in cycling, let us see to it that it is also one of similar growth in L. A. W. membership. Let every member renew, and that promptly, then let every member urge his best friend to join.

With such concerted action, we will soon be able to organize a Division, and take the place which we should occupy in the lists.

When renewing, be sure and take in the BULLETIN, as through that organ alone is the executive able to reach you all.

Appointments of local consuls are now under consideration, and I would request members living beyond Salt Lake City to send to me such names and recommendations as will help me in the selection of the best men for these important posts. Join together and form clubs, as through these the interests of wheeling are best preserved.

Racing will be an important factor this year, every man who aspires to racing honors must join the League, every club which wishes to hold a race meet must apply to the L. A. W. for a sanction and should be a League club.

Remember these things, and join early.

Yours fraternally,

JAMES W. NEILL, Chief Consul.

VERMONT.

To Members of the L. A. W.

Less than one-half the members renewed during the year 1894.

Only a few new members were added to the roll.

Every bicyclist should be a member of the League for it benefits him in more things than he is aware.

In our own State it was the League that pricked the bubble of taxes on bicycles.

It is hoped every member will send at once his 1895 dues, and also induce some other wheelman to join.

It is necessary that it should be done.

The Vermont Divisions need some money for a very important piece of work. Material for a road book is being gathered and it will depend on the renewals and new membership whether it is published or not. The expense for it will be considerable and there is not a large amount now in the treasury.

If every member will make an effort to get another it will help a great deal.

We hope to be able to offer one of these books to each new member, and to every old member who induces two new members to join.

The price of the book alone will not be less than $1.00.

To members where there are races to be held this season, I would like to hear from you in regard to appointing a racing board, and if you think it would be desirable to have a State meet? If so, when, and at what point?

There is a general desire for good roads throughout the State, and every wheelman should not let any chance go by to enlarge upon the benefits to all, of better roads.

Report to the proper person all bad places in the roads and streets, and do so a second time if necessary. It will bring good results if followed up properly.

I will refer to the Road Book again. As planned at present, the book will contain through routes North and South. East and West routes extending to Boston, Springfield, New Haven, and New York and to Portland, Maine.

It will be an advance copy and will need corrections, and it is hoped that each member will do all they can to increase the membership, for on that alone depend the issue of the book.

You can draw on me for recruiting literature and same will receive prompt attention.

You will see that we are to have a good BULLETIN this year, and that alone should be all that is necessary to make a wheelman want to be a member of the League as it is a paper that all cyclists will want, and it costs no more to have it and be a League member than it does to get it without the membership.

Yours very truly,

B. C. ROGERS, Chief Consul.

M. C. GRANDY, Sec. and Treas.

WISCONSIN.

GREETING. The Wisconsin Division enters the new League Year with a resolute determination to reach the one thousand mark in its membership this season.

From all indications the prospects are encouraging.

As a special inducement to the present membership to aid in obtaining the desired number, an interesting proposition is made to each Wisconsin L. A. W. member.

Your membership this year may cost you nothing.

The Wisconsin Division will present to each member free, a renewal of his membership for one year, provided he will forward to the State Secretary, within the next thirty days, the applications of two new members, accompanied by the required sum of money. In other words, get us two eligible applicants for membership and your own renewal will cost you nothing.

Send your own application for renewal with the others to M. C. Rotier, Secretary-Treasurer, 505 East Water St., Milwaukee, Wis.

WYOMING CONSULATE.

To all Members L. A. W.

ROOM 9, ATLAS BLOCK, CHEYENNE, WYO.,
March 18, 1895.

I AM happy to announce to the members of this consulate that we once more have an official organ, and doubly happy that the Executive Committee, in its wisdom has placed the publication of it in the hands of such a tried and true veteran as Sterling Elliott.*

The subscription to the new paper is but 25 cents per year, and as our renewal fee has been reduced to seventy-five cents, renewal and the official organ is but one dollar, the former fee for renewal.

It is quite needless for me to impress on the minds of the members in Wyoming, the advantage of every one having the new paper, and I earnestly urge you to renew at once, sending in one dollar, and thus secure the paper for the ensuing year.

The initiation fee and first year's dues remains at two dollars, which includes subscription to the paper.

And now, let us all pull together and make Wyoming a division ere the season is over.

Fraternally,
C. P. HILL, Chief Consul.

* I blush, but daren't change the copy.—S. E.

It is not intended to allow anything to go in this column which is not at least old enough to have whiskers.

In the language of Geo. Thatcher we admire the antique and are pleased with "any old thing."

Zeeland, Mich., is a town of 1400 people without either a saloon or a lawyer in the place. When one comes, the other will be necessary.— Boston Globe.

This is rather rough on the lawyers; why couldn't they have a private bottle?

THE name Duryea always means something to interest the cyclist.

This time it's a good watch for $2.50 with the case ornamented with a rider in gold and enamel. It's a good timer and they refund money for any dissatisfaction. See "ad."

Renewal.

The first number of the BULLETIN will go to every member of the League. After the first number no one will receive the paper who has not renewed or applied for membership. Members will be careful in sending addresses for as the address comes to us with renewal so will it go on the list.

TO THE LADIES.

Under an arrangement made with Mrs. Mary Sargent Hopkins a special rate of subscription will be made to ladies who are members of the League, and subscribers to the BULLETIN. The subscription price for all such has been fixed at 50 cts. The regular rate is $1.00. An advertisement in another column will present a prospectus and the reputation of the editor will insure that all promises will be carried out. Send subscriptions direct to Mrs. Hopkins.

CONNECTICUT.

The resignation of Chief Consul Louis A. Tracy has been received. Under the rules the Vice-Consul, Philip W. Westlake, of Bridgeport will succeed to the office.

ABBOT BASSETT,
Secretary, L. A. W.

SIXTY DAYS ONLY.

Members are notified that the renewal season is cut down to sixty days. In previous years renewals were received to July 1st. This year the season ends JUNE 1st. Please remember.

APPLICATION AND RENEWAL BLANKS.

Application or Renewal Blanks may be had of the Secretary on application.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to Monday preceding this date, and published in accordance with Article III of the constitution.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published and to report errors and omissions to the secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at noon on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

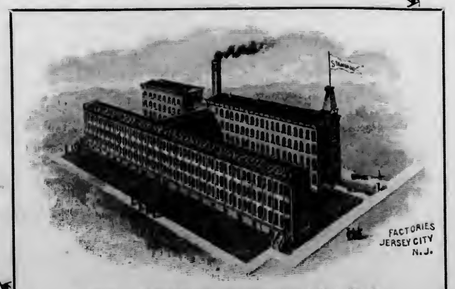
THE most delicate machine in popular use is the Watch. The men who make this "instrument of precision" are trained through long years of accurate manipulation and painstaking care.

When a Watch Company, housed in a great factory, with a world-wide reputation for the quality of its products, adds that Twin "instrument of precision," The Cyclometer, to its line, it is safe to predict for it an enormous popularity, based on its essential merit, and its low price which the economies of large manufacturing make possible.



The "Standard" Cyclometer, made by practical watchmakers, out of watch materials, in a watch factory, is thus unqualifiedly guaranteed.

A GUARANTEE THAT GUARANTEES.

We guarantee that the Standard Cyclometer will stand constant use throughout the life of the buyer. (One was speeded, under power, for 130,000 miles, and showed no appreciable wear). Further, we will repair, without charge, any injured in a mishap to the bicycle. (They are made with a thought of hard knocks).

A LITTLE PLAIN TALK

With the Reader about the Advertiser.

IN the beginning was set for mankind an example, the infinite wisdom of which has impressed itself upon all the puny ongoings of humanity ever since.

Had the earth been created at some later date, instead of in the beginning, no end of confusion might have resulted, but as man was not made until after the earth was finished, he was consequently debarred from making many suggestions which he otherwise might have insisted upon.

The earth is already created, and the people are not too easily changed, so we must take things as we find them and make the best of it.

You and I can see a thousand mistakes that are made daily by everyone besides ourselves, and we could without doubt so order the running of the universe as to greatly improve the present state of things, i. e., we think we could.

But let us try to realize our dependence upon each other, as well as the fact that we each have our peculiarities and that we dislike exceedingly to be interfered with in our own particular "pursuit of happiness."

I need not tell you that I still have much to learn about the running of a paper

There are three important interests, however, which must be looked after in order to succeed.

Total number printed this week, ...	6,000
Sent to paid subscribers, ...	5,102
Samples to Advertisers, Exchanges, etc., ...	898

The first, (and there is no disguising the fact that it must be first) is the interest of the publisher. It is a question with him whether he shall eat prunes or strawberries, or whether he shall forego the pleasure of that kind of "sauce" altogether.

In order to have readers it is necessary to make the paper interesting to them to the extent that they will subscribe for it.

It should not be forgotten either, that no publication, however interesting, has ever been run upon the money received from readers.

Out of about thirty thousand periodicals in this country all but a few sell advertising space, and those which do not are supported by outside money and are run with no expectation of profit.

In order then for any publication to exist, it must depend largely upon the money received for advertisements.

The advertiser, if he is the sort of man with whom the honest publisher wants to do business, looks at three things: First, whether the paper goes to the class of people who have use for the kind of goods he sells; second, whether those people take interest enough in the paper to read it; and third, how he can best get his advertisement before those readers, i. e., what particular space he can get in the paper, and how he can most surely attract the attention of the largest number of those he is trying to reach.

To each of the three interests, those of the publisher, the reader, and the advertiser, we must cater in a way which will be mutually beneficial.

I have already had several applications for advertising spaces which could not in justice to all sides be considered at any possible price.

It is my purpose, however, to give to each advertiser as good a position as is available when his order is received.

The reading matter will not be mixed up with the advertisements in such a manner as to leave the identity of either in doubt, and yet it will often happen that both will appear on the same page.

The reader is not asked to go to any particular trouble to find whatever he wants, (if indeed we have it at all).

Successful Sailing

in the business world is what we are all aiming at. Many firms have built up a great business by careful attention to the wants of their customers, and by supplying those wants.

Few bicycle makers pay any attention to the wants of customers. They simply copy the productions of another maker without knowing whether they are correct or not.

Within the past two years the Grand Rapids Cycle Co. has advanced with strides which have surprised all who know them. Their success has been due to a careful study of the wants of local dealers, and a promptness in supplying those wants.

No maker takes more (and few as much) interest in the local dealer than this concern. Last year they wrote all their customers asking for criticisms on the '94 models, and also for suggestions which would improve their wheels. The '95 product of this concern is the result of practical suggestions and improvements of the dealers throughout the country, backed up by knowledge and experience of men who for ten years or more have been practical wheelmen. Mr. Dealer, your success in selling bicycles wheel for a leader. Why not handle the new Clippers? Make a leader of them. They, with the help of the concern which builds them, will guide you safely to the business harbor of success.

GRAND RAPIDS CYCLE CO.

If I can succeed in making a paper which you will read, it will be a good advertising medium, and it is the money of the advertisers which make this or any other paper possible.

I must take good care of the goose which lays the golden egg, and that isn't saying that the BULLETIN advertiser is necessarily a goose either.

A REDEEMING FEATURE.

JUST before going to bed one night during the February meeting of the National Assembly, I went down into that part of the Grand Union Hotel where food is served when called for, but where liquid refreshment is the specialty.

I was accompanied by two prominent wheelmen, who shall be nameless here, except to say that one was the President of the League, and the other wasn't.

A bright-eyed waiter, who evidently came from Tom Sheridan's country, approached and waited in a deferential manner for our orders.

I asked him to fetch a bowl of custard and a glass of milk. His face wore a peculiar look, but he turned anxiously to the others, who were so well pleased with my selection that each in turn ordered it duplicated.

After sizing us up and evidently believing he was waiting on Neal Dow and staff, he started toward the kitchen. At that moment one of our party (I don't remember which one) called him back and ordered a cocktail. At this his face took on a new light, and as he passed another waiter we heard him whisper: "Well there's one redeeming feature to this order after all; I guess them fellows ain't so soft as they look."

OUR COLOR.

FOR the benefit of those of our readers who have never started a new publication it may be well to state that there is much to do before everything is in running order.

The design for our cover was not ready in time to permit of our experimenting with ink and paper. So we bought all the cover paper there was in the Boston market of one kind and had to take about thirty reams of another kind to make out the edition.

This week we are using still another shade. As soon as we can settle upon the proper degree of æstheticism which best pleases our readers, we shall try to work some paper mill for a supply of one color, so that the L. A. W. member shall not be scared out of his self-possession by constantly running up against new and unexpected combinations.

The Bicycle Maker.

TUNE, "My Mother."

Who, when his evening prayer is said,
And thoughts of slumber fill his head,
Lies down upon his easy bed
And dreams he never has been bled,
THE MAKER.

Who makes the very strongest frame,
And easiest bearings for the same,
Who makes the very lightest weight
That skill and money can create,
THE MAKER.

Who, when his bank account is flush,
Does out upon the race track rush,
And make assurance double sure
By contracts with the amateur,
THE MAKER.

Who, when his output all is sold,
And order book no more will hold,
Goes straightway to the printer man
And advertises all he can,
THE MAKER.

Who, when his racing team has won,
And summer trade has just begun,
Goes to the papers with his mirth
And then proceeds to claim the earth,
THE MAKER.

Who, when accounts are overdue,
And solvent agents very few,
Goes out upon the windward tack
And takes the unsold cycles back,
THE MAKER.

Who, when the autumn days are here,
And cycle records disappear,
Sends out his team to some good track
To win his fading laurels back,
THE MAKER.

Who constitutes the cycle show?
Whose money makes the thing a go?
Who pays the fancy price for space?
And does it with a pleasant face?
THE MAKER.

Who every winter goes before
The public as he did of yore,
And fairly makes the welkin ring
With statements of the latest thing?
THE MAKER.

Who, although his grade was high
And he has talked it to the sky,
Will always strive to make it higher
By putting on the greatest tire?
THE MAKER.

Who, after all is said and done
Is out for business, not for fun?
Whose money and whose solid talk
Permits the cycling ghost to walk?
THE MAKER'S.

TOLL-GATES IN KENTUCKY.

MR. G. E. JOHNSON of the Louisville Courier Journal sends us some evidences which go to prove that the the toll-gate is not just now in very good repute in that State. Here are some samples: —

Behind the Times.

Toll-gates are coming to be regarded as "twin relics of barbarism." It is undoubtedly true that the toll system of pikes is one of the things in which Kentucky is not entirely abreast of the times. — Ashland News.

Hard on the Farmer.

There is little need of a farmer raising produce if he can not get it to market. Good roads give him the way, but the toll serves as an imposition to his free trade, and compels him to barter with the country store or pay his profit to the turnpike companies.

Down with the toll-gate. — Warren Courier.

Must Commit Himself.

The Ledger will support no man for office in Mason county who is not pledged to free pikes. — Maysville Public Ledger.

Even where toll-gates are tolerated wheelmen should not be asked to pay, for both the wheelman and his pneumatic tire are road improvers.

READ THIS TWICE, THEN STOP AND THINK.

M. J. Savage in a late sermon says: "Speak to-day to husband, to wife, to child, to friend, the words of love and appreciation that all sensitive hearts hunger for; do not wait and weep over the white, still face to pour out your sobbing words of affection when the ears can no longer hear. Say it now if you love any one. If you wish to help them, if they have done you a kindness, tell it now. Make the world brighter and fairer, and make it easier for people to live and be true."

That is the kind of religion that the world of humanity is dying for, the religion of Love.

AN EXPERIMENT THAT IS SURE TO "PAN OUT" WELL.

AN interesting experiment is being made in New York city in the direction of appointing women to public office, the commissioner of the Street Cleaning department having appointed two women street inspectors. It is to be their duty, in a certain section of the city, to say when the streets are clean and to suggest what means should be used to keep them clean. It is anticipated that the experiment will be highly successful, as the appointees have shown marked business ability in several responsible positions in private life. At any rate it is going to furnish a first rate test of the capability of women to perform some public functions.

It may be said that no more favorable opportunity could be given women to vindicate their claim of competency to undertake some of the burdens and responsibilities of city government. The duty of keeping a watchful eye on the condition of the streets and of suggesting improved methods for keeping them clean is one that women should have a special fitness for performing. The instinct is inborn in them to keep everything tidy and it is further developed by special training. They should be able to shine as inspectors of streets, if clothed with sufficient power to carry out their ideas. The experiment in New York city should be attended with an increased cleanliness of its streets, and it should help the recognition of women to other spheres of public life in which they are likely to render good service.—Ex.

The price of hay always goes up in proportion as the farmers' wagon goes down (in the mud).

MILWAUKEE.

One of the longest relay races ever held in the northwest will be run from Green Bay to Milwaukee, a distance of over 120 miles, on Decoration day. The race is now being arranged by the Associated Cycling clubs, of this city, and the various clubs along the proposed route. The relays will be about five miles each, two riders making each relay. The course will be from Green Bay to Appleton, Kaukauna, Menasha, Neenah, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac to Milwaukee. Each of these cities will furnish its fastest men for the event and an effort will be made to break some of the Wisconsin road records. The riders will deliver a message from the mayor of Green Bay to the mayor of Milwaukee.

Walter C. Sanger,, who has been seriously ill with typhoid fever, is slowly recovering at his home in this city. The Milwaukee flyer's illness will seriously interfere with his plans for this season. It was his intention to go south on April 1, and begin training at once, but if he gets to Birmingham by April 15, he will be very fortunate. He is still very weak and will not be able to commence training for at least a month, but he hopes to be in riding condition by July 1. Dave Shafer, his trainer, has decided not to leave with the others of the Spalding team until Sanger is able to accompany them. During his illness Sanger has lost nearly forty pounds in weight.

FUNERAL STOPPED BY MUD.

Impossible to Drive the Hearse to a Cemetery.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., March 22.—The fearful condition of the roads prevented the burial of the late Rev. John A. Watson to-day. It was impossible to drive through the quagmire to the cemetery at Coventryville and no preacher could be secured to hold service at the grave. Four ministers were invited but could not promise to drive through the deep mud. Hence, the body of Rev. Watson was placed in a vault, and will remain there until the roads improve.—Phila. Record.

MY EXPERIENCE WITH "WIDE TIRES."

BY Q. O. CLARK.

PALMYRA, N. Y.

A PRIVATE "object lesson" in road improvement has afforded me a great deal of satisfaction and some profit. When I came to look at the farm before purchasing, in the fall of 1860, its most objectionable feature was the condition of the lane running through the centre of it.

It had been the farm lane for many years, was narrow, fenced with stone walls for a part of its length and cut up from fence to fence with narrow tires, and if the object had been to make it hold the greatest amount of water possible, it was in prime condition. In short, there was nothing right about it except its location, while right beyond it, across the back end of the farm, were many acres of heavy timber, which must be worked into cord wood and drawn to market.

Modern road engineers and scientific road improvement had not then come into notice, consequently I did my own surveying, some portions while walking on the top of a dilapidated stone wall, and in others by walking over a rail fence.

Before the snow was off the next spring I was the owner of a wagon with tires four inches wide.

Uncounted loads of cobble stones were dumped into the lowest and wettest places, the flat stones on top broken with a hammer or an old axe, and the stoned road used for a few months without covering. As time and other labor would permit a covering of earth was drawn on and what had been the worst places speedily became the best.

Three short hills were doubled in length, principally by the use of plow and scraper. One section of forty rods was cured by digging a ditch from two to three feet deep, laying an open throat at the bottom and filling to the surface of the ground with field stones. The earth that came out of the ditch, and a little more with it, was back-furrowed to the centre of the road, harrowed and rolled smooth, and has been a satisfactory road ever since.

Besides ordinary farm use, for several years hundreds of very heavy loads of wood were drawn over that lane, and as a lasting result of my labors I have had the use of a good farm road for thirty years. A little common sense, a considerable amount of hard work and the regular use of wide tires seem to have met the requirements in my individual case.

In the year 1861 I think I was the only person in the town who owned such a wagon, but now there are probably more than one hundred of them and the number being increased every year. I have had perhaps half a dozen in all and for several years past have used no others. I have two that were made to order such as are sometimes called "half truck," the front wheels being three feet and the hind wheels three and one-half feet in diameter. Such wagons with a three and one-half inch tire have become so popular that a single shop in this town is this season turning out more than thirty of them for the local retail trade.

If it were a question of farm wagons with narrow tires furnished free of expense, or such as I am using at my own cost, I should continue to use the latter.

I hope at no distant day to make the experiment of having one farm wagon with the rear axle at least six inches longer than the front one. If wagons so constructed should be common on our public highways there would soon be a manifest improvement in the condition of our roads. But I started out to tell merely what I had done and what I knew to a certainty; and here I am theorizing; something that the road question already has too much of, in proportion to the amount of practical work done.

HIGHWAY PATCHWORK.

IT is like putting new wine into old bottles to spend money in repairing the ordinary mud road. The height of economy is to make a good road and then it don't cost much to keep it good.

A REMARKABLE "REPAIR."

OWING to the improper drainage it settled in spots as all roads are prone to do, and the superintendent of streets ordered one of his "gangs" to "fill those hollows with broken stone."

A member of the L. A. W., who happened along soon after this "filling" process had been completed, had presence of mind enough to immortalize the job by means of his camera, and like all good L. A. W. members he thought of the official organ and sent us the print.

Of course this is rather an exaggerated instance, but there is much of this so-called repairing done which ought to meet with more condemnation than it does.

When anything is repaired it should be in better shape than it was before, but this is not always the case with roads.

The road roller is one of the great engines of civilization and as people come to know it better they are getting more and more attached to it.

The tendency of drivers is to shun a newly repaired road. Wheelmen often have to dismount and walk over it.

These things all tend to prove that there is yet much for the average road repairer to learn.

CONVICT ROAD BUILDERS.

THROUGH the very efficient instrumentality of Gen. Roy Stone, the United States Government is looking up the question of roads and how to build them.

Whether convicts should or should not be worked on the highways is one of the problems.

Gen. Stone says the highways all over the country should be improved at least in part by convict labor. If prisoners are not set at work on the roads they can be utilized in the preparation of road materials. Speaking of this system, he says in a recent interview:

"Many of the States are now arranging to establish supply camps for road material at which State convicts can be worked under proper restrictions. In California especially the State prison grounds contain an excellent vein of trap rock, the very best of road material, and abundant water power, with the necessary machinery for moving and crushing rock. There are 700 or 800 convicts in the prison. The prison authorities find that they can prepare road material and put it on the ground for 20 cents a cubic yard and pay all the expenses of the prison out of the receipts.

"Many railroads have already offered to transport material for the bare cost of the train service, and probably most of the railroads in the country would be willing to make such an arrangement, for they are naturally interested in the improvement of the highways."

It seems as if it would pay the friends of good roads to take the cue from Gen. Stone and endeavor to further their object by inducing the State to set its prisoners at work upon the roads. The plan is one that ought to get around many of the difficulties that confront the good roads problem at present.

WIDE TIRES are coming to be considered good form in Agriculturial Circles.

A Sad Case in Alabama.

On a Blount county road some people saw in a slough of mnd and water something which indicated the probable loss of a team of oxen and a man and woman. On the surface was a gentleman's and lady's shoe and portions of a wagon, and sticking through a sea of mud were a pair of horns. — Collinsville Clipper.

STREET RAILWAYS IN PHILADELPHIA.

BY GEO. A. BULLOCK.

(Chief of Department of Public Works.)

WHEN the passenger railway systems were first established in Philadelphia, legislation authorizing their construction compelled all the companies to get permission through Councils, before they could construct their roads upon the thoroughfares of the city. In accordance with this act, the ordinance of July 7, 1857, provides that they shall keep in perpetual repair all streets or avenues occupied by them, between curb lines. In addition to this, they were to pay a license fee of $50.00 for each car run upon their lines. In the case of streets that are not paved at all, or new paving, the railway company is not liable for this work, but they must maintain the street as long as it is occupied by their road.

In compelling an electric railway to maintain the thoroughfares over which its tracks are placed, and not exacting from them any additional taxation in the way of bonus, annual returns or portion of gross receipts, I think that a city or borough will get far larger returns than can be estimated by any money value. The City of Philadelphia, in two years, has received upwards of seven million (7,000,000) dollars' worth of paving from our passenger railways, and to complete our trolley systems they will be compelled to spend, at least, five million (5,000,000) dollars more, making a total of twelve million (12,000,000) dollars, absolutely, which we will get from our passenger railways, a greater return than I have yet seen from leasings, bonus or percentage of gross receipts, from any municipality of which I am aware at the present time; and we not only get the pavements, but their perpetual maintenance, which is a very important feature, and a very expensive one, of all large cities.

I consider the arrangement a good thing for the electric company and the municipality or corporation whose streets will be occupied by an electric railway.

The experience of railway companies in this city, and all other cities of which I am aware, has been that the increased receipts, as time goes on, makes the franchises of such companies very valuable, and while at the start it may be considered onerous for such an arrangement upon the part of the railway company, still, in a series of fifteen to twenty-five years, if there is a live, active population, the value of the property under such apparently burdensome restrictions would increase more than 100 per cent.

One of our street railways in Philadelphia paid in dividends, in 1876, the cost of the original railway construction, in 1858. Another company, built in 1864, during the first months of its operation did not take in sufficient money to pay for the horse feed; but in 1876 they were paying a dividend of 16 per cent. on the capital invested.

These are a few of the instances of what can be done by careful and successful management of passenger railways, in cities where a population will warrant their construction.

EVANSTON, ILL.

EDITOR GOOD ROADS:

ADRESSING of gravel on loam or clay in the centre, and clay on sand (but not too much of it) will make a good road bed in a short time, but they need an honest care taken for each section of an ascertained length. I saw in one of your books a short time back, a note asking for information on wide tires.

The very best way to make, and keep good roads, is, to have wide tired wagons; a graduated tax on narrow tires would in time cause them to disappear. If every farmer who is going to get a new wagon would have its felloes and tires four inches wide, and others who have new vehicles have them altered to four inch (and it is the opinion of your correspondent that it will pay them to do it) they would find it much easier to draw loads either on the roads or on their farms. Some doubtless would object to wide tires in the spring, on account of mud and ruts, but it is a very narrow road where one cannot avoid the ruts and make another track.

I was born in Bradford, Vt., and lived there till I was thirty-two years old. The Connecticut River Valley was always noted for its good roads. The farmers all through that part of the country, east of the Green Mountains, had wide tired carts and wagons, from three to six inches wide, and the four to eight horse teams that ran to and from Boston had five and six inch tires. West of the Green Mountains, and in "York State" they used the narrow tires. The farmers on the east side of the mountains could not be induced to use them, they called them "York State wagons."

One farmer in Fairlee, Vt., had twelve inch felloes and tires on his carts, and he had a smooth

THE WHEELWOMAN

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The time is ripe for a woman's paper devoted to wheeling for women.

A medium is needed for the dissemination of instructive and interesting articles on the subject upon which the existing cycling press is almost unanimously silent.

THE WHEELWOMAN gathers items of interest from all possible sources pertaining to the sport. Fashions in wheel dress and accessories will be given special attention.

THE WHEELWOMAN is in the field, not as a competitor with other cycling papers, but to extend and broaden a work begun years ago: that of bringing women to a realizing sense of the importance of out-door exercise.

THE WHEELWOMAN advocates the highest standard of cycling from a healthful and artistic standpoint.

THE WHEELWOMAN is in no sense a trade journal.

THE WHEELWOMAN advertises and recommends nothing which cannot receive personal endorsement.

Interesting articles by and about prominent women who advocate the wheel, appear each month in the WHEELWOMAN. Able writers contribute to its columns. THE WHEELWOMAN is conducted by

MARY SARGENT HOPKINS.

We offer all Women Members of the L. A W., one year's subscription to THE WHEELWOMAN for 50 cents. The same offer holds good to any woman joining the League within three months of this date. After she has joined, to make the inducement still greater we offer Frances E. Willard's new book, "A Wheel Within A Wheel" (which will be put on the market about April 1st, at 50 cents), with one year's subscription to THE WHEELWOMAN, for 75 cents. This to woman League members. All others can have the book and a year's subscription to WHEELWOMAN for $1.25.

farm. Some parts of the highways were made of clay soil, and turnpiked up; in the spring when the frost is coming out of the ground, it would be soft and springy, and a narrow tire would cut through and go down, when a wide-tired wagon would run over them.

I have many a time taken two or three yoke of oxen to pull out those narrow tired wagons; we could not use horses for they would get mired, and we had to take oxen to get them out. The fact is, a team will draw one-third to one-half more weight on four inch, than they can on one and a half inch tired wagon, either in sand or mud. I have known farmers to have two sets of wheels, one set wide, to use on the farm, and a set of narrow tires to go on the road, when the wide tires are the best for all purposes.

EDITOR GOOD ROADS:

Yours of the 19th at hand.

I am both directly and financially interested in the cause of improved roads, as it will result to the best interests of not only carriage men and bicycle manufacturers, but to farmers, market men and pleasure riders.

As far as this part of the country is concerned, our country roads are as a rule in bad condition, but, owing to the agitation that is being developed throughout the state in regard to the improvement of roads, the commissioners of our country towns as well as our city officials are making a move in the right direction.

Under the laws of our state, the wardens of our States prisons are allowed to take convicts out to work on the country roads nearest the prisons, but they are not allowed to work on the city roads.

We have in this city the Auburn State Prison, the warden of which has just commenced working about thirty-five men on one of our roads outside the city; the city authorities are to build the main drive up to the beginning of where they have started to work; the roads are being macadamized, the stone being furnished by individuals who are interested in good roads, also by the town, as well as what gravel may be used, the state furnishing the labor by its convicts.

CAPITOL MFG. CO., Chicago, Ill.

If the above experiment proves successful and gives satisfaction, they will work out from our city in different directions. In regard to soil, our soil is diversified, we have some sandy roads and some clay; the roads most commonly built in our country towns are gravel — in the city mostly macadamized, and some medina stone pavements. There is some little attention paid to under drainage, not very much.

There is not anything being done in regard to wider tires; I see no objection to the use of wide tires on farm wagons or on heavy trucks, on the other hand my experience has taught me that they would be very beneficial, both to the user and the good of the roads. I have no data at hand as to the difference in draught between a wagon with springs and a similar wagon without springs.

In this country the use of the bicycle is having some effect on the carriage business; livery-men, especially, find a great deal of fault, and, I think, with reason, as I have several acquaintances of my own, young men, on Sundays and holidays, formerly would hire a horse and carriage, now take their bicycles — in this connection, I think, the young ladies would have as much complaint as the livery-men; I find in my own business I have had some customers, young men, who owned a horse and carriage sold the rigs and bought bicycles; they all have different reasons, of course, for their actions.

I have had some customers after using a bicycle a year would either retain or sell it, and get a horse and carriage again. I do not find much fault, even if I did it would not do any good, for if people want bicycles they will buy and ride them — if they want carriages they will do the same.

I have tried to answer your questions about as you have asked them, as it is a subject that I am deeply interested in, for the good of all concerned, not on the theory of the carriage man twenty-five years ago, "The rougher the road, the better the business," but, the opposite "The better the road, the better the business," and the better the nerves and temper of those who ride.

Trusting the above will answer your inquiries satisfactorily, I remain,

Yours very truly,

GEORGE F. WILLS.

As the minds of people broaden, it is noticed that wagon tires also increase in width.

OLD STYLE ROAD REPAIRING.

BY SAM WALTER FOSS.

Oh, our life was tough and tearful, and its toil was often fearful,
And often we grew faint beneath the load,
But there came a glad vacation and a sweet alleviation,
When we used to work our tax out on the road.
When we used to work our tax out then we felt the joys of leisure,
And we felt no more the prick of labor's goad;
Then we shared the golden treasure of sweet rest in fullest measure —
When we used to work our tax out on the road.

There are sapient seers and sages who predict, in coming ages,
Life's tragedy of labor will be o'er,
And a glad full-fledged millennium will leap on the proscenium,
And we'll play, but never labor any more.
But we look not in the future for that happy, halcyon hour
When we'll throw off every burden, every load;
For our Eden burst in flower, and we dozed in leisure's bower,
When we used to work our tax out on the road.

When we used to work our tax out (if I let the bottom facts out),
We had somnolent contentment and repose.
With no toil or work to cumber us our rest was sweet and slumberous
And in deep, delicious dreaming did we doze.
The drowsiness of languid rest o'er every man was creeping,
And in a calm, serene content we all threw down our load;
Careless of life's wail and weeping, every blessed man was sleeping,
When we used to work our tax out on the road.

SPLINTERS FROM THE RACING BOARD.

IN taking up the duties of the office so long and so ably directed by Mr. Raymond, the new chairman understands thoroughly the immensity and difficulty of the work, its responsibility and the extreme improbability of any man making so complete a success of the office as has our honored ex-chairman. The present incumbent promises faithfully to do his best—more is impossible.

To the racing men we can only say that the Racing Rules of the League of American Wheelmen shall be enforced to the letter so far as it is in our power, both for and against the rider. As an old racing man the writer has every sympathy for those who compete fairly and honestly upon the cycle path—and a corresponding contempt for such as masquerade under false colors. Remember that while there is always recourse, in due form, to the Racing Board, for any injustice done upon the track, no two wrongs ever make a right.

We ask the co-operation and confidence of riders, officials and race-promoters, given which a successful racing season is at once assured.

Chief Consuls whose Division Constitution provides for a State Racing Board are requested to kindly send the names of those constituting such boards to George D. Gideon, 17 North Seventh street, Philadelphia.

As heretofore, the rule regarding confliction of dates will not be observed on national holidays except in the case of circuit meets. Attention is called to the new rule enacted by the National Assembly, by which it is required that all applications for sanctions shall be accompanied by the sanction fees, $10 for each national circuit date, $2 for each open meet with $1 additional for each additional day, and $1 for each closed club event on athletic meeting scheduling, but two cycle races. The only exceptions to this rule are League clubs having a membership of 20 or more, such exceptions being made only by vote of the Racing Board.

The second week in July will probably be the week of the national meet at Asbury Park, N. J. While this is rather earlier than usual it is about the latest date for which special arrangements could be made for the accommodation of the League membership. As the preparation and correction of the racing rules for '95 will necessarily require some time it may be well to state that the changes in the rules from those of '94 will be approximately as follows:

1. In Class A prizes of any reasonable description to the value of $50 may be offered; this does not admit, however, of ridiculous prizes or prizes calculated to injure the sport.

2. Any Class A racing man employed in the cycle trade may be transferred to Class B without further cause.

3. Applications for sanctions must be accompanied by fees as indicated above. No applications can be considered valid unless fees are sent.

4. No sanction may be granted for an event to take place on Sunday, or in which women can participate.

5. No private record trials will be sanctioned during the principal racing season, probably from June 1 to October 1.

6. No appeal for referee's decision will be considered unless made within one week of date of meet.

Chief Consuls are requested to forward to me any recommendations they may desire to make looking to the appointment of handicappers for their respective districts.

GEORGE D. GIDEON, Chairman.

NEW YORK.

To the Members of the State Division:

I AM informed by Dr. E. M. Santee, compiler of the "Tour Book" for 1895 that the book will be ready for issue about May 1st. In the meantime I will mail the "Road Book" to all new members. The 1893 edition of the "Road Map" is exhausted. Immediately on receipt of the 1895 "Tour Book" from the printers I will supply all members who are entitled to receive it.

Members are kindly asked to refrain from writing for the "Tour Book" and to accept this notification that the book will be mailed them as soon as possible. A compliance with this request will relieve the Secretary from the burden of answering thirty or forty letters a day at this time when his hands are fully occupied with recruiting and renewing work.

W. S. BULL, Secretary-Treasurer.

NOTES BY STAMSON.

THE horde of curbstone agents for best wheels on earth, who died out during the winter have largely, oh, so largely come to life again that they are on every side, and you could not swing a bursted inner tube around without hitting from one to fourteen! Ever know what it is that induces makers to appoint anything and everything as "agents," when they well know, or should, that such people having no findable store or salesroom only want to get a wheel at a discount, and kill the sale of that make in the place, which, if in the hands of a known dealer might be sold in numbers?

Jimtown, with a population of "cl'us to 20,000," has some fifteen cycle dealers, so-called, although but three can really show cause for claiming the title.

Merciful Providence, though, has seen to it that the ten or twelve have some other way of getting a living than selling cycles, for even the three veterans have been known to scramble around some at other work, when no one was looking, to get a $ or two.

One of them paints signs in a back room behind locked doors, while it is said that both the others are job printers, and, if the truth was known, live by the flow of ink.

Winter has hung so long among the Nutmeg hills this year, that we shall doubly welcome sunny days and the chance to again revel in the charms of the outdoor world, on wheels.

With what zest will we push the new and lighter cycles over the old wheeling routes of years gone by, and delight in the changes that may appear; in the melody of the birds, the early flowers and old earth's green carpet.

As an old tourist the writer wishes to give thanks for the increase in the amount of touring matter of late in various cycling journals, and hopes the good and readable work will go on, as there is no doubt that a larger number are interested in the quiet pleasures of touring than in any other phase of cycling.

The Asbury Park attractions will lead to many a pleasant jaunt awheel to them when summertime comes again, and Mrs. Stam already begins to tease for a new wheel, and plan for the ride.

We hope to zigzag up the Hudson, crossing at Tarrytown and ramble around in Jersey a day or two before reaching the Park, letting the wheels take pretty much their own course and pace.

I. II. III. IV.

THE new BULLETIN editor was known to favor Boston as the place for holding the 1895 National Meet; but was and is decidedly in favor of doing all possible to insure the success of the Meet wherever it was held.

I even went so far, on the floor of the assembly, as to state my belief that there had never been a mosquito in Asbury Park.

In spite of these facts an unrepentant "Boston Boomer" asks me to print these pictures and say that they represent something of daily occurrence at Asbury Park. The pictures are used simply to illustrate how far prejudice will go.

The case is rendered all the more heinous from the fact that the idea of the thing is taken from Puck, although the pictures were re-drawn and somewhat modified to give them a show of originality.

BICYCLES REPAIRED.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR UNIFORMS.

THE BOSTON REGALIA CO., 7 TEMPLE PLACE, BOSTON, MASS.

PHILADELPHIA.

APRIL 2, 1895.

THE formal opening of the local riding season falls this year on April 7th, when most of the larger clubs will hold their initial all-day runs.

The present outlook for racing during the coming season is that but two really large meets will be held, both of which will be in the National circuit. These will be the tournaments of the South End Wheelmen on June 22d and the Associated Cycling Clubs in September. Several meets for Class A riders only will in all probability be arranged for by some other clubs later on, but the risk and trouble involved seemed last year to outweigh the desire for this branch of the sport with many clubs that might readily have undertaken the management of other meets in addition to the four that were held.

The Board of Directors and the Finance Committee of the Century Wheelmen have determined upon plans for the enlargement of their club house, 1606 North Broad, and the addition of a magnificent front. Designs have been adopted and provisions made for the necessary funds — about $8,000 — and work will begin shortly after the first of April. Three months from now it is expected that the Centurions will have not only the largest but the most palatial building owned or occupied by any exclusively cycling organization in this country.

The Associated Cycling Clubs have appointed a committee to arrange for a run to points of historical interest in and around Philadelphia on somewhat the same plan as the Paul Revere rides of the Massachusetts Club in Boston. There are so many places of interest that should properly be included, although located at different points of the compass, that if the idea proves popular a series will probably have to be arranged for.

The location of the National meet at Asbury Park promises to be beneficial to the Pennsylvania Division as a recruiting medium. This together with the new road book, which after a thorough revision is now ready for delivery, has resulted in many new applications and a large number of renewals. With the added advantage of the new BULLETIN to offer as an inducement to membership, the new force of Local Consuls recently appointed by Chief Consul Boyle throughout the State will undoubtedly be able to largely increase the membership roll of the Division during the next few months.

C. A. DIMON.

MEMBERS OF PENN. D. W., L. A. W.:

The list of Pennsylvania Local Consuls will not be completed before May 1st. We want the right man in each town. If you are the right man apply for it, if not, apply for the right man, or get the right man to apply for himself. And if now out of the League have him join.

This paper, 2nd issue, will only go to subscribers, (about eight hundred) Pennsylvania wheelmen, so that those who see notices now must see that they are spread among the others and they urged to join, or renew at once, so as to get the BULLETIN Road Books and other favors.

Clubs contemplating holding race meets should make mention of the fact to chairman of Racing Board or some officer of the Division as soon as possible — so that a State circuit can be arranged. No change is made for sanctions to League clubs. So League clubs should attend to renewals promptly.

Fraternally,
JOHN J. VAN NORT.

TO CHIEF CONSULS.

The first business meeting of the Executive Committee of the L. A. W. will be held in Boston, about May 1. Time and place will be announced later. All Chief Consuls having suggestions to make or desiring information, will be present or notify some member of the said committee.

I desire to thank the Divisions for their very creditable work so early in the year. Let the efforts be unremittingly continued and let 40,000 members be the minimum mark for the present League year.

Fraternally,
ARCHIBALD C. WILLISON,
President, L. A. W.

In the preface he says: "The present purpose is not the making of pavement, but the forming of public opinion."

He recommends, among other good things, that cities employ no wagons except those having wide tires and varying track.

He shows by drawings the advantages of quarry rock for the production of crushed stone and the objection to round field stone on account of the curved, smooth surfaces which tend to work upon each other.

Colored plates show the more approved methods of laying Tilford road and brick pavement, and also of underdraining roads and streets.

The book is very interesting and shows much thought and research on the part of the author.

Although Mr. Judson has prepared this work at the request of Mayor Higgins, of Oswego, and with especial reference to that city, it is worthy of a much wider circulation, and would be very interesting to men in charge of the streets of any city.

THE RENEWAL SEASON.

The renewal season is now open, and we are ready to receive the annual dues of members.

All memberships expire March 31, and must be renewed before June 1.

Members have but sixty days to renew this year. In previous years they were given to July 1st. Don't forget this.

After June 1st a member will be fined 15 cts. for each month he is in arrears.

(COMBINATION BLANK.)

Application for Membership in the L. A. W.*

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR: — Enclosed find the sum of TWO DOLLARS which I send in full payment of my initiation fee, one year's dues and subscription fee to the official publication of the L. A. W., under provisions of Articles III and VII of the Constitution. From the sum enclosed I authorize and direct you to pay to the publisher of said publication the regular subscription fee to League members and to enter my name as a subscriber. I certify that I am eligible to membership in the L. A. W. under the provisions of the Constitution and I refer to two League members (or three other reputable citizens) named below.

RENEWAL BLANK.

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.,
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR: — I enclose ONE DOLLAR for which please renew my membership and subscription to the L. A. W. publication for another year.

Number, ...

Name, ...

Street and No. or P. O. Box, ...

City, ...

State, ...

Division in which my home is and to which I should be attached. .....

Send Ticket to, ...

The L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS AND ALL OTHER MAIL MATTER WILL GO TO THE ADDRESS AS GIVEN ABOVE, and the name of no member will be put regularly on the list till his renewal with latest address is received.

Fill out above blank, inclose necessary money, and send to Secretary. Don't send soiled bills. New bills are safer in the mails. Write very plainly, PRINTING PREFERRED. Stamps of a denomination above 2 cents will not be received. If you live in one state and have your mail sent to another, fill out the blank so that you may be located with the division in which your home is and your mail matter be sent as you wish. Ticket holders, 25 cents; with name stamped, 50 cents. If you want either of these write "25" or "50" at left of word Number. This brief form of blank is used to enable applicants for membership to follow the requirements of the League Constitution, which provides [Articles III and VII] for the payment in advance of one year's dues, with initiation fee and subscription fee to the official organ. Applicants or members using this blank will regularly receive all official news and announcements and will be subject to no further charge or assessment for any purpose whatever.

SIXTY DAYS ONLY.

Members are notified that the renewal season is cut down to sixty days. In previous years renewals were received to July 1st. This year the season ends JUNE 1st. Please remember.

APPLICATION AND RENEWAL BLANKS.

Application or Renewal Blanks may be had of the Secretary on application.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to Monday preceding this date, and published in accordance with Article III of the constitution.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published and to report errors and omissions to the secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at noon on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

WISCONSIN DIVISION.

To the Local Consuls and Members:

It is a very pleasant thing, now, at what we all believe to be the close of an era of depression in our great and usually prosperous country, to report to the members of any organization that progress instead of retrogression, has been the tendency. The word tendency is scarcely strong enough, it has been the fact.— we might go a step farther and say, great progress has been made by the Wisconsin Division League of American Wheelmen.

We have gained in membership and gained in prestige, and lifted ourselves into a position of responsibility and worthiness in the public mind, and have created a movement for good roads which is as far-reaching as the State itself, and which will redound to our credit so long as highways exist; and now that we are about to enter upon a time of prosperity for our country, we are in the best possible position to press onward to that position of prominence and influence in the national body to which our Division is entitled.

You will find, in the matter that has been sent to you, certain inducements which we offer that we may add to our strength numerically. Do not get the impression, however, under any circumstances, that League memberships are a cheap commodity, or that they are to be sold at bargain sales. It is an honor to belong to the League of American Wheelmen because it signifies the allegiance of the member, to one of the most respectable, thoroughly intelligent, and influential associations in our country, and a membership is synonymous with the advancement of civilization by the construction and maintenance of good roads.

There is one suggestion which may aid you in building up the League of American Wheelman in your especial locality, and that is, that you organize a League club. It takes twenty members to make a League club, entitled to representation on the Board of Officers of the Division. It seems possible, in almost any community now that wheeling has become such an important feature, to find twenty people who are willing to band themselves together for the maintenance of the principles of the League in their locality. The simplest way is to form an organization with an initiation fee of two dollars, and annual dues, and let the joining of the club also constitute a membership in the League of American Wheelmen, the two dollars initiation fee being used for the purchase of such a membership. In this way, no one feels the burden, joins two organizations at once, and if you can get twenty together you have a representative on the Board of Officers.

This is to be one of the most important years in League work. We want you to feel that not only is your co-operation needed, but every wheelman must lend his influence to the maintenance of the League in every possible way, for though great has been the work of the past, there are constantly new fields to conquer, and it is only by the combined influence of this great and powerful body that the privileges which are now accorded to the wheel under all circumstances, on the railroad, on the path, in parks, in towns and villages, are enjoyed and maintained.

Yours fraternally,

A. CRESSY MORRISON, Chief Consul.

TENNESSEE.

Your earnest effort in the direction of good roads is having its good effects, even in this brightest country of ours, where they don't want the negro in their social organizations but rather encourage him to start a little one of his own.

Sincerely I am glad to note that Madison Co. of this State is awakening to the fact that good roads not alone benefits cyclers, but enhances the value of the lands touched by such good roads. As yet, I regret to say Shelby Co. is the only one west of the middle line of the State that has any gravelled or improved roads, thanks to our Mr. George B. Fleece. But a few years ago we did not have a mile of improved road on which two mules could pull an empty wagon in the winter time. You can now see them come along in a comfortable trot, hitched to a wagon containing usually three bales of cotton, but often as many as five bales, bringing it fifteen to twenty-five miles, direct to the cotton shed, saving sixty cents railroad and fifteen cents cartage on each bale.

Cotton seed comes the same route. They don't go out empty. They can always find a load of flour, corn meal, sugar, coffee, side meat, if not for themselves it is for a nearby grocery or store-keeper. You see that knocks out the railroad both ways. Mark you, there is a new era for this part of the country and good roads is helping mightily towards it.

Yours,

CHARLES J. SCHERER, Chief Consul.

ONE MORE POINT FOR POTTER.

The Potter Guide Board Bill has passed both branches of the New York Legislature and will undoubtedly be approved by the governor.

THE SIZE OF RIDERS.

THOSE who are above average size should ride high machines. A cyclist appears ridiculous sitting upon a long bare saddle rod above the machine. It is not only the looks, it is dangerous and uncomfortable. If the support itself does not bend, the frame may yield, if it does not break it will be deformed. Nearly all the builders build machines corresponding to the size of the riders. Attention should be called to this and it should be recommended. Many houses build machines of three different sizes, for tall, average and small sized cyclists.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION.

We publish in this issue a renewal blank which we hope will be universally used. A blank of this kind is more satisfactory for filing than a notice of renewal written in letter form. If a member has no blank and does not care to mutilate his paper, he will oblige us by sending the renewal on paper the size of the blank and made out after the same form. The same applies when two or more names are sent.

Every League club has been supplied with sheets to send applications on, and also a renewal blank to be made out for renewal of the club. Since many non-League clubs send in lists of names, a list of names is no indication that a League club renews its membership, and we must have the regular certificate of renewal as per blank furnished every club before we can issue our certificate of club membership.

Club secretaries will be supplied with renewal sheets for club lists on application.

Consuls and secretary-treasurers should be supplied with renewal blanks, application blanks, recruiting pamphlets, etc., and can have them from us upon order.

Don't forget to send number.

Don't forget to give us your home address, if you are temporarily out of the state. We have to locate you with division where your home is.

Don't put questions, or requests for a change of address on the renewal blank. The blanks go to clerks who do not answer questions nor change addresses.

Don't put your name and number in the body of a letter. We want only name, number, and address. All else is superfluous. The cash will tell us that you want to renew and after that we want only name, number, and address.

Don't be surprised if you get a circular from your division secretary, telling you that you have not renewed, since many of these will go out from checkings made several days previous to sending.

It is possible that many who have renewed will be dunned. If you have your ticket, take no notice of the circular, and don't get indignant in any event.

Don't write us for recruiting circulars or application blanks. Your division secretary will supply these. It is important that division officers should know the workers, and where blanks and literature are being used. Every division officer has or should have a full stock of blanks.

Adjourned at 1.30 to 2.30 o'clock.

Meeting called to order for afternoon session at 3 P. M.

John J. Van Nort presented the report of the Auditing Committee, in print.

Election of Officers.

The Assembly proceeded to elect officers for the year 1895-96.

Mr. Adams of Massachusetts nominated Archibald C. Willison of Cumberland, Md., for President. Motion seconded by Albert Mott of Maryland. The Secretary was instructed to cast the unanimous ballot of the convention for Mr. Willison, and this being done, that gentleman was declared elected President.

Mr. Van Nort of Pennsylvania nominated Geo. A. Perkins of Cambridge, Mass., for first Vice-President. Motion seconded by Arthur W. Robinson of Massachusetts. The Secretary was instructed to cast the unanimous ballot of the convention for Mr. Perkins, and this being done, that gentleman was declared elected first Vice-President.

Irving P. Strauss of Wisconsin nominated A. Cressy Morrison of Milwaukee, Wis., for the office of Second Vice-President. Motion seconded by Louis A. Tracy of Connecticut.

W. A. Connelly of Illinois nominated A. A. Billingsley of Springfield, Ill., for the same office. Motion seconded by L. C. Jaquish of Illinois and R. G. Steele of Michigan.

Dean of Massachusetts, O'Neil of Virginia and Scherer of Tennessee were appointed Scrutineers.

The ballot resulted as follows: Whole number of votes cast, 142. Necessary for a choice, 72. A. C. Morrison had 95. A. A. Billingsley, 47.

On motion of Mr. Jaquish of Illinois, the election of Mr. Morrison was made unanimous.

Mr. Brewster nominated Andrew E. Mergenthaler, Fostoria, Ohio, for the position of Treasurer. Motion seconded by W. W. Watts of Kentucky.

The Secretary was instructed to cast the unanimous ballot of the Assembly for Mr. Merganthaler, and this being done, Mr. Merganthaler was declared elected to the office of Treasurer.

By vote of the Assembly the following were elected an Auditing Committee: J. Fred Adams, Massachusetts; John J. Van Nort, Pennsylvania; Geo. R. Prout, Ohio.

On motion of Mr. Mott an appropriation of $11 was made to defray the expenses of the railroad representative sent to vise the railroad certificates of members of the Assembly.

Annual Meet.

The Assembly by vote decided to limit the time for debate upon the question of a place for the annual meet. Fifteen minutes were given to the Chief Consul of each contending Division and fifteen minutes allowed for open debate.

Chief Consul, Robert Gentle, New Jersey; James S. Holmes, New Jersey; A. R. Parsons, New Jersey; W. A. Connelly, Illinois; Fred Keer, New Jersey, spoke in favor of Asbury Park.

Chief Consul, Sterling Elliott, Massachusetts; W. W. Watts, Kentucky; Josiah S. Dean, Massachusetts, spoke in favor of Boston.

A proxy was taken with the following result: Whole number of votes, 144. Necessary for a choice, 73. Asbury Park, 81. Boston, 63.

On motion of Mr. Elliott the vote in favor of Asbury Park was made unanimous.

Amendments.

The Assembly then took up for consideration the amendments to Constitution that had been given notice of.

Voted to add the following words to ART. I, Sec. 2., "and to promote and regulate cycling racing on the track." (1)

Mr. Rottier withdrew his proposed amendment to ART. II, Sec. 1. (2)

Voted to add the following section to ART. II.

Sec. 5. The status of every consulate, sub-division and division shall be fixed annually on the first day of October and shall be based on the membership enrolled on the books of the League on that date. (3)

Mr. Jaquish withdrew his proposed amendment taking the word "white" from ART. III, Sec. 1. (4)

Voted to insert the words "or three other reputable citizens" after the words "two League members" in ART. III, Sec. 1. (5)

Voted to strike out the words, "the sum fixed by this Constitution" and insert "one dollar" in ART. III, Sec. 4. (6)

Voted to strike out Sec. 5 of ART. III, clauses (a, b, c), and insert new section as follows:

Sec. 5. All memberships on the books of the League on the date of the passage of this rule shall expire March 31, 1895. All memberships that may be entered after the date of the passage of this rule shall expire one year from the date on which the applicant is enrolled as a League member. (7)

Mr. Luscomb withdrew his proposed amendment to ART. III, Sec. 5, clauses b and c. (8 and 9)

Voted to strike out Sec. 6 and 7 of ART. III and insert new section as follows:

Sec. 6. A member may renew his membership at any time within sixty days from the date of its expiration by the payment of the annual dues of $1.00. If he shall postpone the payment of his dues beyond the sixty days he shall pay in addition to the annual dues of $1.00 the sum of 15 cents for every month or fraction of a month that he is in arrears. The provisions of this Section shall apply to all those whose memberships have not been allowed to lapse for more than two years. (10)

Meeting adjourned at 6.30 P. M. to meet at 7.30 P. M.

Meeting called to order at 7.50 P. M. Vice-President Willison in the chair.

Voted to amend ART. III, Sec. 9, clause (c) by striking out the words "and such prizes shall be limited to medals, diplomas, plate, jewelry and cycle sundries only." (11)

Voted to amend ART. III., Sec. 9, clause (g) by striking out all the words after "cycle" and inserting "but racing men in the employ of cycling establishments may be transferred to Class B." (12)

Mr. Elliott's amendment to ART. III., Sec. 10 was defeated. (13)

Adjourned at 9.30 P. M.

Second Day.

Tuesday, Feb. 19, 1895.

Meeting called to order at 10.30 A. M., by Pres. Luscomb.

Consideration of amendments resumed.

Mr. Elliott withdrew his proposed amendment to ART. IV., Sec. 2. (14)

Voted to amend ART. IV., Sec. 4, by striking out the words "be held" and inserting "begin" and also by striking out "third" and inserting "second." (15)

Mr. Elliott's amendment to ART. V., Sec. 12, was defeated. (16)

Voted to add a new line to ART. VI., Sec. 3, as follows:—"VIII. Auditing." (17)

Voted to amend ART. VI., Sec. 5, by inserting the words:—"except that on Auditing" after "Committees" in first line. (18)

Mr. Raymond withdrew his proposed amendment to ART. VI., Sec. 5. (19)

The amendment proposed by Mr. Mott adding new Section to ART. VI., was defeated. (20)

Mr. Raymond withdrew his proposed amendment to ART. VI. (21)

Amendment offered by Mr. Potter to ART. VII., Sec. 1, was postponed. (22)

Amendment offered by Mr. Elliott to ART. VIII., Sec. 1. Clause (c) was indefinitely postponed. (23)

Voted to amend ART. VIII., Sec. 1, as follows:—

Clause (a) after the word "thereof" add "together with a correct list of club members certified to by the President and Secretary of the Club."

Clause (b) after the word "League" insert "and a certified list as provided in clause (a)."

Add new clauses as follows:

(c) The membership of every League Club, as such, shall expire on the first day of July in each year, and may be renewed at any time before the first day of September next succeeding. Upon receiving from the Secretary of the club a certificate to the effect that the club still continues the required by-law in force, together with a correct list of the club members certified to by the President and Secretary of the Club, the Secretary shall issue a new certificate of membership. The membership of all clubs that fail to renew the same before September 1 shall lapse.

(d) On and after the date of the passage of this rule no club shall be entered as a League club if its name shall be the same or similar to that of any club already enrolled, except by consent of the League club whose name is the same or similar. The appearance in the title of the name of the city or town in which the club is located shall constitute the name a similar one, and therefore it shall be deemed prejudicial to the interest of the club already enrolled. (24)

Voted to strike out ART. IX., entire (25)

By-Laws.

Mr. Luscomb's amendment to ART. I., Sec. 3, was indefinitely postponed. (26)

Mr. Elliott's amendment to ART. I., Sec. 6, was postponed. (27)

Mr. Luscomb's proposed amendment to ART. II., Sec. 1, (a), was indefinitely postponed. (28)

Voted to insert the word "business" before the word "meetings" in ART. II., Sec. 1. (29)

Voted to add the following clause to ART. II., Sec. 1.

(f) At each annual meeting of the National Assembly at least one day shall be devoted exclusively to the consideration of ways and means for advancing the work for road improvement within the various states and to the determination of a plan or plans for the effective co-operation of the state divisions in the further advancement of this branch of League effort. The day or days devoted by the National Assembly to the separate consideration of road improvement subjects under this section, shall precede the regular business meeting of the Assembly and shall include such proceedings as shall have been determined and announced by the national committee on improvement of the highways. At this meeting any member of the National Assembly may invite the presence of citizens not members of the League, and the committee on improvement of the highways may provide for lectures, addresses, or reports from such persons as in the judgment of said committee are well qualified to encourage and advance the work for improved roads. (30)

Voted to add new clause to ART. IV., Sec. 1, as follows:—

(b) It shall direct and instruct the Chairman of the Racing Board to collect from applicants, in advance (except League Clubs as hereinafter provided for) $10 dollars each for granting sanctions for National Circuit Race Meets, $2.00 each for Open Race Meets and $1.00 each additional day, and $1.00 each for Athletic Meets scheduling two events, and to apply the revenue derived to the expenses of conducting the affairs pertaining to the Racing Board, its Chairman and members; to the employment of an official referee (to be appointed by the Chairman) who shall be required to officiate at all National Circuit Race meets, and to the general improvement of the racing interests of the L. A. W. (31)

Voted to add new clause, ART. IV., Sec. 3, as follows:—

ART. IV.—Sec. 3. (b) This committee at such times shall have the power and it shall be its duty to explain, define, and interpret any provision of this constitution or any by-law, or any rule of any committee of this League upon request of an officer of the League, and its decisions on such points shall be final. (32)

Voted to add new clause to ART IV., Sec. 7.

ART. IV.—Sec. 7. New clause (b). It shall have the power to grant or withhold sanctions for race meetings, and to impose penalties upon race promoters and racing men who may hold race meetings or engage in racing at the same without the official sanction of the board. But no race meeting shall receive official sanction if it is to be held on Sunday, or has upon its schedule any event which is open to women competitors. The board shall charge a fee for each sanction, but a League club having twenty League members on its roll, may, by a vote of the board, receive a sanction without payment of fee. Sections following to be re-lettered. (33)

Voted to add the words "for professionalism" after the word "expelled" in ART. IV., Sec. 7. (34)

Mr. Mott withdrew his proposed amendment to ART. IV., Sec. 9. (35)

Voted to add new clause to ART. V., Sec. 1, as follows:—

(c) In case the charges are made against the President, the first Vice-President shall have the powers and duties given to the President in Clauses (a) and (b) above; Clause (c) shall be Clause (d). (36)

Voted to insert the words "by a two-thirds vote" after "Assembly" in ART. IV., Sec. 2. (37)

Adjourned at 1 o'clock P.M.

Meeting called to order at 2.25 P.M.

President-elect Willison gave notice that in the appointment of Committees he should consult Division officials and at this time he could go no further than to state that he should appoint Geo. D. Gideon, of Pennsylvania, to be Chairman of the Racing Board. He announced that a suit had been commenced against the League by Mr. I. B. Potter, and on motion, the Executive Committee elect was authorized to employ counsel to defend the suit.

A Committee of three on resolutions was appointed as follows:—

Irving F. Strauss, Wisconsin; W. A Connelly, Illinois; Sterling Elliott, Massachusetts.

QUERIES AND ANSWERS

We are pleased to note that our proposition of last week in regard to the dissemination of useful knowledge through this column has been appreciated and as usual Philadelphia leads with the first batch of questions, and the seeker for information is Mr. Kain.

First. Why do you use such a horrible color for the Bulletin cover?

Answer. We were obliged to use several different colors last week, which color did you get?

Second. Why does a dog turn around several times before lying down?

Answer. This must be a peculiarity of the Philadelphia dog. Boston dogs don't do it.

Third. Why are you always knocking Philadelphia?

Answer. I can prove an alibi, you must be thinking of the Sporting Life.

Fourth. Where did Frank Egan get the original design for his hair cut?

Answer. Mr. Egan's address is No. 34 South 3d street, your city. If he don't answer your question it will be the first time he ever failed to respond.

Fifth. When will the League recognize professionalism?

Answer. The League has been recognizing professionalism for the past ten years. If you mean when will it call professionalism by its right name, would say that I don't know.

Sixth. Who first told Ariel that he could write poetry?

Answer. Ariel is now in the trade and he advertises in this paper. I must decline to joke with him at this distance.

Seventh. Will the League have to support Abbot Bassett for ever and ever and ever?

Answer. I hope so for the good of the League.

A Double Economy.

IN mechanical devices the best is the cheapest. If the "Standard" Cyclometer was sold at $5.00 instead of $2.00 it would still be the cheapest in the market on the score of its intrinsic mechanical excellence. But when the facilities of large manufacturing make it possible to furnish this $5.00 value for only $2.00, the buyer practices a double economy in purchasing a "Standard," since he thus secures the best in value because it is the cheapest, and at the same time the cheapest in price, which happily is the best.

It's such a good Cyclometer ALL OVER that it is difficult to name its BEST points; one is confronted with an "embarrassment of riches." See:

Two-Thirds Size.

Absolutely Accurate.
Unequalled in Durability.
Variety—24, 26, 28 and 30 inches.

WHAT SHALL WE PRINT?

A QUESTION of no little importance, and yet a very easy one to answer.

It is quite obvious that we should print those things which would please the largest number of readers.

Many readers will take the trouble to reply when asked questions as to what they prefer.

A few will not wait to be asked but will let us know promptly.

The majority of readers however, prefer to suffer the ills we inflict upon them rather than stir up the animals and perhaps get something worse.

Dimly outlined as it may appear at times, there is in this office a well defined anxiety, amounting almost to nervousness, to furnish a paper which will meet with the kindly approval of so large a number of patrons that it might seem to be unanimous.

An event, say a race meet, occupies the attention of an entire community for a day or two in some part of our glorious country: the excitement, though, is purely local and the matter is thoroughly covered by the local papers.

The L. A. W. may have in that town fifty members.

Now say this paper has a circulation of 40,000, which it soon will have, how much space shall we devote to the event which interests but fifty

Total number printed this week, ...	7,500
Sent to paid subscribers, ...	6,944
Samples to Advertisers, Exchanges, etc., ...	556

readers, and how many of the other 39,950 will forgive us for it.

It will not of course be possible to interest everybody in the same matter, but it seems best to try how near we can come to it.

It isn't possible in these nineteenth century days to make any weekly paper a real newspaper.

Newspapers which are newspapers get out from two to six editions daily, and run them on presses which will print twenty times as many papers an hour as can any press which does the quality of work required by this publication.

Referring to the League member who lives in a city the question answers itself.

The only doubt is one which comes on the member who lives in remote parts of the country away from sewer gas, ward politics, and other deadly enemies of social purity.

The man who gets up in the morning and goes to bed at night, and who, except on rare occasions knows not the seductive glare of the arc light, may yearn for news. The latest developments in Class B circles, whether Mr. Crackerjack is going to ride an albumen wheel with German silver rims, or whether he has signed with the X. Y. Z. Co. All these things may be of the deepest interest to the young man who communes mostly with nature, and again they may not.

The general consensus of opinion seems to be that the L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS should make no attempt to be a newspaper in the ordinary acceptation of that term.

This opinion is based upon a somewhat extended inquiry among L. A. W. members.

However, the case is not closed and never will be; evidence may be submitted at any time.

Will you, dear reader, kindly send a line to this office saying what you would prefer.

Remember that the publisher of this paper can best serve his own interests by pleasing you, and that the easiest matter to print is that which is demanded by the largest number of readers.
If you don't see what you want ask for it.

Bicycles built for business

THERE MAY BE BETTER

Wheels than those which we are making, we shouldn't be surprised if there are, but, judging from our orders and the unprecedented demand for our Business Bicycles, we question the statements of some. We can see no reasons why some other makers cannot build equally as good wheels as ours, neither can we see any reasons why we can't build as good as the best. We honestly believe there are no better

BICYCLES THAN NEW CLIPPERS.

They are well made, of good stock, by men who have had years of experience. We try to build to please, and judging from our success during the past two or three years, we have succeeded. Even our cheapest bicycles are said by those who ought to know to be equal to most so-called high grades. We were the first makers to recognize the fact that Business men wanted business bicycles; we now have some imitators who make good bicycles, they may be better than ours,

BUT WE DOUBT IT.

We are now shipping from 50 to 75 wheels per day, yet we cannot keep pace with our orders. We do not want any more new customers at present, but we do want every dealer in America to keep an eye on our productions another year. We may be able to make all the wheels our friends want. Remember, we are the original builders of Business Bicycles.

Made by the Grand Rapids Cycle Co.

TWO LITTLE STORIES WITH A MORAL.

THERE is a certain eccentric young man in Boston whose father and uncles run several banks, and at different times the young man has had accounts with them all.

His usual method of opening an account is to get a check book and proceed to draw checks. The making of a deposit being a trifling formality which he persistently overlooks, until his attention is officially called to it.

Very much in this fashion it was that the new editor of the new BULLETIN opened his account with the other cycling papers.

In some remarks headed "what is the matter with the League," it was stated that "there was noticed an almost universal anxiety on the part of the cycling press lest the League should go wrong."

Various other statements followed, all of which seemed, and do seem, justified by data contained in our scrap book.

No sentence, however, could be construed to include all the cycling papers. In fact, on page seven, first column, fourteenth line from the top, we said "many of our esteemed contemporaries believe it" meaning when read with the foregoing that the L. A. W. is all right.

The matter was carefully considered and it was supposed that every cycling editor was given an opportunity to soliloquize thus, "Well, that hits some of those fellows, but it lets me out."

And now for the other story.

A famous Evangelist was, many years ago, in company with members of his fold, making preparations for the opening service of a camp-meeting. The location was in a piece of woods, and the seats were slabs fastened in rude fashion to the trees and stumps.

When the improvised auditorium was nearly complete, it was discovered that the only axe belonging to the outfit was missing. And it was surmised that, following the usual custom of axes, this one was probably lying where someone had put it. And, furthermore, as no one had left the camp, the guilty party must of necessity be a member of the congregation.

After the passing of the hat and other preliminaries, the minister said impressively:

"The only axe which we had on the grounds has been sequestered, (I think sequestered was the word) and I have my eye on the guilty party. In order that all may know who he is I will fling my hymn book at his head."

A motion was made with the hymn book and a member of the congregation dodged behind a tree.

Moral: you can always tell who is hurt by noticing who "hollers."

IT ISN'T SURPRISING

that an impression had gained currency in certain quarters to the effect that the L. A. W. was losing ground, the reason was that the League, during the months of February and March, was without any means of telling what it was doing, and this emphasizes the statement which we have so often made, viz., that enthusiasm is not spontaneous: that the average citizen depends on constantly renewed evidence to keep him convinced of anything.

The published names of those who, from week to week, take passage on the "old ship" together with those already on board, who stay for another year, ought to be evidence to those who are inclined to "believe not."

GLAD YOU LIKE IT.

AT a meeting of the Radford Wheelmen held on the evening of April 9, it was unanimously

Resolved, That a vote of thanks be, and hereby is tendered to Sterling Elliott for his earnest, energetic, and effective work in the interest of the L. A. W., congratulating him upon the neat and business-like L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS, decidedly the best Official Organ yet published, and wishing both to him and to the grand old L. A. W. the greatest possible success during the ensuing year, and further, that the Secretary be instructed to furnish Mr. Elliott with a copy of this resolution.

CHAS. M. CALDWELL, Secretary.

I am pleased to note that the Secretary of the Radford Wheelmen is Caldwell. I have no doubt he is well. Thanks for the attention.

SPOKES FROM THE FELLOES

Our friend Sibley, of the Post, is a bright-witted fellow with a mind turned toward the humorous in life, and yet he frequently pulls forth from the mine of his intellect great nuggets of wisdom. Note what he says anent the reorganization scheme which the cycling press is advocating.

"Now, as to the plan, itself, there are comparatively few States in which the divisions could live under such an arrangement. Massachusetts and New York would live, and Pennsylvania probably, but in a majority of cases to take away the national government would only be another way of saying 'to kill the L. A. W.' There are other politics besides those of the L. A. W., and it once happened in national politics that some of the parties concerned thought that this same plan might be with advantage employed. Another party, residing mainly in the Northern States, thought it better to hang together as a national body. The split-up was never effected, so the results of such action were never actually seen, but the opinion of the majority was seen, and it is safe enough to predict a similar end to this latter-day secession movement."

It is always best to carry one's cargo on deck, and it would be as well for those who are crying for re-organization to tell the world at once that they want to get rid of the Bulletin. One publisher was frank enough to say to us: "The Bulletin is in the way and I propose to do what I can to kill it." This publisher is now crying "re-organize."

The answer to all those who predict bankruptcy and downfall is given in the application lists that are published each week, and in the renewal statistics. The first application list contained more names than were enrolled in the whole month of April last year, and on the tenth day of the month we had booked more renewals than were received in the full month of a year ago. These are not silent witnesses in the case now being argued.

We are in receipt of a great many twenty-five-cent pieces from those who think they should send the subscription fee separate from the renewal fee. This will notify all such that $1 pays the renewal fee and the subscription to the paper, and that we cannot receive a subscription at the twenty-five-cent rate from any other person than a member. First renew or apply for membership and then you may have the paper at the club rate. Those who have sent a lonely quarter should call it back if they have already sent $1, or they may send the fee and have the cash in hand applied to it.

Subscriptions to the Bulletin expire with the membership of the subscriber. Every week that a member delays renewing costs him a Bulletin. We cannot send back numbers. Our order to the printer is based on the membership enrolled and we do not print enough extra papers to warrant the sending of a copy to late comers.

The Rhode Island Wheelmen is and always has been a firm friend and a staunch supporter of the L. A. W. This year several what-do-I-get-for-my-dollar members endeavored to get a vote to withdraw from the League as a club. They were snowed under by an avalanche of votes. The R. I. W. will not desert the colors. It is one of the most progressive and energetic clubs on the roll, and has on many occasions shown us the kind of stuff that it is made of.

Last year we had what may be called a bad year, though it was a much better one than its immediate predecessor. If we had had no legacy of debt from a former administration our books would have shown a good profit last year. Our membership fell off, it is true, but our income was not reduced. General Apathy was powerful in the ranks of wheelmen, and his followers had w. d. i. g. f. m. d. on their foreheads. General Enthusiasm is rallying our forces this year. Look for the resurrection of General Prosperity.

What do I get? Fudge! What are you going to do for us? Don't be a leech, drawing much and giving nothing. Put your shoulder to the wheel and help the car of our progress over the hills of difficulty. All that we have obtained has come from organized effort and we can preserve it in no other way than by organized effort. Where all are leeches there can be no effort save to kill. Note this little straw from a lay paper:

"Turn and turn about is fair play. When bicyclists were few in number they were compelled to carry lights at night by carriage owners. Now the two-wheel men are numerous and they demand that for their protection vehicles carry lamps."

HAWAIIAN CLIFF JUMPING.

MRS. S. M. EMERY.

DURING the Hawaiian revolution of 1893, I chanced to be one of a "volcano party" of which Mrs. Blount was also a member.

It was very evident that the natives fully appreciated that the wife of President Cleveland's "special commissioner" might, by her influence, prove an important factor in their cause, and so they sought to curry favor by paying every attention.

On the last day of our stay in Hilo, the party was conducted by a delegation of prominent Hawaiians to the wharf, where we found in waiting two long, narrow boats, some twenty-five feet in length, by four in width. These were lashed together, and between them, and resting upon their rims, was a little barge, capable of holding five persons. It was canopied with white cloth and festooned with "sweet meily" and native flowers and fruits.

Into this frail bark we stepped, the boatmen crying "piliki" (danger), and no "piliki," as we safely crossed the rocking boat.

Ten oarsmen, five in each boat, keeping perfect time with their broad oars, propelled us out into the sea, and up into the mouth of the Wailuku river, which comes tearing down to join the ocean, flowing through a narrow gorge, where the rocks have been rent asunder by some mighty throe of nature, that split and upheaved and flung the great lava blocks broadcast into the river, dividing its waters into deep pools and swirling currents.

At a point where the river's course is broken by the Kaluakauaka fall, which dashes over the ragged rocks in a sheet of foam, springing between lofty cliffs, whose aggresssive grandeur is softened by clinging shrubs and vines, the boat was moored and we were helped onto the jutting rocks.

Lining the shore and perched upon the rocks, were many Hawaiian spectators.

All eyes were riveted upon a statuesque Hawaiian, standing upon the cliff, which towered seventy feet or more above us. His only garments were a strip of red flannel and a wreath of "meily."

Taking a short run, he sprang high into the air, then vaulting clear of the cliffs and over them, in a mighty downward leap, feet foremost, he disappeared in the seething waters.

Rising to the surface, laughing and shaking his grey locks, he reascended the cliffs, and repeated the performance, again and again; then going to the head of the cataract he sprang into its midst, and slid, first, head foremost, then feet foremost, into the churning whirlpool below. We fairly held our breath, for it seemed as if nothing but a fish could perform such aquatic feats and live, much less a man who must have numbered fifty years, for this diver and jumper was no boy athlete.

Next we returned to the sea, to watch the natives ride the curling breakers, upon their surf boards.

At last we were conveyed to the ship Kenau, waiting to return to Honolulu. After which the little barge withdrew a short distance, and lay upon its oars, faintly outlined in the dim starlight, while the boatmen paid one last tribute, by joining in Hawaiian songs, whose soft, sweet melody, floating over the waters, was our final good bye.

ROADS OF CONNECTICUT.

BY CHAS. L. BURDETT.
(Ex-President L. A. W.)

I. There is no modern law on the statute books in Connecticut providing for road improvement, that is, providing either state or county aid or for any central supervision.

II. The roads in this locality (Hartford) are a marked improvement over the same roads of ten years ago. In East Hartford, considerable work has been done in macadamizing roads, there being several miles of good macadam and gravel roads. Glastonbury has expended about $15,000 on road improvement and has, at least, four miles of macadamized road. West Hartford has expended $80,000 on road improvement and has fine roads, which even the most rabid opponents would not allow (since they have seen their value), to fall into ill repair.

III. Improvements are not being made as fast as they should be, but certainly as fast as we can expect for the reason that it is extremely difficult to convince property-owners of the necessity or benefit of a change in the system, not only in this locality, but in the State; the townsmen are certainly conservative, if nothing else. The fact that it will require the immediate expenditure of from three to five thousand dollars per mile for macadamizing, is a great obstacle, as they persist in not recognizing it as a good investment.

IV. There has been considerable agitation in the direction of wider tires, and a bill was introduced in the legislature, in '93, providing for a State law compelling the use of such. No law was enacted, however, owing to the failure of the whole road improvement agitation.

V. My personal opinion is that wider tires are desirable and of advantage on all country roads.

The Bicycle Rider Knows a Good Road When He Sees It.

"My boy Hiram writes me from college," said Farmer Craycraft, laying the letter on the table a moment in order to wipe his glasses, "that he's been studyin' up this subject of good roads an' I'm all wrong about it. I'll bet $1000," continued Farmer Craycraft, "he's been buyin' himself a bisickle!"—Chicago Tribune.

How does a hundred new members a day strike you for this season of the year?

HOW I WORK THE ROADS.

BEING for some years a rider of the G. O. O., and can boast that eight States have felt the impression of my wheel, I know fairly well the roads of this country. The best way to know the roads is to take a solid tire bicycle over them.

Many a weary mile have I pushed a wheel through sand and dirt, many a header and fall I have got. I only hope the "recording angel" did not take down all the things I said upon those long tours, through my native land.

He could not have heard me, for the blue atmosphere about me (for it was blue) might have hidden me, and it was not my fault if the Road Commissioners did not appear next day like "The Jackdaw of Rheims."

My pneumatic has to some extent help save my soul. So it was with great joy that in '92 I received a copy of "Good Roads" for I knew the fight was "on." Being a League member I received every month a copy, and having read it sent it back "to be placed to their best advantage" and talked the road question up to my friends, receiving the name of "Good Roads John," which clings to me since.

I wrote to the papers about the roads, but it was not published. When Pope's petition came out, with the help of friends, I sent in 300 names, among them were fifty stables, asking for better roads, and received a letter from the Pope Mfg. Company thanking me for my work. The petition, I believe, did some good and opened a fight in one direction. But its a case of "Freedom's battle once begun." Last summer year I met a Road Commissioner of West Chester Co., N. Y., and as there was plenty to improve New York City, I turned my attention to West Chester, and sent the Commissioners all the "Good Roads" I could, marking the best things in the books, and I know it did some good. There is an old saying, "If a man makes two blades of grass grow, where only one grew before, he is a public benefactor."

It would be a great thing for me to know that others will take the hint from this, and work on my lines or improve upon them. And one day I may know that my poor little "talent was not hid in a napkin" and my work was not in vain.

The road between Washington Bridge and Fordam is in bad repair and I must see that it is fixed. I'll write to the papers about it. Mr. Elliott, all I want for this article is, for you to tell me

ROAD WORK IN OGDENSBURG, N. Y.

THE annual report of the Board of Public Works of Ogdensburg shows that good work has been done, and that the right spirit prevails.

A system of recording and accounting has been adopted,

". . which has amounted to a continuous report to the Common Council. Itemized accounts are entered in detail upon a record book on file with the City Clerk, known as the "Voucher Journal," which, in connection with the books of the City Treasurer, is constantly before your Honorable Body and at all times open to the inspection of any taxpayer in the city."

In the matter of keeping the streets clean, the report says: —

"The best results, however, in the way of street cleaning can be attained by each citizen cheerfully uniting with the authorities to keep them clean. The habit of the individual gives character to the community. We earnestly urge that every citizen is as firmly bound by a public duty to refrain from placing debris in the street as the public official is to remove it. So long as individual merchants deposit the waste of their stores on the roadway or in back yards, where it can escape or be scattered by children upon the streets, or allow advertising "dodgers" to be thrown broadcast, and discarded papers given to the winds; so long as a portion of our people make the streets a dumping place for coal ashes and other refuse, the efforts of municipal authorities, and the commendable neatness of various other citizens, will fail to secure that tidy condition which ought to exist in this beautiful city."

We also note the following equitable plan for curbing: —

"As explained in our last annual report, the Board of Public Works have adopted a plan in relation to curbing, based on the assumption that the curbing is partly beneficial to the roadway and partly beneficial to adjacent property, namely, that if the property owners would pay for the stone, the Board of Public Works would lay the same and furnish and lay curbing around the corners. It is the custom in some cities to assess the entire cost of curbing upon the adjacent property; in others, to share the expense.

"This plan (which we were obliged to urge with much earnestness during the first year) has been accepted with considerable unanimity during the past season."

On the subject of wide tires, the report says: —

"In our last report, we set out the rules adopted by this Board in relation to the width of tires, and also the routes of travel for draymen to follow to and from the depots.

"The use of wide tires on all business vehicles is being recognized throughout the world as a necessity to the improvement and preservation of roads. Legislatures are encouraging and enforcing their use and the courts appear to sustain the spirit and intent of the statutes as a reasonable and proper exercise of power. We take pleasure in reporting that the citizens of Ogdensburg, substantially without exception, complied with the rules of this Board in relation to wide tires. The resulting effect upon the surface of our streets has been a gratifying proof of the wisdom of the requirement, and the influence of the action of this city is extending into the surrounding country. Farmers are supplying themselves with wide tired wagons, and our country roads will eventually respond likewise to their influence."

"The curbing and 'parking' of some of our residential streets, the adjustment of corners, crossings, gutters and drops, in the midst of a fury of opposition, have established a progressive movement in our street construction from which few citizens would now be willing to recede."

In closing what we consider a very able report, the following is said: —

"Public improvements, however, can not be accomplished without a considerable expenditure of money. Nor can they be properly directed without the special attention of some citizen or citizens, willing to contribute time to that purpose, nor even then, without the generous support and encouragement of a strong and fearless constituency. Nor can they be carried on to accord with individual views and interests, which are often advanced by different persons, and vigorously maintained, on opposing lines. In most operations, different plans and procedure may be suitable, but those in authority must exercise their judgment, adopt plans, assume the responsibility and go forward with the work. On these lines we have carried out what we conceived to be the purpose of the law and the intent of our appointment.

For such support as the Board of Public Works has received from you, gentlemen of the Common Council, for the encouragement and confidence which distinguished citizens have given to us, through the incidents and trials which naturally beset those engaged in such a service, we are profoundly grateful.

Respectfully submitted,

THE WHEELWOMAN

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The time is ripe for a woman's paper devoted to wheeling for women.

A medium is needed for the dissemination of instructive and interesting articles on the subject upon which the existing cycling press is almost unanimously silent.

THE WHEELWOMAN gathers items of interest from all possible sources pertaining to the sport. Fashions in wheel dress and accessories will be given special attention.

THE WHEELWOMAN is in the field, not as a competitor with other cycling papers, but to extend and broaden a work begun years ago: that of bringing women to a realizing sense of the importance of out-door exercise.

THE WHEELWOMAN advocates the highest standard of cycling from a healthful and artistic standpoint.

THE WHEELWOMAN is in no sense a trade journal.

THE WHEELWOMAN advertises and recommends nothing which cannot receive personal endorsement.

Interesting articles by and about prominent women who advocate the wheel, appear each month in the WHEELWOMAN. Able writers contribute to its columns. THE WHEELWOMAN is conducted by

MARY SARGENT HOPKINS.

We offer all Women Members of the L. A W., one year's subscription to THE WHEELWOMAN for 50 cents. The same offer holds good to any woman joining the League within three months of this date. After she has joined, to make the inducement still greater we offer Frances E. Willard's new book, "A Wheel Within A Wheel" (which will be put on the market about April 1st, at 50 cents), with one year's subscription to THE WHEELWOMAN, for 75 cents. This to woman League members. All others can have the book and a year's subscription to WHEELWOMAN for $1.25.

CORD WOOD AS A ROAD MATERIAL.

BY C. P. DE FIELD.

UNTIL I read Good Roads I had an idea that Westchester County was unparalelled for its bad roads, in the Eastern part of our large country, and that in the "work out time" districts little improvement had been made in the last half century, but the photographs you publish and an article in the Scientific American have shown me how easy it is to be mistaken.

A story is told of a hill near the farm given Paulding for his part in the capture of Andre, running something like this. A wagon loaded with household effects having become "stuck in the mud" on the top of the hill (now called Strang's hill) the driver was about to abandon his wagon when a neighbor with a double team and load of cord-wood attempted to pass it and becoming stuck, he of the furniture borrowed the wood to put under his team and prevent their going out of sight. The efforts of the furniture team were so heroic that the wood was buried and packed and the load as well as the team extricated, but the woodman returned home in the belief that he would never again see his wood. How much of the story is true I cannot say as I have never had my wheels sink in this slough deeper than the hubs, but I have seen cord-wood coming out of this place on several occasions.

Nearly opposite St. Mary's church at Lake Mohican there is another place where at times I have had to abandon my vehicle and walk to church, and many times have seen it neccessary to add a "yoke of cattle" to the team to extricate the wagon emptied of it's load, from the mud.

On the same road where the so called outlet of Lake Mohican crosses it, large sums, in the estimation of the tax payers, have been expended to make a roadway that is very inferior, where an extremely small percentage of the money spent, invested in advice of a competent civil engineer would have given an admirable roadway for, in my judgment, ten per cent. of the money already expended.

In the "long ago" my family purchased and spread on the roads such gravel as was near and the gravel becoming exhausted and money not being plenty, a corporation in which we are interested purchased a small Gate's crusher, too small to enable stone to be crushed economically as should be but large enough to keep three teams and six men warm in such weather as we have been having and offered to give the crushed stone to any one who would put it on the roads within a radius of four miles, according to the system advocated by Macadam or in several standard books. One New York City gentleman paid for putting eighty yards on the road and the offer terminated by limitation having stood two years. To show a sample of how cheaply a decent road could be made, the writer covered about 200 feet in length of the road, through a bog, with nine inches of crushed stone, applied in four spreadings, allowing the wagons to compact it and keeping any ruts made filled up a little higher than the rest of the road to force driving over other parts of the roadway. The result "roadwise" has been a piece of smooth, nice roadway, but when the stones were first put on some of "the most influential" people advocated a forced removal, or in case that failed a removal by "frolic," the chief argument against the improvement being that in the spring when the frost went out of the road the sharp crushed stone would cut the legs of the horses and ruin them. The writer has had the satisfaction of seeing many of the objectors plough through the mud with an empty wagon, reach the piece of decent road, and the team when the wheels struck it pitch forward, from the removal of the pressure on the collar and start into a trot to suffer again in the slough after leaving the short piece of better roadway. Several repetitions of the "patching" have been done but no farmer has yet intimated that he is desirous of drawing a single load of stone to improve the roads and the cost of drawing is from double to three times the cost of crushing the stone, with the small crusher we have.

A friend offered to pay half the cost of a crusher for a neighboring village but the Aldermen did not even deign to answer his letter. In one neighboring village some admirable Macadam road has been made with "hand cracked" stone, which cost double "machine cracked" but helped the political "machine."

We have made roads in a great number of ways, to have samples to show to the neighbors in case the time should come when they became sufficiently interested to desire to investigate, but the people do not seem to take any interest sufficient to do anything.

We have a hill about two-thirds of a mile long which rises in that distance 148 feet and we removed the "thankee-marms" and kept it a dirt road mended with hardpan in decent order for several years, but neither the "pathmaster" nor the "commissioner" would allow the removal of these spring-breakers from a neighboring hill although we offered to keep the hill in order for a year in return for this "privilege." I have talked for twenty-five years of the adventages of good roads, but do not seem to have made the slightest impression. Perhaps you or some of your many friends can give me some good advice other than "Quit," which I understand would be luxurious, economical and wise, as I do not own a square foot of land in this neighborhood, so peculiarly adapted for good roads, as the only never-failing crop is stones.

ROADISMS.

Lewiston, Me., Wide Tires.

Rockport proposes to have better roads, being one of the towns that voted this spring, to exempt from taxation for ten years, wagons and other vehicles, having not less than five-inch tires. This is a good way to make those heavy, time-laden wagons build the roads, instead of cutting them up and spoiling them.—Lewiston Journal.

Justifiable Indebtedness.

Senator Pound, of Niagara County, recently introduced a bill authorizing any town to incur indebtedness for grading, gravelling, macadamizing or paving its highways. The town board is authorized to estimate the cost of any proposed improvement. When they decide upon an improvement, a notice shall be given, and all interested persons have an opportunity to appear for or against the proposed improvement. The cost of the improvement is to be paid by the owners of property benefited, in proportion to their holdings. The bill also empowers the board to issue town bonds to meet the immediate expense of the improvement.—Batavian (Batavia, N. Y.).

The Time to Talk Roads to the Farmer.

Perhaps the best time to talk to the farmers about good roads is in the spring, when they have a foot or so of mud to drive through when going to town. If they can ever be converted to the idea that good roads are worth all they cost, even though they cost a good deal, it is when they are stuck in the mud. There is to be taken into account, not only the wear and tear of vehicle and team, the profanity of the driver and the frequent breaking-down in the middle of the road, but the large waste of valuable time in going from one place to another. It would seem that the farmers everywhere would be the first and foremost advocates of road improvements, and the last to quit fighting for them. The increased cost is far more than compensated in the increased benefits.

Wherever, under the new systems adopted in other States, the public highways have been made what they should be, the farmers are among the first to appreciate them, and they would not go back to the old way of working roads for twice what the new way costs them. This is the almost universal expression in the east, where the good roads question has been more earnestly discussed than here, and where the experiments tried have been many and invariably satisfactory.

We hope to see the farmers and all other people of Michigan take a deeper and more active interest in this subject than they have yet done. Now is a good time to revive the good roads question, and keep it revived, until public sentiment gets out of the old rut. Why should Michigan be behind any other State in this respect? Why, even the wicked and cranky State of New Jersey is 'way ahead of this State in the matter of improvements. —Detroit Journal.

COMPARISON OF THE DIFFERENT KINDS OF PAVING.

A FRENCH engineer has classified the different kinds of pavement used in the large cities of France.

Many favor the use of sandstone, others wood, nothwithstanding the objections of the health authorities, still others favor granite and asphalt.

The following table shows the relative advantages of the three leading kinds of pavement, arranged in the order of merit as viewed from eight different standpoints.

	1st	2nd	3d
For health	Asphalt	Granite	Wood
Least noise	Wood	Asphalt	Granite
Safety for horses	Wood	Asphalt	Granite
Cleanliness	Asphalt	Granite	Wood
Lasting qualities	Granite	Asphalt	Wood
Economy	Granite	Asphalt	Wood
Ease of repairs	Asphalt	Wood	Granite
For laying street car rail	Granite	Wood	Asphalt

Who is the happiest man on earth?

Answer. The man whom no one will trust, for he cannot get in debt.

THE ELLIOTT PAMPHLET STITCHING MACHINE.

Stitches any thin book or pamphlet with thread, making a double stitch, tying a square knot and cutting off the thread, all at one operation.

AS a matter of history (and egotism), this is the first and only machine that ever stitched and tied work of this kind.

It ties a perfectly square knot, ties it close against the paper, leaves no slack, and wastes no thread.

Its speed is only limited by the ability of the operator to feed it.

A fair average is about 30 per minute, or 18,000 per day.

The same machine also ties a loop in the corner of a book by which it may be hung up.

The work of this machine is equal to the very best hand-stitching, and is done at a much less cost.

Publishers of the Youth's Companion, Boston, use thirteen of these machines. It is also used extensively by the Harper Bros., New York; the Boston Mailing Company, and many other large concerns.

The State Department Issues a Bulletin on Wagon Wheels.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 19.—The Agricultural Department has issued a bulletin compiled by Roy Stone, special agent in charge of road inquiry, containing information concerning the use of wide tires on wagon wheels. Mr. Stone regards it of special importance in the maintenance of public highways that the vehicle used on them shall have tires of greater width than are now in general use. Extracts from the State laws respecting the width of tire to be used on vehicles are given, some of which offer a rebate of a portion of the highway tax on wagons with rims or tires not less than three and three and one half inches wide. Ohio makes it unlawful to transport over macadamized, gravel or stone roads in any vehicle having a tire of less than three inches in width, a burden of more than 2,000 pounds. Indiana has a law against hauling on wet gravel road a load of over 2,000 pounds on a narrow tired wagon, or 2,500 pounds on a broad tired wagon. Kentucky makes a distinction in favor of broad tired wagons in fixing toll rates. The results of experiments with wide tires in various States are also given.

The bulletin in concluding, prints extracts from the consular reports, concerning the width of tires prescribed in various foreign countries. In France every freighting cart is said to be a road maker. Their tires are from three to ten inches in width, usually from four to six. The German law prescribes that wagons for heavy loads, such as coal, brick, earth and stone, must have a width of tire at least four inches. Switzerland requires wagons to be provided with wheels having tires of a width proportional to the largest loads admissible.

FITCHBURG, MASS.

The Rollstone Cycle Club concluded its indoor entertainments with a "hard time smoke," last Friday night, which proved to be a great success, as almost everything this club undertakes turns out to be. About thirty appeared in costume, and according to the local papers their "make ups" were the most original and most unique ever seen in this city. The Rollstones are preparing for a most aggressive and prosperous season.

There are more riders here now than ever before and the riding season can hardly be said to have opened. It is estimated that there will be at least 500 riders here by June 1. There are two flourishing bicycle clubs. The Y. M. C. A. has just organized a third and another is spoken of. Should a New England circuit be organized Fitchburg certainly ought to be included in that circuit.

Good health is indispensable to good morals.

New Appointment.

Mr. F. H. Blodgett of Beloit, is hereby appointed on the Wisconsin State Racing Board.

A. CRESSY MORRISON, Chief Consul.

Dated, April 13, 1895.

NEW JERSEY.

To New Jersey Members.

The Executive Committee of the New Jersey Division L. A. W. in meeting in Newark, Thursday, April 11, passed the three-quarter rule for League club membership. Clubs throughout the entire State should now take advantage of this rule and assist in furthering the good cause of the League and place the Division membership where it properly belongs. Seventy-five per cent. of the club membership is all that is required to become a League club and entitle the club to one representative on the Division Board of officers for the first twenty members and an additional one for the next eighty.

Encouraging reports are being received daily from every section of the State and it is fair to assume that the statement made by Chief Consul Gentle, on the floor of the National Assembly, that New Jersey would double her membership, will be most brilliantly accomplished.

New Jersey members can then point to their Division with pride. But your present aggressive efforts must be continued to the end of the chapter. A little spontaneous enthusiasm will not effect our reaching the desired goal, but continued hustling will. Your Division officers can't accomplish this result alone; it requires the united effort of all.

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE BULLETIN.

Our application and renewal blanks differ from most other Divisions from the fact that it is left optional whether you subscribe for the BULLETIN, and while strictly in conformity with the new rule it is essential that every member receive the BULLETIN, as it is the only direct means of communication the Division officers have with the membership at large. The BULLETIN is worthy of your support. It's the cheapest thing under the sun.

Fraternally yours,
JAMES C. TATTERSALL, Secretary-Treasurer.

TENNESSEE DIVISION.

A meeting of the Division Board of Officers of this Division will be held at Memphis on the evening of May 17, at 8 P.M., 211 Main street, for business. All members invited to attend.

Respectfully,
CHARLES J. SCHERER, Chief Consul.

April 11, 1895.

RHODE ISLAND DIVISION.

Chief Consul Cooke has appointed Percy A. Harden of the Rhode Island Wheelmen as Club Representative, in place of Geo. F. Phillips, resigned.

NELSON H. GIBBS, Corresponding Secretary.

PROVIDENCE, April 11, 1895.

(COMBINATION BLANK.)

Application for Membership in the L. A. W.*

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR: — Enclosed find the sum of TWO DOLLARS which I send in full payment of my initiation fee, one year's dues and subscription fee to the official publication of the L. A. W., under provisions of Articles III and VII of the Constitution. From the sum enclosed I authorize and direct you to pay to the publisher of said publication the regular subscription fee to League members and to enter my name as a subscriber. I certify that I am eligible to membership in the L. A. W. under the provisions of the Constitution and I refer to two League members (or three other reputable citizens) named below.

(COMBINATION BLANK.)

RENEWAL BLANK.

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.,
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR: — I enclose ONE DOLLAR for which please renew my membership and subscription to the L. A. W. publication for another year.

Number, ...

Name, ...

Street and No. or P. O. Box, ...

City, ...

State, ...

Division in which my home is and to which I should be attached. .....

Send Ticket to, ...

The L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS AND ALL OTHER MAIL MATTER WILL GO TO THE ADDRESS AS GIVEN ABOVE, and the name of no member will be put regularly on the list till his renewal with latest address is received.

Fill out above blank, inclose necessary money, and send to Secretary. Don't send soiled bills. New bills are safer in the mails. Write very plainly, PRINTING PREFERRED. Stamps of a denomination above 2 cents will not be received. If you live in one state and have your mail sent to another, fill out the blank so that you may be located with the division in which your home is and your mail matter be sent as you wish. Ticket holders, 25 cents; with name stamped, 50 cents. If you want either of these write "25" or "50" at left of word Number. This brief form of blank is used to enable applicants for membership to follow the requirements of the League Constitution, which provides [Articles III and VII] for the payment in advance of one year's dues, with initiation fee and subscription fee to the official organ. Applicants or members using this blank will regularly receive all official news and announcements and will be subject to no further charge or assessment for any purpose whatever.

L. A. W. Veteran Bar.

The veteran bar which has been adopted by the L. A. W. to be worn by the veterans of the organization, can be worn above the League badge, or as an individual pin.

Any member who has been connected with the L. A. W. for ten consecutive years is entitled to wear the bar.

Members holding numbers between 100 and 1656 are entitled to wear the bar at this date.

The bar is of gold with the word "Veteran" in enamel. Each bar must have the owner's name engraved on the back. All orders must be sent to the Secretary accompanied by the price of bar, $2.50.

We can supply any style or form of badge with bar. The standard badge retails for $3.00, and will be sent attached to bar if this sum is added to remittance.

SIXTY DAYS ONLY.

Members are notified that the renewal season is cut down to sixty days. In previous years, renewals were received to July 1st. This year the season ends JUNE 1st. Please remember.

APPLICATION AND RENEWAL BLANKS.

Application or Renewal Blanks may be had of the Secretary on application.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to Monday preceding this date, and published in accordance with Article III of the constitution.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published and to report errors and omissions to the secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at noon on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

ILLINOIS will give a tandem and Massachusetts will give $50 to the one who brings in the greatest number of recruits this year. Wonder if the cash prize will be more effective than the other.

ONE of the latest nuts for the Racing Board to crack will be the following — that is, it will be if it gets to them: A racing man in — no matter where — won an accident insurance policy that was offered as a prize in a race. Three days later he met with an accident and the insurance company kept its promise. We hope the case will never get to them.

ONE of our contemporaries displays this flag at its masthead: "Largest cycling circulation in the world." We shall fire hot shot at that flag in a very few weeks. This is a blank cartridge to sound a note of warning.

WHAT the dickens is there so fascinating about the handicappers' positions that makes them so much sought after? — Ariel.

We are surprised that Ariel should ask such a question. Strange that he doesn't know that they get a fee. Gold lightens labor and renders great tasks unburdensome.

WHAT we who have lawns want is a bicycle with a lawn-mower attachment. When we can work while we ride we shall be happier men. Make it run easily, Mr. Inventor.

THIS is the season of the year when we are confronted with the problem when to take off our flannels. If we take them off too soon and catch cold we blame our wives. If we do not catch cold we felicitate ourselves on our superior judgment.

THE senior editor and his associate will be guests of the Woodbridge Club on Wednesday evening of this week, and we believe that no other gentlemen will be present. The two knights of the pen are not very strong at whist, and for their especial entertainment a program has been arranged, which will allow them to revel in the delights of jackstraws and tiddledywinks. We never could absorb ourselves in whist when a pretty girl was smiling at us from across the way, but tiddledywinks is full of delightful opportunity, especially when the young lady wears an expression on her face that is most becoming.

BOSTON has been said to be located in the centre of the "Paradise of Wheelmen." It is very true that the natural beauty combined with good roads in the vicinity of Boston is unsurpassed. He who can ride by day is truly fortunate if he lives in Boston, and we envy him his lot. But poor hard-working fellows like many of us cannot ride by day. The night is all that is left to us. But the night is dark and artificial light is unknown to country roads. Our word for it, Chicago with its smooth, hard and brilliantly lighted boulevards is the paradise of those wheelmen who work by day and ride by night. If every wheelman in Chicago was a member of the League we should easily reach six figures. And if every one is not, why is he not? For the life of us we cannot tell why men are ungrateful.

A DRY bearing considereth not the empty oil-can, but a wise wheelman considereth Matthew xxv., 8 and 9.

SHALL the League recognize the professional? This is the conundrum that many are asking. When? How? Why? Where? May we not have professional races at amateur tournaments? If not, why not? What rule prevents it? The Racing Board never yet passed a rule to prevent professional racing at amateur tournaments. In the old days when Ducker at Springfield and the Connecticut Bicycle Club at Hartford led the way we had as many professional events as we had amateur races. What put a stop to it? Not the Racing Board. After the Rowe-Temple scandal at Hartford, the men of that city and of Springfield got together and declared that never again would they put a professional event on their programs. That's what killed professional racing. It has been dead ever since. Is it Easter now for the professional? With Zimmerman, Wheeler, Banker, and the rest as representatives of the professional, may we not safely give him another trial? We think so. The L. A. W. has made rules, and if they be employed by the professional what harm can be done? Let's waste no time talking about things that may not be done till the Assembly meets in 1896. Let's do what we can do now.

SECRETARY BASSETT is going to be welcomed home at a grand banquet on April 26. It will be engineered by the Roxbury Bicycle Club and will be held at Hotel Thorndike. What with the many banquets he had before going away and the banquets he has had since his return, we think he can claim the record of the banquetee of America. It would seem that he does not live by bread alone, but by the reed birds and champagne that come his way.

* * *

IF a man should receive all that was freely given to him, what an amount of trash would he accumulate. Suppose, for instance, that Mr. Gideon should take and act upon all the advice that is now being offered to him. Gideon has forgotten more than some of his advisers know about racing. Just think how hard it must be for him to hold in when he reads some of this advice, and then you may know that his lot is not a happy one.

KEEP YOUR NICKEL BRIGHT.

OF course you would like to.

But how?

The aim of the nickel plater is to polish the work before plating, so as to leave the surface smooth and bright, for the nickel, which is deposited electrically, will follow the surface previously made and will not be smooth unless it is put onto a smooth foundation.

A perfect finish is not possible, for the surface of the most beautiful watch case is but a series of scratches.

When these scratches are sufficiently fine to be invisible to the unaided eye, the surface is said to be polished.

In the case of the plated parts of a bicycle, there are numerous "inside corners" where the metal may not always be sufficiently well-finished to take a smooth plate, or "outside corners" where there is a chance of the nickel being nearly or quite polished through.

It is at these points where moisture is liable to get to the steel and when it does, in however small a spot, the steel will rust, not only at the exposed point but around it and under the nickel, and if left long enough exposed to moisture, would eventually spread over the whole of the plated part.

You may have noticed some time when your handle bar had been rained on and not wiped, that in a few hours, small spots of rust appeared, although the surface of the nickel seemed intact and the rust was easily wiped off.

An examination with the microscope will show that there is a fine scratch which goes through to the steel.

It may have been there when the job was finished or it may have been made since. In either case, there is a way to fix it.

Vaseline thoroughly rubbed over all parts of plated work and immediately rubbed off, will fill up all those little imperceptible scratches and prevent water from doing harm.

Compounds for cleaning nickel are only necessary when the nickel has been long exposed to the air without the thin film of protecting vaseline.

If you do not intend to use your machine for some time, even in summer, put on the "cosmic," "vaseline," "carboline" or "petroleum jelly" (by any of these names, it doesn't smell much), and you will need only a cloth to clean it at any time, and no fear of rust.

HE IS PROBABLY AN ITALIAN COUNT IN DISGUISE.

MR. DODD'S EXPERIMENT.

Good Results from the District System of Street Cleaning in Kansas City.

Hundreds of people have observed the tall, dignified Italian with Dundreary whiskers, a push cart and broom, who every day for two weeks has appeared on the square bounded by Main, Walnut, Eleventh and Twelfth streets. He has gone solemnly about his duty of removing the street litter from the pavement and depositing it in his two-wheeled cart. In the course of his duty, his tall and note-worthy form has flitted among the wagons, trucks, equipages, while he has ever been busy plying his broom.

Signor Antonio Basco is an experiment. He came over from Naples about two years ago, and when Street Commissioner Dodds came to select a man from the street force for the purpose of demonstrating just how many blocks of public thoroughfare one man could keep clean, he picked Signor Basco. He has demonstrated to the satisfaction of Superintendent Dodds that one industrious man with a push cart and broom can keep four blocks of busy city streets fairly clean. The experiment has been a success. Under Signor Basco's well-directed efforts it has cost less to keep clean the four blocks mentioned than any other four blocks in the city, besides, these streets have been the cleanest in town. Perhaps the system will be extended and, instead of desultory and infrequent sweepings, all the paved streets may be divided into districts or squares, with a man for every four or five blocks, whose sole business is to keep that territory clean, and whose place in the street department is conditioned upon his keeping his "district" clean.

The district system is in force in all the well-paved, clean cities of the old world. In Paris, where the system is nearly perfect, and where it extends to the thoroughfares beyond the city limits, one person has supervision of larger districts than that controlled by Signor Basco, but then he has "understudies."

Experts on municipal matters and better city government have long contended that the present system of attempting to clean Kansas City's streets is costly, but, because of the "pull" which the street gang gives, superintendents of streets have heretofore declined to make innovations. —Kansas City Star.

CIRCUMSTANCES ALTER PRICES.

Stranger.— What is the price of that safety bicycle of yours?

Cyclist.— See here, mister, are you an assessor, or has it been run over by a wagon.

The above was in an agricultural paper and read "cow" instead of bicycle. We just changed "railroad" to wagon, and there we have a new joke.

Oh, these things are easy.

A NEW CLUB FOR PENNSYLVANIA.

On last Thursday evening, a meeting was held to organize a cycle club to be known as The Carnegie Athletic Club Cyclers, a branch of The Carnegie Athletic Club, of Braddock, Pa. As a branch of The Carnegie Athletic Club, the members of the Cycle Club enjoy all the advantages of the Athletic Club, which consists of a finely equipped gymnasium, a swimming pool, that is 65 feet by 35 feet, twenty-four bath-tubs, including needle and shower baths, two bowling alleys, two billiard rooms, etc. The Carnegie Athletic Club is considered to be one of the finest in the State.

In addition to this, there is now in course of construction an Athletic Park, which will consist of a baseball diamond, a football field, a 100 yard dash for foot-races, which will be enclosed by a ¼ mile bicycle track, which will be one of the finest constructed in the State.

Thirty-three names were enrolled as members of the Cycle Club, with good prospects of having fifty members before long.

The following officers were elected for the present year: President, E. L. Livingston; Vice-President, G. W. Keutcher; Secretary, E. S. Wright; Treasurer, W. N. Wilson; Captain, O. R. Porter; Lieutenant, T. E. Kinney.

Sufficient number of L. A. W. members will be secured so as to take out a charter as a League Club.

QUERIES AND ANSWERS

The BULLETIN editor being duly intoxicated, deposes as follows in answer to interrogatories propounded by Albert Mott of Maryland:

1. Is the League dead?

Well if it is it's having a very lively wake. See application list.

2. Which is the best bicycle?

The one made by the concern which advertises in this paper.

3. What is your temperature?

Perfectly cool.

4. Are you getting bald?

Haven't had time lately to investigate.

5. How is your circulation?

Going up.

6. Can you change a five dollar bill?

What is a five dollar bill?

7. Do you use muriatic acid?

No, I don't have to.

8. Where did you get that (theatre) hat?

Haven't got it where it ought to be yet.

9. Can you recommend any special poor house?

I am living at home.

10. How do you like running a BULLETIN?

Answer deferred for further investigation.

11. What do you think of professionalism?

Will answer later.

Unusual but Appropriate.

A Yorkshire clergyman had been taking an eager part in a cricket match on Saturday, and the next morning thoughts of the stirring contest would creep in; for much to the amusement of some hearers, he said, very solemnly, after the first lesson, "Here endeth the first innings."

The above doesn't interest L. A. W. members, it is put in because it was about the right size.

"I wish you would go out into the yard and beat the carpet," said Mrs. Birmingham to her husband.

"It's utterly impossible, my dear," expostulated the latter.

"I'd like to know why?"

"If you remember, when we were buying that carpet, and the dealer was explaining it's good qualities, I was very much struck by his declaration that it couldn't be beat." — Exchange.

The salesman who sold this carpet was probably a graduate from the bicycle business.

"What interesting stories of travel Wabbles tells! He must have toured very extensively." No-o—he's never ridden twenty miles away from here. But his mind wanders. — Cycling.

Of course "Wabbles" is a fictitious name; his real name is Legion.

Nothing so needs reforming as other people's habits. — Credit Lost.

THE WHEELWOMAN

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The time is ripe for a woman's paper devoted to wheeling for women.

A medium is needed for the dissemination of instructive and interesting articles on the subject upon which the existing cycling press is almost unanimously silent.

THE WHEELWOMAN gathers items of interest from all possible sources pertaining to the sport. Fashions in wheel dress and accessories will be given special attention.

THE WHEELWOMAN is in the field, not as a competitor with other cycling papers, but to extend and broaden a work begun years ago: that of bringing women to a realizing sense of the importance of out-door exercise.

THE WHEELWOMAN advocates the highest standard of cycling from a healthful and artistic standpoint.

THE WHEELWOMAN is in no sense a trade journal.

THE WHEELWOMAN advertises and recommends nothing which cannot receive personal endorsement.

Interesting articles by and about prominent women who advocate the wheel, appear each month in the WHEELWOMAN. Able writers contribute to its columns. THE WHEELWOMAN is conducted by

MARY SARGENT HOPKINS.

We offer all Women Members of the L. A W., one year's subscription to THE WHEELWOMAN for 50 cents. The same offer holds good to any woman joining the League within three months of this date. After she has joined, to make the inducement still greater we offer Frances E. Willard's new book, "A Wheel Within A Wheel" (which will be put on the market about April 1st, at 50 cents), with one year's subscription to THE WHEELWOMAN, for 75 cents. This to woman League members. All others can have the book and a year's subscription to WHEELWOMAN for $1.25.

The L. A. W. Helping Hand

Designed and Furnished only by the League of American Wheelmen.

$1.00 Each. Lettered Both Sides, $1.80.

Please be particular to give the correct number of miles to the place toward which the hand is to point, and write very plainly all names, including your own. Also, state whether it is to point to the right or left as you stand facing it.

Full payment must come with all orders, as prices are made too low to include any book-keeping or unnecessary correspondence.

Time required after we receive your order is from five to seven days.

DESCRIPTION.

The length of this sign is 20½ inches. It is made of tough steel, No. 18 gauge, and is thoroughly painted and varnished.

The wheel in the L. A. W. emblem is gold on a black background. The wings are of aluminum, and the initials red.

The weight of a single sign, ready to ship, is forty ounces.

All orders for the Helping Hand should be sent to

STERLING ELLIOTT,

12 Pearl Street, BOSTON, MASS.

An open-for-all Prize.

We want to spur every missionary effort that is making for the betterment of the public roads—which means increased pleasure for every wheelman in the delights of cycling. We want to encourage the long distance ride. We shall put into the hands of the L. A. W.

a Solid Gold "Standard" Cyclometer

to be given as a prize to the wheelman covering the greatest number of miles in the season of 1895, on American roads. We invite suggestions from wheelmen from all sections of the country as to how, and by whom, the prize should be awarded; and we will announce later this concensus of opinion which will determine the manner of the award. It is required that the distance must be recorded on a "Standard" Cyclometer, to insure absolute accuracy of the mileage record.

Two-Thirds Size.

The prize will be Solid Gold, artistically decorated and ornamented, with the winner's name beautifully wrought into the enamelled dial. No expense will be spared in the production of a prize that will be the finest exemplification of the Art Beautiful.

ABBOT BASSETT, Associate Editor.

APRIL 26, 1895.

AN APOLOGY.

THE editor of this paper had intended to print each week something which might be termed an "editorial"—a prelude containing "burning words of wisdom" and all that sort of thing, you know.

A kind of "here we are again," said in the spirit of the circus clown, who tumbles in the ring daily, at so much a tumble.

The idea has not been given up and may be accomplished later. The fact is that I (no, I mean "we") have been used to the old monthly, and now I find that we haven't got accustomed to the frequency with which the weeks come along. A monthly is what might be termed a "snap"; a weekly is all right, I guess, when you get used to it, while a daily—well, a daily would be instant death to anyone of my (our) sedentary proclivities.

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

OWING probably to the extreme excellence of this paper and the ridiculously insignificant sum of twenty-five cents, at which it is furnished to League members only (the price to others being one dollar per year), it is a very common thing for members to send an additional twenty-five cents to this office after they have sent a dollar to the secretary of the League.

It is not necessary to do this if, when you send your renewal fee of 75 cents to the secretary, you should, and we notice you usually do, enclose an additional quarter to be paid into this office as a subscription to this paper for one year.

These surplus, and to us, entirely unnecessary quarters, are promptly returned to the senders; at least, that is the intention, but we have found one which shows not who owns it.

It may be had by applying at this office and proving property.

To prevent the entire League membership from claiming it, we shall ask for about thirty cents' worth of particulars so as not to turn it over to the wrong man.

Total number printed this week, ...	10,500
Sent to paid subscribers, ...	9,901

WE WILL PAY CASH

For acceptable contributions to this paper.

We want striking photographs of roads or anything else that would be likely to interest L. A. W. members.

We want sketches made with black ink on white paper.

We want articles on bicycle construction.

We want stories about tours.

We want jokes.

We want serious matter.

We want road articles.

We want poetry.

We want good stuff.

We want you to let us decide.

All matter whether words, photographs or sketches will, if accepted, be paid for when published, and if not acceptable, will be promptly returned to sender, providing, of course, that the necessary stamps are enclosed.

As soon as we can get into line, we want to make this paper the best of its class.

We believe that nothing is too good for the official organ of the League of American Wheelmen.

PLEASE OBSERVE THOSE FIGURES.

To our Customers:

We wish to state that we are now refusing to accept any new business. While we are making and delivering more wheels than we had intended, and more than three times as many as ever before, still we cannot deliver as fast as orders come in. The demand for New Clippers is greater than we expected; our wheels (even the cheapest we make) are giving satisfaction, and every time a dealer sells one it creates a demand for more. We have already received orders and delivered more than half our output. Our buyer has just returned from a trip to the stock factories, and has the promise of stock for one or two thousand wheels, which if we get we'll make up for late summer and fall trade.

WE WILL DO OUR BEST

To get this stock, and to make wheels enough for our customers who contracted early, and had the "sand" to place orders with us last winter. To those who came later, we will do everything in our power

TO TAKE CARE OF YOU.

Also, we can only do this by refusing to take orders from new trade. If we get the stock promised, we will be able to accept a limited amount of new business. To every prospective customer in America, we wish to say: Keep your eye on our '95 productions. Another year, we may be able to make all the bicycles our friends want, and you may want to handle a better wheel than you now have, or one that will close the '96 season for you with a balance on the right side.

"TALKING SHOP."

SEVERAL eminent gentlemen have lately been discussing the question of whether a pedal pin will tighten or come loose when screwed into a crank with either a right or left hand thread.

A writer, in an exchange of last week, after reviewing the evidence says: "A parallel case has come to my notice." He then cites the case of a crank shaft which is made in two parts, and held in place by an internally threaded sleeve. It seems some one had told him that the crank shaft in question would unscrew if one were to "back pedal" and he proceeds to inform a benighted public that "no one back pedals save when the machine is propelled backward" and that the cranks cannot unscrew so long as the parts are all moving forward.

The writer closed with the following accurate summing up of a truth which he had already substantiated.

"Some people glibly talk shop and use stock phrases without realizing that to the mechanically informed they appear ridiculous. The above are instances in point."

The facts as understood by the "mechanically informed" are that when you press upon a crank in either direction you put a strain upon every part of the driving gear, tending to drive the machine in that direction. Whether it actually moves in the direction of the push, whether it stands still, or moves in the opposite direction, doesn't make the slightest difference with the tendency to unscrew anything which happened to be unscrewable.

"A little learning" may not always be a dangerous thing but it is sometimes a very amusing thing.

It might be only fair to state that there is no principle involved in the crank shaft in question which would make it likely to unscrew if turned in one direction more than in the other, so long as the sleeve is free to turn with it.

The original question was on a pedal pin which acts differently for very obvious reasons.

Adhesiveness is also necessary in publishing an official organ.

My son, observe the postage stamp. Its usefulness depends upon its ability to stick to one thing until it gets there. — Ex.

KIND WORDS CAN NEVER DIE.

"He enjoys much, who is thankful for little."

It would be doing less than my duty, if I failed to thank the many kind friends who have written words of encouragement, since I have undertaken to publish this paper.

In starting the new BULLETIN, I have labored (and labored is the right word, too) under many disadvantages, I have at times had to write with one hand and read proof with the other. The office boy has been very good and helped me about sweeping out the office, keeping the books, etc., but still there is much to do which is in the nature of work.

The bills for paper, printing and binding, incurred by that first special issue of 30,000, are just beginning to come in, and as they lie before me they are an inspiring sight. They also furnish a tangible subject for dreams; in fact it is my opinion, based on an extensive experience, that mince pie eaten just before retiring is positively healthful compared with a lot of unpaid bills.

And this reminds me of a beautiful little verse which I wrote the other day and it will fit in here as well as anywhere.

Life is earnest, life is real,
Thus the editor will find,
When pangs of hunger o'er him steal,
And paper bills are way behind.

FIGURES OF SPEECH.

A FRIEND of the BULLETIN writes to say that he likes the paper, in fact "is stuck on it," whatever that may mean, but he says we use too many "figures of speech." "For instance," he continues, "that 'old ship' has been shoved back and forth until it must feel like a ferry boat."

We realize that we are getting rather figurative, but it is to be expected when we have to deal so much with figures; figures, too, which are getting larger every day.

The League membership is just sailing, and sailing suggests ships. Please don't object; we must call it the good old ship so long as it exhibits its present tendencies.

STOLEN WHEELS.

Any L. A. W. member who has lost a wheel by theft may advertise for it in this paper without charge. To persons other than L. A. W. members the regular rate will be charged.

WHAT DIVISIONS WILL DO.

WHAT is there in it for me? is the question that rises to the lips of many men when they are asked to enlist in an enterprise or put forth money to promote a cause. Under the scheme of work adopted by the L. A. W. the divisions get the greater share of money and engage to do a greater share of the work. The National organization issues the BULLETIN and shares the expense with the divisions. Recruiting cannot well be done by the National officers because they can employ only generalities in setting forth the advantages of membership. Each division offers inducements according to the special needs of its section or dependent upon its resources. Here are a few of the many things that are offered this year:—

ARKANSAS.—A small division, but a lively one. With few members they have but a small income and can do little in the way of inducements. They have given a free renewal to every member who was on the list last year and paid for the BULLETIN for each. Many of the smaller divisions employ this plan. They recognize that they cannot give out road-books, maps, etc., as the large divisions do, and so they give two years' membership for one fee. They can well afford to do this and it is the best way for them to show tangible results.

COLORADO promises to issue a road-book sometime during the season, which will be given free to L. A. W. members in the division and sold for 50 cents to League members outside of the division. The division gives legal protection to members. Any of the following prizes will be given to each member securing the designated number of members: Ten members, L. A. W. badge, $5; twenty-five members, bicycle suit, $15; fifty members, gold watch, $25; seventy-five members, diamond, $50; 100 members, Victor bicycle, $100. Applications sent in competition for these prizes must go to the secretary-treasurer, H. M. Booth, in order to be credited.

INDIANA will offer a prize of a gold L. A. W. pin or badge to all members who will secure ten new members.

KENTUCKY.—The secretary-treasurer writes us as follows: "We issue a road-book. It is furnished gratis to all new members, and occasionally a duplicate copy is given to an old member who has lost his copy, or who can put up a sufficiently artistic lie about it to satisfy the critical taste of the secretary-treasurer. The price originally fixed for non-members was $1.00, but we have been letting them go at 50 cents during the past year."

MASSACHUSETTS gives to every new member a road-book. It gives to every member reduced rates to the races at Waltham on Decoration Day and at Springfield in the fall. It gives an expensive souvenir at every meet, and the ball, at Boston in the spring, Cottage City in summer, and Springfield in the fall, is free to every member.

MICHIGAN will issue a road-book. This road-book will be distributed free to all present members of the division who renew their membership, as well as to all applicants joining the division this year.

MINNESOTA will give to every member who renews, and to each new member, a set of road maps of the State. The maps are on a scale of six miles to an inch, and show all the roads, with special description of them. They will not be sold to outsiders; but to League members outside of this division the price will be $1.

MISSOURI is going to give a new road-book to every member. This is now in the printer's hands and it promises to be a good one. The division will allow a cash commission of 25 cents for every new application, provided that all applications are sent to W. M. Butler, secretary-treasurer, 2636 Osage street, St. Louis.

NEBRASKA offers special privileges at the State Meets, makes a standing offer of a reward of $25 for the arrest and conviction of the thief who steals a bicycle from a member of the division, and will issue a hand-book later in the season.

NEW HAMPSHIRE offers a new road-book, which is now in the printer's hands. This will go to every renewal and to every new member.

NEW JERSEY is host this year. She will give to every member of the division a hat-full of benefits at Asbury Park. An arrangement has been made with a party who sells cyclometers to give a discount of 10 per cent. to League members.

NEW YORK gives a road-book of 170 pages to every applicant until the present supply is exhausted. In addition every member will receive the new tour book which will be issued May 1. This contains very many popular and delightful tours, with maps and descriptions, and containing the latest list of division officers, consuls and hotels. It describes 140 separate tours carefully selected and described, naming all towns on each route, giving distances between towns and naming best hotels. Thirty-one tours for New York City and Brooklyn wheelmen; thirty-five tours for Albany wheelmen; twenty-one tours for Buffalo wheelmen; nine tours for Rochester wheelmen; tours from Binghampton, Troy, Utica, Poughkeepsie, Newburg, Syracuse, Olean, Cortland, Lockport, Batavia, Oneonta, Jamestown, Plattsburg; tours to Washington, Boston, Providence, Asbury Park, Chicago, Gettysburg, Natural Bridge (Va.); tours to Saratoga Lake, to Lake George, to the Adirondacks, to the Catskills, to the Thousand Islands; tours on Long Island, on Staten Island, and through the interior of the State; tours in New England, in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. "A club run" is laid out; a century run for New York City riders; a "half-holiday run"; "Around Long Island," etc., etc. A Division Meet will be held at Coney Island in June. League members will have free entrance to the races, and everything else will be free to them.

NORTH CALIFORNIA.—The division offers legal protection to the member; a road-book will be given to every new member. These books are very elaborately gotten up, containing maps of all parts of the territory covered by this division, giving descriptions of the roads, their condition—whether mountainous, level or rolling—and the exact distance between all points that can be reached by a wheel. The books are only procurable by members of the L. A. W. The annual race meet of this division will be given at San Jose, on July 4th, by the Garden City Cyclers, upon their now world-famous third-of-a-mile cement track. Admission to the races, the hospitality of the Garden City Cyclers, the many fine runs, and the immensely good time, are all included in the annual dues.

OHIO.—The division offers a reward of $25 to anyone furnishing evidence that leads to the arrest and conviction of any person stealing a bicycle from any member of the Ohio division. (Two rewards were paid in '94). The division pays for legal assistance necessary to defend the rights of wheelmen in the State. The division offers to every League club a rebate of 25 cents for each member who renews his membership in the L. A. W.

PENNSYLVANIA.—The chief consul writes: "We will give new 1895 Road Book to every member; price to non-League members $1.50. We take care legally of all members whose rights on the road are infringed, without cost to them. Membership, in addition, secures reduced rates and better service at League hotels and at League meets, etc. Applicants and members who desire to renew may have the road-book earlier if they send their fees direct to Mr. John J. Van Nort, Scranton, Penn."

RHODE ISLAND.—The chief consul writes: "We issue a road map, to one copy of which each member of the division is entitled. The price for extra copies to L. A. W. members is 25 cents; to non-members, 50 cents. We also issue a road-book, to one copy of which each member of the division is entitled. The price for extra copies is: to L. A. W. members, 50 cents; to non-members $1.00. We propose, in conjunction with the Massachusetts division, to have special favors for our L. A. W. members desiring to attend the Massachusetts May Meet and the Asbury Park Meet, such as the carriage of wheels free, if possible, etc."

WISCONSIN.—The Wisconsin division will present to each member free, a renewal of his membership for one year, provided he will forward to the State secretary, M. C. Rotier, 505 E. Water street, Milwaukee, within the next thirty days, the applications of two new members, accompanied by the required sum of money.

DIET FOR RIDERS.

WHEELMEN who intend taking a long excursion should eat a hearty dinner the night before, go to bed early and start on the road at seven o'clock the next morning; do not start before breakfast, eat sparingly, but do not be satisfied with a cup of coffee. Drink as little as possible on the road, especially no wine or beer, but drink cold tea if it can be had. If not, the best drink is a glass of Vichy. It may not be agreeable to some but it quenches the thirst without weighting the stomach. Anisette or peppermint with water or warm milk are very much recommended by cycling physicians. Eat only light food at noon, eggs, fish and meat, few vegetables, no salad, no spices, no lobster, no shrimps, no onions, no mackerel and no pastry of any kind. During the meal drink cold tea or if one must, red wine diluted with water, or mineral water, but no seltzer.

WIDE TIRES.

They should appeal to the farmer's selfishness as well as his patriotism.

WHILE the movement for improved highways has not yet accomplished what was expected of it in some sections of the country, the agitation of the question has served to educate the people not only in relation to the value of good roads but also as to the means of preserving serviceable highways when once secured. It is now generally recognized that the use of wagons with wide tires is one of the indispensable aids to the maintenance of permanently good roads, and the near future will undoubtedly witness the practical desertion of the narrow tire for all heavy wagons.

The extent to which the value of wide tires has come to be recognized is shown by the fact that during the past twelve months the Legislature of nearly every State, including Vermont, has been asked to pass a bill providing for the compulsory adoption. The State of New Jersey has already adopted a law of this kind, and it is reaping the benefit in the possession of the best roads in the country. With wide tires in general use even the present country roads will improve, for wide tires serve as rollers to make the roadbed more compact instead of cutting deep ruts as do heavily loaded wagons on narrow tires.

One of the strongest objections raised against the proposed change in different States, is the loss which it would impose on farmers in compelling them to sacrifice their present narrow tires. Different suggestions have been advanced for the purpose of lightening this burden. In some States it is proposed to have the wide tire law take effect a few years hence, while others, including Pennsylvania, are considering the project of allowing to those who use draft wagons with tires not less than three inches in width, a rebate of one-fourth of their highway tax.

While the laws proposed are in some instances commendable as to some of their features, the chances are that this problem in many States will be left to work out its own solution. It is a significant fact that farmers, in Vermont, as well as elsewhere, are generally buying wide-tire wagons, because they are convinced of the many advantages of the increased width of tire for themselves as well as for the public highways. Wagon dealers say a surprisingly small number of heavy draft wagons with narrow tires are now disposed of in the market, and it is not impossible that by the end of the present century, a little over five years hence, the narrow tire may have practically disappeared as a subject of legislation.—Burlington Free Press.

Road Racing Under Difficulties.

A rumor was current on the street to-day that there was to be a bicycle race on Bellevue avenue this afternoon, between two members of the Newport Reading Room, the course being from the Clubhouse to the Ocean House and return. In consequence, there was a fair-sized gathering of spectators strung along the course at 12:30 o'clock, the time set for the start. It was some minutes after that hour, when the first of the riders, arrayed in a big, white sweater, and nonchalantly, though laboriously, pedaling along on a ladies' wheel, was seen coming up by Touro Park. He was going about as fast as a slow walk, and seemed to have no easy thing of it, keeping the wheels upright on the shiny roadbed. Every one thought he was out for a preliminary canter, to warm up for the real work of the race, until contestant No. 2 appeared. He wore his regular street costume, save for a pair of knee breeches, and was making, if possible, slower time. By the time No. 2 reached Bath road, No. 1 had fallen from his wheel several times, had reached the Ocean House, and after several futile attempts to re-mount the wheel for the return trip had taken it upon the Ocean House piazza, where he secured a seat for the return. This was the eventful part of the proceedings, as No. 1 failed to keep his machine in riding position, even as far as the King block. By this time, No. 2 had successfully reached the first goal, gracefully fallen in the mud while trying to turn, re-mounted his wheel for the return, and was coming along in good condition till almost in front of the Casino, when the wheel balked. This part of the road has a newly-laid line of gas piping about in the centre, and a coating of shiny mud on either side. Neither rider had been thoughtful enough to provide running spikes for his shoes, and it was impossible to get a start to re-mount the wheels. No. 1 had the advantage in having a ladies' wheel, but No. 2 was the most persistent in trying to re-mount. The results were the same; both riders trundled their wheels back to the starting line.

Every one among the spectators agreed that it was no race, and they appeared to be right. There was nothing in the event that showed that there was no intention to have a race: it was simply an object lesson to illustrate the fact that the entire avenue is badly in need of improvement, if bicyclists are to successfully ride over it this season, and each rider made a completely successful exposition of this proposition. The section south of Bath road, which is to be shortly improved, is no worse than the section north of Bath road, and so far as to-day's riders are concerned, wide-tired wheels with spikes are absolutely essential to a successful bicycle ride on that part of the avenue. —Newport (R. I.) News.

Good for Col. Greene.

The subject of good roads is receiving more and more attention, and in an address recently delivered at Union college, Colonel Francis Vinton Greene gave some figures which should prove of special interest to farmers and manufacturers who pay for hauling heavy loads. Colonel Greene said: "It has been proved, not only by mechanical experiment, but by actual test, that the same force which draws one ton on a muddy earth road will draw four tons on a hard macadam road. On the improved roads of New Jersey, loads of four to five tons are habitually drawn by a two-horse team. This effects a saving of fully three-fourths of the cost of hauling to the station, and reduces the cost of road transportation from thirty cents to seven and one-half cents per ton per mile. What this saving amounts to may be imagined, when it is known that the New York Central railroad carries nearly 20,000,000 tons of way freight in a year. If this is hauled only two miles by road, to or from the station, and a saving of twenty-two and one-half cents per ton per mile could be effected, it would mean a total saving of $9,000,000."

Harper's Weekly, commenting on this statement says that "in other words, the question of roads in many of our agricultural communities is a question of farming at a loss or at a profit." The wheelmen have done much to secure the betterment of our highways and the policy of doing permanent work, which is in force wherever the views of intelligent road builders prevail is approved by the tax payers, who know that in the end such construction is the cheapest.—Springfield (Mass.) Union.

An Object Lesson for Ottawa.

Ottawa is crying for better roads, claiming to have suffered the loss of much trade because the cities of Utica and La Salle could be reached in better shape.—Streator (Ill.) Free Press.

They are After Him.

If we have poor roads any longer it is the fault of the people. Just read this section of the highway laws of this State:

Chapter 3, Section 27, of the Highway Manual of New York.—An overseer of Highways may be indicted for a wilful neglect to keep the roads in his district in repair, under section one hundred and fifty-four of the penal code, which reads as follows: "Where any duty is or shall be enjoined by law upon any public officer, or upon any person holding a public trust or employment, every wilful omission to perform such duty where no special provision shall have been made for the punishment of such delinquency, is punishable as a misdemeanor."

Section 29 makes it obligatory upon commissioners of highway to prosecute any overseer for neglect of duty.—Carmel (N. Y.) Courier.

AN AGRICULTURAL PROBLEM.

If wood is eight dollars a cord, how much can a farmer make, during the season, when it takes four horses to haul an empty wagon?

Tramps should be furnished with blanks, so that they may make notes of the condition of the roads.

"Weary Walker, the road inspector," would be an improvement.

We already have a good guide-post law in Massachusetts and shall do what we can to enforce it.

A RUN THROUGH THE BICYCLERS' PARADISE.

BY W. A. WADDELL RODGER.

ENGLAND is well named the "Bicyclers' Paradise." Eighty miles a day is a "comfortable run," says a friend, who has bicycled England from north to south, from east to west. But eighty miles a day is just a trifle too much for best results and highest enjoyment.

The professional man, worn by study and care, can renew his youth and lengthen his life lease by donning his bicycle suit and taking passage on an ocean greyhound. On arriving in Liverpool let him join a bicycling club and, with Murray in hand, map out his route. He will often meet congenial companions on the way.

We went first to London, England's great nerve centre, and took rooms in Chelsea, where Carlyle lived and worked and grumbled. Here we rented a prettily furnished parlor and bedroom, with service, for $2.50 per week. Service includes light, heat, cooking and serving of food: the cost of the latter depends upon the taste of the individual.

We spent a couple of weeks in the vicinity of London, visiting St. Paul's, Westminster, the British Museum, the National Gallery, Windsor Castle and Runnymede, the birthplace of English liberty. Then we ran down through an immense landscape garden to Bristol, the birthplace of Southey and Hannah More. A fine old cathedral with some exquisite bits of Norman architecture, and a run through Clifton Gorge were reward enough for the journey. Clifton Downs alone, in June, are worth crossing the Atlantic to see. Imagine a great park with driveways smooth as asphalt, stately old elms and hawthorne trees innumerable, covered with white blossoms, so fragrant that the gardens of Araby are odorless in comparison and you will have a faint conception of Clifton Downs in June. The Gorge, two hundred feet deep, through which meanders the gentle Avon, is rich in treasures geological and botanical, and is the despair of the artist. He longs to portray the chasm with its precipitous sides, revealing the Lower Red Sandstone, then covered with rich verdure of shrub and flower and fern.

From Bristol we cycled to quaint old Exeter, which existed when Cæsar invaded Britain and which boasts of one of the finest cathedrals in England. The ancient guild hall, still in use, is eight hundred years old.

Through green lanes, the sod dykes of which are simply a frieze of buttercups, daisies, ferns and foxglove, we wheeled to Torquay and Teignmouth, picturesque seaside resorts. Here again we took furnished apartments and enjoyed the quiet and freedom of home life. Devonshire is well named "the garden of England." We would fain spend the summer amid its lovely scenery, but must see Bath, "beautiful for situation." Bath, or Aqua Sulis (the Roman name) has several hot mineral springs, the efficacy of which the Romans soon discovered and built a fine suite of baths, part of which were discovered in 1755. In 1880 the great bath was excavated: it had been filled in and over it buildings erected. Those are now removed, laying open an enclosure one hundred feet long by sixty-eight wide. The roof is gone but the circular recesses used for dressing rooms still remain. The bath, surrounded by a broad platform, is of brick concrete lined with lead. A flat leaden pipe still conducts the hot mineral into the bath as it did over fourteen hundred years ago. The lead of that day not being deprived of its silver element was much more durable than is the lead we use. Columns and fragments decorated with sculpture, have led to the belief that these baths at Aqua

Sulis were in beautiful gardens, such as Pliny describes in Rome. Bath has a fine old abbey and still preserves much of its ancient prestige, but is not quite so fashionable a resort as when Beau Brummel and Lord Chesterfield there held court and led the fashion in dress and manners.

Seldom ever is it too hot to take a twenty or thirty mile run over the smooth English highways, those perfect roads which the Romans taught our ancestors how to build. The advantage of belonging to a cycling club is that each member has a list of hotels, in both town and country, in which he will obtain excellent accommodation at lower rates than the ordinary guest. English country hotels are clean and homelike, the food good, well cooked and served and the rates very reasonable.

Cambridge and Oxford should both be included in the trip from Bath to the charming lake district, made ever notable for its associations with the poets Coleridge, Keats and Wordsworth. Here the traveler must leave his wheel and climb the heights of Skiddan and Helvellyn if he would see the beauty of this exquisite region. Ullswater, Derwentwater, Todore — what memories of poetic beauty the very names awaken! Rydal Mount, the home of Wordsworth, covered with clinging vines and embowered in shrubbery suggests poetic leisure and quiet.

A run of a couple of days carried us back fourteen hundred years from the peace and poetry of Rydal Mount into the camp of the warlike Romans. Here is that same old Cilurnum which we so painfully excavated word by word in college halls, in the days of our youth. Little we dreamed that our eyes would ever behold it; that we should walk through its portals and through the armory and treasury, hidden by old Mother Earth for so many ages, now laid bare to 19th century eyes. It took thirty years of steady digging! At Chesters, five miles from Hexam, may be seen this skeleton of a Roman camp. It was built into the famous Roman wall, which crosses the northern part of England from the Tyne to the Solway. Antiquarians are not agreed as to the dimensions of the wall: Bede, the earliest writer, says it was twelve feet high and eight wide. Last summer we found a portion of this Roman wall still standing, which was about six feet high and eight in width. On its northern side is a deep ditch, filled up in many places, but in others it still measures "thirty-four feet across and is nearly nine feet in depth." On the south side of the stone wall and running parallel with it is an earth wall. The stone wall winds like a huge serpent across the valleys and over the hill tops, always taking the highest points. Camps enclosing four or five acres, were situated at four mile intervals from one end of the wall to the other. Each camp had its name and quota of soldiers; between the camps were mile castles and between the mile castles turrets or watch towers in which sentries kept watch. The cost of the wall is estimated at "five million dollars, and at least fifteen thousand men must have been required to garrison it." One can imagine how those poor natives, with their bodies painted blue, must have groaned under the foreign yoke, as bands of Roman soldiers went foraging through the country. The wall is built of the best freestone, which often had to be carried many miles. The outer stones are somewhat wedge shaped and about equal in size; the interior of the wall consists of rubble and mortar.

The camps, with one or two exceptions, are grass grown mounds over which the sheep browse. In Cilurnum so many altars, statues, vases, columns and other relics were found, that the owner is now erecting a museum for their safe keeping.

Quite as interesting as Cilurnum, is the governor's villa, a few rods distant, on a sunny slope on the bank of the Tyne. Remains of a massive bridge leading from the other wooded bank, are still seen on the shore and below the brown, rippling water. Only the roofless lower story of the villa remains, the broken walls are still eight or nine feet high, with here and there a tuft of moss and a bunch of fragrant, brown wall flowers, hiding decay with beauty. There are nine rooms, curiously arranged: the floor is raised on pillars, about two feet from the ground. It consists of flagstones, with a layer of mortar between the upper and lower stones. The Romans warmed their houses by means of hypocausts, a method somewhat similar to our American furnace system. The hypocaust connected with the governor's villa at Cilurnum, was situated outside of the house, on a level with the lower floor. Here, in a small stone chamber, the fire was lighted, and smoke and hot air forced under the building. Already the terraced stone floor, though excavated, begins to hide itself beneath mosses and lichens. What tales these silent grey stones, fourteen hundred years old, might unfold! One can almost see the proud sentries in tunic and helmet, pacing back and forth before the gates. The governor,

THE NARROW TIRE.

"It acts as a knife."

A BILL has just passed the State Senate that has in it a solution of the good roads question that is both practical and comparatively inexpensive to the community at large. It is the bill requiring all wagons and carts to use a tire not less than four inches in width, and while at first blush it might seem like a scheme to enrich the wheelwrights at the expense of the general public, it in reality saves dollars by the hundred for the community. The question of good roads for Long Island divides at the point as to whether the people shall bond their taxable values for the great expense of macadam roads, or whether there is some means of accomplishing the same end practically, at less expense, and in a way to make the roads maintain themselves at no greater outlay than at present.

There is of course no question as to the immense superiority of macadam roads. They are practically indestructible — and huge loads — four or five tons, can be easily drawn by two horses.

From every point of view they are the cheapest in the end; the road that ought to run by the door of every farmer on the Island. But the first cost (which competent engineers estimate for this locality at $3,000 per mile, sixteen foot roads, twelve or fourteen inches thick) is to most farmers the great obstacle. It is true that experience proves that $10 per mile per year will keep them in repair; and as heavy loads can be hauled in winter as in summer. But farming land thinks it can't stand such a tax even if spread over twenty years. Now, what else is there? Well, we have good loam for our roads in abundance. The shrub oak soil on the plains is most excellent for that purpose; but we hone up our roads in the spring, summer or autumn; whenever we are not doing anything else; roll them a bit and fill in a puddle here or there; and then immediately begin to cut them to pieces the very next day, and keep cutting them until next year at the same time. We don't realize that we are deliberately making ourselves needless expense; that there is a better and cheaper way. We cut them to pieces by putting one to two tons on a two inch tire. For packed loam that is a knife. If we put that same load on to a four inch tire, the road commissioners could sell the rollers they now have, because every time every one of us travelled over the road we should roll it into a hard, firm bed, quite as effectually as the roller now does. We should be "working out our road tax" three hundred working days in the year. If we were all required by law to use wide tires, no man could shirk his share of keeping the roads in good shape. We could carry heavier loads to market with the same expenditure of horse flesh. No one section of the Island would secure the benefits of good roads. The whole road system would be good, from Brooklyn to Montauk Light. That means more business — more city people to build, aud to leave their dollars with us for summer produce — to build because they can drive without being mired in mud or stifled with dust. It means better, easier, cheaper communication, and that means LIFE.—Bay Shore (N. Y.) Journal.

A GOOD IDEA.

S. Ewart & Co. of Pittsburgh, have been experimenting with wagons and car tracks. The above picture shows the result. They find that by having axles just the length to allow one wheel to run on the top of track while the other goes inside, the pulling out of the tracks with a load is very easy, whereas with a wagon which "fits" the track it is difficult and hard work for the horses.

This obvious improvement leads us to quote:

"Man advances in proportion as he mingles his thought with his labor."

The heaviest tax paid by mankind is the mud tax.

THE RENEWAL SEASON

The renewal season is now open, and we are ready to receive the annual dues of members.

All memberships expire March 31, and must be renewed before June 1.

Members have but sixty days to renew this year. In previous years they were given to July 1st. Don't forget this.

After June 1st a member will be fined 15 cts. for each month he is in arrears.

RHODE ISLAND DIVISION.

Attention! all ye whose membership expired March 31, 1895, (and that means every member of this division):

Renew! Renew!

Don't wait. Send in your dollar now —then you won't forget it. "He gives twice, who gives quickly," you remember.

Besides, you all want the L. A. W. BULLETIN; but you won't get it after the first number, until you do renew; and how are you going to know what is going on in this Division, or elsewhere, if you don't get it?

So as I said before:

Renew! Renew!

P. S. You can send your dollar to Nelson H. Gibbs, Secretary-Treasurer of this Division (288 Westminster St., Providence), or to Abbot Bassett, Secretary L. A. W. (12 Pearl St., Boston), whichever you please; either will answer.

GEO. L. COOKE, Chief Consul.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 2, 1895.

Committees.

I have appointed the following Committees:

Rights and Privileges.—Geo. L. Cooke, Chairman, Box 1101, Providence; Nathan W. Littlefield, Pawtucket; Chas. C. Mumford, Providence.

Improvement of Highways.— G. Richmond Parsons, Crompton Co., Providence, Chairman; Leo Kaufman, Newport; John Jenckes, Nayatt Pt.

Racing.—James Smith, Chairman, Box 1299, Providence; Edgar E. Brown, Providence; Frank E. Elliott, Providence.

Recruiting.—Percy A. Harden, Chairman, care of C. H. George & Co., Providence; Chas. A. McCallum, Central Falls; Herman F. Morlock, Providence; Chas. S. Welles, Woonsocket; Charles E. Champlin, Westerly; Thomas Twigg, Newport.

GEO. L. COOKE, Chief Consul.
Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 12, 1895.

At a special meeting of the Board of Officers held this evening it was voted—That the Secretary of the League of American Wheelman be and is hereby authorized to retain for the use of the League forty (40) per cent. of all initiation fees of members joining from this Division between Feb. 1st and Aug. 1st, 1895, inclusive, on condition that in case of any assessment upon the Divisions by the Executive Committee of the L. A. W. between the date hereof and the 1st day of March, 1896, the amount so retained by the Secretary shall be deemed as payment of this Division's proportionate share of said assessment if sufficient thereof, and if not sufficient, then for so much thereof as the same will satisfy.

Also voted—That no Road Books or particular benefits of this Division be allowed any member unless he subscribe for the L. A. W. BULLETIN.

Also voted — That Sec. 5, Art. III of By-Laws be amended to read "Four" instead of "Five" members of the Board shall constitute a quorum.

NELSON H. GIBBS,
Secretary-Treasurer.

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

A letter was read from Mr. A. G. Spaulding, President of the National Board of Trade of Cycle Manufacturers, asking that the L. A. W. appoint a committee to confer with that organization with a view to co-operating in work to advance the interests of cycling, to promote the cause of highway improvement and to purify the sport by the adoption of methods to control racing men who have contracted to ride for manufacturers.

Moved by Mr. Mott, that the Chairman of the Racing Board and the Executive Committee be constituted a committee of Conference with power to act. That this Committee have power to take action that shall be of advantage to the L. A. W., and that to this end they be instructed to confer with the National Board of Trade of Cycle Manufacturers, as suggested in the communication.

Mr. Knight of N. J. spoke of the case of one Goodrich, a resident of New Jersey, who was injured in Massachusetts, and he asked which Division should prosecute the case for the injured party?

He moved that it be the sense of the Assembly that whenever the rights of a member are invaded, the Division under whose jurisdiction the case occurs shall prosecute the case. Carried.

The following resolutions were presented by the Committee on Resolutions:—

Whereas, the delegates to this general Assembly have been partakers of the hospitality and good will of the new Manhattan Athletic Club and the New York Athletic Club, therefore be it

Resolved, that the General Assembly L. A. W., in this manner desire to acknowledge the courtesies extended and to return its thanks in appreciation of the spirit which prompted the same, and be it further

Resolved, that these Resolutions be spread upon our records, and that the Secretary is hereby instructed to forward copies of the same to the clubs herein named.

Passed unanimously.

The same Committee presented the following:—

Resolved, that the thanks of this Assembly are due and are hereby tendered to the retiring officers of the League for their manifest zeal in the cause and we desire to here enter on record a slight token of our appreciation of the manner in which they have conscientiously discharged the duties attendant upon their respective positions.

Carried manimously, after being amended to include Mr. H. E. Raymond of the Racing Board.

Mr. Potter moved that it is the sense of the Assembly that no legislation affecting the rights of wheelmen, shall be attempted or urged in any Division except by the consent of the officers of the Division in which the legislation is attempted. Carried.

The question of an official organ was taken up and discussed at length.

Mr. H. L. Perkins moved that the whole matter be referred to the Executive Committee with full power to act. Not a vote.

Mr. Geo. A. Perkins moved that the Executive Committee be instructed to authorize the Secretary to subscribe to a paper to be sent to each and every member of the League for one year and to provide that all official notices shall be published in that paper. Not a vote.

Mr. Potter moved, that when we adjourn, it be to Wednesday, March 6, at 10 o'clock A. M. Carried.

Moved that the Executive Committee elect be instructed to investigate and report on all matters connected with the establishment of an official organ.

Mr. Post introduced the following resolution:—

Resolved, that a special vote of thanks be extended Mr. C. H. Luscomb as Chairman of the Executive Committee, as well as to his colleagues, Messrs. Willison and Perkins, for the admirable financial ability displayed in raising the organization from a load of debt to a good financial basis, and be it further

Resolved, that a special vote of thanks be extended to W. M. Brewster for efficient services rendered as treasurer during the past eight years.

Mr. Raymond, Chairman of the Racing Board, announced that he had several applications for re-instatement to present to the meeting.

It was moved that the rules be suspended.

(COMBINATION BLANK.)

Application for Membership in the L. A. W.*

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR: — Enclosed find the sum of TWO DOLLARS which I send in full payment of my initiation fee, one year's dues and subscription fee to the official publication of the L. A. W., under provisions of Articles III and VII of the Constitution. From the sum enclosed I authorize and direct you to pay to the publisher of said publication the regular subscription fee to League members and to enter my name as a subscriber. I certify that I am eligible to membership in the L. A. W. under the provisions of the Constitution and I refer to two League members (or three other reputable citizens) named below.

L. A. W. Veteran Bar.

The veteran bar which has been adopted by the L. A. W. to be worn by the veterans of the organization, can be worn above the League badge, or as an individual pin.

Any member who has been connected with the L. A. W. for ten consecutive years is entitled to wear the bar.

Members holding numbers between 100 and 1656 are entitled to wear the bar at this date.

The bar is of gold with the word "Veteran" in enamel. Each bar must have the owner's name engraved on the back. All orders must be sent to the Secretary accompanied by the price of bar, $2.50.

We can supply any style or form of badge with bar. The standard badge retails for $3.00, and will be sent attached to bar if this sum is added to remittance.

SIXTY DAYS ONLY.

Members are notified that the renewal season is cut down to sixty days. In previous years, renewals were received to July 1st. This year the season ends JUNE 1st. Please remember.

ADDITIONAL BLANKS.

Application or Renewal Blanks may be had of the Secretary on application.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to Monday preceding this date, and published in accordance with Article III of the constitution.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published and to report errors and omissions to the secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at noon on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

PENNSYLVANIA.

To the Members of the Division.

The membership of Pennsylvania continues to grow, and we have enrolled a great many applications and renewals the past week. This, the fourth number of the paper, will go to over 1200 Pennsylvania members in good standing — remember that — to get all the privileges of membership and this division road book, etc., free; the dues are one dollar, which will include the BULLETIN. I trust every member of Pennsylvania will read the BULLETIN and act on the notice therein — by another week, every member of the division should have renewed.

Fraternally,

JOHN J. VAN NORT.

Members of this division living in Philadelphia and vicinity may send or take their renewals to the chief consul, 654 City Hall, Philadelphia. If he should not be in, they may be left with any of the persons connected with the office.

I trust sincerely, that every member will not only renew early for himself but will also see that his friends and acquaintances do so too. We shall need every application and renewal that the friends of Pennsylvania can secure to hold our present place. Let every member charge himself with at least two others.

Fraternally,

SAMUEL A. BOYLE.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22, 1895.

NEW YORK.

THE new tour book will contain lists of consuls and committees appointed up to the time when the last form of the tour book went to press. If any names are omitted, it will be due to the fact that these names were not determined until too late for insertion in the tour book. They will appear in subsequent publications of the division.

No further editions of the road maps of 1893, will appear until corrections have been made as fully as possible, and announcement will be made in due season of the appearance of future editions. If you are aware of an error in the road map or tour book or any other publication of the State Division, please send full and explicit information to the Chairman having the work in charge.

The "Potter guide board bill" has passed both branches of the legislature and has been signed by the Governor. It is now the law of the State. As soon as the work of the June meet has been completed, circulars will be issued instructing members how to obtain the erection of guide boards under the new law.

The chief consul requests every loyal member of the Division to interest himself in the work of increasing our membership. If you know a club room, cycle store or popular hotel where wheelmen congregate, which does not contain a "hanger" with application blanks, send at once a postal-card to Secretary W. S. Bull, 78 White Building, Buffalo, and have him send you the necessary number of hangers to put up. Please note the name of the Local Consul in your town as printed in the tour book or as announced in the BULLETIN and aid him in the work. If he is not as good a man as you are, prove it.

Use your copy of the BULLETIN and copy of the tour book in recruiting members. Remember that our lady cyclists are eligible to membership, and and we are glad to welcome them to our membership roll.

Fraternally,

ISAAC B. POTTER, Chief Consul.

NEW MEXICO.

IN this Territory, cycling has obtained a good foothold and devotees enjoy their country spins as much as their eastern brethren, despite the roughness of the roads and the many hills to climb. The only trouble with bicycle riders in this Territory is that there are not enough of them who belong to the League of American Wheelmen. Every rider of a bicycle (at least) should realize that through an organization of wheelmen (and only in that way) can they obtain what they most need and wish for, good roads, and each and every wheelman should join such an organization and assist that organization in the effort to obtain good roads. The cost is but a trifle — only one dollar a year — and the benefit derived from a membership is worth ten times that amount. The League BULLETIN, under its new management and in its new dress is worth a dollar a year to any one, whether he be a wheelman or not. New Mexico wheelmen should not let Arizona outstrip them in League membership.

We certainly have more wheelmen than they. There is a possibility of a western racing circuit being formed and if New Mexico has not enough League members, she will not be included in the circuit.

To every wheelman in New Mexico, I say, join the League. After you are once a member, you will never withdraw. Join the League of American Wheelmen.

A. J. FISCHER.

SANTA FE, April 12, 1895.

There is every reason to believe that the League will "live to eat the hen that scratches over its grave."

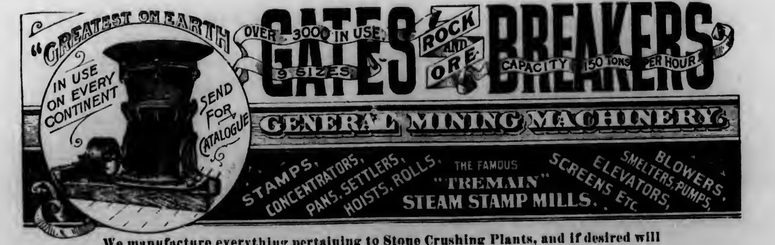
TOO LATE! TOO LATE!



STERLING ELLIOTT, ESQ., 12 PEARL ST., BOSTON, MASS.
April 22, 1895.

Dear Elliott:—

The "Potter Guide Board Bill" has been signed by Governor Morton in a large, bold hand, with very black ink. It is now on file in the office of the Secretary of State and we are all ready to help you on the theatre hat crusade whenever you are ready to make another spurt.

Yours,

POTTER.

We manufacture everything pertaining to Stone Crushing Plants, and if desired will take entire charge of construction.

At the annual meeting of the Wasatch Wheelmen, April 8th, the following officers were elected: President, Geo. B. Barstow; captain, John N. Sharp; 1st lieutenant, W. C. Sharp; 2nd lieutenant, D. E. Brockbank; secretary and treasurer, Robt. B. Stevenson.

All members of this club have decided to join the League.

CORRESPONDENCE

TO THE EDITOR:—

My attention is called to the recent scurrilous and untrue articles appearing in some of the metropolitan papers. I wish to state that our citizens are with the wheelmen and stand ready to furnish funds and all other assistance necessary to make the National Meet of the League of American Wheelmen a grand success, and a credit to Asbury Park.

Any and all pledges made by the Asbury Park Wheelmen at New York and Louisville will be carried out to the letter.

Yours truly,
F. L. TEN BROECK, Mayor.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., April 26, 1895.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—

I am glad that you have asked "What shall we print?" For three or four years I have been a subscriber to four of the leading bicycle papers in this country. With one possible exception, these papers each week devote nearly two-thirds of their space to dreary detailed accounts of various races. I am an enthusiastic rider of the bicycle and know no form of athletic exercise so enchanting and health-giving. I enjoy also a good bicycle race. But of what use are columns of this stuff when a dozen lines would suffice? We have long had fuller details from the daily press.

A paper should publish what is of interest to its subscribers. I think a very small minority of the subscribers of bicycling papers are enthusiastic over racing or read these race accounts. A bicycle is not simply a racing machine. It is mainly a beautiful vehicle of pleasure, business and athletics. Why not publish something about the construction, make and care of this wonderful little vehicle? How many riders know anything of the scientific relation of the gear of the bicycle and what gear to use in varied riding? Tubings, tires and cranks, the care and keeping of the wheel, and the physiology of riding and its bearing upon health are also fertile subjects of interest.

Then there is the vast and all important subject of good roads. How many lines do these journals give to that in a year? In three of the last issues of these papers there is not a line on this subject upon which the existence and progress of the bicycle depend.

And last but most pleasurable of all comes touring, the joy of cycling. Much space should be alloted to this all-absorbing topic with its adventures and pictures by the wayside.

When will these plodding fellows wake up and give us something for our money? You strike the philosophy of the thing when you say that the bicycle weekly is not a newspaper. It should chronicle what we can not get in the daily papers.

I trust you will make the BULLETIN a journal interesting to bicycle riders and not to a few racers only.

A DIFFERENCE IN GUARANTIES.

There are guaranties that guarantee — and others that do not. A penniless tramp may guarantee the payment of the national debt — that is the guaranty of irresponsibility. A Fiji Islander may guarantee the correctness of the theory of electrical induction—that is the guaranty of ignorance. The only guaranty that guarantees is that based on responsibility and knowledge.

Two-Thirds Size.

The New York Standard Watch Co., with the prestige of a world-wide reputation to sustain, and very large financial interests to protect, is qualified to deliver a binding guaranty on the score of abundant responsibility; and after speeding one of its "Standard" Cyclometers, under power, for 100,000 miles forward and 130,000 miles backward, with consideration of the material and workmanship put into this watch factory product, this responsible Watch Company speaks with knowledge of the Cyclometer which it guarantees. Wherefore this :

"We guarantee that the 'Standard' cyclometer will stand continuous use throughout the life of its buyer. We will repair, without charge, any injured in a mishap to the bicycles."

WHY DO WE LIVE?

THIS use of the plural pronoun does not stop at the editorial "we" else it could be much more easily answered, but in this case "we" includes the reader.

Do you ever stop and think of it? for it is one of those questions, the consideration of which demands that we do stop.

It cannot be so well pondered while we are going.

Every individual seems to have some motive, some definite object, even though in many cases the object may not be a worthy one.

The average citizen, according to physical conditions, crawls or jumps out of bed in the morning or sometime during the forenoon and after putting on the broadcloth and silk, or, in more cases, the jeans and calico, starts on some sort of a day's work.

It doesn't matter very much what the nature of that work is, whether we

"in the quarry toil," or whether we

"delve upon the soil,"

it is considered work. Few seem willing to admit that any employment to which they are accustomed is as easy as some other "job" of which they know less.

The laboring man, so called, because he performs that which looks to the uninitiated like the hardest work, starts out between six and seven A.M. and takes with him his noon meal, in a tin pail.

As he passes the drawn curtains of the wealthy, he looks with envious eyes at the cast iron dog on the lawn, and regrets his own misfortune at not being able to own a pair of bobtailed horses and a private "hack."

The kitchen girl gets up still earlier, kindles the fire with kerosene, washes the dishes which were left over from the night before, and opens the door for the milkman, who started on his rounds at three o'clock A.M.

The owner of the cast iron dog wakes up at eight o'clock and immediately begins to wonder how he can raise money to pay his taxes, while his wife is most concerned over the all-absorbing question of what she can do to keep up appearances, in competition with the wife of a man who had recently pinched her husband in a "wheat deal."

And the son of the wife of the man who owns the cast iron dog, crawls lazily out of bed at eleven A.M., having retired about the time the milkman got up, and while trying to put on his hat with a shoe horn, wonders how soon again he can "touch" the "old man" for enough of the "stuff" to go on another "bat," such as the one he is just recovering from.

The young wish they were old.

The old wish they could be young again.

The poor man envies his more wealthy neighbor. The dyspeptic banker envies the healthy coal heaver his appetite, while many a man with a splendid appetite has little else.

The childless millionaire envies the poor parent one of his dozen half-fed babies; the pauper thinks the laws are all made to prevent a betterment of his condition. The mechanic feels sure that he isn't being properly paid for his work, and often at the same time, his employer will claim that he is losing money.

Life, to many, seems a burden, and yet, in the language of Dr. Holmes, "they will take a great deal of nasty medicine to keep from going to heaven."

We are bound to conclude, that except in very

WHAT THE SOLID STERLING DID FOR A FELLOW.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. MEX., March 25, 1895.

STERLING CYCLE WORKS, Chicago, Ill.

Gentlemen: How do you like this? It's great, I think. Yesterday, Sunday, about twenty fellows started for the mountains—road very rough, up hill and down hill—a very bad bicycle road in all. On reaching our destination one of the boys riding a ——— got into difficulty, something giving way. Being twenty miles from town, a friend of mine riding a 21-pound '94 Sterling came to this fellow's help, like this: On returning, the owner of the Sterling said he would sit on the handle-bars if the other party would do the work of pushing home, total weight 292 pounds. They just flew down hill and up again, past all the boys, for in coming home it is mostly down hill. They came through without a scratch, while every one of the other fellows were jesting and betting they would not, nor could the wheel stand the strain for over five miles, but it did, and did it nobly, and I will say right here that I'll bet $50 there is not another wheel made that could have stood the racket. I am, yours very truly, rare cases, life is preferable to a cessation of it. But how to make it still more desirable, is a question that you and I cannot afford not to discuss.

No real happiness can be had at the expense of others.

A man who thinks he is happy while he is holding his heel upon the neck of any other being, knows not what happiness is.

The man who thinks he isn't happy because every body is working against him, is certainly mistaken.

Cases are indeed rare, in which many people have not been treated as well as they deserved.

"Life is what we make it."

We live because we don't want to die.

Heaven may be a good place but you can't prove it, and whatever may come to the future, it will keep.

Let us live where we are for the present, and make the best of it.

Let us think of those who are worse off than ourselves and try to help them, trusting to those who are better off than we are to follow our worthy example.

Don't fret.

Do right.

Keep cool.

The world is large and the fittest always survive. If you are a big toad in the commercial puddle don't forget the time when you were a tadpole.

If you are only a tadpole now, don't feel bad about it, but enjoy life as you go, not forgetting that there are others.

"The man who sits down to a crust, moistened with his tears and thanks God" may be getting more real happiness out of life than does many a better fixed mortal.

Man depends upon man; this should never be forgotten.

"Live while you can, for when you die, you'll be dead a long time."

Our various lines of business are, of course, for the moment, of importance, but we are too apt to overlook the real substance of life, in a wild chase after the shadow.

Money and the things which money will buy are, or at least should be, considered as means to an end; but too often we think of them as the end itself, and act accordingly.

The only worthy reason which any man can give for occupying room, is that he makes his fellows happy, and thus in the only legitimate manner, obtains happiness for himself.

The mere possession of money is, in itself, small evidence of success.

The owner of money cannot take it with him across the "dark river," and even if it were printed on asbestos, its usefulness under the changed conditions is doubtful.

The publisher of the L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS is perfectly satisfied with his lot (although the house needs repairing). We are doing what seems to be for the interest of the League of American Wheelmen, and incidentally, that means, for the general good.

The making of money is of the slightest consequence beyond the necessary income to insure permanency.

When you are satisfied, we are.

Don't hesitate to let us know.

HOW TO CLEAN A BEARING.

WE are bound to believe that the new bicycle, when it comes from its maker, is properly adjusted. Certainly that is the intention and it is usually lived up to.

You may have a clearer understanding of how it should be than had the man who put it together.

However, the chances are against you and in his favor.

Assuming that it was right when you got it, don't monkey with it.

And if it wasn't right let the seller fix it.

After that just take care of it.

Use plenty of good oil, there are a hundred kinds on the market but it all comes out of the same barrel.

There is, however, a difference in oil, but the worst of it is better than none.

For a ball bearing the oil should be thin and of a quality which will tend to evaporate rather than to "gum."

Don't get the absurd idea that you will injure your bearing by too much oil.

Of course "enough is as good as a feast." But you couldn't injure the bearing if you used a quart of oil on it each day.

Any oil is very injurious to rubber and the principal danger from overdoses of oil, is that it may run down on to the tire.

A machine which has been standing through the winter wants cleaning.

If you are an expert and it will do you any good to take the bearings apart, do it, but it won't do the bearings any good.

CRANK SHAFT.

Take out the saddle rod and pour a tablespoonful of the common, everyday, "servant girl's delight," by dealers called kerosene oil, into the hole where the rod was.

In nearly all machines the opening through the saddle post tube communicates directly with the inside of crank shaft bearing, and hence the kerosene will run directly onto the shaft.

Of course if your frame isn't built that way, don't do it, but squirt the oil in through the oil hole.

Having filled the bearing with the deadly kerosene, spin the shaft until the oil which runs out is no longer black, (it may be necessary to repeat the operation two or three times), then wipe the parts thoroughly, apply a few drops of your regular oil and the bearing will be all right.

Clean the bearings in the wheels the same way, except that greater care must be taken to avoid spoiling the tire.

The safest way after drenching the bearings and running them thoroughly is to lay the machine on its side until the kerosene has run out, which it will do in a few minutes, though if you can leave it in a reclining position over night so much the better.

I have known machines treated in this way to give better service than others which were frequently taken apart.

THE NATIONAL MEET.

MANY conflicting statements have been made regarding internal affairs at Asbury Park. The BULLETIN is disposed for the present at least, to ignore the more intemperate statements of both sides and make the following prophetic announcement, based on personal judgment rather than absolute knowledge.

First, Asbury Park is a most delightful spot to go to, entirely independent of any special occasion.

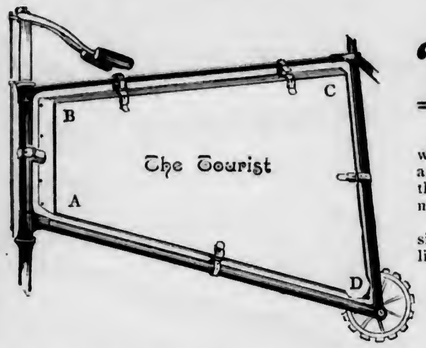
Secondly, those men whom we happen to know personally and who have much to do with the arrangements, are men whose word would be a sufficient guarantee so far as they have control of anything connected with the meet.

Of course there will be many people in Asbury Park as there have been and always will be everywhere, who expect to make some money out of the visitors. That condition of things is unavoidable. We must never expect to avoid it entirely.

It is more than probable that any member who goes to Asbury this summer in the right spirit, will go away with the reflection that he (or she, for we hope the ladies will not fail to attend in large numbers) has had an enjoyable time and one long to be remembered.

It is important that the managers of the meet do the proper thing, but it is also important that we go to Asbury Park or to any other place, with a disposition to remember that "Charity suffereth long and is kind." Personal disagreements among the people who have the matter in charge are of no interest to us so long as these differences are finally adjusted.

"All's well that ends well," and we have much confidence that the National Meet to be held at Asbury Park, N. J., in July next, will end well.



Mr. Beegle, we're looking at you.

THE ROAD QUESTION IN MISSOURI.

(From the Bankers' Standpoint.)

BY EDGAR S. BARNES.

DURING the month of December, the Missouri Division League of American Wheelmen through its Highway Improvement Committee, addressed a circular letter to about 600 of the cashiers of the banks outside of the larger cities in this State, enclosing a stamped envelope for the replies they were requested to make, to the following questions:

(1.) Is the business of your town dependent upon the country immediately surrounding it: if so, to what extent?

(2.) How much farming territory (approximately in square miles) depends upon your town as its most accessible local market?

(3.) What is the nature of the soil found in the country roads leading into your town and what is its condition during the wet weather of fall and spring?

(4.) To what extent is communication between town and country affected by the muddy roads of the wet seasons?

(5.) From your observation and experience can you say that muddy roads in wet seasons interfere with the steady and profitable transaction of business; if so, to what extent?

(6.) Kindly state any other facts touching the effect of badly kept roads upon the industrial and financial condition of your neighborhood?

(7.) What in your estimation is the best manner to increase the amount of money that is available for use in making and improving the common country roads?

To the first question almost all of them answer that the business in their towns depends upon the country immediately surrounding it to at least 50%, and the greatest number of them admit that their town is entirely dependent upon the country surrounding it for its business.

After stating the area that depends upon their town for its most accessible local market, and giving the nature of the soil around them, they with very, very few exceptions state that the condition of the roads in their vicinity in the winter and spring months is bad, and that at times as we all know, the roads get absolutely impassable.

As many of them expressed the opinion that trade was almost entirely suspended at that time, as there were who thought that a loss of about 50% in the amount of trade would cover the loss, but all agreed that trade was greatly interfered with by the bad condition of the roads in the winter and spring.

Right here I want to give you a few extracts from some of the replies received.

One says: "During the wet weather of fall and spring, the distance between town and country is practically doubled. Last spring roads got almost impassable, farmers could hardly get to town with an empty farm wagon."

Another says: "Communication is about cut off and those who wish to get the advantage of the highest markets, have to haul their produce to town in the fall and pay for storage until the prices advance in the winter and spring. The storage costs would pay quite a sum towards making better roads."

One banker reports that "the muddy condition of the roads interferes very largely with business: as the farmer can only haul his products to market when the roads are dry, he is compelled to accept almost any price for his products, for he cannot risk the roads for a better market, and this is even worse on the produce question than on the grain question, although if the roads were in such condition that the farmer could haul his products at any time, he would be able to save a very large expense account."

Another says: "The bad condition of the roads injures our trade for about one-fifth of the year, and retards the growth of the city; adds cost to the producer, requiring him to make two loads of one, and consequently lessens the value of his lands."

"The effect on the merchant, farmer and banker can hardly be estimated during the seasons of muddy roads, for at the season of the year when the farm products are the highest, and the merchant realizes his best commissions, the least business is transacted because of the fact that the Extra Blades, $\frac{1}{16}$ inch thick, 15 cents each.

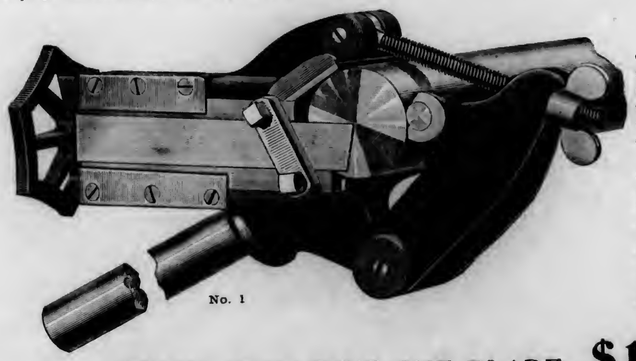
No. 2



For Cutting Round Iron or Steel to any Length, in any Lathe. Independently of Tool-Post or Slide-Rest.

Cuts all sizes from $\frac{3}{16}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ inch in diameter. Rods of any length can be cut at any distance from the lathe-chuck. For instance, pieces may be cut from the end of a twenty-foot rod in any short lathe, whether it has hollow spindle or not. A piece of one-half inch machinery steel may be cut entirely off in about twenty seconds, and that operation repeated indefinitely without danger of breaking the cutter.

This tool has been found very useful even in shops having cutting-off machines, because it is always ready, and requires no adjustment for different sizes of stock, except the turning up of a single thumb-nut; neither is any special skill required to operate it.

For cutting off round Iron or Steel of any size, from $\frac{3}{16}$ to 2 inches in diameter. May be used with any lathe, or even without a lathe, as it can be operated like an ordinary pipe cutter.

The manner of holding the stock to be cut is the same as with small tool, but the cutter is fed in by a screw and hand wheel, while the machine is prevented from turning by the handle, which may rest against the lathe-bed or any fixed object, or may be held in the hand.

public roads and highways are in such a condition that the farmer cannot move his crops."

Grant City says: "There is no way of computing the loss that is occasioned by the condition of the roads during the winter and spring. All traffic is suspended except such as can be accomplished on horseback or on foot."

"The bad roads of the winter and spring compel the farmer to sell his produce before the bad weather sets in, or get ready to hold it for several months. They are unable to take advantage of the high prices, solely because of the bad roads leading to the depots."

Another reports: "Bad roads are a great detriment to any community. Take it here with us last spring, it was impossible for a farmer to reach here from the west with anything but an empty wagon, and that was in most cases a load for four horses."

Now I want to give you a few random extracts from the letters received from the bankers bearing upon the effect good roads would have in their estimation.

"Easy communication between points makes business."

"Good roads would increase our business."

"Good roads would add to the profits of the farmer at least one-third and add more than this to the comfort of living in the country."

"Good roads at all times would enhance the value of lands."

"Good roads would have so many advantages that I could not name them, and they would add to the value of land and the comfort of living."

"Farmers could haul twice as much in the same length of time; we have made one and one-half miles of good rock road and it pays well."

"The agitation of the road question is without doubt one of the most important before the public to-day and if carried out properly will do more for the State than almost any other thing."

"A good system of well worked roads would in my estimation enhance land values in Schuyler County fifty per cent."

"The wear and tear of wagons, buggies, harness and horses caused by bad roads costs the farmer more than the amount he pays for all State, county, and municipal taxes, and probably affects the merchant to about the same extent."

"It would be safe to say that the profits to town and country would be twenty per cent. greater if the roads were passable at all times of the year."

"I am satisfied that if we had good rock roads leading to our town that it would enhance the value of land adjacent to such roads $10.00 per acre, and the farmers would in a very few seasons make back all the expense of making these roads, by being able to market their produce when prices were high, and the merchants by reason of their increased trade could well afford to bear part of the burden."

Listen to what is reported from Columbia. "Dirt roads get very muddy and almost impassable. We have four gravel roads, or 60 miles in length; the best investment the county ever made. Parties living on the gravel roads come to town during the wet weather same as dry; those on the dirt roads do not get in."

Ellsberry says: "We have a good rock road extending from our town to New Hope, a distance of five miles, which has greatly helped our trade, and if we could have a rock road leading into our town from the northwest and from the southwest, and the one we now have be extended out farther, it would greatly build up our town and also increase the value of lands tributary to our town."

There were many other interesting replies and opinions expressed in the letters received but space will not permit to give them here.

To my mind the greatest problem that we have to solve right now is how to provide the ways and means to build and maintain a system of roads that would be a credit to the State and the various counties and townships that compose it. So in order to draw out from the bankers what was their idea of the best way to provide the ways and means necessary, the last and really the main question of the seven, and the one that all the others lead up to was asked. The replies to this question varied a good deal.

Like men engaged in many other lines of business, the bankers have not all made a study of the road question, nor decided in their own minds as to which is the best way to improve the common roads and highways of Missouri, or what would be the best way to provide the money necessary to pay for such an improvement.

We think that the bankers as a class are as well posted on this subject, and the best remedy to apply towards the betterment of the roads as any other class of business men, and hence their opinions should have much weight with us. Out of over 150 replies received, 35 of them did not venture any opinion on this question. It is this class of men who have no opinions that we are hoping to interest.

From the 125 who replied, and who did have opinions that they did not hesitate to express, we glean many interesting items and ideas.

Monticello, Lewis County, says: "Our people are ready and anxious to pay more taxes for better roads. Urge the legislature to make it optional with counties to regulate each its own rate for road taxes, and also to allow the county to decide whether or no its poll tax should be paid in cash or work. With these legislative provisions, the dirt road problem in Lewis County would be solved."

DeKalb, says: "The only feasible plan is to bond the county or road district for a sum sufficient to grade and construct the roads; levy a tax for repairs and care of the roads and for a sinking fund sufficient to retire a few bonds each year and thus pay them off gradually."

Richland says: "The best way would be to levy a State tax as an assistance to a local tax upon those most benefited. Good roads will, more than anything else, increase the price of real estate and I am heartily in favor of the movement and hope the coming legislature will do something to assist in solving this problem."

Carterville says: "I believe the revenue for roads if collected in cash would be sufficient to construct, repair, and maintain our roads, provided that the work was let on contract to the lowest bidder, who should be required to furnish bond for the faithful performance of his contract and who should work under the supervision of a county road supervisor appointed by the county court."

Rockville says: "I know of no better way than to increase the road tax; then first make the main roads good so they will last, by graveling them, doing what you can each year with a reasonable tax levy such as the people are able to pay, and then extend the good roads to the cross roads. The only way to get the people to see the advantages of good roads is to commence building small pieces at a time, and then it will not be long before they will all be willing to pay more taxes so that all might enjoy the benefits of good roads."

Dexter says: "Amend the constitution so that counties can levy a larger tax for road and county purposes. The rate now fixed by the constitution has injured the State ever since its adoption, and has stifled the growth of the State and the efforts of its energetic citizens to push it forward."

Paris says: "I think the State constitution should be amended, and that our legislature should enact laws authorizing the issue of bonds running for a long term of years, at a low rate of interest, and so guaranteed by the State or county as to make them a popular, safe and desirable investment. Then we would be able to inaugurate and push forward a system of good roads to such an extent that all of the people would ultimately be proud of them, and their descendents would not object to paying the debt."

Marceline says: "I believe taxation the best plan, raising the amount needed at first by the issue of bonds, and put the roads in good condition at once."

Meadville says: "Give it up." Do you think he means to give up more for road taxes or not?

Conway says: "Our little city would be much benefited by the construction of twenty miles of macadam road at right angles to the railroad, but it is impossible to build under the present laws as we understand them. There is no good reason why, if we build good roads for future generations to use, that future generations should not help to pay for them."

Montgomery City says: "Our roads are no better now than they were fifteen years ago, and we have expended in cash and labor ten to twelve thousand dollars per annum on them under the present system."

Rock Port says: "Our people favor anything that will give us good roads."

Norbornne says: "Am in for anything that will give us good roads at all seasons of the year."

"Independence thinks their plan a good one, that is, to have the county court duplicate the subscriptions that are made by private parties where macadam roads are wanted."

McFall says: "Any means that would better our roads would be acceptable whether it was by either the National or State governments, or by direct taxation. $10,000,000, expended on the highways of "Old Missouri" would make it "new enough Missouri" for me."

Summer says: "Apportion the convicts of the penitentiary to the counties, and work them for eight months of the year, except those in for long terms."

"Some suggested a direct tax assessed against property benefited, with a less amount assessed against property not immediately upon the improved road, and the greatest amount assessed against the property immediately upon the line of the road."

Some are in favor of joint stock companies and toll roads; others hope to see an improvement effected through the working of the convicts upon the roads, and a good many, even more than was thought would, come out in favor of old fashioned taxation.

There were three times as many in favor of issuing bonds as were against their issue, and several want an amendment to the State constitution providing for increased tax levies for road purposes, while some try to get out of it by referring the whole matter to the legislature, and one man went so far as to recommend that the democratic party be assessed for this purpose. This man was on the off side probably.

To sum up the opinions of the bankers as received, we believe that the majority of them are in favor of increased taxation if necessary, but they want the property most benefited to be taxed accordingly.

They are in favor of doing away with the present system of working out the poll tax, and want it collected in cash; they want the roads worked at a suitable time of the year, the work let out on contract to a road builder compelling him to give bond for the faithful performance of his contract, and to work under the supervision of some competent person, preferably a civil engineer, and they want the work begun as soon as possible, the sooner the better.

BICYCLES FOR SUPERINTENDENTS.

Supt. Wheeler has inaugurated a new departure in his department by purchasing bicycles for the watering cart chasers, or men who superintend the work of watching the carts in the performance of their work. There are seven of them. The superintendent of the division will give his personal attention to the work also. There are 110 carts in different sections of the city.

The park department was the first to put bicycles in use, and they have proven a success. — Boston Herald.

The pnuematic tire won on its merits. You may remember, that at first, we were not impressed with its shape.

ST. LOUIS, MO.

THE League officials of Missouri have succeeded in heading off the watering-cart on certain streets in St. Louis. This is what has been wanted by wheelmen in every city. We would suggest that in order to please all parties who use the streets the sprinkling be done as suggested by Mr. Duryea last year, viz., sprinkle one side of the street and leave it until partially dried up before sprinkling the other.

We give the St. Louis circular in full. It is as follows: —

THE ELLIOTT PAMPHLET STITCHING MACHINE.

Stitches any thin book or pamphlet with thread, making a double stitch, tying a square knot and cutting off the thread, all at one operation.

AS a matter of history (and egotism), this is the first and only machine that ever stitched and tied work of this kind.

It ties a perfectly square knot, ties it close against the paper, leaves no slack, and wastes no thread.

Its speed is only limited by the ability of the operator to feed it.

A fair average is about 30 per minute, or 18,000 per day.

The same machine also ties a loop in the corner of a book by which it may be hung up.

The work of this machine is equal to the very best hand-stitching, and is done at a much less cost.

Publishers of the Youth's Companion, Boston, use thirteen of these machines. It is also used extensively by the Harper Bros., New York; the Boston Mailing Company, and many other large concerns. . . . . .

MINNESOTA ROADS.

M. L. KNOWLTON,

Chief Consul Minnesota Division, L. A. W.:

As Chairman of the Road Improvement Committee, I have to report as follows:—

While action on the part of the committee has not been what is desirable, there has been considerable increased interest throughout the State, resulting from the agitation started and continued by the wheelmen.

As President of the Minnesota Road Improvement Association, I have been expected to do something towards organizing a Good Roads Association, in each county in the State. The State Association has had scarcely any funds at my disposal, and with a view to aiding the work expected me to do, as President of the State Association, the State Board of the Minnesota Division L. A. W., as you are aware, appropriated $100. I have received but $50 of that, the Secretary having informed me that the Division could not spend $100 for road improvement, and also pay the Minneapolis Cycle Track Association $100 for expenses of the State meet. After receiving the notice from Mr. Gregory, above referred to, I did not keep a very accurate account of expenses incurred by me, and have used as little money as possible, but as near as I can state with certainty, I have expended for typewriting, postage, printing, etc., $38.44, leaving a balance in my hands of $11.56.

A much more active and intelligent interest is being taken by the farmers and others throughout the State in road improvements, as indicated by frequent letters received by me from all parts of the State, and from all classes of people, concerning the matter. One evidence of this is that the Commercial Club of St. Paul voluntarily incurred the expense and labor of calling the State convention, which was held in St. Paul, January 15th, and though not so large as the one held two years ago, was quite as successful in many respects, and more unanimous in favor of intelligent action. I read a paper at the convention, recommending nearly all of the most modern and practical plans, according to my judgment, which have been recently urged for improvement of our system of highways, and by resolutions adopted by the convention nearly every recommendation made in my paper was endorsed by the convention, and the Legislature now in session was asked to enact laws accordingly. Regardless of the failure of the last Legislature to pass any bills for road improvement, and regardless of whether the present Legislature will do any better, I earnestly recommend that the work of this Division be continued along the lines already adopted.

It is plainly evident to anyone acquainted with the situation that our work has been productive of much improved sentiment in this State, and the failure of the Legislature to reflect the sentiment thus created is all the more urgent reason for our continuing the educational campaign, and if the condition of our treasury will permit I do not think any object is more worthy of an appropriation than this.

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

Mr. Cooke, of Rhode Island, objected and claimed that rules could not be suspended unless by unanimous consent.

The Chair ruled that the Assembly could suspend its rules by a majority vote.

Mr. Cooke appealed from the decision of the Chair. The Chair was sustained by vote.

Motion to suspend the rules then prevailed.

Application for re-instatement as an amateur from Fred. W. Van Sicklen, N. Y., received and granted on the strength of a statement said to have been made by him, that he had not raced for seven years.

Refused.

Rules resumed.

The case of F. W. Van Sicklen was again brought up to allow Mr. Raymond to ask a question of Mr. S. Wallis Merrihew, official handicapper of the N. C. A.

Mr. Raymond asked Mr. Merrihew if he had seen Mr. Van Sicklen in a race, within a short time.

Mr. Merrihew stated that Mr. Van Sicklen had raced for cash at Brooklyn, in the summer of 1894.

The vote to reinstate Mr. Van Sicklen was reconsidered and his petition for re-instatement was rejected.

A great many applications were received for re-instatement from persons who had raced for cash. All such were rejected.

Mr. Reed, of Ohio, announced that the Ohio Division stood ready to loan the League any sum of money from $1,000 to $1,500, if they should need it. Offer received with thanks.

Mr. Van Nort moved that a committee of three be appointed to estimate the receipts and expenditures of the League for the coming year. Carried.

Auditing Committee appointed.

Mr. Holmes of New Jersey, announced that a Bill was now before the Legislature of New Jersey, which was prejudicial to the interests of highway improvement in that State. He asked that a Committee be appointed to draw up a protest for the Assembly and forward same to the Legislature of that State. Carried.

Morrison, of Wisconsin, and Potter, of New York, appointed. Same Committee authorized to send memorial to New York Legislature.

Suit of Miller & Flynn, against the League for paper furnished to Good Roads was referred to Executive Committee with power to employ counsel to defend it.

RHODE ISLAND.

Geo. L. Cooke, Leo Kaufman.

Meeting called to order at 10.20 A.M. by Vice-President A. C. Willison.

Mr. Elliott moved that the Assembly go into a Committee of the Whole to consider the Bulletin question.

The Committee of the Whole reported progress and asked permission to sit again.

Letter from W. L. Pinney in re, the case of W. E. Rhodes, a professional, was referred to Racing Board.

Mr. Cooke, of Rhode Island, rose to a question of privilege. He claimed that in suspending the rules at the last meeting of the Assembly, the body did an illegal act inasmuch as Cushing's Manual forbids a body to suspend a rule except by general consent. All the re-instatements voted during this illegal suspension of the rules, he claimed to be null and void.

Mr. Willison, from the Chair, stated that the rules were suspended by a majority vote. The Chair decided that this could be done. The decision was appealed from, and the Chair was sustained. In thus sustaining the Chair, the Assembly made a rule for itself which makes the act legal.

Mr. Cooke appealed from the decision of the Chair.

Chair sustained 9 to 4.

Letter received from the National Equal Rights Council of Washington, D. C. Read and placed on file.

Assembly went into Committee of the Whole.

Adjourned at 12.30 P.M.

Meeting called to order at 4 o'clock.

On motion Mr. Perkins seconded by Mr. Fourdrinier, the following vote was passed:—

Voted that the thanks of the L. A. W. are due to the Bearings Publishing Co. for what it has done in the interest of the League of American Wheelmen during the past year. The Company has furnished, free of cost, a good, well edited and newsy official organ that has been creditable to the publishers and to the League. The paper has been the source of considerable income to the League and the money has gone a long way towards the payment of past indebtedness and current expenses. In this vote, the League desires to place itself on record as appreciating the efforts in its behalf of the Bearings Publishing Co. and it is ordered that this vote be spread upon the records and a copy be forwarded to the Company.

Passed unanimously.

The Chair read a letter from Bearings Publishing Co. urging the payment by the League of $2288.88 paid for postage on the BULLETIN at a time when it was denied admission at second class rates.

Mr. Potter moved that it be the sense of the Assembly that since the Bearings Publishing Co. published the paper in furthering the work of the League, that the Executive Committee be authorized to make every effort to secure a restoration of the money from the Postal Department and that the Bearings Publishing Co. be asked to request a return from the P. O. Department, as a first step in the proceedings.

Assembly went into a Committee of the Whole.

RACING BOARD.

President Willison has appointed on the Racing Board Messrs. Douglas W. Robert, 2922 Washington Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., and Frederick Gerlach, Montauk Block, Chicago, Ill.

Members of the board have had assigned them the following territory:

District A.—Mr. Robinson, in charge of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

District B.—Mr. Gideon, in charge of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, Virginia, North and South Carolina.

District C.—Mr. Croninger, in charge of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida.

District D.—Mr. Gerlach, in charge of Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan, Dakota, Nebraska, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming.

District E.—Mr. Robert, in charge of Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico and Indian Territory.

NEW JERSEY.

The State Meet of this Division will take place at Trenton, Saturday, June 1st, under the auspices of the Mercer County Wheelmen. The program is varied and interesting, and particular interest will center in the races in the afternoon, which will rank as one of the best of the season. The one-half mile and one-mile State championships will be run off on this occasion.

This board would like to hear from race promoting clubs concerning the following State championships for which sanctions can be had: one-fourth mile, three-fourths mile, two mile and three miles.

County championships must receive sanctions from this board.

Asbury Park Wheelmen have received sanction for Monmouth County championship, one mile, for May 30th.

All State records to receive consideration by this board, must be submitted on the regular "Record Claim" sheet, and if accepted will be properly recorded.

Record blanks will be sent, on application. Am at all times pleased to hear from clubs and individuals on matters concerning this board. Keep in touch with us, and avoid mistakes by getting your information from the proper source.

Fraternally,

FRED J. KEER, Chairman.

NEWARK, April 27, 1895.

OFFICIAL TAILOR FOR MASSACHUSETTS.

I have this day appointed Leopold Morse & Co., of Boston, official tailors for the Massachusetts Division of the League of American Wheelmen for the present year.

To the above concern, all inquiries concerning, and all orders for, L. A. W. uniforms should be addressed.

STERLING ELLIOTT.

BOSTON, April 25, 1895.

(COMBINATION BLANK.)

Application for Membership in the L. A. W.*

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR: — Enclosed find the sum of TWO DOLLARS which I send in full payment of my initiation fee, one year's dues and subscription fee to the official publication of the L. A. W., under provisions of Articles III and VII of the Constitution. From the sum enclosed I authorize and direct you to pay to the publisher of said publication the regular subscription fee to League members and to enter my name as a subscriber. I certify that I am eligible to membership in the L. A. W. under the provisions of the Constitution and I refer to two League members (or three other reputable citizens) named below.

RENEWAL BLANK.

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.,
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR: — I enclose ONE DOLLAR for which please renew my membership and subscription to the L. A. W. publication for another year.

Number, ...

Name, ...

Street and No. or P. O. Box, ...

City, ...

State, ...

Division in which my home is and to which I should be attached. .....

Send Ticket to, ...

The L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS AND ALL OTHER MAIL MATTER WILL GO TO THE ADDRESS AS GIVEN ABOVE, and the name of no member will be put regularly on the list till his renewal with latest address is received.

Fill out above blank, inclose necessary money, and send to Secretary Don't send soiled bills. New bills are safer in the mails. Write very plainly, PRINTING PREFERRED. Stamps of a denomination above 2 cents will not be received. If you live in one state and have your mail sent to another, fill out the blank so that you may be located with the division in which your home is and your mail matter be sent as you wish. Ticket holders, 25 cents; with name stamped, 50 cents. If you want either of these write "25" or "50" at left of word Number. This brief form of blank is used to enable applicants for membership to follow the requirements of the League Constitution, which provides [Articles III and VII] for the payment in advance of one year's dues, with initiation fee and subscription fee to the official organ. Applicants or members using this blank will regularly receive all official news and announcements and will be subject to no further charge or assessment for any purpose whatever.

L. A. W. Veteran Bar.

The veteran bar which has been adopted by the L. A. W. to be worn by the veterans of the organization, can be worn above the League badge, or as an individual pin.

Any member who has been connected with the L. A. W. for ten consecutive years is entitled to wear the bar.

Members holding numbers between 100 and 1656 are entitled to wear the bar at this date.

The bar is of gold with the word "Veteran" in enamel. Each bar must have the owner's name engraved on the back. All orders must be sent to the Secretary accompanied by the price of bar, $2.50.

We can supply any style or form of badge with bar. The standard badge retails for $3.00, and will be sent attached to bar if this sum is added to remittance.

SIXTY DAYS ONLY.

Members are notified that the renewal season is cut down to sixty days. In previous years, renewals were received to July 1st. This year the season ends JUNE 1st. Please remember.

ADDITIONAL BLANKS.

Application or Renewal Blanks may be had of the Secretary on application.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to Monday preceding this date, and published in accordance with Article III of the constitution.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published and to report errors and omissions to the secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at noon on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

TRADE NOTES

THE Pope Mfg. Co. has decided to offer a Mason & Hamlin upright grand piano to the bicycle club of the United States whose member, mounted on a Columbia bicycle and Columbia single-tube tires, shall between the 1st of May and the 1st of October make the best time for the distance in a 25-mile road race in this country.

The rules governing this contest will be those of the Century Road Club for such events, and the awarding of the prize will be subject to the decision of the Road Records Committee of that organization.

The piano is the finest upright made by the Mason & Hamlin Co., catalogue price $925, and similar instruments can be seen at their warerooms.

Full particulars will be furnished in a circular now in preparation.

SOME MISTAKES CORRECTED.

The entire uselessness of divisions with a disposition to work losing sixty cents of every dollar they gain for the "cause" has become so apparent that further acquiesence to the waste is impossible for any length of time.—Cycling Life.

This is very bad arithmetic. The division gains $1.75 and pays out forty cents of it. If forty cents is sixty per cent. of $1.75 we have been misled all our life and our mathematics are all astray.

SOMEONE writes to a contemporary from California and makes the following claims: "This State has done more for the racing interests of America than any other State in the Union. The sanctioning clause in the L. A. W. rules, as applied to American racing, was first suggested to the Racing Board by a cyclist here, as also the most radical and advanced change relating to the definition of a novice." Wonder if the writer knows that the sanctioning clause was in the rules as far back as 1883?

QUERIES AND ANSWERS

W. W. R., Philadelphia, asks:

1. A wheel paper said a certain professor had calculated there was a correct angle at which front forks should be "raked." If so, what is it?

Answer: We don't know anything about the professor, but would say that the exact angle at which a steering head should stand is of much less consequence than the location of it. Theoretically, a line drawn through the center of the steering head should strike the ground at a point exactly under the center of the front axle. Such a machine, however, would not run "hands off" as well as one in which the centre line came to the ground in front of the front axle. A machine will run well if the centre line strikes the ground about three inches in front of the front axle. The angle of steering head may be made so as to look well from the designer's standpoint, and will not, within certain limits, effect the steering if attention is paid to the location of the head, fore and aft, with relation to the front wheel.

2. Does angle of brace-rod from saddle to crank axle influence the ease of propulsion of wheel?

Answer: Your question evidently means: does the relative position of saddle and pedals affect the amount of power required to propel? Of course the angle of the central tube has nothing to do with the present question. The relative position of saddle, handles and pedals has much to do with comfort and speed. All riders do not require the same adjustment. The best average is to have front end of saddle directly over crank shaft, and adjust handles to allow of sitting erect; a stooping position is not excusable except where extreme speed is attempted.

4. From your experience, or that of others, which tire is punctured the oftener, the front or rear?

Answer: We have no data which is of use, but would be glad to hear from those who have. Your other question relates to a device of which we have no personal knowledge.

W. S. B., Buffalo:

Don't blame the secretary; he has a lot on his hands. Send complaints here; we like 'em.

Customer—"You sell cracked eggs at half price, do you not?"

Clerk—"Yes'm; we always make a 50 per cent. reduction on cracked goods. Anything else to-day?"

'Yes; you may give me a dollar's worth of cracked wheat, and here's your fifty cents."—Exchange.

This CUSTOMER wasn't cracked, anyhow.

Why Not the Old Women?

The Good Roads League should lose no time in enlisting the services of the new woman in their cause. As a bicycle rider she should be an enthusiastic member of the league and her influence might even win over the recalcitrant farmer.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Concerning "Quitters."

Cosmos defines a good student as follows: "A good student is known by three things: He can begin to study when he doesn't like it; he can study when he would rather quit, and he can quit when he ought to quit." And an editor never gets a chance to quit.

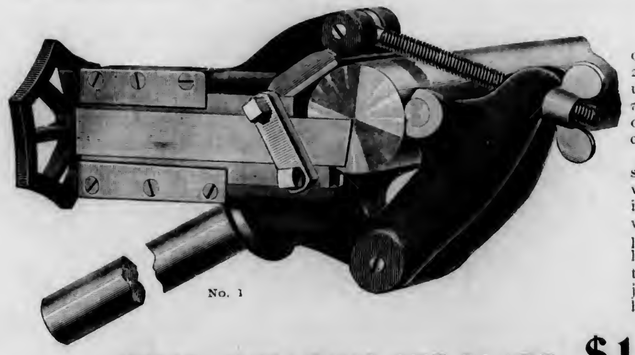
THEY HAVE BEEN STANDARD GOODS FOR NEARLY TEN YEARS.

Elliott Cutting-Off Tools.

PRICE, WITH TWO BLADES, $5.00.

Extra Blades, $\frac{1}{16}$ inch thick, 15 cents each.

No. 2



For Cutting Round Iron or Steel to any Length, in any Lathe.

Independently of Tool-Post or Slide-Rest.

Cuts all sizes from $\frac{3}{16}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ inch in diameter. Rods of any length can be cut at any distance from the lathe-chuck. For instance, pieces may be cut from the end of a twenty-foot rod in any short lathe, whether it has hollow spindle or not. A piece of one-half inch machinery steel may be cut entirely off in about twenty seconds, and that operation repeated indefinitely without danger of breaking the cutter.

This tool has been found very useful even in shops having cutting-off machines, because it is always ready, and requires no adjustment for different sizes of stock, except the turning up of a single thumb-nut; neither is any special skill required to operate it.

No. 1.

For cutting off round Iron or Steel of any size, from $\frac{3}{16}$ to 2 inches in diameter. May be used with any lathe, or even without a lathe, as it can be operated like an ordinary pipe cutter.

The manner of holding the stock to be cut is the same as with small tool, but the cutter is fed in by a screw and hand wheel, while the machine is prevented from turning by the handle, which may rest against the lathe-bed or any fixed object, or may be held in the hand.

Boom!

It seems as though every Bicycle rider in the United States and Canada wanted a "Standard" and "wanted it awful quick." The immediate and enormous popularity of this device is one of the surprising facts of these dull times. It is entirely within the limits of a conservative statement to say that more "Standard" Cyclometers have been ordered in the last two weeks than have been heretofore sold by all other American manufacturers combined, in all the years that Cyclometers have been made!

Two-Thirds Size.

Cyclometer.

And "for most excellent reasons, i' faith." First, it is indisputably the best; second, it is far-and-away the cheapest—both in the respect of the price itself, and in consideration of the relation of the quality to the price; third, it is backed by a responsible guaranty that it will stand continuous wear throughout the life of its buyer, and any injury in a mishap to the bicycle will be repaired without charge.

The price? Not $5.00 (though it is worth more), nor $3.50 (though it would be cheap at more), but $2.00—Two dollars! Considering the satisfaction it will give you, it's like finding money!

THE LEAGUE MEMBER.

THOSE of us who devote much time and attention to the L. A. W. are too apt to regard the League member as such, apart from his regular functions as a citizen.

The BULLETIN claims the credit of having discovered that the average member, to be more explicit we will say fully ninety-nine per cent. of the members, have other business, and that with them the condition of being one of us is much the same as being a member of the Republican or of the Democratic party.

To be sure it isn't much of a credit to belong to either of the two great political parties just now, and barring one's self respect it doesn't cost anything.

It sometimes is not an easy matter for a man to explain just why he is a Republican, a Democrat, a Methodist, or a Presbyterian, but he can always tell you why he is a League member, though there may be whole hours of his life when the L. A. W. or anything that belongs to it doesn't enter his mind.

We all read, though few people read very much. Every man reads what he himself wrote, and always takes an interest in it.

The average contributor to the average publication firmly believes that the article which he sent was far more important than was the matter which crowded it out.

This is natural and we do not condemn the tendency.

It may often happen that the contributor is more competent to judge than is the editor, but it should not be forgotten that they occupy entirely different places: the one is responsible for results, the other is not.

"What shall we print?" was asked on this page some weeks ago, and we have to thank our readers for over two hundred answers.

These letters, while they differ in detail are al most unanimous as to a general plan, and they tend to confirm us in the above statement as to our discovery.

The riding of a bicycle, or belonging to this organization, does not use up any considerable part of the time or attention of the common every-day member.

We cannot at this time go into an analysis of all the opinions which have been expressed, but hereby promise to be guided by the best light obtained from the composite opinion of "the people," giving special attention to the wishes of the majority without forgetting to do all possible toward appeasing the hunger of even the smallest minority.

ELECTRICITY AS A TONIC.

AN old lady living near Boston, told her druggist that she would not need to patronize him so much now as she had discovered a better means of improving her health.

Said she, "I had often heard of the great advantages to be gained by the use of electricity but never until lately realized them. For the last few days I have ridden to Waltham and back each morning on the electric cars, and I feel ever so much better."

This incident we considered amusing enough to warrant its printing, but beyond that there is a moral which contains much food for thought.

People stay indoors too much. This is especially true of ladies who have reached middle life and are on the short end of it, and the last part of many lives is materially shortened by this very indoor inactivity.

Since the first of April we have been sending the following "stock" letter to those who have applied to us for trade prices:

"DEAR SIR: We have your favor of recent date, requesting catalogue, which has been mailed you under separate cover, and terms to dealers. We regret that we cannot quote you our net prices. We will give you our reasons. We cannot fill orders promptly for the customers we now have. We are over 500 wheels behind, and although we are shipping from 500 to 75 wheels per day, we cannot supply our agents, who want more wheels than we can possibly make.

Our buyer has just returned from a visit to the stock factories, where he has purchased stock for 1000 or 2000 wheels, which we will add to our present output, providing we get it. It has been promised us, but promises do not fill orders. If we get this tubing, etc., we will make more bicycles. If we do not, we will be obliged to cancel some of the orders we now have. We have, therefore, decided to accept no more new business until we are caught up. Our customers who contracted early in the season, and who have placed orders with us, are entitled to first consideration and must be taken care of. A little later on we might be able to talk to you, but at the present it would only be an injustice to our agents to quote prices and accept orders under these conditions. Another year we hope to be able to make all the wheels our friends want."

To all those who have been favored with this communication, we wish to say: Our policy is to take care of our customers who favor us with early contracts. We want you to keep your business eye on the goods we produce; we are growing and intend to build bicycles enough for our friends. Let us hear from you early next year; we may be able to convince you that our line is a profitable one to handle.

Business Clippers are the Stuff

That ride to Waltham and return each morning was a good thing for the old lady. Whether the car was hauled by electricity or a pair of mules wouldn't have made any actual difference except as it affected her mind.

The mind, however, has a great influence on the physical health.

The morning ride taken on a bicycle is still better, and perhaps the curative effects of electricity may even then be brought into play. Bicycles are oiled with "electric oil," the nickel is polished with "electric polish," and somewhere we have heard of the "Electric Bicycle."

Ride a bicycle if you can.

Ride in a wagon if you haven't a wheel.

Ride in the electric car if you haven't a wagon.

Ride every day on something.

Ride in the open air.

Walking is good too,

But it's hard work.

The mind is more pleasantly effected when you ride a bicycle.

And as hereinbefore mentioned the mind controls the body.

"As a man thinketh, so is he."

NOT LIKE OTHERS.

Several correspondents have mentioned that the BULLETIN is not like other papers.

No one has openly complained of this, while many have expressed satisfaction.

The BULLETIN will be much improved at no distant date, but no attempt will be made to have it resemble other papers. There are many journals devoted wholly or in part to cycling, each has its own peculiar style of doing and saying things.

There is no law about this.

Each publisher may do as he pleases, so long as he keeps within the prescribed limits.

A prominent theatrical manager was once criticised for staging a certain play. He said, "The only critic I fear is the man in the box office."

That man was a philosopher.

There are but two people who have any right to criticise a paper, one is the subscriber who pays money for it; the other is the advertiser who pays money for space in it.

Both of those people will be heard in this office as often as they choose to speak.

WOULD you be willing to live on free lunch if the lunch man would stand it?

MARK YOUR BICYCLE.

This is an important matter.

Don't imagine that the name on it will simply help you to find it when lost. Of course, that is important, but did it ever occur to you that a conspicuous name somewhere on the frame of your machine may prevent its being stolen?

A thief is not likely to take a wheel that could be easily identified.

One of our correspondents describes a plan for etching the name on the frame. It may also be done upon the handle bar.

Some prefer to paint the name on one of the enameled tubes. Still others prefer a name plate. Any plan of marking is better than to allow it to go unmarked.

The manufacturer's number is important, but the figures are necessarily small. The most useful mark is one which may be read without attracting the attention of the person who has possession of the wheel.

CHIEF CONSUL "RITTER."

MR. Potter, of New York, recently came to Boston for the purpose of lecturing on the subject of roads before the students of the engineering class at the Institute of Technology.

In an unguarded moment, he invited the two editors of this paper to call at the Parker House, at six o'clock and dine with him.

I looked at Bassett, a look which was reciprocated, and after satisfying ourselves that we were not dreaming, we assured the hustling New Yorker that he could count on us; an assurance, by the way, which was hardly necessary.

Promptly at six, we wandered into the hotel office and inquired at the desk for Mr. Potter.

The clerk told us that no such man was on his books.

After examining the calendar and ascertaining that it was later than the first of April, we asked if such a guest had been there and gone. "Not for at least a week" came from the man with the proverbial diamond.

We were getting hungry and the possibility of Potter's having escaped began to loom up before us, alongside of the horrible thought that possibly we might have to pay for our own dinners.

We sat down and waited and hungered. Presently the secretary seemed inspired with a new inspiration.

"He may be at Young's Hotel and have made a mistake in telling us."

For a moment we were filled with hope; a rather intangible filling, but yet we were filled.

Anxiously, we approached the desk at Young's and sadly we turned away. The facetious clerk said he was familiar with the contents of the hotel and he felt sure that the famous Chief Consul was not in it.

Little did he know how his light treatment of the matter cut into our hearts like a knife.

We returned to Parker's. Meanwhile, the large marble clock had not been idle; it was now half past six.

Again, we looked at each other, and exchanged such words of consolation as could come from two wholly unoccupied men. The next inspiration was mine.

Perhaps he was at the Adams House. New York people had been known to "put up" there when they had no baggage.

Should we call? but no, it was three blocks, and we were growing weaker every minute.

A happy thought! I would telephone, while Abbot should keep his lonely watch over the front door.

"Hello! is that the Adams House?"

It was.

But the same old story; said the house was full and never a Potter in it.

As I thoughtfully counted out fifteen cents to the telephone girl, I realized that I was just so much farther from a square meal.

Returning to the associate editor, I found him as I had left him, resolutely watching the main entrance and listening with well feigned indifference to a man who was giving him a sure cure for rheumatism.

It was only when I got between him and the door that our eyes met. There was an absence of enthusiasm which caused even the man with the rheumatic treatment to move silently away. We got a directory and counted up the number of hotels in the city. We found that there were a hundred and twenty, and, by a little mental arithmetic, we found that it would cost to telephone them, at the rate of fifteen cents each, the startling sum of eighteen dollars.

Need I say that we banished the idea.

Meanwhile, we just sat and hungered.

Finally, just as our last ray of hope was oozing away, it occured to us to go over to police headquarters, and give a description of the man for whom we were, oh! so anxiously, looking.

The question was put and carried. We started toward the door and—"Merciful Heavens"—it was Potter whom we met just coming in.

He apologized for being late; we stated our case. The clerk was censured; and, in turn, asked Potter to point out his signature, which he did, with some show of indignation, "that these young people should have been so grossly misinformed."

Potter pointed triumphantly at the name on the register, and at the same time pulled from his pocket the key to number 124.

The four of us looked at each other in a spirit which was anything but mutual admiration. Then the clerk turned to his "room board" and produced the little slip which corresponded with the registered name. It read "Isaac B. Ritter."

At the clerk's request, we admitted that he had acted in good faith.

Then he casually remarked that people who couldn't write their own names any too plainly ought not to blame strangers for inferior guesswork.

AN IMPROVISED STAND.

Here is a pointer which will interest any wheelman who has occasion to handle his machine except to ride on it. It may not be new, but I struck the scheme one day when trying to put in my front wheel.

Turn a chair down on its back, turn your machine upside down, place the head between the legs with the handle bar under the legs. Then pull the wheel back until the saddle passes over the edge of the chair seat and rest the upper brace on the edge of seat. The weight of the rear part of the machine will tip the bicycle back so that the handles will come up against the chair legs, holding it firmly in place, and the back and hind legs of chair will form a perfect base for the whole affair. You can then monkey with any part of the machine except the head and handle bar.

WHAT IS DUE THE BICYCLE?

BY HON. T. M. BLACKSTOCK.

Extract from an address delivered at a recent meeting of the business men and farmers of Racine County, Wisconsin.

IT is not, then, a higher road tax, more money; no, not even more work that is needed: but greater intelligence, better methods, and more good, sound, common "horse sense" exercised, in carefully planning, directing and doing the work. And not until there is a new leaf turned over, a new beginning made, better plans and methods adopted and carried out, in an honest, intelligent, economical and practical way, need we expect to have, nor will we have any great improvement in our town roads, public highways, nor in the streets and alleys of cities and villages, no matter how much money we spend, or work we do on them.

I have said that there appear to be a few farmers here and there, who are not in accord with this move, but are inclined to discourage, oppose, and work against it. Now to my way of thinking, and as I see and look at it carefully from the standpoint of a farmer, this really seems strange, and, as before stated, there does not appear to my mind to be any good, valid reason, not even a plausible excuse, to base this feeling of prejudice and opposition on.

All this, however, will, in due course of time, gradually and surely die out, pass silently away, be entirely forgotten, and those who are now against us working earnestly, heartily, and with great enthusiasm, helping along the good work of building and having far better roads and for less money than our poor roads have been and still are costing us.

The bicycle seems to be the principal cause, and is, I think, at the bottom of this whole trouble. I am not myself a bicycle rider, nor an enthusiastic admirer of bicycles or bicycle riding; am in no way connected with or interested directly or indirectly in making, selling, or running these so-called wheels. Neither am I in any way nor in the least bit prejudiced against them, nor have I any reason or desire to find fault with or say an unkind word about them. A young man, young woman, or any one, no matter who, has precisely the same right to buy a wheel and ride it, that I have to buy a horse, mule or donkey and ride him under a side-saddle, or drive him in a two-wheeled gig; and, also, just as much right to the use of the street and public highway as I have, and this right must, should, and will be accorded them fully and by common consent as well as by law.

Whether we want it or not, whether we like it or not, is no longer of any consequence, nor will it make much, if any difference. The bycicle has come to stay, and the bicycle rider we not only have with us now, but like the poor spoken of in the New Testament, we will always have them with us. We ought to, and in time we will, see this matter in a different light, look at it more reasonably and sensibly than many of us seem now willing to do, and soon everybody will heartily and cheerfully accord to those who own and ride bicycles the same rights and privileges to the use of the streets and public highways that those have who own, ride or drive, or in any way use horses, mules, dogs, or oxen.

And let me say right here, and it can be said not only with truth, but also to the everlasting credit and honor of the farmers of our State as a class, that very many, indeed, I think a large majority of those who own and ride bicycles to and from their places of business or employment in our cities, are the sons and daughters of farmers. They are neither dudes nor dudesses, but instead and in reality, the active, intelligent, energetic, ambitious, enterprising young men and women, born and brought up on farms, sent to the little red school-house for a few winters, then to the State normal or city high school, in some cases to the University at Madison, and when through with this course and in full possession of this fine outfit and splendid equipment, they do not care, nor can they very well go back to the old homestead to settle down and stay, because they are neither needed nor wanted there, and so it comes to pass, in the natural course of events, that the young man or woman, as the case may be, is obliged to go to some city or centre of business, find employment of some kind, in order to make a living, taking up the burdens, cares and real work of life, learning by experience from day to day that the cross is not made to fit the back, but the back must be strengthened to bear the cross, no matter how heavy it may be. And they also soon learn that what their mother used to read to them out of the New Testament about the wind being tempered to the shorn lamb is not quite correct; but find sometimes by sad experience that the lamb, whether old or young, black or white, shorn or unshorn, leaving the little farm and going into the big city must stand up and take the wind just as it comes, no matter how hard it blows nor how bitter cold it may be.

These young men and women find places in banks, stores, and offices, and a great many of them are teachers in the city and country public schools. They are usually on the start and as new beginners, in ninety-nine cases out of every one hundred, poor, and obliged, at first, to arrange for board and lodging with some family living miles away from the center of the city or the country school house, where most of them find employment. And this work which they are doing, although it seems to most people to be very easy, is in reality, in many cases, hard, tiresome, weary, and wearing on both mind and body.

These are, no doubt, in most cases, the reasons why so many of them ride a bicycle. They argue, and I presume correctly, that there is not only real pleasure and enjoyment, but actual pecuniary profit in using it. Indeed, many of them go a good deal farther than this even, and claim that the exercise purifies, expands and strengthens the lungs; makes the heart light and the brain more active, the arms and limbs strong, and all the organs of the body healthy. And although, it probably does surprise many of you to hear me state, it is a fact all the same, that very many, indeed I may safely say, a majority of those who use bicycles in the cities are the sons and daughters of the farmers; bone of their bone, flesh of their flesh, their children, a revised edition, a new copy of their own sweet selves.

But let us have patience, forbearance, and use all "sweet reasonableness" toward the bicycle rider. There will come a change in the nature of things, in the course of time, and from time to time these old worn out wheels will, one by one, be laid away in the garret or woodshed. In their place will come the swing cradle and baby wagon.

Later on, the family carriage, fine horses and well-dressed coachman. And when this change takes place as in many cases it does, and your wealthy and well-to-do sons and daughters in the great city come into the full possession and enjoyment of all these good things, you, my dear farmer, will probably have been laid away in your little grave under the sweet, green grass and the golden autumn leaves, gently sleeping the peaceful sleep that knows no waking.

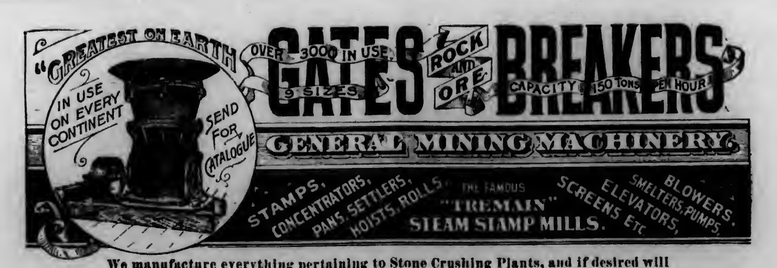
But if it were possible for you to rise up and come forth for an hour some pleasant afternoon and sit on the top of the little, low, white, picket fence looking out on one of these fine, hard, smooth roads we are going to build, you would look in vain to see any of your grand-children go by on a bicycle, because not many of those who have been born and brought up by wealthy parents in our large cities, and sent over to Europe to get gilded over and polished up, come back with enough physical strength left in their weak bodies to mount a high wheel or even a "low safety."

And now my good friend and brother farmer, you should give up and get entirely rid of this foolish idea, this wrong impression that a few of you have got in your minds, in imagining that the laying out, opening up and doing the work on your town roads is going to be interfered with in any way or taken from under your own control and management.

Nothing of this kind is desired, intended, or will in any way be attempted by the good roads' league, the members thereof, nor any one else. But when it comes to the question of planning for, laying out, and the building of the State and county roads, the great public highway, running the length and breadth of the State, the work, must, of course, be let by contract to the lowest, responsible bidder, to be done under the direction and supervision of State or State and county authority, and every dollar's worth of taxable property in the State should, and no doubt will, be assessed to pay for the cost of building these roads and keeping them in good order. Surely, no progressive farmer can reasonably complain of, or find any fault with this proposition, and when the time comes to do this work, I do not believe that any respectable number of them will object."

We heartily commend the good words spoken by Mr. Blackstock, but wish to "call" him on his biblical knowledge. The "Shorn Lamb" quotation is not in the New Testament nor in the Old Testament either. [ED.



RUM and tobacco are not entitled to very much praise on the score of helping humanity, but bad roads really cost the people more money.

A VALUABLE PRECEDENT.

Several years ago Isaac Beeker, of this place, who had a fine farm several miles from town, died, leaving an only son, who likewise had an only son. In his will was a codicil setting aside a sum sufficient to build a good macadamized road from his farm to town, provided his son dies "without issue." As the grandson died some time ago, and it is not likely he will have any brothers or sisters, it is probable that a pike costing $5,000 or more will in time be built by the bequest of one who acted practically on the matter of "good roads" even before the L. A. W. had succeeded in agitating the country on the subject. What better suggestion could the rich members of the L. A. W. act on than the example of this man who was but a Lancaster County farmer.

TRAVEL WHILE YOU ARE YOUNG.

BY S. W. MATTESON, JR.

NO one can fully appreciate the delights of wheeling until he has experienced it under favorable circumstances, with fair weather, fine roads and an up-to-date mount. Only five years ago, fifty pounds was light weight for a road machine; to-day, twenty-three pounds is the average. Even then the pneumatic tire had scarcely been dreamed of; to-day there is no other.

Some say that the interest in cycling, now so manifest in St. Paul, is but a fad and doomed to short life, as was roller skating. In this they are in error, for all history does not record another such royal sport; sport at once so healthful, so delightful and so practicable. The wheel, with reasonable care, is always ready and anxious to be off; it never wearies and needs no attention when not in use, and no nourishment other than a few drops of oil every three or five hundred miles.

Did some one question the feasibility of a long tour for a summer vacation? He can never have given it a fair trial, and should he desire to do so, no better route could be taken than one followed by a friend and myself, during August, September, October, and November of 1894. Ours was a "Personally Conducted Tour through Brightest America by Wheel and Boat," among the principal resorts and cities of the country. Starting from St. Paul, we visited all places of interest from Duluth to the "Soo"—Collingwood, Niagara Falls, Toronto and Quebec; then back to Montreal, down to Saranac Inn, Saratoga Springs, New York City, Newport, Boston, Springfield, Asbury Park, Philadelphia, Washington, Gettysburg, Luray caverns, Natural Bridge, White Sulphur Springs, Chicago and Decorah, Iowa, all for $201, which was cheaper than living at home. On this and other tours, we have crossed the Rockies, the Belt, Highwood, Moccasin, Adirondack, Blue Ridge, Allegheny and other mountain ranges without serious difficulty, and the cactus of the plains, the sand burs of Wisconsin, the thorn hedges of Indiana and the stony pikes of Virginia failed to steal our "wind" for more than a moment, so easily "were our pneumatics repaired."

In the writer's experience, there are four classes of wet country roads:

First—Jersey sand, over which wheelmen find their very best riding, just after a heavy shower.

Second—Kentucky blue mud, so slippery that one has but to block his wheels and slide down grade, walking and pushing elsewhere.

Third—Virginia red clay, so sticky that one's wheel refuses to be pushed, and must be shouldered, while one's shoes become almost inseparable from the earth.

Fourth—Montana adobe, stuck in which one has no choice other than to stand in his tracks and await the dawn of a brighter day.

Such experiences may be considered as taking the bitter with the sweet, but no long tour is complete without them, and in after years, these often prove the most interesting to recall, and, with a due sense of the ludicrous, may, at the very time, be made quite as enjoyable as they might otherwise be disagreeable.

There is no better way of seeing the country than by wheeling through, and no such way of learning the traits of the people in the different sections, as by meeting them in their own home life. While travelling on trains and over the old beaten paths, you meet only with tourists and people like yourself, out of their ordinary sphere, whereas in wheeling, you stop with the farmers, at boarding-houses, hotels, or wherever else it may be most convenient. Thus, in Lower Canada, when fortunate enough to meet a native who could speak the English language, on learning that we were from St. Paul, he would very likely break forth from a moment's deep thought with some such query as this: "St. Paul—why—a that's in Minneapolis, ain't it?" Or in the backwoods of Virginia, where the curious whites seldom venture beyond the horizon as seen from their hilly homes, your arrival will be heralded all up and down the "hollo," and you will be greeted with such honest expressions as "Well, I do declar', I never did see no bicycle befor'!" Many of these people can read while but few can write, and, though never having seen a bicycle, yet readily identified mine and even guessed the purpose of the cyclometer. No part of the wheel or my person escaped their critical inspection, and one man of about thirty years, suddenly thrust his head before me, exclaiming: "What kind of teeth is them you-all got, with gold in?" People often speak of the "wild and woolly West," which may be truly expressive, but if you wish to visit a place more secluded and exclusive than the isles of the sea, and to mingle with a strange people, known only to one another, many a "hollo" less than one hundred miles from our nation's capital will serve you far better than the most secluded hut of the Rocky Mountains.

Yes, wheeling is the only way to see the country, and the time to see it is when one is young and full of vim. Besides, if one travels at 25 and dies at 60, he has 35 years' benefit of the trip, whereas, if he travels at 50, he has but 10 years. The two essentials to security and pleasure are: a good and sufficient accident policy, and the best wheel in the market.

To ascertain which is the best wheel on the market, the reader should consult the advertising pages of the BULLETIN. [ED.

SHOULD THE WHEELMEN PAY TOLL?

JUSTICE Dean's opinion reversing Berks county in the case of Geiger against the Perkiomen and Reading Turnpike Road, appellant, is one of considerable interest to bicyclers. Geiger was compelled to pay toll at one of the gates of the turnpike company, the gate-keeper demanding from him six cents for a distance of five miles.

He paid the money under protest, and suit followed in which it was contended that there was no method of computation to be found in the law, to justify a turnpike company in collecting toll from wheelmen. The lower court gave judgment for Geiger, the wheelman, but the Supreme Court holds that a bicycle is as much a two-wheeled carriage as a sulky drawn by a horse, and that, as the law makes a turnpike company liable to bicycles, as to others who use a turnpike, for failure to keep a road in a reasonably good condition, it is therefore natural that bicycles should contribute toward the expense of maintaining such road in good repair. The charge of six cents for five miles was also held not to be excessive.

With all due respect for this legal opinion, which for the present seems to settle the question in Pennsylvania, it is proper for the BULLETIN to present the following reasons for questioning the the permanence of this ruling, as applied to the country at large.

In the first place, it is not true that wheelmen, having the modern style of equipment, need improved roads one-tenth as much as such roads are needed by persons using other vehicles.

The wheelman is also a citizen, and in many cases owns horses and wagons. Whenever the wheelman, in his ordinary capacity as a business man or farmer, uses the toll road, he pays for it as he should, because the feet of his horses and the tires of his wagon injure the road very materially, especially if he uses narrow tires.

The toll road is a relic of a condition of things which no longer exists, and in a few years at the most, the toll road will be unknown.

But so long as a toll gate has a legal status, it will be proper to collect toll from those persons, who, in using the road, make its condition worse or tend in that direction. Horses and wagons do injure any road to some extent, but bicycles never.

It is not necessary to submit proof, to show that all roads are benefited by the passage of bicycles; it is a well-known fact.

If all vehicles in passing over the road affected it as the bicycle does, repairing, even on a dirt road, would be unnecessary.

Of course, the wheelman is interested in having the road kept up, but so is the pedestrian, and if the bicycle is to pay toll, let it be on a par with that paid by the man who walks, for the one injures the road as much as the other and no more.

THE pneumatic safety appreciates a good road, but the farmer's wagon absolutely needs it.

RULINGS OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

MESSRS. GEO. A. PERKINS AND A. CRESSY MORRISON, Vice-Presidents L. A. W.:

Gentlemen,—I have been requested to rule on Sections 2 and 6 of Art. III., constitution, by Sec.-Treas. Van Nort of Pennsylvania. Subject to your approval I shall rule as follows: —

ART. III., SEC. 2,—CONSTITUTION.

(1) No application or renewal shall be considered as received by the League until the names, fees, dues and information required shall have been received by the Secretary of the League as required by the section referred to.

(2) Division and local officers may receive applications and, acting as agents of the applicants, forward said applications to the Secretary of the League.

(3) Divisions may offer inducements to persons joining the League and may make the offer subject to any conditions they may think proper, unless said conditions shall be contrary to the constitution and by-laws of the League.

ART. III., SEC. 6,—CONSTITUTION.

League members are allowed sixty days' grace from the date of expiration of membership, and the finable period shall begin at the end of said sixty days.

ARCHIBALD C. WILLISON, President L. A. W.

I concur in above opinion.

GEORGE A. PERKINS, 1st Vice-President.

GEORGE D. GIDEON, Chairman.

KANSAS DIVISION.

The following Local Consuls have been appointed:

Hutchinson, O. K. Leigh. Wichita, M. H. Burt.

W. C. F. REICHENBACH, Sec.-Treas.

May 4, 1895.

BE PATIENT.

THE Secretary asks the indulgence of members who have renewed, for any delay that may occur in the issue of tickets. The business of the office for the month of April last passed was more than the combined business of April and May of 1894. The work of writing and issuing tickets is a week behindhand.

So much criticism of the expenses of the Secretary's office has been made, that he is trying to run as close to the wind as possible, and is yielding to a pressure from outside, although he feels that by so doing the service of the office is impaired. If members will have patience they will get tickets in good time.

NEW YORK STATE DIVISION.

Office of Secretary-Treasurer.

The treasurer of the New York State division begs to say a few words to the members of his division in behalf of an overworked official with whom he is intimately associated.

In the BULLETIN of April 12, 1895, the secretary of this division made the following plaintive appeal:—

"The 1893 edition of the 'Road Map' is exhausted. Immediately on receipt of the 1895 'Tour Book' from the printers I will supply all members who are entitled to receive it.

Members are kindly asked to refrain from writing for the 'Tour Book' and to accept this notification that the book will be mailed them as soon as possible. A compliance with this request will relieve the secretary from the burden of answering thirty or forty letters a day at this time when his hands are fully occupied with recruiting and renewing work."

Notwithstanding this request the secretary is being daily bombarded with letters from members who seem to think that either he is neglecting the duties of his office, has nothing else to do but to write long explanatory letters or desires to deprive each particular writer of the Tour Book.

The following letter, while it is a trifle more emphatic in language than some others, expresses the general sentiment fairly well.

———, MAY 1, 1895.

DEAR SIR:—

I have written you several times for an 1895 N. Y. State L. A. W. Tour Book and received a reply to the effect that they would be ready after 1st of May. Such is not the case, as I have seen and partly read through one of these books, sent to a member of my club, who has been in the League for one month and I have been in it for eight years. What I am going to say is that if you do not send me one of these books immediately I will withdraw from the League and cause many others to do likewise. I don't propose to be treated in this manner by the L. A. W. or any other organization. Since I have been in the League I have received one book; as for the BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS paper, they adorn my waste-paper basket, as they do not interest me one particle.

Trusting this letter will reach the negligent party, I am

Yours truly,

The secretary requests me to say to the writer of the above and similar letters and to the few remaining members of the division who have not written but are keeping up a thinking, that he is not "the negligent party"; that he has received two shipments of the "Tour Books" from the printers; that he immediately on receipt of these books mailed some 1200 to members whom he knew to be entitled to receive them.

To all old members who have renewed membership the secretary desires me, the treasurer, to say that he has not received a list of the renewing members from Secretary Bassett, probably owing to the rush in the office of the secretary of the League caused by the unprecedented growth of the L. A. W., which growth, by the way, is mainly in the New York State division. Until he does receive this list he can not mail books to renewing members. When he does receive this list he will promptly mail the books to all members who are entitled to receive them. As this list will contain from 1200 to 1500 names, members will kindly exercise a little patience, bearing in mind the fact that it will be a physical impossibility to mail the books to each one in a single day, owing to the limited force of this office, consisting as it does of the secretary-treasurer and our better half. Owing to the housecleaning epidemic now devastating the land this office is deprived of much valuable assistance from the last named.

To correct a seemingly unanimous opinion that the secretary's office is a flowery bed of ease the treasurer begs to state that the secretary, assisted by the above mentioned limited office force, has since the middle of March last addressed, stamped and filled nearly 12,000 envelopes, in most cases placing five circulars in each. All this in addition to the ordinary routine work of the office, which is not inconsiderable.

Applicants for membership do not become members until two weeks after the publication of their names in BULLETIN and are not entitled to the books until that time.

Members who have written regarding failure to receive the Tour Books will kindly accept this notification as a reply, and members who have it in mind to write are again asked to refrain, as the books will in all cases be mailed as soon as possible. After having licked some 12,000 postage stamps in the last month and a half, the secretary desires it to be understood that he is not stuck on his job although it might be considered a sweet one.

All of which is submitted to the fraternal consideration of the members of this division.

W. S. BULL, Secretary-Treasurer.

Minutes of meeting of the L. A. W. (Minn. Div.) held at Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 23rd, 1895.

Meeting called to order by Chief Consul Knowlton.

Members present: — M. L. Knowlton, C. C.; Dr. B. C. Cornwell, V. C.; Dr. F. E. Daigneau, Rep.; Wm. G. Gallien, Rep.; J. F. Robinson, Rep.; C. Bell, Racing Com.; A. B. Choate, Highway Imp.

In the absence of the Secretary and Treasurer, and on motion of Mr. Gallien, seconded by Mr. Robinson, Dr. Daigneau was elected temporary Secretary.

Report of the Secretary and Treasurer read and approved subject to correction as to the membership which the Chief Consul reports as being 214.

The communication of a manufacturer in regard to furnishing two bicycles for $100.00 to be used as prizes for securing new members was read but considered inexpedient.

Report of Chairman of Highway Improvement Com. read and on motion of Mr. Gallien, seconded by Mr. Bell, was referred back for correction.

Report of Chairman of Racing Com. will be put in writing and sent to the Sec.-Treas. (But never was. Sec.-Treas.)

On motion of M. Bell, seconded by Mr. Dr. Cornwell, the Chief Consul was instructed (and given full power in the matter) to have printed 500 road maps of Minn., but that they should not cost more than $150.00.

It was the sense of the meeting that these maps be furnished free to members of the Minn. Div. of the L. A. W. as a recruiting measure. And that they be furnished non-members at an advance of fifty cents above the membership and annual dues to the L. A. W., so that it would be cheaper to join the League than to buy the map.

In regard to the suggestion of the Sec.-Treas. to have the State divided into Sub-Divisions, it was the sense of the meeting that it be referred to the Division annual meeting, as it would require constitutional amendment to carry it out.

The place of meeting of the annual Division meeting was left open until Austin was heard from as no application had been made for it.

Committees.

Rights and Privileges.—C. F. West, Duluth; T. M. Slosson, Minneapolis; Chas. C. Clement, Winona.

Highway Improvements.—A. B. Choate, Minneapolis; F. L. Hoxie, St. Paul; D. S. Cummings, Waseca.

Racing.—Collie Bell, Minneapolis; T. L. Bird, St. Paul; J. I. Wilson, Winona.

Transportation.—E. S. Gregory, Winona; E. A. Blomquist, Minneapolis; W. G. Gallien, Waseca.

Membership. J. I. Willson, Winona; E. S. Hill, St. Cloud; T. Duncan, Duluth; Geo. G. Blymyer, Minneapolis; R. Klineman, Rochester; E. S. Macqowen, St. Paul.

On motion of Dr. Cornwell, seconded by Mr. Bell the meeting was adjourned.

F. E. DAIGNEAU, Sec. Pro. Tem.

KENTUCKY DIVISION MEET.

The annual meet of Kentucky Division, L. A. W., will be held at Maysville, Ky., on Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15. A grand entertainment is promised all who attend, and it is expected that the racing and other "festivities" will surpass those of all previous meets. The hundreds of miles of good roads leading toward Maysville will attract many touring parties and the attendance is sure to be large. Every member is expected to be present.

PENNSYLVANIA DIVISION.

I take it from Bro. Elliott's number of copies printed that it will be useless to ask to have Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 5 sent you, and the same with all numbers until you renew, so renew at once, and make him print a copy of the paper for you. Want the members in any town not now supplied with a Local Consul to report a good man at once. We want to get list out as soon as possible.

Our politicians, at Harrisburg, are making sport of road legislation. Would urge every member to write their Senator, their Representative, urging him to action in the matter, thus let him know he is being watched. While several good bills have already been defeated, the "Grigsby Bill" is still alive, and now let us up and give it a lift.

This issue of the BULLETIN should go to 2,150 members in Pennsylvania. Remember, we have only this month of May to renew in without fines, and there is a great deal of work to be done. Don't delay, but see that you and your neighbor are in the fold at once.

Fraternally,

JOHN J. VAN NORT.

SCRANTON, April 29, 1895.

WE WANT YOUR NAME.

Of course it is perfectly familiar to you, but don't forget that we are strangers in most cases and it is very important that we have your name spelled correctly. Unless you write very plainly, it is better to print it.

To the Minnesota Board, Minn. Div. L. A. W.:

Circumstances over which I have no control will prevent my being with you to-day, and am very sorry indeed, as the meeting had been adjourned to accommodate me.

I enclose with this report a letter from a manufacturer of bicycles, which will explain itself and I am strongly in favor of putting up two of their race wheels as prizes to the two L. A. W. members in this State who get the most new members for 1895, all applications to be sent through Sec.-Treas. and the Sec.-Treas. to notify every member of this plan. Would also suggest having the State divided into sections under the charge of active members who are to file with the C.-C.or Sec.-Treas. monthly reports of the general condition of their Division and the work done to get new members, etc. Also would favor changing the date of annual meeting to some time in January.

We have taken in forty-two new members and our renewals are one hundred twenty-two, making our total membership two hundred fourteen.

I am in favor of any reasonable work for good roads, both from the standpoint of a citizen and a bicyclist, and think this point should be strongly urged as an incentive to join the L. A. W.

We shall have some racing in our part of the State, also shall try this year to combine with La-Crosse, Wis., to have races in conjunction so as to make it pay the riders to visit this section.

The outlook for increase of riders throughout our State is remarkable, "Pops," "Demipops" and even Republicans take to it naturally, and from those people we must increase our membership.

Have offered these few suggestions for what they may be worth, they are simply opinions and extended to the Board for their action.

The following is the report of the financial condition of our Division to date:—

CONNECTICUT.

Those receiving appointments on committees and as Local Consuls will please send in their acceptances at once, that list may be published.

Mr. Geo. F. Booth of New Haven is now Vice Consul, Mr. Crygier of Hartford having consented so act as such only pending the selection of a permanent Vice Consul. Mr. Booth has been a prominent member of the board of officers in the past and is connected with the New Haven Register.

Fraternally,

PHILIP W. WESTLAKE, C. C.

THE Mayville (Ky.) Bicycle Club addresses its members in the following unique and effective fashion:

"Having been released from the boreal bonds of the winter king, within whose Arctic domain we have suffered all the rigors in our icy exile that could be endured at the hands of so relentless a despot, and now rest in the fond arms and wooing embrace of gentle, loving spring, "when the spring, springs, the larks lark, and the bees beeswax," and all nature hails us with glad acclaim of welcome back to renewed life and freedom, it is meet and proper that we should give acknowledgment of our happy escape from so severe and protracted a thraldom and show appreciation of the delightful conditions that now surround us. Therefore to that end we extend to you a heart-warm invitation to attend the State meet to be held in our city on June 14th and 15th next.

(COMBINATION BLANK.)

Application for Membership in the L. A. W.*

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR: — Enclosed find the sum of TWO DOLLARS which I send in full payment of my initiation fee, one year's dues and subscription fee to the official publication of the L. A. W., under provisions of Articles III and VII of the Constitution. From the sum enclosed I authorize and direct you to pay to the publisher of said publication the regular subscription fee to League members and to enter my name as a subscriber. I certify that I am eligible to membership in the L. A. W. under the provisions of the Constitution and I refer to two League members (or three other reputable citizens) named below.

RENEWAL BLANK.

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.,
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR: — I enclose ONE DOLLAR for which please renew my membership and subscription to the L. A. W. publication for another year.

Number, ...

Name, ...

Street and No. or P. O. Box, ...

City, ...

State, ...

Division in which my home is and to which I should be attached. .....

Send Ticket to, ...

The L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS AND ALL OTHER MAIL MATTER WILL GO TO THE ADDRESS AS GIVEN ABOVE, and the name of no member will be put regularly on the list till his renewal with latest address is received.

Fill out above blank, inclose necessary money, and send to Secretary Don't send soiled bills. New bills are safer in the mails. Write very plainly, PRINTING PREFERRED. Stamps of a denomination above 2 cents will not be received. If you live in one state and have your mail sent to another, fill out the blank so that you may be located with the division in which your home is and your mail matter be sent as you wish. Ticket holders, 25 cents; with name stamped, 50 cents. If you want either of these write "25" or "50" at left of word Number. This brief form of blank is used to enable applicants for membership to follow the requirements of the League Constitution, which provides [Articles III and VII] for the payment in advance of one year's dues, with initiation fee and subscription fee to the official organ. Applicants or members using this blank will regularly receive all official news and announcements and will be subject to no further charge or assessment for any purpose whatever.

L. A. W. Veteran Bar.

The veteran bar which has been adopted by the L. A. W. to be worn by the veterans of the organization, can be worn above the League badge, or as an individual pin.

Any member who has been connected with the L. A. W. for ten consecutive years is entitled to wear the bar.

Members holding numbers between 100 and 1656 are entitled to wear the bar at this date.

The bar is of gold with the word "Veteran" in enamel. Each bar must have the owner's name engraved on the back. All orders must be sent to the Secretary accompanied by the price of bar, $2.50.

We can supply any style or form of badge with bar. The standard badge retails for $3.00, and will be sent attached to bar if this sum is added to remittance.

SIXTY DAYS ONLY.

Members are notified that the renewal season is cut down to sixty days. In previous years, renewals were received to July 1st. This year the season ends JUNE 1st. Please remember.

ADDITIONAL BLANKS.

Application or Renewal Blanks may be had of the Secretary on application.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to Monday preceding this date, and published in accordance with Article III of the constitution.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published and to report errors and omissions to the secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at noon on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

NEW YORK.

The semi-annual meeting of the board of officers of the New York State Division will be held at Brooklyn, on Saturday, June 15th, at 10 o'clock.

Particulars will be announced later.

I. B. POTTER, Chief Consul.

JOHNSONBURG CYCLE CLUB

was recently organized at Johnsonburg, Pa., with fifteen League members. W. E. Heckendorn, President; J. C. McIntire, Jr., Secretary. They have a neat club house with billiard tables, etc. A racing team will be put on the road; colors, orange and black.

Touring wheelmen are invited to call and be entertained.

ROSEVILLE, NEW JERSEY.

The second annual meeting of the Cycling Department of the Roseville Athletic Association was held at the Club house, corner of Seventh avenue and Seventh street, on Saturday evening, April 6. The annual report of the Captain and of the Road and Racing committee showed the department to be in good condition. The members endorsed the report of the Park Commission.

The election for department officers resulted as follows: Chairman, J. Clifford Woodhull, re-elected; Secretary-Treasurer, Albert W. Pollard, re-elected; Captain, Herbert L. Thowless, re-elected; First Lieutenant, Harry D. Reed, re-elected; Second Lieutenant, Charles E. Brewer; Bugler, Ernest L. Gould, re-elected.

The chairman appointed the following, with the Captain as ex-officio chairman, to constitute the Road and Racing committee: William W. Prior and Charles G. Colyer, re-appointed.

Mr. E. W. Ketcham was appointed by President McCormick as Chairman of the Gymnasium and Cycling committee of the Association to take the place of Mr. G. Howard Bailey who had resigned.

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

(Concluded from May 3d.)

The Committee reported to the Assembly that a meeting had been held and a special committee had been appointed to consider the BULLETIN matter and the several propositions had been laid before it. They recommended that a contract be made with Sterling Elliott to supply a weekly paper to League members for twenty-five cents a year, each, and that bonds for the faithful performance of the work be required.

On motion of Mr. Cossum the report was accepted and the recommendation adopted.

On motion of Mr. Potter the following amendment to ART. VII., Sec. 1, of the Constitution was passed.

Sec. 1. The League shall provide an official organ to be known as the "L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS," in which shall be printed all official announcements and communications, and which shall be devoted in a substantial way to the encouragement of fraternal co-operation among its readers in the work for improved roads throughout the United States and to the other benevolent objects of the League. The said official organ shall be sent as a regular periodical publication to each member of the League who shall have paid a separate and sufficient subscription fee for the same, excepting however, that at any time when the postal authorities of the United States shall permit the distribution by mail of free copies of an official organ to members of the League upon payment of postal rates as second class matter, the Executive Committee of the League may arrange or provide for such distribution of such official organ to League members without the payment of a separate subscription fee. No Division, Sub-Division, or Consulate east of the Rocky Mountains shall establish or contract for an official organ of its own.

On motion of Mr. Elliott the vote passed by the Assembly to amend ART. III., Sec. 4, of the Constitution by making the dues $1 was reconsidered.

Voted to amend ART. III., Sec. 4, by causing it to read:—

Sec. 4. Each applicant shall pay to the Secretary of the League an initiation fee of $1 and shall also pay seventy-five cents for his annual dues.

Voted to amend ART. I., Sec. 6 of the By-Laws by substituting the following:—

Sec. 6. Any member may, if he chooses, subscribe for the L. A. W. BULLETIN at the club price of twenty-five cents per annum.

Amendment to ART. III., Sec. 10, of the Constitution referred to a special committee and a recess taken to allow it to sit. Committee: — Messrs. Willison, Perkins, Bassett, Adams and Van Nort.

Special Committee reported that ART. III., Sec. 10, be made to read as follows:—

Sec. 10. The Secretary shall retain from the annual dues and from all renewal fees an annual per capita tax of forty cents. The balance of such annual dues and the whole amount of the initiation fee shall be returned to the Divisions, etc., quarterly. He shall return to the Divisions fifty per centum of all back dues.

Motion passed unanimously.

Mr. Willison submitted to the Assembly his resignation as President but withdrew the same after consultation with members.

Washington.—W. A. Van Epps, Olympia, Wash.

Arizona.—W. L. Pinney, Phœnix, Ariz.

Note. — Applications for sanctions should be sent to the above-named, as in charge of the State in which the races are to be held.

NEW ENGLAND CIRCUIT.

THE national circuit in New England will open at Clinton, Saturday, June 8th, when the Clinton Lancaster A. A. will run a big meeting, which will be a fitting opening of what promises to be the most interesting and successful season of cycling ever seen in New England.

The general committee in charge of the meeting has been hard at work for some time past; but the fruits of their labors were not made known until a few days ago, as the association had to wait for the sanction.

The general committee consists of Asa S. Windle, Chairman; Chas. F. Martin, Vice-Chairman; Orra L. Stone, Secretary; Fred H. Wright and Dennis K. Bartlett. The chairman, Asa S. Windle, is a hustler, and the association is fortunate in having so able a manager at its head. His large acquaintance among the racing men assures a big attendance of Class B. men. The following program has been arranged: —

Class A: — One-mile novice, two-mile handicap, one-mile 2.30 class, one-mile handicap.

Class B: —Half-mile handicap, one-mile scratch, one-mile handicap, two-mile five minute class.

The prizes, officials and sub-committees are not yet ready for announcement, but will appear shortly. The entry blanks and programs will be issued soon.

The Clinton track is very fast and an expert will put it in condition for the meeting, so that it will be in record-breaking shape. The committee intends to make the meeting the biggest ever seen in Central Massachusetts.

Yours respectfully,
O. L. STONE, Secretary.

A NEW READING ROOM.

A reading room has just been opened at Westboro, Mass., for the use of Humber employees.

The room is light and well ventilated and is supplied with all the cycling publications, also many mechanical and other journals.

The privileges of this reading room are extended to all L. A. W. members on presenting League ticket.

THE CROTON CYCLE PATH.

The proposed cycle path to be built along the Croton Aqueduct, except where it runs through private property, is as follows:

Beginning at 177th street, along the Aqueduct through unimproved land, through Van Cortlandt Park to the outskirts of Yonkers. It will then make a detour through Yonkers streets, rejoining the Aqueduct at the northern outskirts of the town, thence along unimproved land, following the Aqueduct to Hastings. Thence to the Albany Post Road, along the highway through Hastings, Dobbs Ferry, Irvington and Tarrytown. North of Tarrytown it again joins the Aqueduct to Sing Sing, through the streets of Sing Sing and then along the Aqueduct to Croton Dam.

COME TO BOSTON MAY 30th.

The sport of cycling is spread out too thinly. This is the fact and this is the trouble. Division meetings are of little importance.—Cycling Life.

This is written from the latitude of Chicago. It would not have been written if the writer had ever seen a Boston or a Coney Island meet.

QUERIES AND ANSWERS

"Perplexity," New York:

We are advised by Chairman Gideon that the Board does not propose to do any injustice, but will transfer to Class B, only such riders as may be considered by the Board to be receiving some advantage from their connection with the trade that would assist them in track racing.

"W. F. H.," New York, asks:

1. With a League membership of say 50,000, of whom possibly ten per cent. are "racing "men, how long will the L. A. W. continue to blow in three-quarters of its revenue on racing matters?

The League membership is not 50,000, but it soon will be; not ten per cent. are racing men; probably one per cent. would come nearer the mark. The League does not now "blow in" any part of its income for racing. The expenses of the racing board are paid, as they should be, by those for whose benefit the board exists, viz., the racing men and the race promotors.

2. How long do you think the membership can be kept up with such a system?

A thousand years.

3. With the record of the New York division for the last year before you, who are the men who "pay the freight," the racing men or the roadsters?

So far as the New York division is concerned we understand that the freight is paid by a party in Binghamton.

4. What is an amateur?

An amateur is a person who has no income, or any desire to have an income; who has in his make-up no selfishness or any covetous desires, and who is willing to sacrifice his personal convenience and comfort to the end that a lot of howling citizens, who for the time being toil not nor spin, may sit in the shady grand stand and see what they are pleased to term fun.

A correspondent writes: "Why don't you offer a prize for the best guess on what the next color of the BULLETIN will be?

We don't want to encourage any such wild speculation on the part of our readers.

HALF a million organized wheelmen could control legislation in this country.

"THE LIGHT-RUNNING DOMESTIC."

The company which is advertised by this cut will please send us $9.80.

AN APPRECIATIVE CONTEMPORARY.

The good work which the L. A. W. has done and is doing, in the way of securing good roads is not appreciated as it should be by the cycle trade. It is not appreciated as it should be and not supported as it ought to be supported by the public. The point we wish particularly to make, however, is that the cycle dealers throughout the country benefit perhaps more than anybody else by the work done by the L. A. W. Good roads sell wheels, the more wheels the dealer sells, the better his business, and yet, strange to say, an extraordinary apathy is observable among our dealers in the matter of supporting the L. A. W., even to the paltry extent of paying into its treasury the sum of one dollar a year dues. The trade should wake up to the importance of this matter, and if every dealer who is not a member of the L. A. W., and who happens to read this article, will send his one dollar initiation fee, and one dollar dues to this office at once, the same will be transmitted at once to the L. A. W. treasurer. — American Cycling.

Boom!

It seems as though every Bicycle rider in the United States and Canada wanted a and "wanted it awful quick." The immediate and enormous popularity of this device is one of the surprising facts of these dull times. It is entirely within the limits of a conservative statement to say that more "Standard" Cyclometers have been ordered in the last two weeks than have been heretofore sold by all other American manufacturers combined, in all the years that Cyclometers have been made!

"Standard"

Two-Thirds Size.

Cyclometer.

And "for most excellent reasons, i' faith." First, it is indisputably the best; second, it is far-and-away the cheapest—both in the respect of the price itself, and in consideration of the relation of the quality to the price; third, it is backed by a responsible guaranty that it will stand continuous wear throughout the life of its buyer, and any injury in a mishap to the bicycle will be repaired without charge.

The price? Not $5.00 (though it is worth more), nor $3.50 (though it would be cheap at more), but $2.00—Two dollars! Considering the satisfaction it will give you, it's like finding money!

SOME NEW BLOOD.

This is the season when the radiant four sheet poster announces the coming of the three ring hippodrome, greater, grander and more stupendous, in its magnificent multiplicity, combining as it does all the real talent of two hemispheres. (Of course "two hemispheres" sounds rather limited but it must stand, for while we have much else we are a little mite shy on hemispheres for the present.)

We read that new features have been added, two, three or four large shows combined in one, and of course next year this one will be combined with others, and so on, until we wonder how soon we may expect to see everything on earth "for the small sum of one dollar."

The L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS doesn't wish to be understood as claiming everything. We don't intend to run a performance in three rings, or attempt a monopoly of all the available talent so as to prevent the publishment of other papers.

We do want, however, to run a show in our one little ring, which will be well worth the trifling price of admission, and if perchance there be friends who are willing to think that our performance is worthy, even as some of the more antique shows are worthy, we shall be well satisfied.

It is not our purpose to make a large paper, nor yet a thick paper. Care will also be used to avoid having it too thin.

We like fun but we realize that man may not live by fun alone.

An attempt will be made to avoid anything which is wildly hilarious as well as those subjects which tend to depress.

We have for some time been negotiating with a man who combines a large amount of philosophy and worldly wisdom with enough fun, of a wholesome sort, to make his writings more widely quoted than those of any writer living to-day with possibly one exception.

The man is Nixon Waterman. For the past six months Mr. Waterman has been engaged in another direction and has written but little for newspaper publication.

We have just concluded arrangements by which, beginning June 8, he will act as associate editor of the BULLETIN and write exclusively for this paper.

Everybody doesn't know of Mr. Waterman. That is no fault of his.

Everybody doesn't know about Mr. Longfellow or Steve Brodie.

This new associate editor of ours is a modest man, he really doesn't want us to make any claims for him and we must respect his wishes.

Every American reader knows of him and we may only say that we congratulate the readers of the BULLETIN on the probability of being very much entertained.

The cash outlay incident to the control of such a writer is an item of no small interest to the publisher and beside that we propose to add much to the BULLETIN in other ways.

As before stated we still believe that nothing is too good for the official organ of the L. A. W.

Mr. Bassett, whose name will still appear as one of the associate editors, is a very busy man. His time is taken up with the constantly increasing duties of the secretary's office. The actual work which he does for the paper is small and the compensation he receives is much smaller. This information is furnished for the benefit of any League member who may have imagined (as has been intimated) that the secretary was leading a double life and drawing a salary for each.

The New Clippers

are said to be among the finest productions of this year. One of Bay City's oldest and most prominent wheelmen recently remarked after having tried his brother's 20 lb. special built Clipper, "My —— runs like an ice wagon compared with that Clipper." THE STERLING CYCLE CO., Chicago, Ill.

GENTLEMEN: My new Sterling has now been in use a week. It is a beautiful wheel, none handsomer in the city—so the old wheelers say—and it runs like a winged Mercury.—In fact it is so remarkably easy that I tell my friends that I shall have to take long distance rides in order to get the requisite effort for exercise. My previous observation is confirmed by experience—that the Sterling is the king of them all. It is built like a watch and gains time.

Very truly yours,
W. E. WOODRUFF,
City Editor, "Wilkes-Barre Leader."

Mr. Bassett does in his editorial capacity whatever he thinks might be for the best interest of the League, and so far as the BULLETIN office is concerned he does it without hope of reward.

Of course Mr. Waterman's well and widely known ability as a writer is responsible for our desiring to consummate the present arrangement, and yet it must be confessed that one of his qualifications which was considered very favorable, was the fact that he knows nothing of wheeling nor the L. A. W.

He has, however, applied for membership in the League, and expresses a desire to learn to ride. He also inquires as to which is the best wheel and we have referred him to the advertising columns of the BULLETIN.

THE PRICE OF BICYCLES.

SEVERAL letters have come to this office asking what we think of the present price of bicycles and whether it is likely to be lower.

The present price of bicycles is fixed as the price of most other commodities is fixed, namely, by the combination of several conditions.

As applied to other lines of goods the selling price depends upon:

(1) The cost of manufacture and selling.

(2) The demand, and

(3) The supply, or in other words the number of people who are in a position to furnish the supply.

These conditions must always govern except where combinations are formed or where patent rights or other special rights keep out free competition.

Although many makers of bicycles have certain exclusive points of more or less value which they alone are privileged to use, the bicycle prices of to-day are not held up by any patents, trusts, or agreements of any kind so far as we know.

There are a large number of manufacturers in this country, also a considerable number of importers; each is pushing his product in competition with all others, and each machine has its good points, to which the maker and his salesman call special attention. And each machine has its believers to whom that particular make is best.

So far as we have been able to observe, there is between the various makers about the usual amount of brotherly love and no more.

So we assume that the questions of demand and supply are at present governing the price.

A few years ago when the entire shape and style of bicycles must be changed every year and the price was from twenty-five to fifty dollars higher than at present, makers did not make proportionately larger profits than are made now.

Whoever takes risks must be paid, is a rule of the commercial world. More than one bicycle season has opened with a demand for something which could hardly be sold at the end of the same season.

The trade is beginning to settle down now so that a maker dare predict in August what the market will take in April, consequently he may order stock and put labor with it without a reasonable doubt that he can sell the product when the time comes.

One of the things which have tended to keep up the price of high grade bicycles is the fact that expensive racing teams with trainers, etc., have been kept on the road all summer at heavy expense, and of course the maker who pays this expense necessarily must get it out of the wheels which he sells.

It is to be hoped that a time will come when the retail customer will purchase a bicycle because of its adaptability to his purpose and not because some specially trained athlete riding a specially constructed wheel of the same name has been able to do a wonderful performance.

The commercial racing team is an expensive luxury and you, dear reader, have to help pay for it.

Will bicycles be lower in price?

Well, that depends.

There are many lines of goods now sold on which a greater percentage of profit is realized than is made on any regular bicycle in the market. It is also true that many bicycles are now sold at a margin of profit too small to warrant a permanent continuance.

In view of the peculiar conditions under which the bicycle must be made and sold, I am not looking for much, if any, further reduction in the price of strictly high grade machines for the present.

If however, the making and marketing of bicycles should come to more closely resemble other and older lines, so that goods may be made without material change from year to year, and sold as most other goods are sold, then we may look for a still further reduction in price.

SHALL WE HAVE A LADIES' DEPARTMENT?

The L. A. W. has a constantly increasing number of lady members. As a rule the father, husband, brother or lover is an L. A. W. member, and the mother, wife, sister or sweetheart has become interested in the "cause" and added her name, in italics, to our fast growing list.

We have been assured that the BULLETIN should take some specific measures to interest, amuse, or instruct these members who have taken interest enough in our organization to join it and who presumably differ from the majority of its members only in the matter of sex.

We do not at this time propose to express a definite opinion on this subject, for it is our purpose to run the BULLETIN so as to interest the largest possible percentage of L. A. W. members.

We shall hope to print more or less matter which will interest both sexes alike. It is not unlikely that we may start a department devoted to ladies exclusively. This is a matter for discussion. Brief letters advocating either side of the question may be printed.

We believe in the ladies, God bless 'em, and would like to hear what they think.

As a sample of what we don't like to have happen we submit the following:

TO THE L. A. W. BULLETIN, LADIES' DEPARTMENT:

I do not see why the ladies should not have a column or even a page in the BULLETIN. I should like to tell you about a race we had here. There were six entries and three starters. On the first turn, one of the young ladies lost her pedal and was thrown, and on the second turn—it was a two lap track—the second young lady, who was ahead, lost her pedal, but being more used to a diamond frame wheel she did not lose her balance. The race was one-half mile and they had not gone a quarter yet. However, the second lady, who, by the way was only thirteen years old, made the one-half mile in 1.47 and kept ahead until the last turn, where she was passed by the third and beaten, to everyone's great astonishment. The young lady beaten immediately challenged the one who defeated her, but the challenge was not accepted. This is the first ladies' race ever held in this State. The first prize was a bottle of perfumery, $5.00, and a gold pen and holder, $2.50.

Yours,

NEW YORK:

Massachusetts is watching you. We are glad to see you come in so numerously.

This is said partly because it is true, and partly because we want to have you feel the same way when we get ahead of you, as we expect to later.

THOSE BOSTON POST REPORTERS.

An example of reportorial persistence which deserves more than a passing mention has just come to the surface.

John L. Sullivan, the ponderous puncher, had just done an heroic act which consisted in a very commendable though unsuccessful attempt to save the life of a woman whose clothing was on fire.

The account of it closed as follows:

"A Post reporter called at 51 Dover street late last night to inquire for him (Sullivan). He was met with rebuffs at the door by a stout woman, who was presently joined by a heavy-built man who aided the woman in shutting the door in his face."

Such a man as that need not remain long a reporter. There is a vastly wider field open to him.

EXPERIENCE IS A GREAT TEACHER.

In delivering his first inaugural address Lincoln used the pronoun "I" forty-three times. When he was inaugurated the second time he used it but once.

The editor of this paper is often in doubt whether 'twere better to use the editorial "we" or the more personal, and oft-times apparently egotistical "I."

This doubt is liable to manifest itself at any time and should be overlooked by the more charitable of our readers. We trust that I may be excused.

THANKS FOR THE SUGGESTION.

Here is something for the BULLETIN. I just want to suggest to you that when you are crowded for space, you might condense your column of queries and answers by putting the queries in a single bouquet at the head of the column and the answers in another, immediately below it. I am led to make this suggestion by reading a little extract from a western paper which runs as follows.

The minister was expected to make a visit. The mother called her young hopeful and told him, if the minister asked his name, he was to reply, Jack, his age, he was to say, five years old, where bad children went to, he was to answer, to hell.

The good man arrived and asked his age, and wishing to show his mother how well he had remembered his lesson, he replied, "Jack, five years old, go to hell."

If you can use this plan it might add to the interest.

A DELIGHTFUL RUN UP THE HUDSON.

BY ARTHUR P. STANLEY-HYDE.

ONE of the pleasantest rides to be had in the neighborhood of New York city is that up the noble Hudson to Tarrytown. The road winds through a country abounding in beautiful scenery as well as historic and literary interest.

One fine April day, recently, the writer started out bright and early to explore the country between New York and Tarrytown. The weather was delightful, the temperature being at that point where one can ride without becoming over-heated and yet not feel uncomfortably cool. The start was made at nine o'clock, the route lying through the park and up Lenox and Seventh avenues to the viaduct leading up to Washington Heights, then along St. Nicholas and Amsterdam avenues to the Washington bridge, that fine steel structure spanning the Harlem river at One Hundred and Eighty-First street. Here the first stop was made in order to enjoy, for a few minutes, the beautiful view to be had from this point. Far below, lies the valley of the Harlem, where the little river winds in its tortuous course.

To the northward, as far as the eye can reach, the greenclad hill on either side show signs of cultivation. On the right are the villages of Morris Heights, Fordham Heights and Kingsbridge, with here and there a large, handsome house and grounds, the residence of some wealthy citizen; while on the left are to be seen the summer resort at Fort Wendle and the village of Marble Hill. Immediately to the southward is the High bridge, built nearly fifty years ago, to carry the water in the Croton Aqueduct into the city of New York. Beyond lies the great metropolis stretching away as far as the eye can reach. To the west, a view is had of the Palisades of the Hudson; while to the east, beyond that section known as North New York, one obtains a glimpse of the Long Island Sound, with the blue hills of Long Island in the far distance.

Beyond Washington bridge, the road turns sharply to the left, down one hill and up another, along the beautiful McComb's Dam road, shaded by trees that arch over-head, past the Berkeley Oval, where many an athletic contest has been held, on by the way of Sedgwick avenue through Fordham Heights, past the new buildings of the university of New York and a little further on the Webb Ship Building School and the Old Sailors Home, to Kingsbridge where a business engagement detained the writer until nearly two o'clock in the afternoon.

The Andre Monument.

From Kingsbridge, the route is by the way of the old Albany post road or Broadway, which was completed from New York to Albany in 1644, two hundred and fifty-one years ago. We spin rapidly along, past the old Van Cortlandt mansion, which is said to have been used at one time by General Washington as his headquarters, and the Van Cortlandt Park parade ground, up a long hill and into Yonkers, where a stop for dinner was made at the Getty House, the League hotel in Yonkers.

To avoid the long hill out of Yonkers to the north, a detour is made through Warburton avenue, which is moderately level and paved with asphalt for most of the way, to Bollmer avenue, where, having heard so much about the Croton Aqueduct as a cycle path, the writer thought he would try it. Accordingly, having lifted his wheel over one of the numerous fences which cross the aqueduct at right angles, he spun along to Hastings. There were some ten or twelve fences which had to be climbed in a distance of three miles, but, on the whole, the aqueduct is not a bad place to ride. At this particular place it is much nearer the river than Broadway and commands an unbroken view as far up as Haverstraw bay.

At Hastings the route returns to Broadway, having avoided a series of bad hills by following the aqueduct, for which the writer was not ungrateful.

At Hastings the beautiful residences begin, for which the Hudson river is famous. Here we pass the Moore, De Garmendia and Villard places, while a little further on at Dobb's Ferry, we come to another of Washington's headquarters, an old stone house back from the road, which looks to be a hundred and fifty years old, the Westminster school for boys and Miss Master's young ladies' school. At Irvington, named in honor of Washington Irving, is "Tiffany Park," the delightful summer home of Mr. Charles L. Tiffany, the jeweller, while just beyond, on the outskirts of

The Home of Washington Irving.

Tarrytown, are "Sunnyside," the home of Washington Irving, and "Lyndehurst," the old Paulding manor, now the property of the heirs of Jay Gould, perhaps the most conspicuous of the many fine residences in this vicinity.

The country we are now passing through was made famous by the immortal Irving. Scarcely a mile of the very road on which we are travelling that has not some story connected with it. Here, just beyond Tarrytown, is Sleepy Hollow, where Ichabod Crane and the headless horseman had their famous race; here is the Pocantico with the old bridge over it, and the little old school house just beyond, where Ichabod ruled with an iron hand.

The country here is famous from an historic standpoint as well as from a literary one, for this was the scene of many desultory encounters between small parties of the British and the patriots. We pass the very spot where Major Andre was captured and the treachery of Benedict Arnold exposed. Had the traitorous plans of the brave but faithless American been carried to a successful issue, the whole succeeding history of our country would doubtless have been materially changed. There is a monument erected on the site of Andre's capture in Tarrytown, surmounted by a bronze statue of that famous British spy.

We also pass the Sleepy Hollow cemetery, which is one of the points of interest in this part of the country. In it is a small stone building, erected in 1690 and formerly used as a chapel, though now being unused. Here lie the ashes of generations long since passed away. The remains of some illustrious persons lie mouldering beneath the sod in Sleepy Hollow cemetery, among them being Washington Irving.

But I fear the reader may have tired of this description, so let us retrace our steps. The journey home was fully as interesting as the one out, the route being substantially the same, several small detours being made through Dobb's Ferry and Yonkers in order to avoid hills. It was seven o'clock when the writer reached home, having spent one of the pleasantest days on a wheel that he can recall; and permit him to say in conclusion, that it will more than repay anyone who can find the time to take this little trip. The distance from the upper end of the park to Tarrytown is twenty-five miles.

A BELIEVING DOCTOR.

A doctor in the Popular Science Monthly says, "As a matter of health, which is of the first importance, the writer has made many inquiries among women who use the wheel regarding the effect of the exercise upon them, and has not discovered a single case of injury or poor health resulting from its use. On the contrary, the universal testimony is that the effect is healthful and exhilarating. From the standpoint of a symmetrical exercise, the position is preferable to that on a horse. The movement is unlike that of a sewing machine in several important respects. Instead of being bowed over in a cramped position which restricts the action of lungs and digestive organs alike, the woman rider sits erect, with a full opportuuity for chest expansion, while the difference between the environment of the sewing woman and the riding woman as regards indoor and out-of-door life is most important.

[The statement above made, to the effect that ladies who ride the bicycle sit erect, ought to be strictly true, but it lacks confirmation in some localities.

Ladies who do not sit erect when they ride should be talked to about it, and dealers who sell ladies machines should be subject to a fine of not less than a thousand dollars and imprisonment for life, if they allow a ladies' machine to go out without being properly adjusted.—ED.]

A JUST COMPLAINT.

A correspondent writes that he has read every number of the BULLETIN so far and has not seen the bicycle called a "silent steed."

This omission is not right, of course, and it will be attended to in the future.

WHEN is wheat worth most?

RUBBER CARRIAGE TIRES.

WHILE it is believed that nothing better than the band of steel has yet been offered as a general-purpose tire for wagon and carriage wheels, and that it will not for many years, and perhaps never, be entirely superseded, there has been within a short time a remarkable increase in the use of rubber tires. This is especially noticeable in the larger cities. When first introduced they were received with considerable questioning, and adopted only by individuals among special classes of the driving public. They were furnished only upon the order of the purchaser of the carriage. Now that their utility and the positive advantage they possess in eliminating many of the discomforts of driving, as well as in the lengthened life they give to the vehicle, has been satisfactorily demonstrated, the rubber tire has taken so prominent a place in vehicle construction that its decided development as an adjunct of all pleasure carriages, may be looked for in a very few years. All of the prominent manufacturers of carriages now include a large number of rubber tired vehicles in their annual product, and find ready sale for them. The extent to which these tires have already been adopted is possibly not appreciated by the general observer or by the carriage trade at large, for the clatter of carriages over the stone paved streets of our cities is apparently just as loud and nerve racking as ever, and there are no published statistics on the subject. An enthusiastic advocate of rubber tires has, however, made a special observation in New York city, and reports to the India Rubber World that of the vehicles other than business wagons passing through Fifth Avenue to Central Park, he found that eighteen per cent. were rubber tired. He included in his count old vehicles and new, cheap and high priced, and there is little doubt that the percentage of the better class of new vehicles having rubber tired wheels was very much higher than the figures he gives. The public benefit which the more general introduction of rubber tired carriages will confer, in greatly abating street noises and in reducing the wear on roadways, would seem to offer sufficient inducements to municipal bodies to prevent legislation adverse to the use of rubber tires. The city council of Omaha, however, seems to feel that the advent of carriages thus equipped on the streets of that city, is fraught with great danger to foot passengers, and is about to prohibit the placing of rubber tires on the wheels of buggies and carriages. It is proposed that drivers of such vehicles put a bell on the horse to warn pedestrians of the approach of the team. Such legislation is unwarranted, and is not in harmony with the spirit of this age of improvement. It is based on the false assumption that a rubber tired carriage driven through the streets of the city, is a noisless as a bicycle. This would be true of a rubber tired motor carriage, but the clatter of horses hoofs is as effective a warning as is needed, and it is as useless to bell the horse as to perfume a polecat. The rubber tire has come to stay, and enlightened public sentiment will not submit to obstructing legislation when no better reason exists for it than in this instance. Rubber tires are a luxury to the individual user, and at the same time serve a useful public purpose, and their more general adoption should be encouraged by lawmakers, and will be when an advanced public spirit prevails in such bodies.—Carriage Monthly.

"HOW ARE THE ROADS IN YOUR TOWN?"

MY text is taken from the first number of the new BULLETIN and the question is a most pertinent one.

"The Oranges" in New Jersey have had, for years, the reputation of having as good as the best roads in the country, but oh, "how are the mighty fallen." The once smooth and clean macadam pavement has become cut and worn. To mend(?) it the holes have been filled in, in many places, with gravel and broken stone.

The gravel is thrown in and left to the tender mercies of wagons and carriages to roll it into place. The stone is given a little more thought, as a light roller is put over it a few times.

The first heavy load, however, that goes over on narrow tires usually cuts through and it is weeks before the road or street is as smooth as before it was repaired(?).

There are some twelve to fifteen thousand wheelmen in Essex County, and on many streets and roads can be seen the effect of the wheel.

On either side of the street or road there will be a smooth hard path from eight inches to a foot or more wide.

This has been made by wheels following in the track of the man who picked out the best road.

The rolling is so well done that even when the path so laid out crosses the road to the other side, wagon or carriage wheels have little effect on it.

If the wheels make such a good path by themselves how much would they improve a road where they could run on any part?

L. A. W. 59,110.

[This verifies what we have often claimed, viz., that the pneumatic tire, whether used on a horse-drawn vehicle or on a bicycle, is a positive improvement to the road.

The narrow iron tired wagon should be taxed out of existence, while the bicycle should — well, it shouldn't be taxed anyway.—ED.]

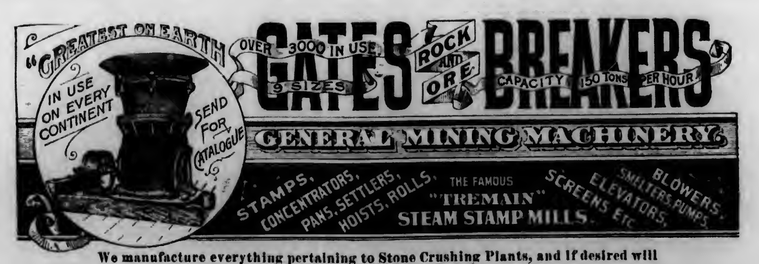
ROAD ITEMS.

Fargo, North Dakota has organized a Good Roads Club.

The effort to secure wide tires on heavy wagons in the interest of better roads has again been defeated in the Legislature, which leads the Springfield Republican to remark:—

Some things are tolerated simply because we are so wonted to them. We shall never maintain good roads until heavy wagons are regulated so that when loaded they will not cut the ordinary road-bed to pieces. If our long time policy of repairing roads only to see them cut into ruts every year were proposed as an original proposition it would be rejected as too foolish for serious consideration. Yet because we began the wrong way it takes a long time to bring about the right thing. But it must come, and the modern agitation for better roads ought to hasten its advent. Here is a pointer for wheelmen and all the rest of us who want to get out of ruts.

Justice and Road Improvement.



More than thirty prisoners are incarcerated in the Lafayette county jail, says the Kansas City Times, and last Friday a chain gang was put to work on the roads leading to Lexington, building them up and making access to the town easier for the farmers. It is the first time in the history of the county that the experiment has been tried.

There is a growing demand on the part of the taxpayers that prisoners who receive jail sentences shall be put to work. Mere imprisonment for a few days is no punishment to many of these petty criminals, but 30, 60 or 90 days of hard work would make them shun the jail.

A Chicago man proposes to clean the streets by sweeping the dirt from the gutters into the middle instead of the opposite plan which is pursued at present. There are some points in favor of the proposed innovation. It is a good thing for street departments to think over.

Warren Co., Ky., has purchased some road machinery and propose, to use it.

"THE wicked flee when no man pursueth," but a bad road stops them both.

We manufacture everything pertaining to Stone Crushing Plants, and if desired will take entire charge of construction.

A Prominent Road Man Dead.

Edward Burrough, State road commissioner, and a prominent man in agricultural circles, fell dead on May 3rd after delivering a patriotic speech to the veterans of the Twenty-third New Jersey Volunteers, who were holding their annual reunion on Gen. E. Burd Grubb's lawn, at Edgewater Park. The cause of death was brain exhaustion. The reunion was abruptly brought to a close.

Mr. Burrough's address was prophetic of his death, for he began with the expression of the thought that it would be the last opportunity he would have of saying a few tender words to old comrades in arms.

Edward Burrough was for nine years the president of the State board of agriculture and recently resigned because of his pressing duties as State road commissioner. He was an authority on stone roads, and was freely quoted in the United States and Europe. He had supervision of the building of all stone roads in the State, where State aid was given.

He was commissioner of the World's Fair at New Orleans and Chicago, and travelled through Europe studying the various systems of road-building. He was president of the New Jersey Forestry association, and the State Road Improvement association, and was for two terms the county clerk of Camden County. He was a well-known speaker at agricultural and grange gatherings. He was born in Camden County, and was about sixty years old.

Maine wheelmen have caught the good roads fever, and the division is agitating in favor of a State highway commissioner. Secretary-treasurer Percy Richardson of the Maine Division, L. A. W., says of the movement:

"We are in the fight to stay. I am just getting out a circular letter now, to send out to wheelmen all over the State, soliciting their assistance and organization in favor of road reform. I shall suggest that the 7,000 bicyclists of the State stand together in this matter, and see to it that the legislative nominations a year hence fall to those who are in favor of better roads than most Maine towns can boast of to-day."

IF gold was as plenty as iron it wouldn't be worth ten cents a pound, and if iron was as scarce as gold it would be entirely worthless.

On May 15, the Wisconsin Agriculturist will issue an illustrated good roads edition. Thirty thousand copies of this number will be circulated among the road officers and citizens of Wisconsin. Able articles are being contributed by Gov. Upham, ex-Governors Hoard, Peck and Fairchild and others, and the paper will contain practical talks upon roads and road building by experienced road overseers and engineers, which will be elaborately illustrated.

Those desiring to secure one or more of these copies can do so by addressing Otto Dorner, secretary Wisconsin League for Good Roads, 505 East Water Street, Milwaukee, and enclose stamp for mailing.

WHY A PNEUMATIC TIRE IS FAST.*

BY STERLING ELLIOTT.

THE shortest and most comprehensive answer to the question would be to say that it isn't, i. e., only relatively.

The success of the pneumatic tire of to-day is due to poor roads, for if the roads were perfect the air tire would be among the very slowest.

Presumably that tire is "fastest" which rolls along its path with the least resistance. The pneumatic seems to be faster than others simply because the track over which it runs is rough.

On a smooth track or one which is as smooth as the surface of a railroad rail, the pneumatic tires require nearly double the force to haul them that is needed to haul a similar load on wheels having rigid metallic tires.

The reason for this is that the motive power required to haul vehicles over any surface is mostly used up, not in overcoming axle friction, nor what is strictly road friction, but in constantly lifting the load over minute obstructions.

Given a perfectly smooth, hard surface and a perfectly round and non-elastic wheel and road friction becomes but a small part of the problem. This is well demonstrated by the fact that the lowest cost per ton per mile for hauling freight overland with wagons and horses is about twenty-five cents, while a railroad can do the same work many times quicker and at a cost of but one half cent per ton per mile.

Much of this difference is popularly supposed to be due to the greater economy of steam power over that exerted by horses, but I feel justified in assuming that the difference is almost wholly due to the reduced friction between the wheels and road.

According to last report of the railroad commissioners showing relative cost of equipping and operating street railroads, it is found that the net results favor horse power. Of course there are many reasons why the "trolley car" is preferable and why it deserves the great popularity which it already has, but the fact remains that when all items are taken into account a given load may be hauled a given number of miles on steel rails at a less cost when horse power is used than if propelled by steam.

It is well understood among steam engineers that the locomotive is the least economical of any type of steam engine.

The stationary engines used for driving street cars through the medium of electricity, may be, and usually are, of the most approved form, so much superior in fact to the locomotive that the loss by transmission through the dynamos, wires and motors can well be afforded and still compare favorably with the traveling engine.

As I have stated, if roads were smooth the pneumatic tires would be a positive disadvantage, but as roads, i. e., earth and stone roads, are not smooth, and it is not probable that they ever will be, the pneumatic tire is fast as compared with others simply because it prevents the necessity of raising the entire load over the little obstructions, by allowing its surface to be indented by them and so, in a certain sense, smoothing the road.

The elastic tire of whatever kind lies upon the ground in a flattened position (see Fig. 3) which means that the material composing it is distorted from its normal shape.

To accomplish this distortion requires force.

To haul an elastic tired wheel along a perfectly smooth surface requires as much force as would be needed to haul a rigid wheel, plus whatever is required to distort the elastic surface. This would amount to about one hundred per cent. of added and unnecessary resistance.

This resistance is always present and is always acting as a resistance.

The surface of the best road is made up of innumerable points and obstructions, and it is over these little obstacles that the pneumatic tire shows enough advantage to outweigh its inherent resistance and leave upon the other side a balance in its favor amounting on a gravel road to approximately fifty per cent.

The difference between the force required to lift a given body or to move it forward on rollers needs no emphasis to those who have tried it, and here comes in the practical effect of the elastic tread. Fig. 1 shows a rigid wheel rolling over a small stone; the entire weight of the load must be lifted, while with the elastic tire, as Fig. 2, the tire is indented and the load lifted but slightly.

On a so-called smooth road, stones of this size would not often be encountered, and in the case of the smaller obstructions which do exist, the yielding nature of the tire will receive them without lifting the load perceptibly. Hence the force of the team is exerted, not in constantly raising the vehicle over obstructions but in hauling it forward against the much less resistance due to the compressing of the rubber and air.

The hard tire goes over the tops of all obstructions while the elastic tire goes over an average surface which is below the high points, and which in effect is equal to a very material leveling of the road.

At a slow speed the difference between the pneumatic tire and a tire consisting of a mass of solid rubber is comparatively small, but as the speed increases the superiority of the pneumatic becomes more apparent for the following reasons:

Assume that the wheel (see Fig. 3) is rolling in the direction of the arrow. At the point A a constant compressing of the tire takes place, as all parts of the tire on reaching that point must at once be flattened by contact with the road. If there were no compensation for this, any elastic tire would run exceedingly hard, but the compressed rubber, air or whatever constitutes the elastic portion, has an inherent tendency to react, and this tendency is exactly equal to the force required to compress it.

So that at the point B we have a force acting to push the wheel forward, which force is the same in amount and exactly balances the resistance at A so long as the wheel remains at rest; but on moving the wheel a resistance is met which comes from the force needed to indent, bend or change the shape of the rubber in a new place, and this resistance amounts, as stated above, to fully double that met with in rolling a rigid faced wheel over a strictly smooth surface.

Many attempts have been made to devise a tire which should combine with the advantages of the pneumatic a greater degree of durability and immunity from what was at first the greatest bugbear, viz., the danger of puncture, but in nearly all such experiments the real excuse for the pneumatic's existence has been overlooked.

If ease of draft — which is the other name for speed — is looked for, then the principal requirement in an elastic tire is that it shall be elastic on its surface so that pebbles may become imbedded at any point while allowing the surrounding material of which the tire is composed to bear on the average of the road surface instead of its highest points. This much may be had in a rubber tire which is not a pneumatic.

But the solid rubber tire is not to be compared with the pneumatic when speed is desired, for the following reason:

The compression of the rubber at A is forced by the power applied to haul or drive the tire; the reaction at B is simply the natural tendency of the compressed rubber to regain its normal shape, and this action takes a certain interval of time.

If you press your thumb into freshly risen bread dough and then quickly remove it, the indentation will remain long enough so that you may easily see the swelling back into shape of the dough. Now, if a tire were made of a material which had this sluggish sort of elasticity it would run extremely hard even at slow speed, because the compression at the point A would occur so rapidly that the reaction could not occur promptly at B, but would take place after the compressed part had left the ground, so that it would not act to push the wheel forward, but would leave the constant resistance at A with nothing to offset it.

Exactly this reasoning applies to the solid rubber tire. So long as it is hauled at a speed which is slower than the expansive action at B, that action will count toward overcoming the resistance in front, but as soon as that speed is exceeded the tire loses much of its value.

To sum up the reasons why a pneumatic is fast: 1st. It is faster than a rigid tire because of the roughness of the road as already explained. 2nd. It is faster than other forms of elastic tires because the elasticity of compressed air reacts more quickly than does that of the more solid materials.

As between the various forms of pneumatic tires, that construction would be fastest which confines the air with the least resistance to lateral pressure; for instance, a pneumatic tire could be made with walls so thick and firm that while it would be comparatively safe against puncture the real pneumatic elements would be practically lost. While the other extreme, the fastest possible tire, would be one which confined the air in the thinnest and softest possible envelope; but such a tire would be a constant source of danger.

Many experiments have been made with a view to the discovery of a material which would combine the two desirable elements of speed and safety, but the best that has been done so far is a compromise in which the question of every day practical utility is most considered.

CORRESPONDENCE

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

Sir:— Reading the article in your issue of April 26th, on the subject of what to drink on the road, leads me to recite my experience on long runs, which may probably not be news to a good many, but which will, no doubt, benefit many others of less experience. I was on a sixty-mile run one hot day last summer, with my two sons, and they were stopping at every drinking fountain on the road and swallowing almost a quart of water each time. I had done the same thing before and knew it did very little good besides producing a highly disagreeable sensation of fullness, until the water "sweated out." At my suggestion on coming to the next fountain, we bared our arms to the elbow, letting the water flow over the forearm and wrist, across the palm and run off the ends of the fingers for a minute or more. I do not know of anything that will cool the whole body more rapidly than this. Having repeated this operation once or twice to each arm, rinse the mouth with water, and then drink. The result will be a delightful surprise to those who have never tried it before. A rider will not drink a quarter as much as he otherwise would, and the sensation of coolness will last for the next five miles, where the operation may be repeated at the next pump. It is not necessary to use a towel; the skin dries rapidly enough without it.

The article on "diet" was very good; now give us one on training, rubbing down, etc.

ED. BULLETIN:

I think something might be said on the high frame craze.

A high frame is all right as compared to some of the low ones we used to have a few years ago. When makers had only one height of frame and a tall man had to have a long saddle post projecting above the frame, thus creating a big leverage and straining the machine and looking ill. There is such a thing as going to the other extreme, and now you see people buying wheels who never rode before and who have somehow got the idea that they must get the highest frame they can ride and still reach the pedals with their toes and keep the saddle tight down to the frame with a stiff rod.

The consequence will be that when they ride over a rough place their leg is so straight that they cannot ride in their stirrups, so to speak. They cannot raise up slightly in the saddle and rest their weight on the pedals, but the whole jolt comes down on the saddle, thus injuring themselves and the machine too, by such violent shocks, especially as they have a stiff saddle post.

Some makers seem to encourage this idea, as they do not make a frame less than 23 inches high, so that a person of medium stature can not get a spring or goose neck post under the saddle, even if they wanted to, though most makers can furnish any height of frame.

WHO has not heard of "Setagec"? He was formerly on the Detroit Free Press, and later on the San Francisco Examiner. He is a cycling worker of no ordinary capacity.

His physician thought best to move him to Los Angeles, Cal., where he is now running the cycling department of the Los Angeles Record. We clip as follows from Setagec's column:

Present indications point toward the building of a cement third-of-a-mile track in this city by private parties. If this comes about, which we all hope, then cycling here will begin in earnest. This town has not yet woken up to the situation. For every wheel now being sold there should be three bought. A track built at once will make just this difference.

* * *

Three thousand bicycles were sold in this State last year, yet that number has already been disposed of this year and fully ten thousand will be sold in California before this year ends. It hardly seems possible, does it?

A POKE AT THE ANIMALS.

"The majority of readers, however, prefer to suffer the ills we inflict upon them, rather than stir up the animals and perhaps get something worse."—Editorial in L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS.

Of course the majority are easily satisfied, but it is to be hoped that Sterling Elliott and his associates will "stir up the animals" in a number of ways and in numerous places. Our organization, to begin with, in various localities, needs to be "got after," that it may be kept up to its work. It is all right to expatiate upon bright prospects, increased membership, and cover ourselves with glory as to what the League has done and may do. With no disposition to find fault, but only a desire to spread the gospel of good roads and unity of interest among wheelmen, we suggest, now that we have an organ, spread out into something more than a mere chronicle of race meets, and observe a dignity in "puffing," (if it is compelled to do that.)

In some localities there is a want of organization — notably so in this portion of Connecticut. League members are hardly known to or by each other, save in the club. Probably three thousand wheelmen are inhabitants of this city and its immediate vicinity, and of that number possibly two or three hundred are members of the L. A. W. We pass and repass each other daily; unknown and unknowing, unless accident makes us acquainted; and what is true of this locality is, without doubt, of like truth as to other places, where no form of organization exists.

Why can't the matter be remedied by the Consul of the Division taking action, by instructing Local Consuls to inaugurate some plan to get the unattached members of the League together, form an organization — not for club purposes — and find out "where we are at" in League business.

We appreciate your work, Messrs. Editors, and wish for long life and success for you in the future, and sincerely hope, also, that you will not make a newspaper patterned after the style of to-day.

STAMSONVILLE.

"D'YOU know what I'm going to do when I get home?" queried the lounger, as he entered the studio, one day when Nature had put on her white robes—the days were short and the cold was long.

I paid no special attention to him, for he seized the best orange in my basket and devoured it in silence, so far as words were concerned, while partly hidden behind a copy of the BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS, which he pretended to be much interested in, just then. Then, as if there had been no lapse of time nor break in his remarks, he continued:

"I'm going to make believe we are touring, and have stopped for lunch at a farm house in Waybackton, and shall slash into the comb honey and bread, and go for the sweet milk with cream an inch thick on it. Yes, sir, great thick chunks of yellow Alderney scum that old tourists have a weakness for and are always willing to pay for, too. That's the sort, — honey and bread and milk, and any good fruit to be had at the time! No headaches nor indigestion, no regrets nor misery after such fare as that.

"Know what I do? Have a big pocket lined with oiled silk, from which I extract, as I ride, big black cherries, or great white oxhearts, luscious plums, grapes, peaches, pears, etc., whenever the spirit and the wheel moves me to do so. Come home healthy? Should say I did! Pile up the miles? Guess not; that is no way for me to get pleasure out of cycling.

"Say, a neat leather lunch box, lined with oiled silk, is a good thing to have on long tours, so you can take along anything you like best, and have it handy, in case your sketching takes longer than you thought, or you get wafted to dreamland on some grassy bank, to the rasping song the crickets sing, while the sunny hours go flitting by. Don't mention it, but that's one of the ways that Al. and I used to get joy out of wheeling in the old days on the 'Star and Facile,' days of pleasant memories, considering what we had to contend with in the way of weight, roads and prejudice."

"Look here," said the lounging visitor, as I kept on at work, at the easel, and let him do all the talking, "do you know that for all round use on our hilly roads, I would like and mean to have 2½ x 26-inch single tube tires, long wheel base, fifty-seven gear, low frame and lots of spring in saddle, upturned handlebar, foot brake, coasters. Easy and good in every way, you can wager — there! I have to meet a man, — good-by."

And he was gone. STAMSON.

THE BOARD OF TRADE

Of cycle manufacturers and the L. A. W. seem disposed to lie down together like unto the lion and the — but of course we couldn't call either one a lamb, so let us assume that a couple of lions would come nearer the mark.

Whatever else may be accomplished, there is one important matter in which this combined influence may do effective work. We refer to the finding of stolen wheels.

With members and officers covering the entire country it can be made extremely difficult for the cycle thief to flourish.

A PAVING EXPOSITION.

The Merchants' Association of San Francisco, intends to hold a paving exposition, at which it is expected to show all systems of paving now in use, together with such instructive and entertaining matter as would naturally relate to the general subject of streets and paving.

Such an exhibit would certainly be interesting, and ought to be well supported.

INDIA RUBBER WORLD AND ELECTRICAL TRADES REVIEW

Is confessedly the authority on rubber matters the world over. It has subscribers and correspondents in every civilized country, and has the reputation of being up with the times on all matters pertaining to rubber manufacture. From the beginning it has followed the growth of the tire business with ever increasing interest, and has repeatedly been appealed to to answer questions, decide disputes, and furnish information for both tire makers and tire users. Hence we believe that the series of articles here announced, founded upon a knowledge of all branches of rubber manufacture dating back many years, and of the tire industry from its beginning, should have an exceptional value to tire manufacturers, tire dealers, and especially tire users — the men who pay the bills, ride the wheels, and know what they want.

WYOMING.—Chief Consul, C. P. Hill, Cheyenne.

FOREIGN MARSHAL.—Joseph Pennell, care J. S. Morgan & Co., 22 Old Broad St., London, E. C.

IT'S YOUR FAULT?

Letters have been received from a number of Massachusetts towns, asking why local consuls have not been appointed.

In such cases we find that a satisfactory application has not been made. Why not make it?

STERLING ELLIOTT, Chief Consul.

(COMBINATION BLANK.)

Application for Membership in the L. A. W.*

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR:— Enclosed find the sum of TWO DOLLARS which I send in full payment of my initiation fee, one year's dues and subscription fee to the official publication of the L. A. W., under provisions of Articles III and VII of the Constitution. From the sum enclosed I authorize and direct you to pay to the publisher of said publication the regular subscription fee to League members and to enter my name as a subscriber. I certify that I am eligible to membership in the L. A. W. under the provisions of the Constitution and I refer to two League members (or three other reputable citizens) named below.

Name, ...

Street or Box, ...

City or Town, ...

State,

(Club,) .....

(COMBINATION BLANK.)

RENEWAL BLANK.

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.,
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR: — I enclose ONE DOLLAR for which please renew my membership and subscription to the L. A. W. publication for another year.

Number, ...

Name, ...

Street and No. or P. O. Box, ...

City, ...

State, ...

Division in which my home is and to which I should be attached. .....

Send Ticket to, ...

The L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS AND ALL OTHER MAIL MATTER WILL GO TO THE ADDRESS AS GIVEN ABOVE, and the name of no member will be put regularly on the list till his renewal with latest address is received.

Fill out above blank, inclose necessary money, and send to Secretary Don't send soiled bills. New bills are safer in the mails. Write very plainly, PRINTING PREFERRED. Stamps of a denomination above 2 cents will not be received. If you live in one state and have your mail sent to another, fill out the blank so that you may be located with the division in which your home is and your mail matter be sent as you wish. Ticket holders, 25 cents; with name stamped, 50 cents. If you want either of these write "25" or "50" at left of word Number. This brief form of blank is used to enable applicants for membership to follow the requirements of the League Constitution, which provides [Articles III and VII] for the payment in advance of one year's dues, with initiation fee and subscription fee to the official organ. Applicants or members using this blank will regularly receive all official news and announcements and will be subject to no further charge or assessment for any purpose whatever.

L. A. W. Veteran Bar.

The veteran bar which has been adopted by the L. A. W. to be worn by the veterans of the organization, can be worn above the League badge, or as an individual pin.

Any member who has been connected with the L. A. W. for ten consecutive years is entitled to wear the bar.

Members holding numbers between 100 and 1656 are entitled to wear the bar at this date.

The bar is of gold with the word "Veteran" in enamel. Each bar must have the owner's name engraved on the back. All orders must be sent to the Secretary accompanied by the price of bar, $2.50.

We can supply any style or form of badge with bar. The standard badge retails for $3.00, and will be sent attached to bar if this sum is added to remittance.

SIXTY DAYS ONLY.

Members are notified that the renewal season is cut down to sixty days. In previous years, renewals were received to July 1st. This year the season ends JUNE 1st. Please remember.

ADDITIONAL BLANKS.

Application or Renewal Blanks may be had of the Secretary on application.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to Monday preceding this date, and published in accordance with Article III of the constitution.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published and to report errors and omissions to the secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at noon on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

MEETING MASS. DIVISION BOARD OF OFFICERS.

THE regular quarterly meeting of the Board of Officers, Mass. Div. L. A. W., was held at Young's Hotel, Boston, March 13, 1895. Chief Consul Elliott presided and the following members of the board were present: D. Edward Miller, J. Fred Adams, Chas. L. Barker, J. S. Dean, W. C. Dillingham, W. S. Doane, F. I. Gorton, J. C. Kerrison, F. S. McCauseland, A. D. Peck, C. G. Percival, A. K. Peck, G. A. Perkins, L. W. Piper, A. W. Robinson, J. B. Seward, F. E. Shute, G. L. Sullivan, A. W. Swan, J. E. Tippett, A. B. Totten, F. H. Williams, S. T. Williams, W. B. Chipman, D. J. Chisholm, W. C. Toppan, N. W. Starbird, C. W. Fourdrinier, L. E. Freeman, L. P. Jackson, A. M. Child, James Keltie, R. S. Swan, E. M. Thayer, H. E. Morine, H. W. Robinson, D. J. Dwyer, F. O. Dean, L. A. Bowers, J. S. Grey, A. G. Frothingham.

On motion of Mr. Dean it was voted to dispense with the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting and that the full report be published in the first issue of the L. A. W. BULLETIN.

Chief Consul Elliott presented a verbal report telling of the work accomplished since the last meeting of the board and outlining the plans which he had arranged for advancing the interests of the division.

The report of the secretary-treasurer showed that the expenditures since December 1, 1894, had been $617.42, and that the cash on hand was $168.33. There had been no receipts during that time.

On motion of Mr. Dean it was voted to reconsider the vote of the meeting of December 12, 1894, relating to appropriation of $180 for rental of division headquarters, $120 for furnishing the same, and allowance of $500 for clerk hire in the chief consul's office.

When the original motion was again voted upon it was lost.

On motion of Mr. R. S. Swan it was voted "That the chief consul be empowered to employ such clerical force to attend to the affairs of the division as he and the secretary-treasurer may deem necessary, at an expense not exceeding $350."

Chief Consul Elliott moved an amendment to the by-laws providing for the division paying an indemnity of $500 to the heirs of any member of the Massachusetts Division who shall be killed while riding a bicycle. After a lengthy discussion the motion was lost.

On motion of Chief Consul Elliott it was voted "That the sum of $200 be appropriated for prizes to be given to local consuls who shall secure the largest number of new members during the year 1895, the same to be expended under the direction of the general committee of the division."

On motion of Mr. Perkins it was voted "That the general committee of the division be authorized to expend a sum not exceeding $1,000 for the entertainment of League members attending the spring meet of the Massachusetts Division, to be held May 30, 1895."

The meeting then adjourned.

CHAS. S. HOWARD, Sec'y-Treas.

CINCINNATI BICYCLE CLUB.

In the absence of President Conklyn, Mr. M. G. Heintz presided at the regular monthly meeting of the Cincinnati Bicycle Club Saturday evening. Twelve new members were elected and no resignations were presented. The names of the new members are: Adolf Weis, C. W. Crummill, W. A. Jones, J. W. Pine, Dr. E. Freeman, R. T. Pattison, John Dolph, Chas. T. Coppock, George Ormond, G. M. Snyder, Howard H. Hynes and C. B. Stewart.

After the transaction of some regular business, Mr. Heintz called Dr. Gray to the chair and addressed the meeting on the subject of the L. A. W. helping hands or guide boards, which are supplied at cost by the good roads department of the League. Upon motion of Mr. Heintz, the club resolved, without a dissenting voice, to devote the amount of the rebates to be received from the Ohio division for League renewals to the purchase and erection of these guide boards at various cross roads and forks in Hamilton County. A committee of three will be appointed to attend to the matter.

AUGUSTA, ME., has a new cycle club. Its officers are as follows: President, Dr. Julian Wilder; first vice-president, C. A. Milliken; second, C. S. Hichborn; third, A. S. Bangs; secretary and treasurer, W. C. Miller; executive committee, W. C. Miller, Dr. A. C. Titcomb and E. H. Jenkins; captain, Guy O. Vickery; first lieutenant, Arthur D. Libby; second, C. E. Shorey; color bearer, E. B. Richards.

QUERIES AND ANSWERS

"D. E. R.," New Orleans, asks:

1. Which is the best pneumatic tire?

Ans. We are negotiating with several makers of inflated tires, with a view to obtaining their advertising patronage, just at this time it would be unwise, possibly fatal, to express any personal preference. Of course it stands to reason that sooner or later the more worthy makers of such things will advertise in this paper, meanwhile we would advise extreme caution.

W. M. B. and R. D. G.; Philadelphia:

Your kind criticism is appreciated.

ELLING.

"A friend of the BULLETIN" sends us an article on apple tree lice.

We realize that at times we have wandered far, far from the subject of bicycling, but really it doesn't seem as though this article is quite the proper thing for these columns.

Still there is no telling what we may have, so here is the remedy:

"Dissolve one-half pound of hard soap in one gallon of hot water, after which add one gallon of kerosene or coal-oil and mix thoroughly."

HOW TO LOAD THE TOOL BAG.

Take a strip of cloth as wide as the bag is long, or if the cloth is thin have it twice as wide and fold it; take that article which you use most seldom (let us hope that it is the repair outfit), and roll it once over in the cloth, then add another article and roll the cloth around the whole, leaving the wrench and oil can for the last; use as long a piece of cloth as you can without overcrowding the bag. This method insures the "tools" against rattling, and wearing each other.

The cloth may in an emergency be used to wipe the machine, though a particularly tidy rider would prefer to keep it clean, and use cotton waste for the other purpose.

ASK and you shall be answered.

THE BLOOMER WE HAVE ALWAYS WITH US.

IF we judge by the cuts in the cycle papers the bloomer costumes worn by wheelwomen are far from being handsome. The different shapes are the result of individual ideas influenced by hereditary prejudices. Is the progress of common sense inverse to that of art?

This represents the chief consul of Massachusetts as he felt when he learned that this State was again ahead of Pennsylvania in numbers.

How he will feel when Massachusetts again leads New York cannot even be imagined.

THE WHEELWOMAN

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The time is ripe for a woman's paper devoted to wheeling for women.

A medium is needed for the dissemination of instructive and interesting articles on the subject upon which the existing cycling press is almost unanimously silent.

THE WHEELWOMAN gathers items of interest from all possible sources pertaining to the sport. Fashions in wheel dress and accessories will be given special attention.

THE WHEELWOMAN is in the field, not as a competitor with other cycling papers, but to extend and broaden a work begun years ago: that of bringing women to a realizing sense of the importance of out-door exercise.

THE WHEELWOMAN advocates the highest standard of cycling from a healthful and artistic standpoint.

THE WHEELWOMAN is in no sense a trade journal.

THE WHEELWOMAN advertises and recommends nothing which cannot receive personal endorsement.

Interesting articles by and about prominent women who advocate the wheel, appear each month in the WHEELWOMAN. Able writers contribute to its columns. THE WHEELWOMAN is conducted by

MARY SARGENT HOPKINS.

We offer all Women Members of the L. A W., one year's subscription to THE WHEELWOMAN for 50 cents. The same offer holds good to any woman joining the League within three months of this date. After she has joined, to make the inducement still greater we offer Frances E. Willard's new book, "A Wheel Within A Wheel" (which will be put on the market about April 1st, at 50 cents), with one year's subscription to THE WHEELWOMAN, for 75 cents. This to woman League members. All others can have the book and a year's subscription to WHEELWOMAN for $1.25.

Boom!

It seems as though every Bicycle rider in the United States and Canada wanted a "Standard" and "wanted it awful quick." The immediate and enormous facts of these dull popularity of this device is one of the surprising times. It is entirely within the limits of a conservative statement to say that more "Standard" Cyclometers have been ordered in the last two weeks than have been heretofore sold by all other American manufacturers combined, in all the years that Cyclometers have been made!

And "for most excellent reasons, i' faith." The price? Not $5.00 (though it is worth more), nor $3.50 (though it would be cheap at more), but $2.00—Two dollars! Considering the satisfaction it will give you, it's like finding money!

THE L. A. W. AND THE RACE.

SOON after people began to ride bicycles it was discovered that some were able to ride faster than others. This discovery naturally led to some rivalry among those who had claims to superior leg motion, and the inevitable race followed.

These contests to determine which of several riders possessed the most "get there" soon became popular, not only with those whose merits were at stake; but also among their less speedy friends.

The originator of the remark, that "the race is not alone to the swift," must have had in mind a bicycle race, for it soon developed that the rider who started out and rode hardest, stood little chance of winning against the more crafty contestant who was willing to "watch and wait."

The general spread of this bit of wisdom has reduced the modern bicycle race to about one or two hundred yards, except in the case of novices whose very greenness sometimes causes them to give the audience "the worth of their money."

However, it is the "finish" that is exciting and nearly everybody likes to witness the honest struggle between two or more well trained athletes as they come down the stretch each with the purpose of winning if it be a possibility.

"All up" is the cry in the grand stand, and up it is, until the tape is crossed and for the time being the all important question of which is the best man, is settled.

While there are very few people, among those who themselves ride the wheel, who do not enjoy seeing a bicycle race, we have reason to believe that there are very few indeed who care anything about reading of a race which they didn't see except in rare instances where some of the great lights of cycledom are involved.

In the long ago when race programs contained the now honored names of Bassett, Dean, Pitman, Hodges and Stall it was no uncommon thing to see business, so far as it depended on wheelmen, entirely suspended, and the contents of the shop and counting room emptied into the grand stand and the bleachers. The anxious crowd of sympathizing personal friends of each would sit in breathless nervousness and watch the perspiring efforts of their favorites as they flew around the horse track at the rate of a mile in four seventy-eight and a quarter. The game was concentrated, the talent was all there, even the thought of a race somewhere else was not to be entertained.

Now the sport is widespread, not one of the old timers mentioned above can ride fast enough to break the law, but we have in their places thousands of riders of all ages, sexes and conditions, who can ride faster than what was the world's record then.

Then, if newspapers paid any attention to cycling it was only in the same spirit in which they might notice a two-headed calf or a prohibitionist.

Now there is not a newspaper in the world which does not give space to cycling matters.

We believe that the breaking of a record should be widely heralded, and the name of the rider who has thus distinguished himself should go with the record, but when it comes to also telegraphing the name of the machine he rode, we believe the line should be drawn.

A certain racing "team" has just arrived at the Waltham track. They evidently have a shrewd manager. In order to illustrate our meaning without still further spreading the disease, we will call them the Henhawk team. Upon their arrival the big dailies of Boston announced in scare heads that the "Henhawk team has arrived in Waltham," "The Henhawk riders were entertained at a certan theatre," "The Henhawks are looking well," etc.

Now this reflects the greatest credit on the Henhawk manager but it is a disgrace to the papers which permitted themselves to be thus imposed upon.

The L. A. W. BULLETIN would like to be a standing advertisement for every maker of bicycles in the world if two other points could be gained at the same time. To do a general free advertising business, it would be necessary in order to succeed to do exact justice to each advertiser and at the same time to please readers.

Our refusal to print "trade notes" except at a price is not because we would not like to benefit the advertiser or even one who was not an advertiser, but because every one so favored would be given an unfair advantage over others, and to equalize the matter would be impossible.

Racing does much to foster and promote an interest in cycling, and hence we believe in racing.

The L. A. W. is the only organization which could properly control cycle racing, hence we believe it should continue to exercise that control.

Professionalism has existed and has been controlled to some extent by the League, for years. Professionalism is absolutely necessary to the success of modern cycle racing and hence we approve of professionalism.

There has existed a strong prejudice against the word and so our worldly wise ex-chairman of the racing board called it class B.

This prejudice is being outgrown to an extent that professionalism will not always sound as it has.

Cycle racing is, or at least it may be, a perfectly honorable and legitimate occupation and it is the duty of the L. A. W. to take care of it to the end that it may be purified and special restrictions and inducements made for that purpose.

The above, in brief, is our position on the racing question. As before stated the BULLETIN will make no attempt at being a newspaper and yet we shall give brief accounts from time to time of the more important events. We shall take especial pains to bring out the names of riders who have done notable things, but the wheels they rode, the few clothes they wore, the particular gum they chewed, the liniment in which they bathed, or the tires, toe-clips and tonic which they used are not legitimate matter for the reading columns of the BULLETIN.

A TALE OF TWO BIRDS.

While looking about the floor of a granary some years ago, I found two dead sparrows lying cold but eloquent in the midst of a lot of tiny feathers.

A broken window pane explained the entrance of these little pugilists and a close examination showed that the conflict, which had resulted fatally to both, had been a bitter one. All four of the eyes had been destroyed and both heads were covered with blood.

As I went for a dustpan and broom, I thought of what this seemingly trivial conflict might mean.

The weather was cold, very cold, snow covered the ground and the pasturage for sparrows was not of the best.

These diminutive waifs were but two of many thousands which were living as best they could amidst the winter's frosts, and had been picking up what could be but a precarious livelihood so far as food went, while they slept, if birds could sleep under such circumstances, upon the cheerless limbs of the trees.

These two, more fortunate than the others, had found their way into a comfortable building.

Here was more wheat and oats than they could eat in a thousand years. They had no reason to suppose that they would be disturbed in the indefinite enjoyment of what to them should have seemed a paradise.

As compared with what they had been accustomed to, it was luxury of no ordinary kind and yet they had shown no more wisdom than people sometimes do.

They were well off and didn't know it.

Let us think this over and each fix up a moral for himself.

SPEAKING OF RECORDS,

Look at this. In the days of our greatest prosperity we published in one week 921 applications. That was our best on record till we stopped it this week with 1019. We booked 442 applications last Monday. Our best previous record for a single day was 320 applications.

The one hundred thousand mark looks easy.

HAY & WILLITS.

Decision rendered April 22, 1895.

JUDGE BAKER says:

"In my opinion it involved invention to change the form of the Choker device * * * and combine it with an air pump having a hose with an open end adapted to slip over any bicycle nipple. To one who has accomplished this result the quality of inventor should not be denied. I am of the opinion that the device covered by it constitutes a patentable invention, and that it had not been anticipated by any prior patented device. The defendant's device is an infringement of it. In my judgment it is so palpable an infringement that it is needless to point out the coincidence of structure and the operation of the two devices. It is apparent upon the most casual inspection. There will be a decree for the complainant."

NIXON WATERMAN,

Our new associate editor, who will be with us next month, is a writer to whom western people need no introduction, and his work has been widely quoted in the east.

His is one of those natures which enables him to look upon the cares and troubles of life with more or less composure. He doesn't think that just because the opposite party elects a president the country is going to the dogs.

He is a poet of the sort whose lines are used to kindle the fire of human sympathy and not the fire in the office stove.

A man who sees the sunshine without worrying about the storm to come.

As he is not yet a part of the BULLETIN equipment and is not here to object, we take the responsibility of printing the following quotations which refer to a series of readings given in the west last winter:

"The keynote to Mr. Waterman's songs is located somewhere about midway between a smile and a tear, and humor and pathos are delicately blended in his lines. He is never pessimistic and his verses are the right sort to read on a dark day—they are full of sunshine. He is thoroughly alive and if his writings honestly reflect his thoughts, he is really glad of it. Sometimes there is a tinge of sunset sadness in his words, but as a rule they are much more suggestive of a robin's song at daybreak. On the other hand his optimism is not of the blissfully mistaken sort that forever insists that everything is lovely and the goose hangs high. He paints the rainbow but he doesn't guarantee that there is a bag of gold at the end of it. He tells us to have faith in all mankind, but to keep an eye out for the green-goods and gold-brick sharpers. He says we should be kindly thoughtful regarding the conduct of all created things, but we should not attempt to thaw out a frozen hornet's nest by the kitchen-fire without first sending the family over to a neighbor's."—Dubuque, (Iowa), Daily Telegraph.

"Nixon Waterman is a poet who possesses the rare qualities of quaintness that gives to melody a subtler beauty, to rhythm a sturdy ring and truth itself an added strength. His manner is natural and unaffected. He is a master of emotions and his audience is fain to follow where he chooses to lead whether it be to smiles or tears. He is one of the most charming entertainers that has appeared in Chicago this winter."—The Banner of Gold.

"Mr. Waterman is marvelously clever at rhyming, and has genius that is given to few men. As a public entertainer he is as thoroughly at home as he is with the pen. He possesses, in a rare degree the ability to amuse, to entertain and instruct the most critical audience."—Peck's Sun, Milwaukee.

"Mr. Waterman's shoe-shop philosophy and pleasing poetical fancies carry one back home—to the old home where mother is.—Pittsburgh Commercial Gazette.

"Would that we had more such entertainments and that such preachers of a new gospel of truth and cheerfulness and love were never without an auditory bounded solely by the limits of the hall in which they speak."—Davenport Democrat.

"There hasn't been in Chicago a brighter, breezier entertainment than that given by the Chicago Press Club at Central Music Hall, Tuesday night. Nixon Waterman, the brightest versifier in the west, gave the original versified prologue of the entertainment. It was like a whiff of a Delmonico dinner to a hungry audience. Some seem to have a flush of bright ideas always on hand. Nixon Waterman is one of this sort. He has more sparkles concealed within his quiet exterior than a cask of champagne. They are always on tap ready for any occasion."—The Chicago 400.

MARY VS. MARY.

Mary Sargent Hopkins, the charming "conductor" of the only ladies' cycling paper (The Wheelwoman), is not a believer in short pants for women, nor in long ones either, while it may be surmised that Dr. Mary Walker thinks differently.

These two famous Marys met recently and the following dialogue was the result:

Dr. Mary: "I understand you are lecturing to women. I hope you will tell them to wear proper clothes." Mrs. H.: "Yes, and I don't advise them to wear men's clothes either."

Dr. Mary: "I hope you don't insinuate that these are men's clothes, they are not; these are my clothes, and they were made to order by one of the best tailors in Washington."

The patrolman who reported this encounter said that both women seemed perfectly cool, and as they parted they were still cooler.

The last issue of the Wheelwoman is fully up to the high standard of its former numbers, and bids fair to live and grow fat, though we would suggest that its editor hedge a little on the subject of bloomers, so as not to have too much to regret later.

THE WOODBRIDGE MINSTRELS.

On the evening of May 29th the ladies of the Woodbridge Cycle Club will give a minstrel entertainment in Boston which bids fair to be an interesting event.

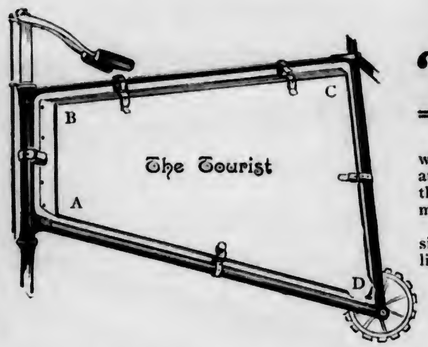
Their show of last year, which was a good one, will be much improved upon, and every wheelman who loves fun will be sure to attend.

The girls are working hard to get money together for the purchase of a new club house, and this minstrel show is in line with their ambition, which is a laudable one, and will succeed because it will deserve to.

Admission to the minstrel show with reserved seat seventy-five cents, special discount to L. A. W. members thirty-three and one-third per cent. This is one of the many good things the Massachusetts member "gets for his dollar."

Those who expect to attend should order seats now as the tickets are going like pop corn off a hot shovel.

Persons who would like to make sure of a seat, may write or telegraph to this office.



"Standing room only" will probably be the condition of things if you wait until the night of the entertainment, and beside it is better to avoid the crush at the box office.

THE FIRST AMERICAN BICYCLE.

Another claimant for the honor of having built it. He also mentions an endless rim, built up of thin layers of wood.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

My attention has been called to two recent articles in the Boston Globe. In one of these, claim is made that, "the first wheel built in America" was built by Billy Atwell, for Col. Pope, in 1877. The second article in question, is an extract from the Salem Gazette, claiming the same honor for "Paul Patten of Salem," who, it is stated, built a wheel for Clarence Murphy of Salem, in 1876. The "Pope" wheel is stated to have weighed 113 lbs. and the "Murphy" wheel, 82 lbs.

I think I can outdo both these claims. In the winter of 1870-1, I was employed as foreman in the shop of R. S. Gilmore & Co., 35-39 Wareham street, Boston. Mr. Gilmore's nephew, Fostor Gilmore, also worked for the firm, and had somehow heard of the wheels in use in England or France. Filled with the idea that he wanted one, he got me to build him one, in which "labor of love" he was to assist. It was built as follows: The front wheel was sixty inches, and rear one twenty inches in diameter. Each rim was made of ash one-eighth inch thick, with long scarfed ends, bent around a form, layer on layer, until the rim was seven-eighths of an inch thick. The layers were joined by waterproof glue. The hubs were of maple and ash "built up," and in shape somewhat like a spool, the spokes were of three-eighths inch dowel rod, and "staggered" in the hub six inches. The axles were three-fourths inches square steel, turned round at the bearings, set in the hubs with shellac, and "cross pinned" cranks and pedal pins were of iron, pedals being made spool shape. Front forks were of ash, and not unlike those of the earlier "Columbias." That is, each fork side went right up to the handle bar, which was of maple turned into handles at the ends, the top ends of the fork sides having tenons which fitted into the handle bar. The backbone was of ash made in layers, bent, and formed in like manner to the wheels. The rear end had fork ends glued on and riveted through. On the inside bend of backbone was a thin steel plate the whole length, fastened to backbone at short intervals with light rivets. The front end of backbone had an enlarged section, through which (and the cross pieces on fork sides) there passed a one-half inch turned steel rod. This made the "steering head." The ends of the forks were bored to fit the axles, split from end to the hole, and ends fastened with a cross screw. A rawhide "liner" in the hole made a "removable bushing," and the cross screw adjusted for wear. The tires were of light iron (seven-eighths inches wide, one-eighth inch thick) and were put on by Hugh McBarron, of the firm of McBarron & Lucas, Harrison avenue. The axles were turned to shape at Grover & Baker's sewing machine factory near by. Saddle was of wood, formed, and covered with carpet. The saddle hung from a swivel pin in front, and from a wooden spring in rear, the latter fastened to the backbone. After all was made, it was varnished with three coats, and in its appearance was not to be despised. The total weight, minus the saddle, was 38 lbs. I think the saddle weighed 2 lbs.

Mr. Gilmore used to ride it to and from his work, as well as in the evenings, and generally started on the sidewalk and rode over the curbstone. Cobblestone paving or the smooth wooden paved Columbus avenue were all one to him, the wheel had to take it all in.

The last I knew of him, he was at Tallahassee, Fla., and had the wheel there. The wheel was a staunch one, and a success in every way. And I claim it antedates the "Pope" and "Murphy" wheels several years, and also far outdoes any of the early patterns in weight. At that time (or later) Col. Pope was, I think, on High street, but am not sure of it. Many old timers on Wareham street may remember this wheel, for it was a great curiosity then. Without in any way intending to belittle the work of others, I think I can claim justly, the honor of having made the first wheel, and the lightest one, as well as the honor of having made it of wood. If there are any earlier claims that can be vouched for, I should like to hear from them.

VASELINE VS. OIL.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

Your article on "How to Clean a Bearing" attracted my attention the more, perhaps, because I have practically eliminated all bearing cleaning from my experience.

I do not mean to say I let my machine run more than five thousand miles without a new supply of lubricant, but that I have never found my bearings in a condition when they needed what is called "cleaning."

The lubricant I use is vaseline and although I usually take my bearings apart to renew the same, I can think of two or three ways of introducing it which would obviate that procedure.

Heat vaseline and it will be thin enough to use from an oil can.

Warm the bearing and it will flow wherever directed.

Form a solution with naptha and it will go anywhere, and when the naphtha has evaporated will stay there.

My reasons for using and thinking vaseline better than oil, are:—

I have run my bearings two years in vaseline and find no difference in coasting or pedaling.

The bearings — tool steel hardened clear through —are practically unworn.

At the end of the season the vaseline shows no change except a slight browning making it a dark straw color. There is no dust in the bearings, they are clean.

From the above facts I might deduce many reasons why it is the better lubricant but will only mention one.

Vaseline has just viscosity enough to keep its place, does not go circulating around for any grit or dust which may creep in the crevices and carry it to the ball track to do its best at grinding up the cups and cones.

The balls seem to escape most of the wear by presenting a larger surface.

Vaseline on the contrary stays pretty much where it is put and by filling up the crevices keeps out the dust.

As for its lubricating qualities it seems to me the conditions presented in a ball bearing do not require a thin oil at all, as there is very little surface in contact and the friction is mostly rolling.

I presume the theorists will jump on me, but if they will try vaseline for six months and at the end of that time note the difference in wear and cleanliness I will leave the verdict to them. Besides, I shall gain six months' silence.

I usually run my machine the entire year on one dose of vaseline, and do not put much in at that.

Yours, etc.,
A. F. U. U.

[The above writer is a practical man and has ridden in all weather for over ten years.

It is true that very good results have been obtained from the use of vaseline in ball bearings, although we cannot agree with the doctor that the wheel runs as easy as when lubricated with thin oil. We have seen vaseline used to keep out dust, by putting a supply of it in the joint between the stationary and the running part of the bearing. If the wheel is to be cared for regularly we would prefer oil; if it is to be run as the typical stepmother sometimes runs the other woman's children, we would say, use vaseline and lots of it.

Please come forward, brethren, and give us the benefit of your experience. ED.]

KEEP TO THE RIGHT.

AN apt answer to your query "What shall we print?" in this week's BULLETIN, would be a parody on "Honest Abe's" famous squib, that "You can fool some people all the time," etc., merely substituting "please" for "fool." This is not necessarily original, but it may squeeze through.

As to matters of interest which have a bearing on the welfare of every one, there are a few, of which too much cannot be said, written or printed.

For example: "Keep to the right!" Why? To avoid the painful separation of the spirit from the flesh, commonly known as "death."

Nonsense? The spirit of the unfortunate Robert Center doesn't think it nonsense. Neither does the luckless driver who unfortunately tried to occupy the space filled by Mr. Center's animate form while that form was in that space.

Funny? No—fearful. The Western Boulevard in New York city is a fine stretch of asphalt for about two miles of its length. It is a broad avenue with a narrow strip of green verdure in its centre, is well surfaced and graded, and affords an agreeable ride or drive. Street cars run along the avenue close to the central grass plots, going north on the east side and south on the west side.

A driver of a heavy coal cart pilots his horse towards the north on the west side of the avenue, on the southbound track; a car comes southward toward him, so do some cyclists. He sees the car, don't see the wheelmen; he can't turn to the right—grass—so he turns to the left, and a wheelman strikes the cart—once—never again.

Are you anxious to die?

Of course I can complain only of my own neighborhood. I am a resident of the great and vainglorious Empire State. Proud of it? Read on. I hope other commonwealths are no worse off—in some respects.

There is a remarkably efficient State statute requiring "drivers approaching each other, to turn to the right in seasonable time to avoid collision, under penalty of five dollars, to be recovered by the injured party." That is all the law there is on the subject. Read it again, isn't it comprehensive?

For instance, a wheelman—no—hardly "man"—call him a "cycuss," turns to the left and is struck. Of course he disobeys the law, but, shinplasters to buttons, he will be the injured party. Is he entitled to five dollars for his ignorance? That's what the law says; read it once more.

This may not properly explain what is meant by that statute, but that isn't my fault.

Please do not confound the above example with the case of Mr. Center; the boot, in his case, was on the other leg.

The gist of the matter is, that New York city has no rule of the road, the State law is ineffective and to cap the climax, the police enforce local ordinances only. I make an honorable exception in favor of the park department, who have such a rule and who strictly enforce it to everyone's satisfaction; a case of a part being greater than the whole. As for the rest of the city, you are at liberty—if in a heavy vehicle—to go as you please, even unto death.

Fellow cyclists! What are you going to do about it?

SAFETY.

Bicyclers are likely to get cut, scraped, sprained, bruised, or some way hurt. No matter which, an application of Redding's Russia Salve will take away the smart and pain, and cure the trouble in a hurry. Thousands of wheelmen never go on the road without it. Why should you? 25 cents buys it of any druggist. Handy box for your pocket.

THE Rice Waterproof Belt Cape, which is controlled by Wm. Read & Sons, of Boston, is a valuable adjunct to the cyclers wardrobe. It weighs less than twelve ounces and folds into a very small space; it protects the hands and arms from rain and cold.

Harpers Weekly, of May 18, has an article with front page illustration, showing a military company equipped with these handy waterproof coverings. It would seem to be indispensable to the soldier cyclist.

COURT DECISION.

Subject: Air pump connection.
Parties: S. F. Heath Cycle Co., plaintiffs.
Hay & Willits, defendants.

The suit was to restrain the defendants from using a pump connection, which consisted in a hose of sufficient bore to overset the valve stem of any pneumatic tire, and held upon the same by a clamp.

Judge Baker, of the U. S. Circuit Court for the district of Indiana, decided April 22, 1895, that the defendants' device was an infringement of the Johnson patent of which the plaintiffs were assignees, and a decree was rendered accordingly.

DO YOU USE DOORS?

A good door is something to be pleased with, but a door that is out of order is an abomination.

When you get your mortgage all fixed and settle with the builder, you will notice that the doors open and shut with the precision and accuracy of machinery, but shortly after, the stone wall begins to settle, and the chimney leans slightly in the direction of the savings bank; the beautifully kiln-dried lumber of which the contractor has told you all summer, at once proceeds to shrink or swell, — no carpenter was ever known to predict which, — and the results are, to say the least, interesting.

The windows will — but we were talking about the doors.

Sometimes the door is shut and you can't open it, sometimes it is open and you can't shut it, but whichever, the effect on one's vocabulary is much the same.

If a door binds at the top or sides, it is usually necessary to remove some of the material, which may be done by the judicious use of the plane. It sometimes happens, however, that doors are planed on the bottom when they should not be, and that often involves the services of a carpenter when the proper thing might have been done by the kitchen girl.

After years of continual use the hinges become worn and allow the door to strike on the threshold. Simply lift the door off and place one or more "washers" in the joint of the hinge. Washers or "burrs" of the right size may be bought at any hardware store for less than five cents per dozen.

THE GREEN RIDER.

As he sometimes looks to "K. I. B."

YES, we've all seen him. He has just bought his first bicycle, and with the air and confidence of an expert machinist he proceeds to dissect it to see how it is built, after the fashion of a child who has just received a new five-cent watch.

Although the salesman has adjusted the handle-bar and saddle to his reach, he thinks differently, and, after wearing the corners off of the nut he succeeds in loosening the handle-bar and puts it in the most approved scorcher position.

The saddle next claims his attention, and he raises it until his position on the machine is such that a spectator standing behind him is unable to see his head.

He runs his fingers over the spokes, and his musical sense (sometimes the only sense he has) is shocked to find that they are not in tune. He reasons that as they are all of the same length and should be under the same tension, they will all give forth the same musical tone. He loosens a spoke here and tightens one there until all are up to the same pitch and is more than surprised when he finds that the rim will not run in the frame. So to the best of his ability he undoes what he has done, and finally the wheel goes round without knocking the frame. But its motion as it revolves gives a dizzy feeling to the person looking at it.

Then he takes off one of the cranks "to see how it works," and knocks off half of the nickel before he gets it on again. Now he is ready for his first tour of five miles. After climbing into the saddle from the street curbing he is off, not like an arrow, but more like an electric car with a broken trolley. Before he has gone ten rods his saddle goes down with a suddenness that causes him to bite his tongue, and his knees come up until he can scarcely see over them.

With the aid of a wagon-wrench borrowed at a blacksmith's he screws up the nut until he destroys the thread and again makes a start. But in going over a railroad crossing at too small an angle, his front wheel starts for one side of the road while his handle-bars point in the opposite direction. Of course he gets off, but not by way of the pedal. It is easier and quicker to go over the handles. He is not killed, however, and with the help of a farmer he once more adjusts "them handles."

Up to this time he has not violated the law regarding a speed of ten miles an hour, but coming to a hill he makes up his mind to coast it. He coasted it last winter on a double-runner and why couldn't he do it on a bike? He gets a good start but when about half way down the hill he concludes that he is going too fast, and having read that the foot may be used as a brake he acts upon the suggestion and places his foot on the front tire between it and the fork. He has forgotten that there are nails in his boot. But why watch him further. He has forgotten much. He will not always be green. He will in time become well informed, but too often he does not obtain his experience in the most economical way.

SENATOR POPE.

"Hon. Albert A. Pope, member of Congress from Massachusetts," is the way a New York paper has it. Is this prophetic or what?

LIVE WHILE YOU MAY.

A reader of the BULLETIN, after commenting favorably on our article published May 3, entitled, "Why do We Live," says: "It would do no harm to print the enclosed quotation in the BULLETIN."

We quite agree that it could do no harm and hope it may do good, for anything is likely to do good which calls our attention for a moment away from the every-day drudgery of what we call work.

"Do not keep the alabaster boxes of your love and tenderness sealed up until your friends are dead; but fill their lives with sweetness. Speak approving and cheering words while their ears can hear them, and while their hearts can be thrilled and made happier by them. The kind things you will say after they are gone, say before they go. The flowers you mean to send for their coffins, bestow now, and so brighten and sweeten their homes before they leave them.

If my friends have alabaster boxes laid away, full of fragrant perfumes of sympathy and affection, which they intend to break over my dead body, I would rather they would bring them now in my weary and troubled hours, and open them, that I may be refreshed and cheered, while I need them and can enjoy them. I would rather have a plain coffin without a flower, and a funeral without an eulogy, than a life without the sweetness of love and sympathy. Let us learn to anoint our friends beforehand for their burial.

Post-mortem kindness cannot cheer the burdened spirit. Flowers on the coffin shed no fragrance backward over the weary way by which the loved ones have traveled."

A BIBLICAL BICYCLE BUNGLER.

S. RAYMOND KITCHIN.

There's a bicycle man in a town near by,
Who does often and loudly pray,
And does as he would that others should,
At least, on the sabbath day.

But during the week when wheels break down,
As the town they are passing through,
The jobs that he does are poorly done,
And for one he will charge for two.

At last his brethren arose in their wrath,
And a committee they sent one day
To see this man, to give him a chance
To explain these things away.

And this the answer to them he gave:
"No doubt you think it a heinous sin,
But warrant I have in holy writ,
Strangers they were, so I took them in."

"TALKING SHOP"

Is the heading of an article in the BULLETIN of April 26, and it reminds me of a few remarks that I had the luck to hear a short time ago. On a recent ride in the country, the wheels were "stacked" and the boys sat down on the side of the road to rest, when the discussion of high and low gears was brought up. An agent, in the crowd, remarked that he "always preferred about a sixty-four with a seventy gear." When he was reminded that seventy gear was rather high for road riding, he replied that he "would rather have a large sprocket on his front wheel and gear it to 'about seventy' as he considered that about right if it was sixty-four." The same agent remarked on the same day, when looking at a cyclometer on a wheel, that he "thought the tumbler (trip) was too far away from the hub, as it would register faster as it turned much (he did not say how much) oftener by being nearer the rim," and it was some minutes before he could comprehend that the rim did not rotate more often than did the hub.

JAY.

SPRINGFIELD TRACK.

This famous track is now open for training purposes and several of the leading "teams" are quartered there. Among the riders we noted the names of Tyler, Bald, McDonald, Sims, Maddox, Warren, Stow and Jenny.

The Springfield Bicycle Club's road house at No. Wilbraham was formally opened last Saturday.

DOES IT PAY?

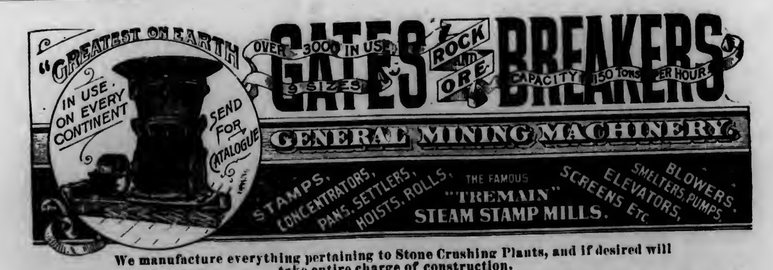
BY CHARLES EDWIN DONVORTH.

PERHAPS there is no other question at the present time that is occupying the minds of so many people of all classes as the question of whether it pays the farmer to keep his roads in good condition, or to let the roads take care of themselves.

Is it any wonder that, in many cases, the horses on the farms are a hard-looking set of animals, when the roads in the near vicinity of the farms in question are one mass of mud and filth? How much more profitable it would be, not only to the farmer himself, but to the public in general, if more attention were devoted to seeing that the roads are kept in good condition. The greatest trouble to be overcome, is not only to see that the roads are repaired, but to see that proper repairing is done. Many farmers, and even turnpike companies, when they do make repairs, such as filling up ruts and holes in the roads, haul loads of stone, without any care being exercised as to size, and dump them on the road, and then wait for passing teams to scatter them about.

This kind of repairing roads, in the case of turnpikes, is partly overcome by the law which states that when stones of two inches or more in diameter are used on the roads, no toll can be collected.

How discouraging it is to a bicycle rider to have to keep constantly on the lookout for large stones, and often be compelled to dismount and push his wheel several rods, just because the road is unfit for travel. Were it not that wheeling is so fascinating, not one-third of the machines would be sold that have been, because when a person starts out on a wheel, he goes out to ride and not to walk and be the laughing stock of teamsters and others. Among the parties who would profit most in the end are the wheel manufacturers, and they should be the ones to push road legislation to its fullest limit, for in more than half the cases where the wheels are broken, if traced back, it will be found it was done on rough roads. As guarantees are made for a year from time of sale, it would mean an annual saving of thousands of dollars to the manufacturers in repairing, and no end of enjoyment to the rider. The time is long passed since safeties were termed "new fangled things" and scorned by the public in general, they are now regarded not only as a means of pleasure, but as a quicker and safer instrument to be used in the transaction of business of every nature. The universal adoption of wheels is the best testimonial possible of their advantages over other means of travel; and although the sale of machines is already enormous, it is only the commencing of what the whole world will soon observe, and that is the rapid decline of the horse, and the still more rapid advance of the wheel.



DIRT ROADS

Are good when properly graded and drained, in fact, in dry weather they are hard to beat. The better the drainage the shorter will be the muddy season.

W. L. M., S. C., writes:

"We want to purchase some road machinery and would like to have you send us a list of the manufacturers of such machinery."

We often have such calls and would be glad to answer them more fully than we are able to do. Will makers of road machinery please send us their catalogue?

We manufacture everything pertaining to Stone Crushing Plants, and if desired will take entire charge of construction.

VIRGINIA ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

SAMUEL M. BARTON.

A FEW facts in regard to what is being done in Virginia in the interests of road improvement may be not without interest to the readers of GOOD ROADS. On Oct. 18, 1894, the Virginia good roads convention was held in Richmond, Va., and as a result of this meeting, which was a very enthusiastic one, the Virginia State Good Roads Association was formed. The proceedings of this Virginia convention have been published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Gen. Roy Stone being the editor of the pamphlet.

As one outgrowth of this movement, a convention in the interest of road improvement was held on April 23, in Christiansburg, the county-seat of Montgomery county, and the "Montgomery County Good Roads Association" was formed. This meeting was largely attended by farmers and others throughout the county.

Judge Pierce made the opening address. He was followed by Prof. L. S. Randolph and Prof. Nourse, of the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College, and Mr. Pelton of Christiansburg.

The last speaker suggested, as a possible solution of the question, the feasibility of the county's borrowing $100,000 and constructing one hundred miles of macadam road nine feet wide. Prof. Randolph had shown in his paper that the average cost of macadam roads nine feet wide in this section would be from $800 to $1000 per mile.

Mr. Pelton demonstrated that by the issuing of six per cent. bonds to the amount of $100,000, the county tax on $100 would be raised only from $1.30 to $1.50. It is possible that this suggestion may be taken up for discussion at some future meeting.

WHAT! IN NEW JERSEY?

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

It may be of interest to wheelmen touring through New Jersey, besides saving them considerable money, to call their attention to the fines inflicted upon violators of the "bicycle ordinances" in Hackensack, New Jersey. These ordinances read that "no person shall be permitted to ride a bicycle between sunset and sunrise on any of the streets without carrying a lighted bicycle signal lamp. That no person shall be permitted to ride on any of the sidewalks and that every bicycle must carry an alarm bell, gong or horn. That all fast or reckless riding or racing or riding faster than eight miles an hour on any of the streets is prohibited.

Violations of these ordinances are punishable by a fine of five dollars or five days in the county jail, from which there is absolutely no appeal. The justice of the peace before whom the offender is taken, has no discretion whatever and must inflict the fine, no matter how good or reasonable an excuse is given.

There are many wheelmen going through the village who are ignorant of the above and they may be saved a "V," besides a great many hard words, by being warned through the BULLETIN. Numerous attempts have been made by the local wheelmen to have the above ordinances modified but the town commissioners are obdurate and refuse to grant anything to the wheelmen, however reasonable the request may be.

ONE OF THE SUFFERERS.

THANKS TO WISCONSIN MEMBERS.

The highway improvement committee of the Wisconsin division, L. A. W., desires to extend thanks to the division members for their very generous support in response to its circular letter of April 30. The contributions sent to Mr. Otto Dorner, of our committee, have been much more numerous than was expected, and it is fair to believe that the few members who have not been heard from will respond to our call.

Your committee finds it impractical to acknowledge each of these contributions separately, but begs to take this opportunity, through the columns of the League's official organ, to thank each of those who have so generously responded to its call for support in its efforts.

The thanks of the committee are also due to local consuls and other members who so kindly assisted in collecting the names of town officers and influential farmers in the State.

The money received will be used for the purchase of additional copies of the special good roads number of the Wisconsin Agriculturist, which is being issued under Mr. Dorner's editorship, and we will be able to send copies of same to thirty-five thousand farmers and town officers throughout Wisconsin. The number contains articles upon the value and need of better highways, by men like Governor Upham and Ex-Governors Hoard and Fairchild, several members of the Legislature, Secretary Curtis, of the Wisconsin Dairymen's Association, President Chas. K. Adams and Professor Richard T. Ely of the University of Wisconsin, and a number of practical talks upon road building, by Superintendent McKerrow of the Farmers' Institutes, and representative farmers and engineers from different parts of the State. We feel assured that the large circulation we are able to give this special good roads number will do a great deal to further develop the interest in good roads which has so strongly manifested itself in Wisconsin during the last few months.

Fraternally yours,

ALBERT MOYER, Milwaukee, Chairman.
WM. M. FOSTER, Pt. Washington.
JOHN W. KNIGHT, Racine.
C. A. ALDERMAN, Eau Claire.
OTTO DORNER, Milwaukee.

Highway Improvement Committee, Wisconsin Division, L. A. W.

ROADS AND MEMBERS.

Some of the worst roads and streets are to be found in towns where the L. A. W. has fewest members.

Please don't forget that this is more than a coincidence.

LOAM ROADS

Are usually bad because they are not properly taken care of. The horse race track which is supposed to embody the world's wisdom to date is topped with loam but it is re-surfaced every hour when in use.

IT'S YOUR FAULT?

Letters have been received from a number of Massachusetts towns, asking why local consuls have not been appointed.

In such cases we find that a satisfactory application has not been made. Why not make it?

STERLING ELLIOTT, Chief Consul.

LADIES, BOSTON, MAY 30.

All Massachusetts ladies who belong to the L. A. W., or whose "men folks" belong, or who would like to join, should come to Boston on Decoration Day. A special parlor at Copley Square Hotel has been reserved, and a committee of local lady wheelers will be in attendance, to receive and care for all who may favor them with a call.

Such a call cannot help being refreshing, and in addition, other refreshments will be served.

We have suggested ice water, but the ladies have expressed a preference for something about one per cent stronger, say, lemonade.

MASSACHUSETTS CLUBS, ATTENTION!

If you want a place in the Decoration Day parade, (as of course you do) you should write now to A. D. Peck, 221 Columbus avenue, Boston, also tell him the number of men you will have in line.

This is the outline of a badge which will be given to every member of the Massachusetts Division L. A. W., who attends the State meet at Boston, on May 30.

It will be the finest badge ever given to members on such an occasion. The finish is gold plate and enamel. These badges may be had at L. A. W. headquarters, only on presentation of League ticket.

Don't leave your ticket at home; it will mean dollars to you on that day alone.

Renew now and be in the swim for all the privileges on Decoration day.

LADIES' BADGES.

Arrangements have been made by which lady members of the Massachusetts Division, L. A. W., may, on presentation of their League tickets, receive the souvenir badge on May 30, by applying at the ladies' reception parlor, Copley Square Hotel. This will relieve them of the necessity of getting into the crowd which is sure to fill the Mechanics' Building on the morning of that day.

PORT HURON, MICH.

The athletic club is putting a cement surface on its quarter-mile track, and will open with a race meeting May 30. H. P. BACHERS, Secretary.

NEW JERSEY DIVISION.

The annual Meet of this division will be held at Trenton, on Saturday, June 1st. The business meeting is called for 9.30 A.M., at the Club House of the Mercer County Wheelmen, who have very kindly placed it at our disposal. The officers of the division will then render their reports, and considerable business of importance will be laid before the members. I hope for a large attendance.

The parade will form at 11 A.M., and will pass through the principal and best streets, and will be a very enjoyable affair. This should prove a large and representative turn out, and I trust the Clubs of the State will vie with each other in making this one of the events in the history of our division.

In the afternoon, at 3 P.M., the races will begin, on one of the finest and fastest tracks in this vicinity, and being on the "National Circuit" will have the best riders as contestants.

This meet is under the able management of the Mercer County Wheelmen, whose hospitality knows no bounds, and they are arranging further entertainment which cannot now be officially outlined.

Make it a point to be with us, show your loyalty to the division, and meet and make the acquaintance of your fellow members, and we will answer the oft-made query, "What do I get for my dollar?"

In next week's BULLETIN, I hope to place before you a list of Local Consuls and League Hotels, and where situated.

ROBERT GENTLE, Chief Consul.

MISSOURI DIVISION RENEWALS.

All members who have renewed for this year would confer a favor on the undersigned by getting all other members to do likewise. Please explain to them that the publication of new road book is guaranteed by the division and that the official organ can be mailed only to new and renewed members. To date scarcely half of the members have attended to this, and as the season closes May 31, I earnestly request the assistance of all members who receive this paper.

Kansas City, St. Joseph, Springfield, Mexico and St. Louis members are specially requested to assist in this work.

If parties have lost their renewal blanks, collect the dollar and mail same to W. M. Butler, sec.-treas., 2636 Osage street, St. Louis, with name and address, and he will attend to the details. No member can afford not renew this year.

Fraternally yours,
ROBT. HOLM, Chief Consul.

May 17, 1895.

ANNUAL repairing is too seldom for a dirt road. It should be looked after whenever it gets out of shape.

WIDE tires prevent ruts and ruts once made prevent wide tires. Start right, and keep right.

MASSACHUSETTS ROAD BOOKS.

The Massachusetts Division, L. A. W., has published a road book containing all routes in the State, besides through routes to the White Mountains, New York city, and other distant places. This edition also contains five small maps showing principal routes.

The price of this book is $2.00, but League members may obtain it from the undersigned for half price, $1.00 per copy. Members must send their L. A. W. number in order to obtain this discount.

A few copies remain on hand of last year's road maps They are printed in ten large sections, were especially prepared at great expense from careful surveys and are unquestionably the most complete and accurate maps ever published in this State. They may be obtained for $1.00 a set.

To Members.

The BULLETIN is mailed only to those who have renewed. Though there are many that have not done so, will you that have renewed please help us along by gathering in the laggards? We do not want to fall behind. Recruiting has been better than ever before. Do not let the membership fall behind through non-renewals. The new road book is progressing and would have been out had not the local officers been so tardy in furnishing local information. Such is necessary in revising the routes. Yours truly,

NEW YORK.

To All Consuls.

Many consuls have not yet sent in their reports for April. I call your attention to the fact that each consul has signed an agreement to render regular monthly reports, and these agreements are on file in the office of the chief consul. Please give your immediate attention to this duty. The great increase in the number of riders this year warrants us in making active efforts to increase our membership. If you have not sent in your report, let me hear from you at once.

To All Members of the Division.

The annual State meet will occur at Brooklyn and Coney Island on June 14–15 (Friday and Saturday). A splendid programme of entertainment is being prepared. The grand opening celebration and parade over the new cycle path to Coney Island will occur, and the race meet at the new track at Manhattan Beach will be the event of the year. Arrangements have been made with the railroad companies to carry League members from all parts of the State at one and a third fares for the round trip. Of this and other matters relating to the meet announcements in detail will be made later.

One thing you must remember, BRING YOUR L. A. W. TICKET; It will save money and insure for you a rousing reception. Fraternally yours,

ISAAC B. POTTER, Chief Consul.

TO KANSAS CITY MEMBERS.

Kansas City members are advised that to date less than half of their members have renewed. Recruiting lies dormant as we have no local consuls at the agencies. I shall take pleasure to appoint one for each place on application. Local consuls are also required in each ward. Let me hear from you quick. St. Louis is running away from you in the matter of applications. You have the remedy in your own hands. Renew all your members and hustle.

Fraternally yours,

ROBT. HOLM, Chief Consul.

895--MISSOURI DIVISION.--1000.

To Members.

"Onward and Upward" must be our motto, and we can only retain it by renewing every present member and in recruiting in every city in the State.

Never before have the application lists been as heavy as now, and Missouri must keep up with the procession. Over two hundred applications have been sent in since April 1, but we can do better work. All local consuls are urged to assist in distributing recruiting matter. If in need of more pamphlets write to M. J. Gilbert, 205 N. 4th street, St. Louis, and they will be promptly sent. Cycle agents are asked to aid in the good work and to place a pamphlet in each rider's hand.

Put your shoulder to the wheel and push up the membership to 1000 by July 1. United effort will do it.

Fraternally yours,

May 17, 1895. ROBT. HOLM, Chief Consul.

TO MEMBERS OF THE NEW YORK DIVISION.

New road maps will be published as soon as corrections are made in old maps. All information in regard to errors should be sent to Isaac Schwartz, 21 City Hall, Syracuse, N. Y. Every one should interest himself in this matter, as we wish to publish as correct a map as possible. Pay particular attention to hills, distance between places, etc.

ISAAC SCHWARTZ, Chairman Road Book Com.

PLEASE SPARE THE DOCTOR!

ED. L. A. W. BULLETIN:

If you have any regard for my peace of mind, say to the members of the New York division through the BULLETIN that I do not send out the tour books. I am deluged with requests. I simply can't answer each separately, even though they do send postage. Fraternally,

E. M. SANTEE.

(COMBINATION BLANK.)

Application for Membership in the L. A. W.*

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR: — Enclosed find the sum of TWO DOLLARS which I send in full payment of my initiation fee, one year's dues and subscription fee to the official publication of the L. A. W., under provisions of Articles III and VII of the Constitution. From the sum enclosed I authorize and direct you to pay to the publisher of said publication the regular subscription fee to League members and to enter my name as a subscriber. I certify that I am eligible to membership in the L. A. W. under the provisions of the Constitution and I refer to two League members (or three other reputable citizens) named below.

Name, ...

Street or Box, ...

City or Town, ...

State,

RENEWAL BLANK.

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.,
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR: — I enclose ONE DOLLAR for which please renew my membership and subscription to the L. A. W. publication for another year.

Number, ...

Name, ...

Street and No. or P. O. Box, ...

City, ...

State, ...

Division in which my home is and to which I should be attached. .....

Send Ticket to, ...

The L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS AND ALL OTHER MAIL MATTER WILL GO TO THE ADDRESS AS GIVEN ABOVE, and the name of no member will be put regularly on the list till his renewal with latest address is received.

Fill out above blank, inclose necessary money, and send to Secretary Don't send soiled bills. New bills are safer in the mails. Write very plainly, PRINTING PREFERRED. Stamps of a denomination above 2 cents will not be received. If you live in one state and have your mail sent to another, fill out the blank so that you may be located with the division in which your home is and your mail matter be sent as you wish. Ticket holders, 25 cents; with name stamped, 50 cents. If you want either of these write "25" or "50" at left of word Number. This brief form of blank is used to enable applicants for membership to follow the requirements of the League Constitution, which provides [Articles III and VII] for the payment in advance of one year's dues, with initiation fee and subscription fee to the official organ. Applicants or members using this blank will regularly receive all official news and announcements and will be subject to no further charge or assessment for any purpose whatever.

L. A. W. Veteran Bar.

The veteran bar which has been adopted by the L. A. W. to be worn by the veterans of the organization, can be worn above the League badge, or as an individual pin.

Any member who has been connected with the L. A. W. for ten consecutive years is entitled to wear the bar.

Members holding numbers between 100 and 1656 are entitled to wear the bar at this date.

The bar is of gold with the word "Veteran" in enamel. Each bar must have the owner's name engraved on the back. All orders must be sent to the Secretary accompanied by the price of bar, $2.50.

We can supply any style or form of badge with bar. The standard badge retails for $3.00, and will be sent attached to bar if this sum is added to remittance.

SIXTY DAYS ONLY.

Members are notified that the renewal season is cut down to sixty days. In previous years, renewals were received to July 1st. This year the season ends JUNE 1st. Please remember.

ADDITIONAL BLANKS.

Application or Renewal Blanks may be had of the Secretary on application.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to Monday preceding this date, and published in accordance with Article III of the constitution.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published and to report errors and omissions to the secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at noon on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

Your announcement of the addition to your editorial force has been read here with great interest. What a triumvirate of talent! An editor who knows all about wheels, but cannot write; another who knows all about the L. A. W., but has no time to write; and last but not least, an editor who knows how to write, but knows nothing of either the L. A. W. or the bicycle. It is a great combination, and the result is awaited with impatience by SEVERAL INTERESTED READERS.

NEW YORK, May 20.

A FUTURE POSSIBILITY.

We have an application from an artist which closes as follows:—

"I have recently taken first prize at the ——— school of design, for best drawing from the nude. Do you know of any vacancy on the staff of a cycling paper where such experience and ability would be useful?"

We have no use for this sort of ability just now, but we are watching the fashions with considerable interest and will try to be in a position to meet the popular demand, whatever it may be.

THE ELLIOTT PAMPHLET STITCHING MACHINE.

Stitches any thin book or pamphlet with thread, making a double stitch, tying a square knot and cutting off the thread, all at one operation.

AS a matter of history (and egotism), this is the first and only machine that ever stitched and tied work of this kind.

It ties a perfectly square knot, ties it close against the paper, leaves no slack, and wastes no thread.

Its speed is only limited by the ability of the operator to feed it.

A fair average is about 30 per minute, or 18,000 per day.

The same machine also ties a loop in the corner of a book by which it may be hung up.

The work of this machine is equal to the very best hand-stitching, and is done at a much less cost.

Publishers of the Youth's Companion, Boston, use thirteen of these machines. It is also used extensively by the Harper Bros., New York; the Boston Mailing Company, and many other large concerns. . . . . .

"I have recently taken first prize at the ——— school of design, for best drawing from the nude. Do you know of any vacancy on the staff of a cycling paper where such experience and ability would be useful?"

We have no use for this sort of ability just now, but we are watching the fashions with considerable interest and will try to be in a position to meet the popular demand, whatever it may be.

THE ELLIOTT PAMPHLET STITCHING MACHINE.

Stitches any thin book or pamphlet with thread, making a double stitch, tying a square knot and cutting off the thread, all at one operation.

AS a matter of history (and egotism), this is the first and only machine that ever stitched and tied work of this kind.

It ties a perfectly square knot, ties it close against the paper, leaves no slack, and wastes no thread.

Its speed is only limited by the ability of the operator to feed it.

A fair average is about 30 per minute, or 18,000 per day.

The same machine also ties a loop in the corner of a book by which it may be hung up.

The work of this machine is equal to the very best hand-stitching, and is done at a much less cost.

Publishers of the Youth's Companion, Boston, use thirteen of these machines. It is also used extensively by the Harper Bros., New York; the Boston Mailing Company, and many other large concerns.

QUERIES AND ANSWERS

"A Harrisburg Cycler":

Your rhymes are too wildly unconventional; we like startling things, but you have "raised the limit."

G. E. B., Dunkirk, N. Y.:

Your ideas are good, just a little too good, in fact, for this date.

Q. R. O., Fitchburg, Mass., asks:

Suppose a cyclist leaves his wheel for a few minutes leaned against the sidewalk while in a store or other place of business, can he recover damages should a team or vehicle injure or damage it during his absence? Kindly reply at your convenience.

Ans. The bicycle has been repeatedly declared by the courts to be a vehicle, and to have the same rights that other vehicles have.

If the bicycle in question was occupying a place where any other vehicle might properly have stood, it was entitled to the same consideration. In some places, however, it is against the law to leave any team or vehicle on the street unattended. Your local ordinances and the conditions of the particular case would have much to do with it.

A. H. D., Louisville:

The present chairman of the racing board refuses to grant a sanction for a race in which ladies are to compete.

We are not prepared to discuss the wisdom or necessity of this rule. In fact we had not previously been aware that it was common for ladies to desire to compete on the race track.

However, Mr. Gideon is in a better position to know and the matter is his to decide.

EDITOR BULLETIN:

Dear Sir,— Please pass your opinion on the following in the next issue of the BULLETIN: Is there any redress when tires are ruined by glass that has been distributed along a road through carelessness of a contractor who uses ordinary grade wagons with dump boxes instead of tight ones?

By way of explanation will say that the trolley company are using the dross and broken scrap from an old glass works as ballast and have hauled same over the principal streets of this place, and the result is many punctured and disabled tires; this could have been obviated by using tight boxes or by hauling over side streets that are not frequented by wheelmen. If you have any light to shed on this subject, "let it flicker."

Respectfully yours,

L. A. W., 3,169.

Ans. It would seem to us that this broken glass might injure horses and people as well as pneumatic tires, and there must be some way to prevent such reckless disregard for the rights of others. L. A. W. Lawyers, how about this?

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

In answer to a question which was asked in a former number of your paper, I would say the turning around of a dog several times before he lies down is a remnant of his ancestral wolf habit. The cat inherits the same trait from the tiger. Animals of the forest or jungle, in nature, always tread the leaves or grass upon which they are about to repose, and, in a measure, select or arrange the conformations of surface in the spot chosen.

G. W. W.

BOY: "Say, Boss, there was a lady come along here to git her tire inflated and your new man blew up her bloomers by mistake and she's out of sight."

HIS SATANIC MAJESTY (to New Arrival): "What did you do on earth?"

NEW ARRIVAL: "I was de champion scorcher of de Darktown bicycle club."

H. S. M.: "Why, my boy, you are right in my line; take off your coat."

A Prophetic Inspiration.

A bicycle which is peculiarly adapted to the modern scorcher.

CORRESPONDENCE

A LETTER WITH MEAT IN IT.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

As you have invited an expression of opinion as to what kind of reading matter your readers wish served up to them I take the liberty of expressing my preferences.

To interest the largest number of readers you should have something on the following subjects:

(1) Cycle construction: that is, discussions as to the relative value of large or small balls in a bearing or the relative value of the hosepipe or the inner tube tire, or the practicability of a two-speed gear. Under this head are a number of questions that would be of interest to the riders of bicycles, but they must be short and crisp.

(2) A description of any freaks that are invented by misguided individuals who expect to revolutionize cycledom, but who don't. A cut of the device will add to the interest.

(3) An occasional article on how a wheelman should take care of his health, i. e., not to lie down on the damp ground in the spring and fall, how to treat simple wounds, sprains, bruises, etc.

(4) Hints as to the care of the wheel, oiling bearings, adjusting bearings, cleaning machine, repairing punctures, difference between right and left-hand threads, injury of machine by coasting at full speed down rough hills, etc.

(5) Poetry. I don't mean by this the average rot that goes by that name, but something like the genuine article. It should be short, crisp and to the point, and not too much of it.

(6) A ladies' department, which will discuss matters of interest to the women who ride.

(7) A humorous department, "Under the spreading chestnut tree," for instance. There are few people but what enjoy something funny; it is like the pie, cake and ice cream to top off a full meal. It need not be original (no insinuations); a sharp pair of scissors will do the work.

(8) The reproduction of funny pictures. They never fail to attract attention and interest the reader. You, no doubt, have noticed how Puck and Judge are sought after by those who care for nothing but the pictures.

(9) Touring; advice to those who think of touring; what to take with them; custom house regulations in different countries; hotel regulations; in fact, whatever would be of value to the prospective tourist.

(10) Short stories, sketches, anecdotes, etc., not over a page long. Life is too short to read some of the long-drawn-out drivel that is too often inflicted on the readers of cycling papers.

(11) Biographies. If a new man becomes prominent either on the track or in League affairs, let your readers know something about him.

(12) Politics. This, of course, is ticklish ground. Invite discussion of subjects of current interest to the L. A. W., such as the control of professionalism, etc., but carefully edit everything of the kind and eliminate all intemperate expressions before the copy goes to the printer. In this way the general reader will get some idea of the advisability of this or that policy.

(13) Racing. General remarks on this subject; articles on track building, mention of new records made, but no detailed report of races unless they are of national interest.

(14) Invite discussions as to the best way to recruit League membership. This might be made very interesting indeed.

I have long felt that too many publishers of bicycle papers were more interested in getting ads. than in trying to furnish good reading matter to their subscribers. The more interesting a paper becomes to its readers the more valuable it becomes as an advertising medium.

The above suggestions apply only to the bicycle part, the good roads part needs no suggestions.

Very respectfully,

WILLIAM D. KEMPTON.

Boom!

It seems as though every Bicycle rider in the United States and Canada wanted a and "wanted it awful quick." The immediate and enormous popularity of this device is one of the surprising facts of these dull times. It is entirely within the limits of a conservative statement to say that more "Standard" Cyclometers have been ordered in the last two weeks than have been heretofore sold by all other American manufacturers combined, in all the years that Cyclometers have been made!

Cyclometer.

And "for most excellent reasons, i' faith." First, it is indisputably the best; second, it is far-and-away the cheapest—both in the respect of the price itself, and in consideration of the relation of the quality to the price; third, it is backed by a responsible guaranty that it will stand continuous wear throughout the life of its buyer, and any injury in a mishap to the bicycle will be repaired without charge.

The price? Not $5.00 (though it is worth more), nor $3.50 (though it would be cheap at more), but $2.00—Two dollars! Considering the satisfaction it will give you, it's like finding money!

HUMAN NATURE.

TWO letters which happened to lie next to each other in our morning mail, shall be the text for this sermon.

One was from a man who had ordered and received one of the helping hands. He had sent the cash with his order and the work had been done and shipped to him. A simple matter; the transaction was closed; there was no call for another word. But this writer seemingly believed it to be his duty, as it evidently was his pleasure, to do what he could toward comforting and blessing the efforts of others. There was a ray of mental sunshine in that letter which had an uplifting and breezy influence on the tired reader, which lasted until—until the next one was opened. This was from a man who had recently joined the League and whose name had been printed with about eight hundred others in the last issue of THE L. A. W. BULLETIN

The letter j had been used in his name where there should have been a g.

Now our attention should always be called to errors of address, however small, and we will have them corrected at the earliest possible moment. Sometimes serious mistakes are made, though we try ever so faithfully to avoid them. But this was a small matter. The man got his paper, else he couldn't have known that a mistake had been made.

Total number printed this week, . . . 21,000
Sent to paid subscribers, ... 20,136
Samples to Advertisers, Exchanges, etc., 864

A postal card announcing the "bad spell," and asking a revision would have been the appropriate thing; instead of that he said he couldn't imagine "how a compositor could be such an idiot" and several side remarks of similar import.

A railroad train is late: one man passes the time pleasantly, while another condemns the R. R. Co. and its heirs, assigns and legal representatives to everlasting perdition.

Two vehicles become interlocked in a crowded street. The drivers at once proceed to call upon the highest authority to witness that the other fellow was, to say the least, not an expert reinsman.

Two men jeopardize the ownership of a sum of money on a horse race. The winner pockets the proceeds, while the loser blames the drivers, the judges, and even the weather, for not allowing him to deserve what he so freely heaps upon his antagonist.

We are a queer lot when you stand off and look at us. We ought not to be blamed too harshly, however, for it is often a matter of heredity.

If a man isn't born right, it is very hard for him to get right afterward, though isolated cases have been known. The majority of mankind may be depended upon to go straight and do right, but there seems to be now and then a case of perverted affection which has soured the milk of human kindness until it has curdled into swill.

Letter writing is an art acquired by but few men. We are too apt to send a letter to-day which should be held over until to-morrow.

There was never anything gained by writing a mean thing in a letter, and much may be lost.

We necessarily receive many letters.

Nearly all are of a pleasant character. A few are positively exhilarating, while not more than one in every sixty contains a pill from which the sugar coating has been omitted.

We earnestly solicit criticism.

Good, honest, plain talk will help us all.

"Come, let us reason together."

Let us be frank, outspoken and critical, but not impudent.

AGAIN A RECORD.

The proud figures of 1019 of last week are topped by 1037 this week. And yet we may do better.

MRS. BLOOMER.

NO name is more often used nowadays, in cycling, than is the name of the late Mrs. Bloomer, and yet she had absolutely nothing to do with the designing of the form of apparel which, nearly fifty years ago, took her name, and which did not to any material extent resemble the so-called bloomer of to-day.

Elizabeth Smith Miller, daughter of Hon. Garrit Smith of Peterboro, N. Y., was the originator of the old "bloomer" costume, and the first lady of prominence to wear it was her cousin, Elizabeth Cady Stanton.

Mrs. Bloomer was at that time (1851) running (or walking) a paper known as the Lily. This paper, Mrs. Bloomer and Mrs. Stanton were all located at Seneca Falls, N. Y.

Mrs. Miller, the inventor, came there on a visit, wearing the new rig.

Mrs. Stanton adopted it, and induced Mrs. Bloomer to follow suit.

Mrs. B. fell an easy victim, and used her paper to publish the fact that she had renounced skirts. This gave the impression that the credit, or whatever, was hers.

Horace Greely took up the matter and gave it the benefit of the Tribune's circulation.

The little paper run by the supposed originator of the now famous costume did no longer want for readers.

Subscriptions came from all parts of the country, and what was before a comparatively quiet life became one of infinite variety and excitement.

Mrs. Bloomer was an ardent advocate of woman suffrage, and although she disliked the importance which was attached to the dress, she was willing to use it as a means of calling attention to her doctrine, and there can be no doubt of the advantages thus derived, from an advertising standpoint.

It is an interesting fact that all of the ladies who were foremost as "Bloomerites" at that early date, finally went back to the skirt as a permanent dress.

A perfectly valid excuse for the bloomer was not found until the advent of the ladies' bicycle, and everybody knows the rest of the story. Just previous to her death, the writer received from Mrs. Bloomer a number of interesting letters, one of which was published in Good Roads for October, '94.

The following extract from one of her letters is reproduced as showing how she felt about the unwelcome notoriety which came upon her, while her real life work was seemingly forgotten.

I was one of the earliest advocates of Woman Suffrage, and it is for my work in that and temperance, that I would be remembered and not for any particular costume that I wore.

Respectfully
Amelia Bloomer

STREET SPRINKLING.

From a Cycler's Standpoint.

JOHN A. M'KIM.

NOW the wheelmen are agitating the subject of street watering, and are signing petitions to have the watering done away with for a couple of hours in the morning and the same length of time in the afternoon, the plan being not to sprinkle before 9 A.M. or after 4 P.M.

I suppose, of course, this is for the benefit of wheelmen who ride to and from their business.

This would seem to be a good time to criticise the unscientific street washing, which is such an annoyance for wheels and carriages alike. But if the subject is to receive the attention of the L. A. W., I, as an individual member, ask that something different be done, than crowding all the street watering into the hours in which many are obliged to do their riding.

But I do not offer a protest without a solution.

What is the effect of our present system of street watering? The streets are watered under a boiling sun, and when the water falls upon the hot paving stones, the dust rolls up into balls of mud. The first wheel that strikes it throws the mud, and, in a very short time, the street is as dusty as ever. The earth is too hot and the sun's heat too intense to allow the water to soak in. A better plan would

S. F. HEATH CYCLE CO. vs. HAY & WILLITS.

Decision rendered April 22, 1895.

JUDGE BAKER says:

"In my opinion it involved invention to change the form of the Choker device * * * and combine it with an air pump having a hose with an open end adapted to slip over any bicycle nipple. To one who has accomplished this result the quality of inventor should not be denied. I am of the opinion that the device covered by it constitutes a patentable invention, and that it had not been anticipated by any prior patented device. The defendant's device is an infringement of it. In my judgment it is so palpable an infringement that it is needless to point out the coincidence of structure and the operation of the two devices. It is apparent upon the most casual inspection. There will be a decree for the complainant."

be to soak the street with water instead of sprinkling, so that some moisture will remain; now we have streets rendered practically impassable with mud for a short time after the water is put on, and the heat from both above and below soon bakes the mud and converts it into dust again.

Now for the solution. After a heavy rain at night, when the earth is cooled off and the sun's rays are hidden, the rain having soaked into the earth, the streets are in good condition the next day. Does not the practical solution suggest itself?

It is this. Have all the street watering done between the hours of midnight and 5 A.M., or before the sun is hot. A test of this system will, I believe, solve the problem and give a much needed improvement in the condition of our streets, as well as adding greatly to the enjoyment of every driver and wheelman. I would suggest one exception to the above plan.

On asphalt streets having a hard smooth surface where moisture cannot soak in, and on whose surface dust continually blows, I would suggest that sprinkling during the day time would not only lay the dust but also cool the air.

As I am a non-club member of the L. A. W., I have no opportunity to present my ideas except in this way. A very large number of wheelmen are interested, who, on account of not being members of clubs, have practically no influence in the League. I speak for these members more particularly.

I trust that this plan will be tried and believe that it will be far more efficacious than the present system.

HOW TO MARK A BICYCLE.

E. W. COX.

REGARDING the stealing of bicycles, it seems to me, that to prevent his wheel from being stolen, a wheelman should use the same precautions he would use with any other portable property. A man would consider another imprudent if he were to hang his overcoat on a post in the street and then go away out of sight of it. Why should not the same rule apply to a wheel?

The matter seems to be one of identification, for as long as there is no special feature about a wheel except a number, which is necessarily small, a machine can be stolen and disposed of very easily.

I have noticed a number of wheels lately with a plate upon which the owner's name is engraved. This is a good idea as far as it goes, but what is to prevent the plate being taken off? I would suggest a person having his name placed on his wheel, but in another way. That is, etched into the frame, and then a law passed making anyone a party to the theft who offers the wheel for sale, unless they can produce a bill of sale from the party whose name is on the wheel.

The process of etching is a simple one, and a dealer could afford to do it for a customer gratis, or anyone could do it if they are able to letter with a brush. I will explain how it is done.

A space should be laid bare by scraping away the enamel, leaving the surface of the steel perfectly clean. The name is then painted on the steel with ordinary paint and allowed to dry.

When the paint has set, the surface is touched with nitric acid which eats into the exposed places, leaving the steel under the paint in its original condition. The paint is then washed off with turpentine and the name appears bright and slightly raised. Before the lettering is done the exposed steel should be polished.

The lettered part should then be covered with a coat of transparent varnish to protect it from the weather.

A name placed on the wheel this way cannot be removed except by grinding, and a dealer in secondhand wheels should refuse to accept a machine with a spot ground into the frame, and if he were made party to the theft, as above, he would fight shy of such spots.

Few race; everybody rides.

KANSAS ROAD RIDING.

W. M. GLENN.

THE item in the last issue of the BULLETIN on "Diet for Riders" was probably all right if it had told to what part of the United States it would apply, for it certainly would not fit Kansas very well. In the first place we eat dinner at noon, but I am in favor of a hearty supper the night before starting on a tour, go to bed early and then be on the road before six o'clock the next morning. Again, it would not be necessary to advise a Kansas rider not to eat lobster or shrimps or drink seltzer at noon, when there are none within five hundred miles of him, and it is just as useless to advise us to drink Vichy if we cannot get cold tea, for Vichy is hardly one of the staple articles in a Kansas farmer's larder. We are not situated as are our Massachusetts brothers, with a good hotel or town every few miles, and consider ourselves in clover if we can strike a farm house where there is plenty of good milk and bread. It has been my experience, after nearly fifteen years wheeling, and numerous long tours, that pure cold well water will not hurt a rider, and it will not make much difference how much he drinks of it. If he keeps going, the water will soon come through him in perspiration, and he will be all the better for it.

Speaking of good roads, do you know that the western half of Kansas has the best natural roads of any territory of the same size in the United States? The country is very level, the soil sandy and porous, and it takes a very hard rain to keep a rider off the road over an hour after it quits raining. The track is not over two feet wide, but the surface is smooth at least ten months out of the year. I have toured over this part of the State considerably the last few years and think the best route to the mountains is along the Missouri Pacific Railway. Along that road one can ride from Ness City, Kansas, to Eads, Colorado, a distance of over one hundred and fifty miles, without a dismount on account of the road, and from Eads to Pueblo or Colorado Springs, there are very few bad places in the road, some little sand. Along the Santa Fe there is more sand, and along the Union Pacific the country is much rougher. The greatest objection to riding in western Kansas is the wind, which is rather steady almost all the time, and is simply terrific at times. It bothers a wheelman very much, unless he is going with it, and then one smiles as he would on getting money from home.

CITY STREETS AND COBBLE PAVEMENTS.

CHAS. H. DAVIDS.

THE most difficult to solve of all problems connected with modern civil engineering, is doubtless that of furnishing good and cheap pavements for city streets, and especially for those portions lying between the curbs and forming the carriageways, while, even in the matter of sidewalks, there might be a great deal done, which, with comparatively little expense, would very materially improve the comfort of pedestrians and make walking much safer than it is at present in some localities. In these matters, as in many others connected with city affairs, the reason why certain conditions exist is an unsolvable conundrum.

We do not know how we came to have corkscrew roads and vermiform streets; heritages from the lowing herds of bucolic times; but why these streets should have been kept so narrow, in view of the fact that land was cheap and, so to speak, plentiful, when these cow-paths were graduated into the rank of streets, is and must always remain a great mystery. We only know that we have numerous examples of such thoroughfares; that they are nuisances, and that it is too late in the day to improve their shapes; but we can do much to improve them in some other ways, as I will hereinafter endeavor to show.

The cobble pavement we also have with us, even in such a large and otherwise attractive city as Brooklyn, which probably furnishes as good an example as can be found of the penny-wise pound-foolish practice of paying — if the truth could be known — probably five times as much to keep up the necessary supply of horses and rolling stock as it would cost to meet the interest on bonds to foot the cost of putting down the very best kind of pavements in the carriageways; while the decrease of horrible noises and the increase of comfort would form desirable bonuses for the loan. Taking, therefore, the streets of Brooklyn as an awful example, let us consider the pavements thereof; what they are, and how they came to be so, what they could be made to be, and how to make them so at moderate cost. I will of course take it for granted that no one would, at this late day, have the city in which he resides lie under the stigma of being poorly paved, if the remedy is not too expensive. What I have to say will, however, so far as it concerns cost, be general and not specific; exact figures being readily attainable by any parties sufficiently interested in the matter.

In the city of Brooklyn, by far the larger portions of the carriageways are paved with so-called cobbles; but a perfect cobble pavement is as much superior, not only to the former, but even to the granite block pavement as it exists in that city, as cream is to skimmed milk. The Brooklyn pavement consists of a heterogeneous conglomeration of stones; some of them as soft as mica schist, a few others as hard as hematite; varying in size from those of one hundred-weight or more each, down to those of two or three pounds apiece, and in shape, from irregular rhomboids to almost perfect spheres. All these varieties of form, size and substance lie in promiscuous juxtaposition, with but little selection according to similarity, and the consequence is that the pavement is the worst permanent one that could possibly be made with stone. I say "permanent," because the most abortive attempt to lay a real macadam pavement (i. e. with stone only) would eventually result in a much better roadway. But where there is such a jumble of dornicks, bowlders, cobbles, and I might almost say pebbles, the resultant effect is simply disastrous to human comfort, to horseflesh and to vehicles.

How did such incongruous material come to be used for this purpose? In this way: In and around the site of the city were numerous hills that necessarily had to be leveled to grade. These hills consisted, for the greater part, of sand, gravel and the material above alluded to. The latter proved to be a bonanza for the street contractors, who, in many instances, were paid to cart the stuff away from the lots that were being graded. They laid it in the carriageway of the streets; "laid it," literally; got big prices for doing the work; paid out certain portions thereof to their workmen and others, and pocketed the remainder.

The streets were paved one block at a time. That is to say, that it was very seldom that any street was worked upon continuously until it was finished, as such a plan would never have suited the contractors, being altogether too expensive. It would have compelled them to ram the pavements, an operation that costs money. Not a "commander" was or is lifted over these pavements except when repairs are made by the city.

The contractors' method is to prepare a good soft bed of sand, loam, clay, ashes, filth or whatever happens to be handy. This is crowned to some extent. The amount of crowning depending on the quantity of stuff at command. If there is more than is needed, the crown is simply made too high; if there be two little material the crown becomes a hollow. On this material, so prepared, the dornicks, boulders, cobbles and pebbles are laid; more or less attempt being made to preserve an even surface. When the job is thus far finished, the block which looks passably well on top, at a distance, is closed to traffic, by barricading each end thereof with some of the heaviest surplus boulders, and is then left to nature and the elements with the expectation that, in some mysterious way, the pavement will be made solid. It is this latter part of the process that prevents the contractors from operating upon two or more adjacent blocks at the same time; for they would not care to provoke too serious a row with the residents on the street by closing more than one block at once. The barricades remain in place for several weeks, or until the residents arise in their wrath and tear them down in order to admit the coal cart, ice man and grocery wagon, and the boulders are finally disposed of by piling them on somebody's near-by vacant lot, or, if there be none near, the rocks are dumped alongside the curbstones.

It can readily be imagined what effect even ordinary use will have upon such a pavement. In less than a week it is full of holes and ruts; possibly not as wide as a barn door nor as deep as a well; but they serve to make travel thereon something to be dreaded and, when possible, avoided for all time. When we consider the ends in view in paving streets, we can judge how far such operations as these will go toward fulfilling them. By them, we neither avoid dust in dry weather nor mud in wet; we do not make hauling easier except, possibly, during the rainy season, but we do have a surface which is, next to a corduroy road, the most uncomfortable possible for riders; by far the most injurious to horses and rolling stock, and also the source of the most diabolical of the many noises heard in the city, not even excepting the barbaric yawps of the licensed vendors. But probably the worst of all that can be said against it is, that it is always execrably filthy and absolutely uncleanable; breeding disease at all times, and filling one's lungs with filthy dust when dry, and one's shoes with filthier mud when wet. The best of all cobble pavements cannot be swept even approximately clean; how abominably foul then must be the condition of the rutty and uneven pavements described above.

I do not propose to dwell at length upon the method of forming a perfect cobble pavement. Such is not the object of this paper. Suffice it to say that some cities show excellent examples of such work; where cobbles of even and medium size are carefully laid and rammed down solid, and as I said before, furnish pavements which are much better in every respect than the granite block pavements of Brooklyn. Poughkeepsie, for instance, has miles of such good cobble pavements, and it is much more to her credit than the mud holes which exist, almost all the time, in her suburban roads. What a commentary on the roads of Brooklyn, is the fact that the elevated railroads run bicycle cars to take the wheelmen to the ridable roads in the outlying towns.

But we have the above described pavements in Brooklyn and some other cities, in large quantities; and the question of paramount importance now, is, what shall we do with them? To keep them as they are, in these days of improvement and good roads, would be a crime almost as great as that of putting them down, and cannot be contemplated without disgust. Hitherto the attempt to replace them with better ones has almost always taken the shape of granite block pavements; the latter being, apparently, the sheet anchor of incompetent bureau of city works. When granite blocks are well laid they are, of course, better than cobbles; but they are very expensive, and the filth and mud which necessarily lodges in their interstices is not a whit more wholesome or sanitary than that in the cobble pavements. There may be some difference in quantity, but none whatever in quality.

Here and there, in Brooklyn, are sporadic examples of disconnected asphalt pavements. I say "disconnected" in very truth, for if there are three blocks of continuous asphalt in Brooklyn, I, an old Brooklynite, born in that city, do not know where it is. One of the first thoroughfares paved with it is Bedford avenue, and this is a fair sample of all. It is also "the drive." One would therefore think that great care would be exercised to keep it in the best possible condition. Such is not the case, however, for at every intersecting street we find the asphalt interrupted by cobbles. That is to say that the superior surface, instead of being continuous, must and does give way to the inferior pavement. It therefore follows that if you go out for a drive with your best girl, on Bedford avenue, you roll along with a pleasant whir of the wheels for a few hundred feet or so, when, suddenly "jigglety-joggle, jigglety-joggle," you cross an intersecting street, (or so-called avenue; just imagine an "avenue" with cobble pavement) and your best girl smashes her bonnet against the wagon top as you punch her in the ribs with your elbow. Furthermore, however well a street may be paved with asphalt, do but let a railroad track be laid in it and away goes your asphalt pavement from between the rails forever, its place being generally taken by cobbles, and even the cross-walks disappear in many instances, however much they may be needed. The railroad may be operated by cable, electricity, or horses; it is all the same; the railroad company will not have asphalt between its rails because they are bound to keep that space in good repair, (or are supposed to do so) and asphalt is too expensive for them; and as they invariably do as they please with the streets, what they decree "goes." Witness Montague street, where the pavement of asphalt was really good; a cable road is now in operation there and the asphalt has disappeared from the middle of the street, for no valid reason whatever.

It is only necessary here to allude to the well-known fact that asphalt makes the best pavement for all streets not devoted to heavy business traffic, and nothing but the question of cost prevents its almost general adoption. In superseding cobbles with asphalt, the cost is greatly enhanced by the work of taking up the former; while the fact remains that they must be replaced by concrete or some other material suitable for a substratum for the asphalt. In view of these facts, and believing also that it would not be necessary to pave the whole surface with asphalt in order to make it quite suitable for all practical purposes, I have, after studying the subject, concluded that a compromise pavement can be adopted that would answer well for all streets now covered with cobbles.

We start with these facts: First, that the stone is in place and so well rammed down by constant traffic that it would be difficult to replace it with anything more suitable on the score of solidity, as a bed for the asphalt; second, if the cobble pavement can be made useful as and where it is, it will necessarily be of some value, while removing it would add considerably to the cost to be incurred. Therefore, in order to improve the cobble pavements in the best and cheapest manner, the process herein described is undoubtedly the best that can be devised. It will be understood that I do not claim the honor of the invention, however, except of some of the details. Also that I can have no special interest in its adoption anywhere.

First, the cobbles should be carefully cleaned; not by machine only, but by hand sweeping, care being taken to dislodge the filth and dirt from deep down between the stones; as far down, if possible, as their greatest diameters. Then, their surfaces being quite dry at the time, they should be well painted with very hot asphalt, in order to get a good holding ground for the material to be superimposed. The latter should be asphalt and broken stone well mixed when very hot, the stone being broken so small that it will pass through one-half inch meshes. This "asphalt concrete" should not contain any more asphalt than is absolutely necessary to fill the interstices in the broken stone when the mass has been well rolled with as heavy rollers as can be procured for the purpose. A very important point is to roll slowly. Asphalt, however hard and brittle it may appear to be, is really plastic, even in low temperatures, though, of course, much more so in higher ones. But it always requires time for subsidence into place, even under extreme pressure, and, therefore, much better results are obtained by rolling it slowly, though less often, than by a reverse plan. At all events it should be firmly pressed down between the cobbles, and the process should be continued until the pieces of broken stone, as in the macadam pavement, have so accommodated their angles to each other as to occupy the least possible space; and if this point be carefully attended to, the quantity of asphalt required will be reduced to a minimum, while a pavement will be secured as permanent and acceptable in every respect as any that can be be made. It is advisable to finish it off with a surface of Neufchatel, or in default thereof, of clean, sharp, coarse sand and asphalt mixed.

The concrete should be used only in quantities sufficient to fill the hollows, and it goes without saying that any very large ruts or depressions should be brought to grade and the stones well rammed before the concrete is applied; or, preferably, a much coarser concrete may be used for that purpose. The work should be done, when possible, in hot weather, and the material should be applied when quite hot.

I have alluded to the fact that in many streets it would not be necessary to pave the whole carriage-way with asphalt. In such cases it would be enough to simply cover, as directed above, the central part of the roadway, to a width sufficient to permit vehicles to pass each other without running on the cobbles. Where there are railroad tracks, however, I would put the asphalt between them and the curbs. While there would, by this plan, be some little noise from passing vehicles occasionally, as when drawing up to the sidewalks, there would be none to compare with the racket and din which assails us now. Furthermore, with much less expense, the street could be kept cleaner than at present, and other advantages would accrue which need not be specified here; not the least of which would be the preservation of the horses' feet. Should the asphalt be slippery at times, surer footing could be found on the uncovered stones at the sides of the streets.

Now let us consider the sidewalks. At first sight there may seem to be no connection between them and the caption of this paper; but there is, all the same. I would like to own as much land as is paved with cobbles in our city sidewalks, and if to that was added that paved with granite blocks, I would be a very wealthy man from that source alone. One of the most remarkable examples of cheeky usurpation is found in the way in which many stablemen and horse owners adapt their sidewalks to the requirements of their horses, regardless of the rights of pedestrians. I once asked a Brooklyn baker, who keeps an old horse in a shabby old frame stable on an elegant residence street, where he got the right to take up the sidewalk flagging in front of his stable and replace it with cobbles raised about a foot above the sidewalk grade. He told me to go to the devil and find out. I went to the department of city works for the purpose which he mentioned; the department not being under its present management at that time, however; and there I was informed that the baker had obtained the permit because he had to take his horse across the sidewalk two or three times a day, and his stable was somewhat above the grade. I expressed the opinion that the rights of pedestrians had been invaded by this action, and was asked if I "would want his horse to fall and break a leg?" I got no further satisfaction (?); nor could I learn where the D. C. W. got the right to give the baker the right to invade the rights of the public.

Railroad companies and private corporations usurp whole blocks of sidewalk in some cases, putting down such pavement as suits them, with no regard for public rights. Aye, and they frequently go further than that and occupy the walks with cars or other vehicles for hours at a time, compelling pedestrians to go around them in the mud of the carriage-way. In thousands of instances the truckmen back their trucks across the walk and keep them there while waiting, maybe an hour or more, for the next load to be ready.

Adult bicyclists are prohibited from riding on the sidewalks; but children on bicycles, velocipedes or roller skates, nurse maids with baby carriages and vendors or others with large push carts may occupy them with impunity. Even in the village of Jamaica, L. I., where the carriage-ways are the worst I ever saw, bicyclists are frequently fined five dollars each for riding on the side-paths, when, goodness knows, it would be perfectly impossible for them to ride anywhere else, and this, even, when there is not a pedestrian in sight except the constable who has been lying in wait for his prey. I would suggest, in passing, that the use of side-paths be permitted for bicyclists in unfrequented localities, with the proviso that they are not to ride within a certain distance, say ten feet of a pedestrian. This would be a great convenience to the wheelman in many instances, where the carriage-ways are impassable for cycles; and in cases where a pedestrian had been injured by a cyclist, the mere fact of contact would prove the violation of the ordinance.

I cannot suggest any remedy for the sidewalk abuses before mentioned, except such as would be based upon proper and adequate legislation. But that could be secured throughout the length and breadth of the land by a Good Roads' League properly organized and operated, with a flourishing branch located in every city and borough; each member pledged to report every infraction of law or other matter of interest to the league, coming under his observation; and the league itself, or each branch thereof, bound to prosecute all offenders against road laws, and to agitate for roads that would be a credit and a source of pride to the community. I believe it possible to form such a league as an auxiliary to the L. A. W. And if we could cause to be made such use as is herein indicated, of the cobble pavements, all the wheelmen in the cities would be jubilant. In conclusion, I must say that I would tax every mothers' son of them; aye, and daughters, too; also every wheel that rolls on a public pavement, whatsoever the size, form, weight or object of the vehicle might be; all of them something; but, to some extent, proportionately to the wear which they would cause to the pavement; the proceeds to be used for the sole purpose of repairing the roads. Let the users pay for the use. Finally, I would confiscate every heavy vehicle with narrow tires. Oh, the penny wisdom and pound foolishness of some people! As one of my workmen once remarked to me: "Dere vas so many peoples vat learn so much dumbness; vasn't it?"

ROAD-WORK VS. ROAD-TALK.

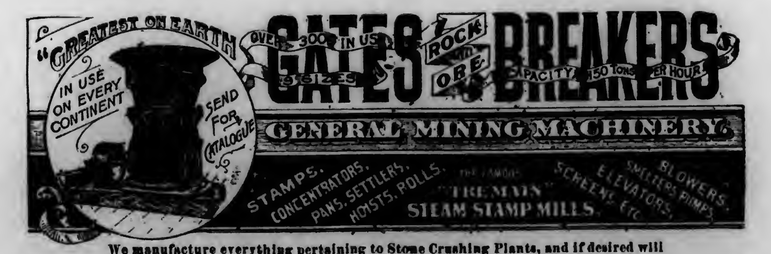
When Appius Claudius started out to build the now famous Appian Way, he didn't wait for the carriage builders and bicycle clubs and the farmers' picnics to pass resolutions on the subject. He simply put men to work and constructed a road three hundred and thirty miles in length by fourteen to eighteen feet wide from Rome south through Capua to Brindisi, and although 2,206 years have passed since then the Appian Way is still the best country road in Europe.

When Napoleon determined that France should have the best highways on earth for the rapid movement of troops and the ready supply of armies with provisions from the fields and farms, he didn't pause for the adoption of a constitutional amendment, but at once took his soldiers out and built the roads he wanted. And there they are to-day, the finest and best highways ever constructed.

This dictatorial way of doing things is of course neither possible nor advisable in a republican country, but it is a part of history which teaches us that the only way to get good roads is to build them, no matter what the cost in blood or treasure.

What is wanted most in the construction of country roads is a disposition to pay the costs, to foot the bills, to give up the cash required for the purpose. Resolutions are very pretty and interesting, but a bushel of them never yet built a foot of roadway anywhere under heaven.— St. Louis Republic.

BICYCLES ON THE "ELEVATED."



The Kings County Elevated Railway Co., of Brooklyn, have perfected arrangements whereby bicycles may be transported from any station along the line of their railway to the suburbs of Brooklyn, which are celebrated for their unsurpassed macadamized roads leading to various Long Island towns, such as Jamaica, Babylon, Patchogue and many other villages within a day's outing.

On Sundays and holidays bicycles will be taken on the smoking cars of any train from any station at any time of the day.

On week days bicycles will not be carried down-town between 5 and 10 A. M., nor up-town between 3 and 8 P. M. During the balance of the day wheels will be admitted to any train.

A charge of 10 cents will be made for each bicycle.

THE BULLETIN will be one day late this week on account of the national holiday.

We manufacture everything pertaining to Stone Crushing Plants, and if desired will take entire charge of construction.

ANOTHER ABSURDITY.

Evidence is not wanting to show that applied philosophy should be more generally taught in the common schools.

The following is a sample of the talk that is often used among wheelmen and even salesmen who should at least understand the A B C of the bicycle's anatomy:

EDITOR BULLETIN:

While talking "wheel" recently with an agent and listening to the great points he was explaining about his own wheels, I ventured to ask him if he did not think the make of wheel I was riding was one of the best. "No," he said, "your wheel is not built for speed," and of course I asked him to explain why. This explanation was as follows:

"Do you see the way that tubing (A) is run on a level from the rear forks to the crank shaft hanger?" I answered that I could see that it was run level, but what had that to do with the speed of the machine? "Why," he said, "the chain has to run up hill from the rear sprocket to the large front sprocket, as per Fig. 1. Now," said he, "look at this frame on this wheel, see how the tubing runs forward and downward toward the crank hanger." (See Fig. 2.) He explained that a machine built like Fig. 2 would run a great deal easier than one built like Fig. 1, as the chain would run on a level or slightly downward. L. A. W., 71,450.

NIGHT SPRINKLING.

We publish in this issue an article which suggests that street sprinkling be done in the night.

The argument looks well, and we commend it to the thoughtful reader.

This is a subject of much interest to city riders, and the BULLETIN would like to do whatever it can to help toward a solution of the now very annoying practice of mud slinging.

A GOOD IDEA.

The good roads commission of Rhode Island has just secured the passage of bills which provide for the building and maintaining of bridges and highways from the general taxes, so as to make the rich cities and towns assist the poorer towns in the northern and western sections of the State.

Garrison from West Point.

A PLEASANT RUN THROUGH PUTNAM COUNTY, N. Y.

BY ARTHUR P. STANLEY-HYDE

THE little village of Garrison lies in the heart of the green-clad Highlands of the Hudson, fifty miles to the northward of New York. Above it rise those hills for which the Hudson river, the "American Rhine," is famous, while below, through a narrow gorge, sweeps that noble river. On the other side, a hundred feet up the bluff, on a little plateau, stand the buildings of the United States military academy at West Point. To the north, a view of the river is cut off by a sharp bend to the west, while in the distance, the mountains of Old Crow's Nest and Storm King on the west side and Breakneck on the east, rising directly out of the water, forming "the northern gate-way of the Highlands," completes the picture in that direction. To the south, six miles below, "Anthony's Nose" juts out from the east side of the river, and Stony Point from the west, forming "the southern gate-way of the Highlands." It was there that an iron chain was stretched across the river during the Revolution to prevent the British fleet sailing up to capture West Point.

It was from this charming little village, snugly hidden away in the valley of the Hudson, that the writer started one fine day last summer to take a ride over roads which are seldom traversed by the "silent steed" and which are very little known except by those people, mostly farmers, who reside in this section of the country; and yet, as a general thing, they were found to be in very fair condition.

Leaving the depot, a fine macadam road runs up a moderate grade for about two hundred yards, where it turns sharply to the right over a bridge across the railroad cut, and up quite a steep hill, past the delightful residence of the Hon. Hamilton Fish, Jr., to Broadway, where, turning to the left we speed on by the Highland house and the beautiful little ivy-covered Episcopal church of St. Philip-in-the-Highlands, surrounded by its graveyard, beneath whose sod repose the bones of the late Hamilton Fish, for many years governor, senator, and secretary of state.

Beyond the church the road turns to the right, past the magnificent residences of Mr. John M. Toucey, Mr. Sam. Sloan, both prominent railroad men, and the Rev. Walter Thompson, S.T.D., rector of St. Philip's church, across a bridge, over a little "babbling" mountain brook and up a very steep, winding hill through the woods, where the foliage is so thick that one can scarcely see the sky, to a gate leading in to Mr. Toucey's place from the rear. It is well worth the trouble, if one can spare the time, to run in here, across an iron bridge over a gorge two hundred feet deep, between two mountains, to what is known as Toucey's Overlook, a rock jutting out from the side of the mountain, where a magnificent view can be obtained. To the south and east the mountains and woods shut out the view, but on the west the buildings at West Point are easily discernible. There are the library, riding hall, Grant hall, academic building, cadet barracks, officers' quarters and hotel, all distinctly visible amidst the green foliage of the point, while near the top of the hill, directly in the rear, the red dome of the observatory emerging just above the tree tops, completes a most beautiful picture. Below, the river is laid out like a map, winding through the mountains till it breaks into the broad expanse of Newburg bay in the distance. The Highlands, crossing the river at this point, stretch away as far as the eye can reach to the northeast, where they run into the Berkshire hills, forming a part of the great Appalachian system. Through the gap between Storm King and Breakneck mountains, beyond Newburg bay, rise the Shawangunk mountains, while in the far distance on a clear day may be seen two high blue peaks of the Catskills.

But I fear too much time has been spent in describing the beauties of these first two miles of our delightful journey, so let us hasten on. Leaving Mr. Toucey's gate, we proceed up the road to the old Sherwood house, now unoccupied and going to decay, but at one time one of the finest houses in this part of the country; the Newman and Luff estates, and arrive at the Hill Country club, charmingly situated at the cross roads in the midst of this section known by the Indians as "Wequahawkee," or the "hill country."

Continuing on to Travers' Corners, we turn to the right and follow the old stage route from New York to Albany, now almost overgrown with grass and weeds, down one hill and up another, through a very wild country, occasionally passing a small farm house and, at much greater intervals, a little hamlet consisting of perhaps a single store, a blacksmithy, and a half dozen houses, until finally the village of Shrub Oak is reached. From here the route lies up Jefferson valley to Lake Mahopac.

Here we notice a very decided change in the character of the country. As far as Shrub Oak, the scenery is very wild and rugged, very much like that of the Adirondacks, while now we are passing through a charming rolling, pastoral country, which is a pleasant relief from the bold and rugged outlines of the mountains through which we have just passed.

Arriving at Lake Mahopac, a stop was made for rest and refreshment. The road here lies close to the shore half way around this charming lake and from thence to Carmel, passing, on the way, one of the many dams in course of construction throughout the Croton watershed to supply the city of New York with drinking water. From Carmel to Brewster's is a pleasant run of six miles, passing the Tilly Foster iron mines, and around two sides of the reservoir of that name to the Brewster house, where a stop for dinner was made. The distance from the Garrison station is thirty miles.

Returning, the route lay around the Tilly Foster reservoir to Carmel and from thence northward through a most charming valley lying between two ranges of hills, where the little hamlets of Cones' Mills and Kent Cliff were passed. The latter stands on the shore of the Kent Cliff reservoir, a charming, though artificial, lake, about two miles long by a half mile wide, almost entirely surrounded by mountains. This is one of the oldest of the Croton watershed reservoirs, having been built about forty years ago. From here to Mead's Corners the rode lies through the same charming valley we have followed all the way from Carmel. At Mead's Corners we turn left and run in a southwesterly direction over a fine rolling road, for the most part through almost unbroken woods, till finally, reaching the top of quite an ascent, a fine view of the Hudson, with the sun just setting behind the mountains on the other side, was obtained.

From this point there is an almost unbroken coast for a distance of six miles through Nelsonville to Cold Spring, where, reaching Broadway, the writer turned to the left and rode along that splendid thoroughfare, through some beautiful scenery, past the delightful summer home of Mr. John H. Iselin, to the depot road, Garrison, where, turning to the left, he rode over the same road as in the morning to the Hill Country club, where, having ridden sixty-five miles, he was glad to get a good supper and go to bed.

TRAVELLING AND BRAIN GROWTH.

N. R. PURDY, M. D.

Dr. Walter Scargil, of Colchester, England, has discovered the remarkable fact that travelling makes the brain grow. He avers and can personally testify that much growth occurs, even to the extent of an inch, at the ages of thirty, forty-five and sixty! This means of cerebral development he thinks might be applied to idiots, and he suggests that the patients of idiot asylums be shifted about once a year.

Here is a new field perhaps for the ever immanent bicycle. Put the idiot on a wheel and make him travel continually until the size of the hat-band increases from six to seven and a half.

Another suggestion which we modestly put forth is that the Legislative Assembly of this State, that of Kansas, Kentucky and Massachusetts, swap State Houses every year, thus compelling the statesman to move over the country, to the benefit of their cerebral convolutions and the improvement of their statesmanship.

Medical Record, N. Y., May 11, '95.

I would amend the suggestion in regard to the Legislative Assembly by adding — that the statesmen in "moving over the country" do so by means of the bicycle.

Then there would result not only an "improvement of their statesmanship" and health, but also an early improvement in the roads.

As to putting idiots on wheels, the writer, when meeting cyclers who persist in riding on the left side of the street or road, and others rushing along with curved spines and head near handle bar; and still others who do not seem to know why nature gave them a nose, and who may be termed "mouth-breathers," sometimes feels that this is already an accomplished fact.

But the class of idiots who should be compelled to ride wheels are those who improve (?) the country highways by ploughing the gutters and throwing sod, stones, etc. into the middle of the road.

These men should learn to ride the wheel on a good macadam road, but thereafter their riding should be confined to those roads of their own making.

The writer, feeling conscious of having solved the road question, wishes the L. A. W. BULLETIN success, and its editor health and happiness.

VERY COLD.

Bobbie's composition on Siberia embodied the one idea he had grasped from the teacher's description.

"It is so very cold in Siberia," he wrote, "that the inhabitants don't live there."

IT'S YOUR FAULT?

Letters have been received from a number of Massachusetts towns, asking why local consuls have not been appointed.

In such cases we find that a satisfactory application has not been made. Why not make it?

STERLING ELLIOTT, Chief Consul.

EXTENSION OF RENEWAL SEASON,

The Executive Committee has voted that owing to the statement printed upon the membership ticket of last year, to the effect that renewals would be received up to July 1, 1895, the secretary be instructed to receive and enter renewals this year till July 1, and that fines for non-renewals shall not begin till July 1, 1895.

Truly yours,

GEO. A. PERKINS, Sec. Ex. Com.

NEW YORK STATE DIVISION.

I hereby give notice that at the meeting of the board of officers of the New York State Division to be held June 15th, 1895, I will move the following amendments to the By-laws:

Article II, Section 3. In the first line strike out "There shall be an annual meeting of the Division" and insert "Two meetings of the Division shall be held in each year."

Article V, Section 8. In fourth line strike out "fifteenth" and insert "first."

I will also move such other amendments to the Constitution and By-laws as may be necessary to make them conform with the Constitution and By-laws of the L. A. W., as amended February 18, 1895.

BICYCLES AND TAXES.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

Would you kindly inform me if town officials can legally tax bicycles more than the regular rates on other personal property?

Has there been any test cases?

Very truly yours,

F. A. LAWTON.

We have heard some newspaper talk about putting a special tax on bicycles, but do not know of any case where it has been done.

We believe there is no danger of such a tax being *im*posed, although it is liable to be *pro*posed from time to time.

Wheelmen who are interested in such questions should join the L. A. W. so as to be in a position to act intelligently and effectively when it comes to opposing unjust legislation of any sort.

THROUGH TOLL.

I wish to call the attention of all members of the L. A. W. who use the Lancaster Turnpike from Philadelphia to Paoli, that a through ticket costs only ten cents for tolls, whereas the local rate is much higher. Wheelmen intending to go any material distance should buy a ticket all the way through. 71,542, L. A. W.

Non-League members must pay $1.00 per year for the BULLETIN. The club rate of 25 cents cannot be made except to members.

RACING BOARD.

Godfrey Schmidt, Los Angeles, Cal., is transferred to class B; Thomas Hayelden and Joseph Mahoney, of Oakland, Cal., have been suspended for 30 days, from April 26, for competing at unsanctioned races, and P. G. Liest, C. H. Leopold, W. H. Connery and A. Mordicai, Savannah, Ga., for 30 days, from May 13.

Fred Taylor, Dallas, Tex., suspended pending investigation into his amateur status.

Mr. C. H. Lush, Amityville, L. I., N. Y., is suspended from all track racing pending investigation into his amateur standing.

July 24 has been assigned to the Big Four C. C., of Mansfield, O., as a national circuit date. They assume all risk of rain.

As the income derived from sanction fees is so far insufficient to provide for one official referee to follow the national circuit, it has been decided by the board that an official referee may be appointed for each circuit meet.

Under rule 35, racing rules, Thomas W. Eck, trainer, has, by unanimous vote of the racing board, been suspended from all track privileges for one year from May 17, 1895.

Transfers to class B, under clause G, class A rules: Paul Grosch, New York, N. Y.; Fred. C. List, Fred H. Fellows, Fred W. Fisher, and Fred J. Barry, all of Syracuse, N. Y.; C. M. Evans, George Weiler, A. W. Cane, Jr., H. J. Rippetoe, instructor; E. Schefski, Frank Thatcher, H. B. Conibear, Morley Hazzard, Arthur Liday and Thorwald S. Jensen, all of Salt Lake City, Utah; L. V. Raymond, B. L. Lucas, H. B. Hewett, M. J. Lee, Charles Fraiser, Jno. F. Staver, and Carey L. Howe, all of Portland, Ore.; Charles Sears, Albany, Ore.; W. D. Wallace and Jesse Robinson, both of Portland, Ore.; L. D. Remington and O. H. Marshberger, both of Woodburn, Ore.

Amendments to By-Laws.

Notice is hereby given that the following amendments to the by-laws of our State division will be moved at the next annual meeting of the State board of officers:—

Article I. Strike out Section 2 and change the numbers of remaining sections, so as to make them consecutive.

Article III. Section 1. Strike out all after the word "fixed" in the eighth line and substitute the following: "Or approved by the board of officers at any regular or special meeting." Then insert the concluding sentence, "All questions of interpretation," etc.

Article IV. Strike out Section 1 and Section 2.

Article V. Section 7. After the word "October" in fifth line, strike out the remaining portion of the section and insert the following: "In each case where two or more candidates have been regularly nominated or regularly certified for the same office, the names of such candidates shall be printed on the official ballot in such order as shall have been determined by lot by the secretary-treasurer; and each ballot shall also contain a sufficient space for the writing of additional names, a place for the voter's signature, and instructions as to how many candidates may be voted for each office. Said ballots, when prepared, shall be sent promptly by mail, one to each member of the division, together with an envelope marked 'Mail Vote' and addressed to the secretary-treasurer, who shall canvass the same as provided in Section 3 of Article III. The secretary-treasurer shall not sell or deliver ballots to any candidates or to any other person until at least twent-four hours have expired after the mailing of official ballots to all members has been completed, except as hereinbefore provid-d."

Article VI. Section 5. Add the words "or approved by the executive committee."

GEORGE E. MINER,
Chairman Rights and Priv. Com.

THE terms of all local consuls run out with the chief consul who appointed them. Consuls who wish to be reappointed should make application to the chief consul.

RENEWAL BLANK.

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.,
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR:—I enclose ONE DOLLAR, seventy-five cents of which is to renew my membership and twenty-five cents to be paid to the publisher for another year's subscription to the L. A. W. publication.

Number, ...

Name, ...

Street and No. or P. O. Box, ...

City, ...

State, ...

Division in which my home is and to which I should be attached. .....

Send Ticket to, ...

The L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS AND ALL OTHER MAIL MATTER WILL GO TO THE ADDRESS AS GIVEN ABOVE, and the name of no member will be put regularly on the list till his renewal with latest address is received.

Fill out above blank, inclose necessary money, and send to Secretary Don't send soiled bills. New bills are safer in the mails. Write very plainly, PRINTING PREFERRED. Stamps of a denomination above 2 cents will not be received. If you live in one state and have your mail sent to another, fill out the blank so that you may be located with the division in which your home is and your mail matter be sent as you wish. Ticket holders, 25 cents; with name stamped, 50 cents. If you want either of these write "25" or "50" at left of word Number. This brief form of blank is used to enable applicants for membership to follow the requirements of the League Constitution, which provides [Articles III and VII] for the payment in advance of one year's dues, with initiation fee and subscription fee to the official organ. Applicants or members using this blank will regularly receive all official news and announcements and will be subject to no further charge or assessment for any purpose whatever.

L. A. W. Veteran Bar.

The veteran bar which has been adopted by the L. A. W. to be worn by the veterans of the organization, can be worn above the League badge, or as an individual pin.

Any member who has been connected with the L. A. W. for ten consecutive years is entitled to wear the bar.

Members holding numbers between 100 and 1656 are entitled to wear the bar at this date.

The bar is of gold with the word "Veteran" in enamel. Each bar must have the owner's name engraved on the back. All orders must be sent to the Secretary accompanied by the price of bar, $2.50.

We can supply any style or form of badge with bar. The standard badge retails for $3.00, and will be sent attached to bar if this sum is added to remittance.

TIME FOR RENEWALS EXTENDED.

Owing to the fact that each last year's ticket bore a contract which gave its holder until July 1st in which to renew his membership the executive committee has decided that the new rule which limits the time for renewal to June 1st should not take effect until next year.

The extension of time until July 1st has been officially ordered.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to Monday preceding this date, and published in accordance with Article III of the constitution.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published and to report errors and omissions to the secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at noon on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

Is confessedly the authority on rubber matters the world over. It has subscribers and correspondents in every civilized country, and has the reputation of being up with the times on all matters pertaining to rubber manufacture. From the beginning it has followed the growth of the tire business with ever increasing interest, and has repeatedly been appealed to to answer questions, decide disputes, and furnish information for both tire makers and tire users. Hence we believe that the series of articles here announced, founded upon a knowledge of all branches of rubber manufacture dating back many years, and of the tire industry from its beginning, should have an exceptional value to tire manufacturers, tire dealers, and especially tire users — the men who pay the bills, ride the wheels, and know what they want.

QUERIES AND ANSWERS

R. J., New Haven, Ct., asks: "Will a cyclometer register any more miles if placed on the front wheel of a safety than on the rear wheel?"

Ans. No, the opposite would usually be the case. The more weight a wheel carries, or what amounts to the same thing, the less air pressure there is in the tire, the more times the wheel will revolve in going a given distance. The reason is that the hub of the wheel comes nearer to the ground and makes it practically a wheel of less diameter than if it had more pressure or a lighter load.

A. M., Cleveland, O., asks:

What is the best kind of air with which to fill a pneumatic tire? Is there any difference between night air and day air? When is the proper time to inflate a tire?

Ans. This is a very important matter and much depends on a correct solution of it. The more successful racing men understand it and will no doubt blame us for giving away the secret of their success.

Don't under any circumstances fill your tire with darkness, it is too soggy. Sunlight is the thing, because it is much more resilient, and not so heavy.

As proof of this did you ever notice how much lighter hearted you feel on a sunshiny day.

We are sorry you asked the last question. The proper time to inflate a tire is of course when it needs it, but that may occur sometimes on a falling barometer and an ebb tide when the air is not right, in which case we would advise waiting until the next bright day.

"A Wisconsin Rider" asks:

Why is it that a light colored coat doesn't need brushing as often as a black one?

Ans. It is largely a question of habit. A black coat doesn't really need brushing. We have seen coats which were not brushed for years, but of course they belonged to people who had never ridden in a parlor car.

We advise, however, that a coat be brushed once a month whether it seems to need it or not.

T. C., N. Y., asks:

Do wood rims require any special treatment to keep them in good condition, and if so what?

Ans. Wood as well as metal should be protected from the weather. The best wearing surface which can be put on a wood rim is made with varnish of the sort used on railroad cars and carriages. Shellac should never be depended on for a finishing coat, as it is not waterproof. When rims lose their lustre a new coat of varnish should be applied.

2. Is it advisable to keep a chain oiled?

3. What is the best treatment for a chain?

Ans. It is not only advisable but absolutely necessary that the inside of chain (i.e., the wearing surface of the studs) should be kept well lubricated. We know of nothing better than oil for this purpose.

The surface of the links which comes in contact with the sprocket wheels does not need so much lubrication, but it should not be allowed to become entirely dry. There are a number of compounds having plumbago for a base, which are especially adapted for the surface of chains. In an emergency, however, good results may be obtained from the use of tallow or common bar soap of any kind.

The only objection to oil for this purpose is its tendency to catch dust, which being held in place by the oil tends to wear both the chain and the sprocket teeth.

INFORMATION WANTED.

Two correspondents ask where they can obtain chain covers.

Another wants to know where he may get a catalogue describing a practical unicycle.

Still another wants some means of paralyzing a dog.

And several want to know which are the best leggings, stockings, caps, etc.

We cannot recommend any of these things through the reading columns of the BULLETIN, but do not hesitate to do so when asked privately.

Interested parties would do well to send us catalogues.

I bought a poor wheel and paid a high price for it, which suggested this joke.

The joke: I don't like my wheel, and yet I am "stuck on it."

How much can you give me for this, as I understand you wish to buy jokes?

L. A. W., 71,479.

Ans. We would like to give you six months, but there is no law which covers the case.

CORRESPONDENCE

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

Dear Sir,— Permit me to thank you for your "Antidote for Apple Tree Lice," published in the BULLETIN of May 17.

I have been watching the agricultural papers for months for the application given in your item, and was delighted to find it in the L. A. W. BULLETIN.

"It is an ill wind that blows no body good."

Yours very truly,

CINCINNATI, O., May 31. No. 38,501.

ED. L. A. W. BULLETIN:

"Safety" asks in last week's BULLETIN what the New York cyclists are going to do about enforcing the American law of the road and making all foreign ignoramuses and home-made cockneys keep to the right.

One very common way in New York city is to write to a newspaper (just as an Englishman writes to his London Times) and then relapse into silence, overcome, perhaps, by the recoil of his protest. Another way, not uncommon in the same city, is to form a club or league to carry out the members' desires.

So I hope, and will help to accomplish the hope, that a new League club be formed for the enforcement of all wheelmen's rights. By being a League club I understand representation could be had in the L. A. W., and its majestic conservatism shaken up; but without revolutionizing the L. A. W. such a club could wage an incessant warfare upon what has been recently well called, the horseocracy of New York, and perhaps of the rest of the country.

That such a scheme would be beneficial is apparent from the increase in numbers of this division under the present chief consul. In fact an aggressive organization always attracts members.

An illustration of what organization can accomplish is seen in the defeat of that proposed law for New York wheelmen, to require each one to sound a vocal, no, I should say, make a flourish of trumpets in honor of each horseman overtaken or met by a cyclist. No doubt the sale of trumpets would have put much money in manufacturers' pockets for the time being, and no doubt the wheelmen and women of the division would have been asking themselves "What are we going to do about this thing?" had not the chief consul been a man of action. So the bill was killed. Mr. Potter alone would have been powerless to reach, much less influence the members of the division, had he acted as an individual.

There is no more than time now, before the next session of the legislature, to find out what the law is and what it ought to be. So I say, as "Safety" did: "Fellow cyclists, what are you going to do about it?"

JOHN B. UHLE, 61,156.

NEW YORK CITY, May 25, 1895.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

Dear Sir,—Here's one to add to your collection: While in a cycle store recently, a cyclist entered with a wheel and requested that the gear be raised so he could coast down hill faster.

Although a stranger I could not help asking how it went up hill and was told it was all right, but was always left by the crowd in coasting. I wondered if he thought of the old "chestnut" of lubricating the valves. No. 61,778.

A SHREWD MOTHER.

WHAT TO PRINT.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

Answering your question, I would say touring matter should and would touch seventy-five men out of every one hundred.

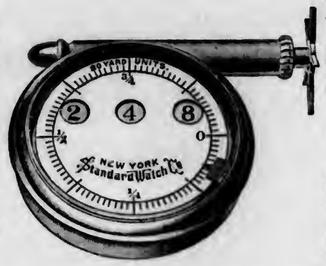
We are not all sports nor hoss-jockeys. I am one of the 39,950 who will not forgive you for filling your pages with race-rot, as all the weeklies did all last year. You hear me?

Don't want news. Give us more of art; the elevating influence of "the good of all out doors," the charms of the sunlit fields, and those touches of nature that are so satisfying and attractive to those of us who are so numerous and not in the scorch class.

Give us touring, the League and good roads.

Let the other weeklies have the news. Your space is too valuable to spare for any or much crackajackerosity.

Truly yours,



STAMSON.

THE BICYCLE AND THE CHURCH.

THE order in which we mention these two great human diversions should not be regarded as any reflection on the latter; it is due rather to the fact that this is a bicycle paper instead of a religious one.

Of course the church was established and had its Pope long before the bicycle was invented. It is also true that people have differed from the beginning and we hope they always may.

The church of the olden time, however, used arguments which, though convincing in a way, are no longer considered favorably by civilized people.

The modern church, at least so much of it as anybody takes seriously, is an institution of great value, power and importance. So when we understand that the church opposes any given thing it at once becomes a matter of consequence even though it was not already.

The church, like any human association, contains people of all sorts, intelligent, ignorant, broad, narrow, live, petrified, enterprising, conservative, generous, selfish, forgiving, and revengeful.

By far the larger part of our people in, as well as out of the church, believe in and are infatuated with the bicycle, i. e., for a portion of the time, but there seems to be a more or less endorsed idea that while it is quite proper to ride a wheel on Saturday or Monday (in fact the pastor may use it in making his parish calls), that to ride the same vehicle on Sunday violates in some imperfectly understood fashion the very fundamental rules of religious ethics.

In talking this matter with several pious people and following it up with a series of questions, we find that the average opposition to Sunday riding is based on the supposed fact that it diverts the mind of the rider away from religious things, and another question always brings out the evidence on which the opinion is based, viz.: that the wheelman allows his wheel to keep him away from church.

The next question, Would these people go to church if they had no bicycles? is not so easily answered. But there is another one which is easier. Do all people who are not addicted to the bicycle habit go to church?

Then there is another question while we are at it. Is it always necessary in order to be a devout Christian, that a person should attend church regularly?

Is it not possible that a man might get into closer relations with the Infinite, and better appreciate those marvellous miracles of growth which no one can hope to understand, if he, suitably dressed, should roll his bicycle leisurely along the shaded country road, his lungs filled with purity and his mind free to take in the beauties of nature. Perhaps one of them may be riding with him. He may also have a kindly thought of the minister and choir, who with possibly a few others are taking their sunshine through stained glass, and by their singing are obscuring the voices of the birds who can do it so much better.

Or, the wheelman may put on a "boiled shirt" and sit through the sermon while his mind is in the woods.

Which is best? THE L. A. W. BULLETIN will not pretend to say.

We have no sympathy with the wheelman who allows his Sunday riding to annoy others who may feel differently, no more have we any excuse for the religious fanatic who thinks he is serving God when he is persecuting men; both are wrong and should be educated.

The bicycle needs no endorsement, its reputa-

SAUCE FOR THE GANDER SHOULD BE SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE.

A few years ago several prominent makers made double tube men's wheels, using two small tubes, claiming they were more rigid than one large one. Today these same makers claim more rigidity in large single tubes for men's light wheels, yet continue to inflict the ladies with "back numbered" double tube wheels. If small double tubes were not a good thing for men's wheels, why should they be for ladies?

We can't take any more orders for ladies' Clippers and fill them before July 1st.

Decision rendered April 22, 1895.

JUDGE BAKER says:

"In my opinion it involved invention to change the form of the Choker device * * * and combine it with an air pump having a hose with an open end adapted to slip over any bicycle nipple. To one who has accomplished this result the quality of inventor should not be denied. I am of the opinion that the device covered by it constitutes a patentable invention, and that it had not been anticipated by any prior patented device. The defendant's device is an infringement of it. In my judgment it is so palpable an infringement that it is needless to point out the coincidence of structure and the operation of the two devices. It is apparent upon the most casual inspection. There will be a decree for the complainant."

Sunday is the only day on which the average person can spare much time for riding.

No one is apt to ride a wheel while there is a more attractive diversion available.

The rider would put up his wheel and go to church in a minute if that were made more interesting to him, but so long as it isn't, the truly religious religionist will not find it in his heart to blame.

People put up their bicycles to attend the theatre and pay a dollar or more beside, without the necessity of a law to compel them.

Why is it?

Many of the more progressive ministers have seen the handwriting on the wall and taken up the subject of cycling.

Some churches are providing storage for bicycles so that worshipers may use wheels in going to and from.

Dyspepsia is a foe to good behavior, a man with a disordered stomach may say he is worshiping God but God knows better.

The bicycle is a promoter of good health and for that reason is one of the strongest allies the church ever had.

The bicycle has come to stay, so has the church; both are being improved each year, they must work together for the general uplifting of mankind.

In a small town in New York an attempt has recently been made to stop the riding of bicycles on Sunday.

Chief Consul Potter of the New York Division L. A. W., with his usual vigorous promptness, hastened to assure the wheelmen of that town that they would be protected in their right to use the streets on any day of the week.

Ministers and others should remember that wheelmen cannot be made to come to church by foul means, and if they could, the desirability of such attendance may well be questioned.

The reason why a thousand new people are joining the L. A. W. every week is because they can see that it is to their interest to belong to an organization which has made it possible and easy for them to ride the wheel on all roads and on all days of the week.

The average condition of the roads has improved more than a hundred per cent. within the last ten years and that improvement is largely due to the bicycle.

Let us hope that the church may have its power for good similarly increased by the same influence.

In the meantime the bicycle, notwithstanding its deficiency in the matter of wings, continues to arrive at its destination as formerly.

"WHAT IS IT GEARED TO?"

It is not strange that the non-mechanical rider often comes short of understanding the mechanism of the machine he rides.

To those unfamiliar with the theory of "gear" we offer the following explanation:

When the "ordinary" bicycle (i. e. the old style machine having cranks attached to axle of front wheel) was used it was necessary to have them built in different sizes to suit the rider's length of leg, and a man then rode "a 52" or "a 48," meaning a wheel of that diameter. Of course one revolution of the pedals would move the machine just one revolution of the wheel.

When the safety came to pass, (and it soon did pass the ordinary) it was necessary to so arrange the mechanism that the smaller driving wheel would revolve enough more than one revolution to each turn of the cranks, to still move the machine forward at about the same rate.

When we speak of a safety as "geared to 56" we mean that one revolution of the cranks will turn the driving wheel (whatever diameter it may be) an amount equal to the circumference of a 56 inch wheel.

If the driving-wheel of the safety is 28 inches it would make exactly two revolutions to each turn of the cranks, and the sprocket wheel on the crank shaft would have exactly double the number of teeth as the one on the rear wheel.

The diameter of sprocket wheels or the number of teeth would make no difference in the calculation so long as one was just double the other.

THE PRINCIPLE. If the wheel turns faster than the cranks, it will turn as much faster as the crank sprocket is larger.

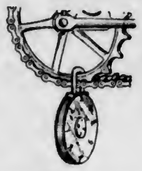
AN EXAMPLE. A 28-inch wheel having a 9-tooth sprocket is driven from a crank shaft having a sprocket with 17 teeth. What is the gear?

THE ANSWER. $\frac{17}{9} \times 28 = 52\frac{8}{9}$

One of the causes which contributed to the superiority of the safety was the fact that a rider could have a gear proportioned to his strength regardless of the length of his leg.

It is common now for racing men to ride machines geared to seventy and more, while it would be an exceptionally long rider who could reach a 60-inch wheel of the old style.

Two hundred and sixteen new names each day last week and nearly the same number of renewals.



A marvel of artistic design and substantial construction. . . . . —•—

To the Trade:

Gentlemen,— Owing to the universal demand for cycles, and the extraordinary success so generally enjoyed by manufacturers, the outlook for another season is particularly bright. It is very desirable that firms of solid standing with the public start early enough, so that when the demand comes the agent expending money and tissue need not do so in vain.

We have decided to end the present season on July 15; after that date we shall be in a position to show our line of 1896 pedals and quote '96 prices, and enter orders for early delivery.

We have made many improvements for '96, and the leading pedal for '95 will again occupy the same position next season.

Having studied all matters connected with this most necessary adjunct of the cycle, we can assure you that you will be amply repaid by entering into correspondence with us, or appointing a date when the writer will be pleased to call upon you in reference to establishing pleasant business relations for the coming season.

Very truly yours,

HOW PNEUMATIC TIRES ARE MADE.

BY JOHN T. GRIERSON.

(Copyrighted by India Rubber Publishing Co.)

THE general public, and indeed many who market rubber tires, have but a misty idea of the manner in which they are made. It has been the feeling among the progressive rubber manufacturers that the more the handlers and users of rubber goods knew about them, the better would be the business, particularly in high quality goods. This word of introduction is my excuse for accepting the invitation to describe briefly the manufacture of tires.

India-rubber is the dried or coagulated sap of a tree. The best rubber, for there are hnndreds of kinds, is the Para, and to the credit of the tire makers it should be said that nearly all of them are users of it. This rubber, when received in its crude state, is first soaked in hot water to soften it, and then run many times through corrugated rolls, being sprayed with water the while to cleanse it, and form it into sheets. It is then hung in a warm room for months, to dry and season. The process that follows drying is the compounding or mixing. The sheets of rubber are wound around large hollow steam heated rolls, running close together, one a trifle faster than the other, to give a friction or kneeding motion, and while thus running the various ingredients are forced into the softened gum. Of the ingredients used sulphur is the most essential, for that combining with the rubber effects vulcanization. There is oftentimes an expressed wish on the part of tire purchasers that they be assured that they are getting only "pure gum"; that is rubber with the simple addition of from six per cent. to ten per cent. of sulphur. This assurance is often given, but as a matter of fact they neither need nor do they receive pure gum. India-rubber has the curious quality of assimilating almost all kinds of earths, metallic oxides, and even vegetable substances. From these it borrows various qualities that are oftentimes of great advantage. For instance certain ingredients used in hose help the rubber to resist oils, others assist in delaying the destructive action of acids, hot water, etc. Some earths give a soft putty-like consistency, while others make a compound hard and only slightly elastic. All of these peculiar attributes that rubber may take on are known to the manufacturers, and it is safe to say that to-day only a few adulterate tires for the mere sake of cheapening them. They do not use pure gum, in the strict sense of the term, for the reason that it would not last as well as rubber combined with a percentage of metallic oxides that will give it better wearing qualities, and while not affecting its resiliency, will keep it from tearing. It is safe to say that there is not one successful manufacturer of tires to-day in the world, who has not in spite of all his experience in the compounding and manipulation of rubber, been forced to try hundreds of experiments, and learn by actual experience exactly what rules should be followed to enable him to turn out tires that should give first-class service.

After the rubber is mixed the next step is to put it in shape so that it can be made up, and the first thing is to get it upon the fabric that forms so important a part of the tire. For this purpose it is taken to the calender, a massive machine in which are steam heated rolls, that not only smooth the rubber out in a thin and even coating upon the cloth, but also drive it between the meshes so that every space is filled with gum. It should be borne in mind that the strength of the tire depends largely upon the fabric. Its elasticity, its air and waterproof qualities, come from the rubber.

The rubber-coated fabric as it comes from the calender is next taken to the cutting room, where it is cut into strips, and from there it goes to the making up departments. Here it is shaped roughly like the finished tire. Where any points are to be joined, rubber in a benzine solution is used as a cement. Forms are used for the making up, that allow the workman to give it its general shape. Its final finish is given by pressure during the vulcanizing. There are two different methods for this, one which is practically a dry heat. That is where the tire is put in a large ring-like mold and expanded so that its surface is pressed against the inner mold surfaces; another where the cover is cured, flat or rounding on the surface of the drum. In the latter case the rubber is kept from losing its shape during the cure by being wound with cloth. This style of cure is the open steam heat, and is now widely practiced partly because it is less costly than it is to make molds, and partly because of the prevalent belief that open steam cures give a tougher rubber than do the dry cures. Speaking of the curing, it may be well to realize that this process either makes or mars the tire. Too high a heat will burn the rubber and greatly shorten its life. Workmen judge the amount of cure by the smell of the rubber and also by the "bloom." It is safe for the ordinary tire purchaser to decide that if the surface of his tire is covered with a fine yellow-white coating of sulphur, that works out from the rubber a little while after its cure, that it is not burned.

Thus far I have been speaking of the cover to the tire alone. The inner tube however is made up differently. This part of the tire has no fabric, nor does it need the wearing qualities that the cover must have. Hence this can well be pure gum. In preparing the rubber for this the washing, drying and mixing are as already described, except that the metallic oxides are left out. Nor does this gum go to the calender. Instead it is taken to the tubing machine, which is a huge screw revolving in a strong iron cylinder, that draws the gum in at one end and forces it out at the other, in the shape of a continuous tube. These inner tubes may be rolled up by hand, but the machine made are the most common. The cure is effected in the same manner as already described.

Of course there is in every mill a department for inspection, where all of the tires are most carefully examined. There are also various testing machines, and as a rule the tires of every successful rival in the business have had to show their worth. The riders of tires should appreciate the fact that in producing the pneumatic commercially the rubber manufacturers have solved the hardest mechanical problem that has yet been submitted to them. No one will ever know how many hundreds of thousands of dollars have been sunk in experiments, in accidents, and in replacing tires that when finished were apparently perfect. Because of this hard won success, and because the future development of this business rests upon the attitude of the user as well as that of the maker, the claims for replacement in the case of unsatisfactory tires, should be urged only when they seem just in the light of such knowledge.

HE HAD BEEN THERE.

An American tourist on one of the Rhine steamers, taking passage for Cologne, made acquaintance with an English gentleman, also bound for Cologne, who presently settled himself for a cosy nap. He slept placidly as the boat swept on past the famous Rhine shores, till, arriving at Cologne, his companion took the liberty of waking him.

"Ah! we're here, then, eh?" said he. "And so I presume we've been up the Rhine," he mused, gathering himself together with a complacent expression, and deep satisfaction in his voice. "I've always meant to 'go up the Rhine,' sir, and now I've done it. Thank you, sir; good-day."

AN EVEN START.

The story is told of some people in a little village on the English coast who depended on "wrecks" for their living, surprised at church one day by the cry outside of "ship ashore!"

The congregation rose, leaped toward the door, but wavered, hesitating, as the preacher's passionate cry was heard from the pulpit:

"Wait, brethren! Dearly beloved, wait! One word more," he implored, at the same time coming in hot haste down the pulpit stairs.

"One word more," he shouted, striding down the aisle, then beginning to run.

"Here we go, boys! Let's start fair!"

NEWGATE PRISON.

A VERY interesting and little known ride for cyclists living in western Massachusetts is to old Newgate prison in East Granby, Conn.

Taking Springfield as a starting point, cross the North End bridge, then turn to left along the river to the distillery in Agawam, then direct road south. At fork about two miles from Agawam, turn to right and keep direct. At Suffield, by soldiers' monument, turn to right down hill, (look out for railroad crossing at bottom) fine road, straight ahead to Turret house, here turn to left and road is direct. At branch after passing small brook turn to left and continue till you see a sign "To Newgate," here turn to right up Copper Hill to destination. The distance is about twenty miles from Springfield.

The prison has a very interesting history. Here George Washington kept political offenders and British redcoats during the Revolutionary war. At the back of the prison, looking south, there is a window with iron bars, near the ground, where the worst offenders were kept. One of the bars is sawed half way through by prisoners who tried to escape.

A woman prisoner in the room above heard them sawing and gave information to the keepers, who cautiously opened the trap-door and caught them in the act. Two of them were hung up by the thumbs for twelve hours.

On the east side is the opening to some of the dungeons, which are nearly full of water, and are now devoted to the unromantic purpose of cooling cans of milk.

In the library of the Capitol at Hartford there are two old drawings of Newgate. In one of them is shown files of convicts marching in the prison yard, and guards with their guns on the walls.

The road is generally good, though sandy in places, but it is well worth the trouble to see this interesting old place. "SPROCKET."

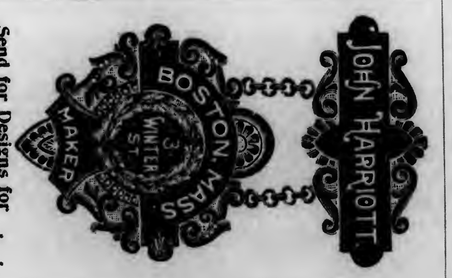
ZIMMERMAN.

He used to have another name, but it has fallen into disuse. He came to Waltham on May 30th and showed the crowd how he does it. The band played "Hail to the Chief," and the crowd yelled. "Zimmy" smiled that same modest smile which has made him famous.

Many suppose that his riding ability is the cause of his wide popularity. Of course this may have had something to do with it, but those who know him best think of him not only as a great rider, but as a modest, quiet gentleman, whose hat is never too small on account of his success.

THE FASTEST MILE

in competition was, until May 30th, held by E. C. Bald; time, two minutes four seconds. The record was reduced at Waltham on Memorial day to two minutes one and four-fifths seconds. The fortunate rider was Charles Murphy of Brooklyn, N. Y.



THE Chattanooga (Tenn.) Athletic Association will hold a race meet in that city July 4th.

AT Norwood, Mass., on June 17th, there will be a celebration and bicycle parade under the auspices of the Norwood Business Men's Association. A great time is expected.

HAVERHILL, MASS., has a live young organization known as the National Cycle Club. It started with fifteen members the first of April and has already increased to fifty. It contains a number of promising racers.

Careful wheelmen are never on the road without Redding's Russia Salve. It is the best thing extant for bruises, sprains and cuts. All druggists recommend it and sell it for 25 cents.

THE L. A. W. AND RACING.

Less than one-tenth of the members of the league ever take part in public competitions, while more than nine-tenths care nothing for races or racers. Yet this small fraction of the league's membership receives the lion's share of attention. An overwhelming majority of the league cannot name the present champions or their records, and would not mourn if the world never saw another bicycle race. The matters which interest them are cheaper, more durable and easier running wheels; better roads on which to use them; a cycling dress which a modest woman need not blush to wear, and legislation which will give wheelmen all their rights, and some additional privileges. If this class of wheelmen and wheelwomen find that the league fails to help them in these directions, they will gradually drop out and seek aid elsewhere. During the past year the league lost more that ten thousand members, and a large majority of these ten thousand deserted because they were not interested in racing, while the league seemed to care for little else. —Outing for June.

SECRETARY BULL,

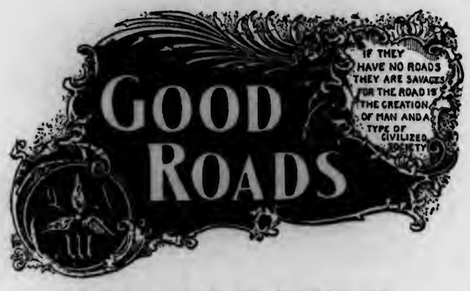
Where are you? Why don't you arrange with this "justice" to send business on commission? You could have helping hands erected at different points advising wheelmen to "take this road."

The hands can be had at this office for $1.00 each.

"There's a Justice of the Peace in a country town not far from here," said the bicycler, "who has a scheme that will make him a millionaire if he sticks to it for a year or two.

"You see, the town has an ordinance forbidding bicycle riding on the sidewalks. A good many wheelmen go that way, so what does this justice do but scoop out a hole and make a great big mud puddle clear across the street right in front of his office. Of course when a wheelman comes along, rather than ride through the mud, he turns upon the sidewalk. That's what the justice is waiting for. He has a constable on the watch and the two rush out and nab the cycler.

"I was caught in the snare last week, though I protested I only intended to keep on the walk till I had passed the mud. It was of no avail. I was fined five dollars and had to pay it. I got a chance to look at his book when he was recording my fine, and there was a record of some twenty wheelmen who had been served the same way that day and it was still early in the afternoon.



"It made me mad and I began abusing the old fellow for having such a mud puddle in the street.

"'Why don't you fill it up?' I asked, "if you want wheelmen to keep in the road?'

He grinned in a most exasperating manner and answered without so much as a blush:

"'Spose we're goin' to destroy such a source of revenue as that mud puddle is? I guess not. John,' turning to the constable, 'you better take the hose and soften it up a little bit, ready for the next sucker.'" —Buffalo Express.

Scribner's for June has several very interesting articles on bicycling. It is interesting to note that journals of that class find it desirable to devote so much space to the wheel.

GOOD ROADS IN BROOKLYN.

AT a recent meeting of the Brooklyn Good Roads Association, St. Clair McKelway, editor of the Brooklyn Eagle said among other good things:—

"Ladies and gentlemen, when I hear your applause I know that you have views. When I see these officials on the platform I know that you have votes. There seems to be a strong conviction in his honor's mind. It is that one-half—the better half of the human race—rides a wheel better than the other half, which is not the better half. He spoke about the elasticity and grace of the human figure, but he did not tell us whether the particular object of his admiration wore them or wore it. My own conviction is that they look a great deal better in the one than in the other, and I shall not say in which.

"When the park commissioner had the temerity to take credit to himself for having created the cycle path in only one direction it reminded me of the man whose mother-in-law desired to visit Texas. He got her railroad passes there and back. He gave to her the pass there. He kept the other in his pocket. She's in Texas still. She was never known to be still in any other state. . . . Seriously, however, good roads are an evidence of civilization. There are bad roads where the people are still voting for Andrew Jackson for president. Where roads are bad thinking is bad. Where roads are bad business is bad, citizens are poor and schools are poor. Where roads are bad existence is apt to run on contracted and unlovely lines. The movement for good roads is an evidence of the forward movement for civilization. People have found that good roads pay and that bad roads are a loss. By good roads the farmer can more quickly get his crops to market or to cars, and merchants can more quickly receive what they would put on sale and more quickly dispose of it. Freight charges can be made just and equitable and the regularity and promptness of supplies can be assured. American people diffuse themselves as sojourners all over their country. The fact that good roads pay and that bad roads do not is almost of itself argument enough to insure the former and improve the latter."

A SUGGESTION FOR STONELESS DISTRICTS.

T. L. OLMSTEAD, JR.

THREE years ago, while on a bicycle tour in the eastern counties of England, I saw a road material being used which I have never elsewhere seen or heard of. The place was in Essex or Cambridgeshire, in a district of heavy clay soil without ledges of hard rock and without the flints that are so generally used for road making in that part of the country. The material used was simply burned clay in irregular lumps averaging, as well as I can recollect, about two inches in diameter. It was spread upon the road-bed like broken stone and left for the broad tires of the clumsy-looking, but efficient, farm carts to roll, for it was only a minor road and not a main highway. I was unable at the time to obtain any information as to the method of burning the clay or the results of past experience with it as a road material, but another section of the road, which seemed to have been prepared in the same way, was then in capital condition under a light farm traffic.

We manufacture everything pertaining to Stone Crushing Plants, and if desired will take entire charge of construction.

GATES IRON WORKS, Dept. "F," 650 Elston Ave., CHICAGO, ILL., U. S. A.

New York, 136 Liberty St.—London, E.C., 73 A Queen Victoria St.—Butte, Montana.—City of Mexico, 8 Calle de Gante

Although there are large sections of this country where tolerable brick clay is abundant and where hard rock is not to be obtained except by very long transportation, I am not aware of any attempt to make a road in the way I have described. In the vicinity of a large brick-yard I have known some of the spoiled brick to be put through a rock-crusher and used for macadamizing a short piece of bad road. In this case the substitution of burned for unburned clay was a vast improvement, but the traffic was too heavy for the material and the wearing was rapid.

Vitrified brick, which are now being so extensively used for pavement, especially in the western cities, are, of course, only a more highly developed and more durable form of such road material, and they are correspondingly more costly. Vitrified paving brick are to a macadam of burned clay as granite paving blocks are to a macadam of crushed stone. Whether the parallel will hold good as to cost and wearing qualities is a question that I am not competent to answer. In fact it is probably a question that can be answered only by a test of the burned clay on a reasonably large scale in actual practice. As to the cheapest method of getting hard burned clay in regular fragments of the proper size, it may be economical to use a crusher after burning or it may be cheaper to break up the clay before burning. A brick maker is the man to give an opinion.

Is the material not worth at least a trial?

[This paper would be glad to print the results of practical tests in the above line.

Burning has a good effect on clay, and has been highly recommended for sinners.— ED.]

INDIVIDUAL STREET CLEANING.

Kansas City, Mo., has been obliged to cut down the appropriation for street cleaning, and now individuals have taken the matter up. Each resident is supposed to clean the street in front of his place from the curb to the centre.

We can imagine that this plan might lead to a profitable rivalry among the dwellers on a street, and it would certainly enable the passerby to locate any negligence, which, by the way, is not so easy when cleaning is done by the street department.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

A good roads tournament is contemplated for this city, which will last through two of those delightful August days, and it is expected that many of the "good uns" will be present.

HE DON'T LIKE VASELINE.

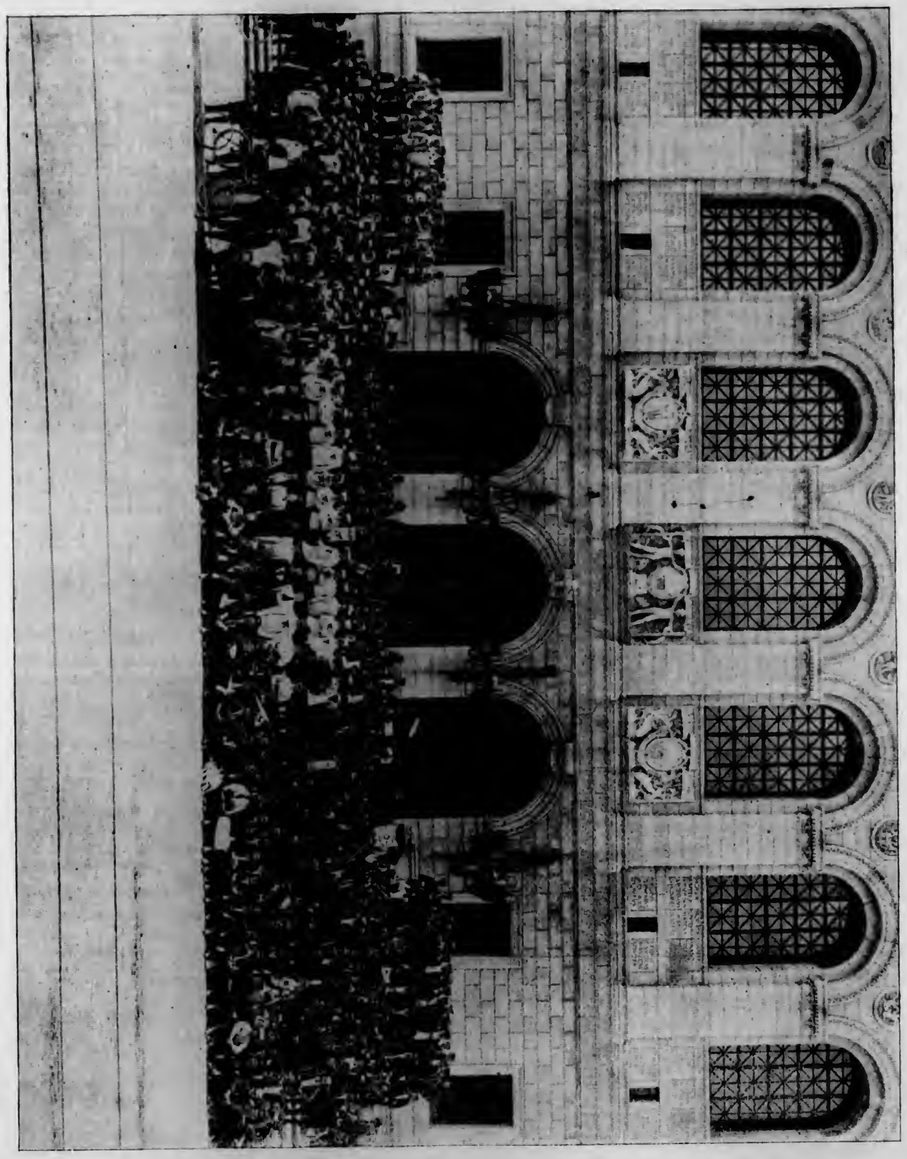
A. F. U. U.'s talk on "Vaseline vs. Oil," interested me greatly, as I have experimented with vaseline in my bearings and have proven to my satisfaction that it is not a proper lubricant for a ball bearing. As he says, vaseline stays "where it is put." That is the very point we are after, and my experience is that it has entirely too much staying qualities. Did A. F. U. U. during his boyhood days ever help roll a big snowball, and has he ever noticed how much more power was required to roll it than it takes to roll a ball in a bowling alley? When we want easy running we want the balls to roll as easily as possible, and when they act upon the snowball principle it is evident that more power is required to turn them than it will if they run on a clean surface lubricated with a thin oil. Since "vaseline has just enough viscosity to keep its place," we had better give it that place. If we place it on our chapped hands or our frostbitten feet it gives good results, and will also act as a very efficient rust preventative for the nickel plating when the wheel is laid by for winter, but my own experience has taught me that vaseline is no more fit for lubricating ball bearings than it is for lubricating a sewing machine.

Oilways yours, H. L. C.

MT. JACKSON, PA.

HE DIDN'T TAKE A CYCLING PAPER.

"Jay's" little article reminded me of a talk I had with a brother wheelman the other evening. He is also an "agent" and sells the —— wheel, but rides a crock of the vintage of '92. We were talking of rides we had taken, and he told me he had ridden one hundred miles the other Sunday between 11 A.M. and 5 P.M. I told him that was right good time over these hilly roads of ours, and he said he knew he'd ridden the hundred miles for he had "Bloodkiller's Socklameter" (accent on the first syllable) on his wheel, and he knew it registered correctly for he'd tried it and it tallied with the guideboards in his neighborhood. I haven't noticed this instrument advertised in any of the cycling papers and would like to know where a "Bloodkiller's Socklameter" can be procured and the probable cost of one. [He may have meant Butchers. ED.]



During the talk we got on the subject of detachable sprockets and he said that his front sprocket was "nutted" on the "crank holder," and that he'd lost the set screw out and couldn't "back pedal" without "unnutting" the wheel.

LEMONS.

P.S. He is not a member of the L. A. W., neither does he take a cycling paper.

SAN FRANCISCO.

The wheelmen propose to elect a superintendent of streets, and the sentiment seems to be in favor of their probable success.

THIS small cut is from a 13x17 photograph taken May 30. It represents a few Massachusetts members of the L. A. W. with a famous background consisting of the new Boston public library, which is, without question, the finest and most extensive public library in the world. In the panels under the upper windows were the notorious anagrams which were taken off by the order of the building committee.

Clearly shown in the photograph are the three pieces of sculpture over the main entrance, the central one being the "St. Gauden's Twins" which created such consternation among the old maids of Boston when it was first received.

Copies of this handsome photograph mounted on heavy 20x24 mounts may be had at this office for $1.00 each; packed and delivered to express company on receipt of $1.25.

IT'S YOUR FAULT?

Letters have been received from a number of Massachusetts towns, asking why local consuls have not been appointed.

In such cases we find that a satisfactory application has not been made. Why not make it?

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

"The Executive Committee has voted that fines begin after sixty days from expiration of membership and not from the date of expiration of membership."

GEO. A. PERKINS, Secretary Ex. Com. L. A. W.
May 22, 1895.

NEW YORK STATE DIVISION.

To Members.

The State Meet will occur at Brooklyn on June 14th and 15th (Friday and Saturday), as before announced. Bring your League ticket and bring your friends.

Reduced Railroad Fares.

Reduced fares have been secured on all the Trunk Lines running into New York, including the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. Co.; Pennsylvania; Central Railroad of N. J.; West Shore; D. L. & W.; Lehigh Valley; New York, Ontario & Western; New York, Susquehanna & Western; New York, Lake Erie & Western; Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg; Delaware & Hudson Canal Co.

With each of these roads, the following arrangement is made: League members visiting the meet will pay one full fare to New York, and receive a certificate filled in on one side by the agent from whom the ticket is purchased. Agents at all important stations and coupon ticket officers are supplied with certificates. If a station agent at a local station, is not supplied with certificates, buy your ticket to the nearest important station, and there obtain the necessary certificate to New York. When you reach Brooklyn, present your League ticket and deposit your certificate at L. A. W. headquarters with George S. Pennell, chairman Transportation Committee, and obtain his endorsement and that of the Special Railroad Agent, who will attend for that purpose. This will enable you to return home for one-third the regular fare.

League headquarters during the meet will be at the 13th Regiment armory, Flatbush avenue and Hanson place, and will be opened on Thursday, June 13th at 10 o'clock.

Informal run to Prospect park on Friday at 2 P. M. Photograph will then be taken of the L. A. W. members present.

On Friday evening an entertainment will be held. On Friday and Saturday evenings provision will be made for the entertainment of all visiting wheelmen, and arrangements are now being made to that end.

Friday evening, June 14. Grand run to Manhattan beach. Paine, the celebrated fireworks artist, is preparing special pieces for the wheelmen for this occasion, and the display will be of unusual splendor. Present your L. A. W. tickets at headquarters on Friday and receive free admission ticket to fireworks.

On Saturday, June 15th, at 10 A. M., will occur the semi-annual meeting of the State board of officers, at 80 Hanson place, Brooklyn (Brooklyn Bicycle Club house). On Saturday at 1.30 P. M., will occur the grand parade and celebration at the opening of the cycle path from Prospect Park to Coney Island. All League members are earnestly requested to be present and take part in this parade. Due announcement of details to be made by the grand marshal, Lieut-Col. Charles H. Luscomb, and will be posted at League headquarters on the 13th inst. On Saturday at 3 P. M., June 15th, will occur the great race meet (national circuit) at Manhattan Beach. The new track will be opened on that day. Sousa's band will supply the music. All the flyers and crackajacks will compete.

Sunday, June 16th. Runs have been arranged to all interesting and prominent points about New York and Brooklyn, and detail announcement will be posted at headquarters, and published in the daily papers at the time of the meet.

Important.

You must bring your League ticket. No one will be recognized as a League member who does not present his League ticket, but wheelmen making application for membership at the meet or any time before the meet, will receive temporary certificates entitling them to League privileges, or the receipt for money sent by Secretary Bassett will be recognized.

ISAAC B. POTTER, Chief Consul.

New York, June 3, 1895.

NEW YORK.

TOUR BOOKS. Members of this division who renewed on or before May 18th, 1895, or members whose names were published in the list of applicants in the L. A. W. BULLETIN on and before May 24th, 1895, are requested to notify me at once if they have not received the 1895 Tour Books. All other members of this division are asked not to write regarding this book as the first edition of five thousand copies, is exhausted. I understand an other edition is in course of preparation, but have no information as to when it will be completed or in my hands for mailing.

ROAD BOOKS. The 1893 Road Books (some two thousand, one hundred copies) turned over to me by my predecessor were mailed to members entitled to receive them as long as the supply lasted.

ROAD MAPS. As noted in the BULLETIN of April 12th, and again in May 10th, the limited supply of Road Maps was exhausted some two months ago

CAP PINS and MEMBERS' BUTTONS. Notwithstanding notices in the newspapers and in circulars I have not and never have had any Cap Pins and only recently received a limited supply of Members' and Consuls' Buttons. Of these buttons, mailed by me, notwithstanding care in packing, several were damaged beyond repair. I have requested a supply of some suitable means in which to mail the buttons. Until I receive the same I do not think it best to risk sending these handsome and valuable buttons through the mails.

CASH PRIZES. Competitors must observe strictly the conditions as printed in the circular mailed to all members. I will not agree to give credit to those failing to do so.

CORRESPONDENCE. I must request that members in corresponding with this office give, in all cases, their L. A. W. numbers, and the same address at which they received the BULLETIN. Many members who reside in one city and do business in another almost invariably, when they have a kick to make and must have an immediate answer, use their office stationery and omit to give league number or league address, making it almost an impossibility for me to trace them.

Yours fraternally,
W. S. BULL, Sec. Treas.

NEBRASKA.

TO LOCAL CONSULS:

I desire to call your attention to the following requirements of each local consul: To keep as near as possible an accurate list of the names of wheelmen in his town and vicinity, and to furnish a copy of same to the chief consul.

To arrange for the appointment of a League hotel in his town that will allow L. A. W. members reduced rates on presentation of their membership card, and which will be advertised in the official organ, and in division literature, as a League hotel, and as such commended to all wheelmen.

To distribute League literature among wheelmen and solicit applications for membership, and to call on local League members in renewal season and endeavor to secure their renewals.

To furnish on application, information regarding roads, hotels, the League racing laws, etc., and to report to the chief consul any fracture of our racing rules that may come to his notice.

All who have not complied with above will please do so at the earliest moment possible. Below is a list of League hotels already appointed. The division board desires to have this extend to every town in the State, and will expect each local consul to do his part promptly:

Columbus, Meridan Hotel.
Fairfield, Kyne Hotel.
Grand Island, The Kohler.
Kearney, The Midway.
Omaha, The Dellone.
Scotia, Hotel Scotia.

Yours fraternally,
J. E. EBERSOLE, Chief Consul.

OMAHA, May 20, 1895.

IOWA DIVISION.

We have prepared a recruiting circular which we wish to place in the hands of every wheelman in the State. Members who will assist in distributing them will please write to the chief consul for a supply. Also send the names and addresses of any that you cannot reach personally and circulars will be mailed to them. We want local consuls in all towns where no appointment has been made. The division now offers a reward of thirty dollars ($30) for the return of stolen wheels.

FRED BEACH, Chief Consul.

MUSCATINE, May 20.

KANSAS DIVISION.

From and after this date the "Hotel Carey" at Wichita, Kansas, is discontinued as a League hotel. Another hotel will be designated as soon as satisfactory arrangements can be made. Wheelmen who are members of the League will confer a favor by reporting to me any inattention to them by advertised "League hotels."

W. W. HOOPER, Chief Consul K. D. L. A. W.

NEBRASKA.

TO THE BOARD OF OFFICERS OF THE NEBRASKA DIVISION:

You are hereby notified that the semi-annual meeting of the Board will be held at Lincoln, Neb., on Saturday, June 8, 1895, at 8 o'clock P.M. Place of meeting to be announced later.

Fraternally,
J. E. EBERSOLE, Chief Consul.

A NATURAL EVANGELIST.

The following extract is taken from a Kansas recruiting circular.

You would have no rights whatever to-day on any public road, street or bridge, if it were not for the League of American Wheelmen. It has promoted the interests of cycling, has protected the rights of wheelmen, has facilitated touring, and has been, is now and ever will be the champion of good roads, and when you contribute the dollar, mentioned in the former part of this epistle, you are doing your duty towards unborn generations, and at the same time getting interest on your investment now.

It is a labor of love in which you should engage with your whole heart, and the payment of one dollar. You see the results of past years of patient toil before you every day. Can you afford to be a clam? A clam never moves, it stays where it is put — in the mud, opens its mouth continually, but says nothing — and I assure you there is no likeness between a League wheelman and a clam.

I enclose application blank for one new member — get him.

Yours for renewed life,
W. C. F. REICHENBACH, Sec.-Treas.

AN EFFICIENT LOCAL CONSUL.

R. E. Hall, Jr., of Sherman, Texas, reports that of thirty-one L. A. W. members in that town, thirty renewed and the other moved to St. Louis. Chief Consul Holm, please keep watch and if you see a man from Texas come into town, nail him.

Renewal season extended to July 1.

(COMBINATION BLANK.)

Application for Membership in the L. A. W.*

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR:—Enclosed find the sum of TWO DOLLARS, one dollar of which is for my initiation fee in the L. A. W., seventy-five cents for one year's dues, and the remaining twenty-five cents I hereby authorize and direct you to pay to the publisher of the L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS, and request that he enter my name as a subscriber under the provisions of Articles III and VI of the L. A. W. constitution.

I certify that I am eligible to membership in the L. A. W. under the provisions of the constitution, and I refer to two League members (or three other reputable citizens) named below.

(COMBINATION BLANK.)

RENEWAL BLANK.

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary, L. A. W.,
12 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR:—I enclose ONE DOLLAR, seventy-five cents of which is to renew my membership and twenty-five cents to be paid to the publisher for another year's subscription to the L. A. W. publication.

Number, ...

Name, ...

Street and No. or P. O. Box, ...

City, ...

State, ...

Division in which my home is and to which I should be attached. .....

Send Ticket to, ...

The L. A. W. BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS AND ALL OTHER MAIL MATTER WILL GO TO THE ADDRESS AS GIVEN ABOVE, and the name of no member will be put regularly on the list till his renewal with latest address is received.

Fill out above blank, inclose necessary money, and send to Secretary Don't send soiled bills. New bills are safer in the mails. Write very plainly, PRINTING PREFERRED. Stamps of a denomination above 2 cents will not be received. If you live in one state and have your mail sent to another, fill out the blank so that you may be located with the division in which your home is and your mail matter be sent as you wish. Ticket holders, 25 cents; with name stamped, 50 cents. If you want either of these write "25" or "50" at left of word Number. This brief form of blank is used to enable applicants for membership to follow the requirements of the League Constitution, which provides [Articles III and VII] for the payment in advance of one year's dues, with initiation fee and subscription fee to the official organ. Applicants or members using this blank will regularly receive all official news and announcements and will be subject to no further charge or assessment for any purpose whatever.

L. A. W. Veteran Bar.

The veteran bar which has been adopted by the L. A. W. to be worn by the veterans of the organization, can be worn above the League badge, or as an individual pin.

Any member who has been connected with the L. A. W. for ten consecutive years is entitled to wear the bar.

Members holding numbers between 100 and 1656 are entitled to wear the bar at this date.

The bar is of gold with the word "Veteran" in enamel. Each bar must have the owner's name engraved on the back. All orders must be sent to the Secretary accompanied by the price of bar, $2.50.

We can supply any style or form of badge with bar. The standard badge retails for $3.00, and will be sent attached to bar if this sum is added to remittance.

TIME FOR RENEWALS EXTENDED.

Owing to the fact that each last year's ticket bore a contract which gave its holder until July 1st in which to renew his membership the executive committee has decided that the new rule which limits the time for renewal to June 1st should not take effect until next year.

The extension of time until July 1st has been officially ordered.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to Monday preceding this date, and published in accordance with Article III of the constitution.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published and to report errors and omissions to the secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at noon on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

QUERIES AND ANSWERS

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN asks:

How long will it be before our entire space is taken up with new names?

ED. L. A. W. BULLETIN:—

Will you kindly give in the columns of the L. A. W. BULLETIN, the proper elevation for the outside of a track twenty-five feet wide on curves, with a radius of eighty-nine and one-half feet, which are approached by parallel tangents three hundred and seventy-eight feet long?

Perhaps you can suggest some better shape for a quarter-mile bicycle track, than the above. Either answer will be thankfully received.

Ans. Our track builder has just stepped out. Will some reader kindly send us the needed information?

STERLING ELLIOTT, ESQ., C. C. L. A. W., BOSTON:

Dear Sir.— It occurs to me that the L. A. W. might get a fine cycle path to West Boylston, the point at which the new supply of water for the proposed Metropolitan system is to be taken by the bill now before the Legislature. By making the top of the aqueduct into a path for bicycles, which could be done at comparatively small expense, we should have an ideal straightaway ride of some thirty to forty miles.

Can you not send up the suggestion.

Yours truly,

J. W. FISHER.

GOOD WOOD.

Nathan Allgood of Roswell has a clock which has been running and keeping correct time for one hundred and twenty years, and has never been out of repair but once. During the war a Yankee soldier broke a cog out of one of its wheels, which gave it a year's rest. Mr. Allgood had it repaired, and it is now doing full duty. The running gear is all of wood.— Savannah News.

A BORN ADVERTISER.

There was a boy who was sent out by his father to sell some potatoes. He carried the bag around all day without a sale, and, on reaching home at night, threw it down with the surly exclamation: "Nobody that I met asked me for potatoes. One fellow wanted to know what I had in the bag, and I told him it was none of his darned business."

There was, in the same town, a colored gentleman who went about bawling at the top of his voice: "Fish! Fish! Fish! Fresh fish!"

"Shut up that racket!" said an angry dame at a window.

"You heah me, missy?"

"Hear you! You can be heard a mile away."

"Dat's what I'se hollerin' for. Fish! Fish! Fish! Fresh fish!"

The colored gentleman was an advertiser and sold his goods.— Hardware.

WHO?

Surrounded by his happy family of nine girls and seven boys he waited in the parlor. A blue-eyed maid in nurse's cap entered.

"Well?" he said.

"A girl!" she replied in a low voice.

Rising, he turned the "Suffer Little Children" motto toward the wall, and went out into the night— Town Topics.

NO HEREAFTER.

In the S—— family dessert was sometimes jokingly called "the afterwards."

The kitchen-girl coming in at dinner with a message from the lazy cook lost the sentence by the way, and announced timidly, "Please, mum, there's no hereafter."

DRESS REFORM.

It is suggested that a good plan by which to gradually and effectually overcome the prejudice against short skirts would be to pass a law making it necessary for every lady to reduce the length of her dress one inch each year.

We would propose as an amendment: Section 2.— That any lady who had faithfully complied with the law for thirty years should be exempt from any further requirements under this statute.

SIDE PATH LAWS.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

Bills have been introduced in the legislature of this and, I am informed, of other States to prohibit side-path riding.

I write to suggest that concerted action on the part of the L. A. W., through its workers, may avert disaster to cycling interests and produce untold benefit to the cause of "good roads."

The thought is that a perfectly plain and transparent "rider" might be attached to all such bills, making the prohibitory clause inoperative where the "road-bed paralleling such paths are dangerous or unridable for wheelmen." With this proviso I think we might safely work as a body for such legislation.

Fraternally,

CHAS. T. HARVEY.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

Enclosed I send you copy of road law enacted last winter. While it is not all we want, it is a beginning, which I hope will lead to better laws later on.

I believe, considering our Minnesota soil, the use of wide tire wagons will do more for the betterment of our roads than anything else within our means, and by keeping before the public the benefits of wide tires, they can and will be brought into general use.

I advocate the use of wide tires and make use of articles in your paper, giving you due credit.

Our local wheelwrights and blacksmiths offer to put 3 inch felloes and tires on ordinary wagons for from $12.00 to $15.00. In this way a change can be effected with but little expense.

Respectfully,

G. A. KIRTSCH.

The Law.

An act to encourage the use of certain wagons, and to allow therefor a deduction of road tax.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

Sec. 1. That any person who shall continuously use in and about the transaction of his business any wagon or wagons, the tires on the wheels of which are not less than three inches in width, shall be entitled to a deduction from his annual road tax in the road district in which he resides to the sum of two (2) dollars for each and every such wagon used; provided that said deduction shall not exceed the amount of one-half of his road taxes.

Sec. 2. To entitle any person to a reduction of his road tax as provided in section one (1) of this act he shall, on or before the first day of April in each year, make an affidavit in writing before any officer authorized by law to administer oaths, stating that he has for the space of twelve (12) months next prior to the date of making such affidavit, continuously used on the public highways in and about the transaction of his business, a wagon or wagons owned by him, the tires on the wheels of which are not less than three (3) inches in width, and shall in due time deliver such affidavit to the overseer of roads of the proper road district, and shall at the same time pay to such overseer of roads the fee for filing such affidavit in the office of the town clerk of the town in which such road district is situate. The overseer of roads shall, on receiving said affidavit, and the fees for filing the same as aforesaid, deduct from the road tax of the person making such affidavit the sum of two (2) dollars for each and every such wagon as described in section one (1) of this act.

Sec. 3. The overseer of roads to whom such affidavit is delivered as aforesaid shall, in due time after receiving the same file such affidavit in the office of the town clerk of the town in which such road district is situated.

Sec. 4. This act shall take effect and be in force on and after the first day of January, 1896.

Approved March 15, 1895.

HARRISON'S LONG HEAD.

One of the most powerful organizations in the country is the League of American Wheelmen. They have done more in the interest of good roads than all the horsemen, farmers and "coaches" in the country put together, and there is no reason why they should not be an important factor in politics. No man appreciates this fact more than Mr. Harrison, but the only way to secure the backing of this great body of young and vigorous Americans was to become one of them. This he has done, and is said to be one of the most enthusiastic wheelmen in the State of Indiana. Outside of the organization there are thousands of young men, middle-aged men and even old men who ride a wheel, and who naturally have an admiration for a man of Mr. Harrison's dignity and position in life who would have the independence to take up such a pastime. For this reason Mr. Harrison counts on going into the convention next spring with the solid support of every delegate who comes from a cycling district, and if nominated expects to receive the vote of every wheelman in the United States.—Minneapolis Journal.

SUGGESTION FOR CLUBS.

The Metropolitan Wheelmen, of Boston, in doing their part toward entertaining at the spring meet of the Massachusetts division L. A. W., did the League a good turn at the same time.

Instead of inviting some organized club to be their guests on that day, as is the usual custom, they issued a ticket to each of their 53 members which ticket was given by each member to some "unattached" rider who was thus entitled to take dinner with the club at their new club house, where the advantage of League membership was expounded, and club membership talked up.

It was a case of "'Walk into my parlor' said the spider to the fly," without the disastrous result of the fly-spider poem. It was a good idea — and it worked — try it.

Little drops of water
Falling with a thud,
Though they hadn't oughter,

HARD TIMES.

The Cause and Remedy.

THE causes underlying the numerous industrial depressions known to history, have occupied the attention of the most learned of earth's philosophers for hundreds of years, and still with unerring regularity the cry of hard times is heard, and once in about so often the country is on the verge of eternal ruin. Each time the clouds seem just as black as they did before, and each time the gaunt visage of famine peers persistently in at the windows of the laborer, while his starving wife and little ones become subjects for the pencil of the artist and the mouth of the demagogue.

The generally accepted belief that all effects must have a cause, together with the fact that the ninety and nine refuse to do any thinking for themselves, will account for many of the political "revolutions" for which our form of government is noted.

In order to understand the general depression let us look at a special line, and the same system of reasoning will fit every other case.

The United States contain between sixty and seventy millions of people. Most of these people have each two feet upon which they do a certain amount of walking, running, dancing, etc. The poor quality of the roads as well as the severity of the winter weather makes it necessary for each person to have at least one pair of shoes, so that there must be, say sixty million pairs of shoes in daily use. The average amount of wear on these shoes is about the same at all times and under all circumstances.

The making and keeping in repair of this vast number of shoes furnishes work for many people, beside those who tan the leather, raise the cattle on which the leather grows, make the pegs and thread as well as the machinery and tools used in all these branches, mining and smelting the iron used in making the machinery, etc., etc.

If an intelligent person from some other planet were to come upon this earth and be informed of the above facts together with another fact, viz., that the number of wearers of shoes is constantly increasing, and then we should ask this disinterested visitor what he thought would be the outlook for all these people who were employed directly and indirectly in the manufacture of shoes, would he not be compelled to say that all those now employed would be needed constantly and that additional shoemakers would certainly be wanted to supply footwear to the new population which is daily being added by birth and importation.

But what are the facts?

The population continues to increase and to wear out shoes. The aggregate wear of shoe leather per day in the United States is probably even more during "hard times" than when prosperity is the rule.

And yet we hear of stagnation, strikes, lockouts and all sorts of evil results because the boot and shoe business is dull or "dead," etc., etc.

Just as many people, more in fact. Everybody wearing shoes just the same, but the shoe business is dead.

Of course the above has no reference to the present time or to any particular line, but is applicable to hard times in general.

The salvation of our souls may be important, but this question of what makes hard times once every few years is of even greater consequence, since a proper solution of it would go far toward settling the post mortem question which may interest us later.

People certainly don't save their soles any while tramping from place to place in search of employment.

If shoes are constantly being worn out, why should not shoes be constantly made? This question applies to everything else as well as shoes.

As we have taken the shoe industry to illustrate one part of it let us take an individual carpenter to show what caused the depression.

He has been steadily employed for some time, he has paid his debts, he has a little money in his pocket, when his shoes became worn and didn't look just right he threw them in the ash barrel and bought a new pair. He advised the same course for his wife and children.

It was this multiplied by millions which made a big boom in the shoe business.

One night in the village where the carpenter lived there was held a political meeting at which a number of one-sided men talked to the carpenter and all the rest about the awful consequences which were sure to follow the election of a certain man or party. This talk makes a deep impression on the carpenter because the speaker belongs to the same party he votes with.

Next week an equally one-sided man of the opposite party comes to town and talks to whoever will listen, but the carpenter doesn't care to waste his time attending the meeting for the same reason that he won't read the opposition papers.

He is already satisfied that the country is going to destruction if the other party is elected. He got this information from what seemed to be a reliable source and he is willing to bank on it.

Next comes the election of the dreaded party and the carpenter with millions of others at once prepares for the worst. Instead of buying new shoes he has the old ones patched or wears them with holes, and this multiplied by millions makes hard times with the shoemakers.

The shoemaker being out of work does not buy a new hat and this multiplied by millions makes hard times with the hat industry. When the hatter can't sell hats he won't buy clothes, and when the clothier's business is dull the weaver, the spinner and the men who make their machinery are, of course, disconsolate and cannot be expected to spend money which they have not, and this multiplied by millions makes the hardest kind of "hard times."

Just as many people.

Just as many wants.

Just as much reason why everybody should be busy.

But no! it is "hard times."

The reason? Well, that is easy.

A lack of education on the part of everybody.

A lack of honesty on the part of a few demagogues, and a lack of faith in each other.

Should a man live beyond his means?

Yes, sometimes; but when the old shoes are worth fixing, they should not be thrown away. I have known workingmen to live on food which they had no business to buy, just because they were for the time profitably employed, and at once, on being thrown out of work, come down to a painful degree of economy.

There has seldom been any sufficient reason for hard times.

The only source of prosperity for anybody is the fact that everybody has wants to be supplied.

As these wants always exist, the real conditions for prosperity always exist.

If all men were philosophers and would act in harmony there could be no hard times.

The one greatest cause of industrial depression is intense partisanism.

The man who believes that all the good is in his party is a dangerous element and when he talks or writes he is too apt to say things which cause alarm among the unthinking.

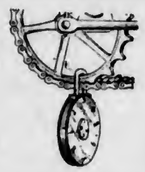
If he shouts calamity because he believes it, he should be reasoned with.

If he does it to further his personal ends he should be shot.

THE SUNDAY SERMON.

Ye preachers who for cyclers fear,
Because from church they stray
To ride through grove and glen, should hear
What Wordsworth has to say:—
"One impulse from a vernal wood
May teach you more of man,
Of moral evil and of good,
Than all the sages can."

QUESTIONS BY A BEGINNER.



How many fishes are there in the seas?
How many sands on the shore?
How many leaves have there been on the trees?
How many grasses have waved on the leas,
How many stars have shone o'er?
When you have answered these questions of mine
Then you may further provide
Some wonderful method with which to divine
Into how many angles a wheel will incline
When a fellow's just learning to ride.

A marvel of artistic design and substantial construction. . . . . —•—

THE BICYCLE AS A REFORMER.

"Where are you going, my pretty maid?" This question, addressed to the up-to-date, bicycle-riding young lady seems to be one of importance just now.

To be sure it really doesn't matter much where this one individual young lady is going, on her wheel. It may be that she's going to the park on pleasure bent, or to the store for a dozen hairpins, or to call on a sick friend at the other end of town, or to get a doily pattern of somebody, or a recipe for removing tan and freckles. Let that be as it may. What the interested public wishes to know is, where are all the women on wheels going?

Is there a grand rendezvous somewhere toward which they are all headed and where they will sometime hold a meet that will cause this wobbly old world to wake up and readjust itself?

What's the terminal station of the route they are following; where's the final home base?

As was to have been expected, various persons are endeavoring to indicate the destination of the woman on the wheel. Some people of supposedly good standing say she is riding to her earthly disgrace and eternal destruction. Others say her chances of final salvation depend on the sort of a costume she wears, and whether or not she rides on Sunday.

The dress reformers are positive she is slipping into an era of freedom from the bondage of garments that have so long shackled and tortured her.

The doctors all agree she is gliding along toward better health of mind and body, and hence to greater happiness. And now comes Elizabeth Cady Stanton, who declares that "women are riding to the suffrage on the bicycle."

This is important, indeed, if true; and why shouldn't it be true.

Who is so well informed on this subject as is Mrs. Stanton? She says she sees in the bicycle the promise of the emancipation for which she has labored half a century.

So, after all, the inventor is the real reformer. No one can deny that the locomotive is the great centre rush of civilization. The invention of the typewriter gave woman a new place in the world of commerce. The bicycle promises to put her at the very front of the political procession and to give her an advanced standing in all the other fields of thought and endeavor.

St. Paul was all right in his time, no doubt, but if he were on earth to-day, with his old-fashioned, slow-going notions of the gentle sex, some new woman, mounted on her steed of steel, would run over him the first time he dared to wander outside of his own gate.

The bicycle is a pretty big thing. And the end is not yet.

ELECTRICITY VS. STEAM.

"Will electricity supersede steam as a motive power" is often discussed in the newspaper press. In view of this very common expression it is of interest to note that outside of the electricity which comes from the chemical decomposition of zinc as in batteries, there is no such thing as "electric power." It would be equally proper to say that a wagon is hauled by the power of the whiffletree. Electricity as commonly used in moving machinery is only a means of transmitting steam power.

THE LORD'S PRAYER.

THE following is told of Mr. Booth, the American tragedian: Booth and several friends had been invited to dine with an old gentleman in Baltimore, of distinguished kindness, urbanity and piety. The host, though disapproving of theatres and theatre going, had heard so much of Booth's remarkable powers that curiosity to see the man had, in this instance, overcome all his scruples. After dinner was over, lamps lighted, and the company reseated in the drawing room, someone requested Booth as a particular favor, and one which all present would, doubtless, appreciate, to read aloud the "Lord's Prayer" Booth expressed his ready willingness to afford them this gratification, all eyes were turned expectantly upon him. Booth rose slowly and reverently from his chair. It was wonderful to watch the play of emotion that convulsed his countenance. He became deathly pale, and his eyes, turned tremblingly upwards, were wet with tears. As yet he had not spoken. The silence could be felt. It became absolutely painful, until at last the spell was broken as if by an electric shock, as the rich-toned voice from white lips, syllabled forth, "Our Father who art in heaven," etc., with a pathos and fervid solemnity that thrilled all hearts. He finished. The silence continued. Not a voice was heard nor a muscle moved in his astonished audience, until from the corner of the room a subdued sob was heard, and the old gentleman (their host) stepped forth with streaming eyes and tottering frame, and seizing Booth by the hand,—"Sir," said he, in broken accents, "You have afforded me a pleasure for which my whole future life will feel grateful. I am an old man, and every day from boyhood to the present time, I thought I had repeated the Lord's Prayer; but I never heard it before—never!"—Ex.

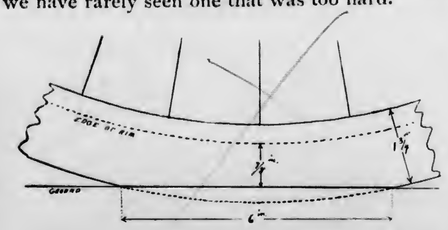
HOW TO PUMP A PNEUMATIC.

THE writer once followed a lengthy discussion in an agricultural paper as to what was the best time to water a horse. When the evidence was all in it was decided that the best time to water a horse was when he was thirsty.

No instructions as to the proper air pressure for a pneumatic can be given, which would hold good for all cases. Much has been said and done in the line of pressure gauges, but for the everyday rider who keeps a bicycle to use, the pressure gauge is not by any means indispensable; in fact, it would be necessary to find out the proper pressure by another means before the scientific instrument would be of any use.

Generally speaking, a small tire requires more pressure than a large one, if it is to carry the same weight; and a given tire requires more pressure in proportion as the rider is heavy.

A tire should always contain enough air to keep its rim from the ground. If, in riding, you feel the slightest jar as your wheel runs over ordinary obstacles, it is because there is not sufficient air pressure.



There is no danger of bursting a tire, as many riders seem to fear, when the small hand pump is used, and even with the best foot pump, only the very weakest tires could be burst, while any good road tire will hold more than double the pressure which you could get into it with a foot pump.

Don't let the air out of a tire when not in use, "to save it." It is much better off, when standing, to be well inflated.

In considering the comfort of both the rider and the tire it is important that enough pressure be maintained to prevent the outer and inner parts of the air tube from coming in contact.

As this depends upon the diameter of tire and weight of rider, each one must settle it for himself; no rule embodying pounds per square inch would be of general use.

An extensive observation has found a great many tires which were very much too soft, while we have rarely seen one that was too hard.

The above sketch shows a very safe rule which may be observed, when a rider is in doubt as to the air pressure used. This is applicable to a 28-inch wheel and a $1\frac{3}{4}$-inch tire.

When the rider is sitting still upon the saddle and the wheels are resting on a smooth surface, the floor should be touched by the tire for a distance of about six inches; this will bring the edge of the rim within seven-eighths of an inch of the ground, allowing for the thickness of tire. This will leave nearly three-fourths of an inch for the extra compression caused by striking stones or other narrow obstacles.

A MODERN TENDENCY.

J. C. LINCOLN.

Ere I became a benedict,
My youthful wisdom airing,
I discoursed long and often
On woman's place and bearing.
'Twas man's prerogative to rule,
I claimed, and vowed, most stoutly,
That when I married, I'd be "boss,"
And meant it, too, devoutly.
"My friend," said Tom: "A married man
Experience always teaches.
I'll wager when you're married
That your wife will wear the breeches."

I took that bet; I'm married now.
And fast my cash I'm spending,
On dainty bonnets, pretty gloves,
And dresses never ending.
Last week I bought my wife a wheel;
She teased me for it sweetly,
And vowed if she had only that,
She'd happy be, completely.
"Now, come and see my costume, dear,"
My pretty wife beseeches.
I've seen it; and I've lost my bet.
By Jove! she wears the breeches.

HOW TO ESTIMATE YOUR SPEED.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

There is a very simple way to tell the speed at which one is riding. Observe the number of entire revolutions the crank shaft makes in ten seconds. This with 28-inch wheels will give the number of miles per hour, directly for a 56-gear.

For any other gear use a different length of time, as follows:

Use 11	seconds	for a	61.6	gear.
$11\frac{1}{2}$	"	"	64.4	"
12	"	"	67.2	"
$12\frac{1}{2}$	"	"	70.	"
13	"	"	72.8	"
14	"	"	78.4	"
15	"	"	84.	"

The time for the 56 and 70-gears can be easily fixed in mind, and that for the others approximated.

Of course by extending the time of observation to a minute or more, one will get better results.

THE OLD L. A. W. BADGE.

The above shows the first badge ever adopted by the League. The central portion which so much resembles a ham, and which was referred to by the irreverent as the "sugar-cured emblem" was intended as a relief map of the United States.

You will observe in the centre what appears like a system of arteries as they are pictured in medical journals; this is supposed to represent the Mississippi river and its immediate connections, "the great lakes" or at least a part of them are shown, and the rocky mountains were not forgotten; in fact the rocky parts of it seem to have received the most attention.

The outer ring, enclosing a series of pigeon holes was supposed to be the griddle upon which the "ham" was being broiled, as that would be emblematic of the manner in which the United States has been "roasted" to the tune of many millions really through the curse of bad roads. We are informed, however, that the builder of this badge builded better than he knew, and that the rim and spokes of a wheel was what he intended it for.

The bar by which it was pinned to the member, bears a fairly good resemblance to the handle bar of those days and was provided at its middle with a flat panel in which was stamped the number of its wearer.

IKE'S INVENTION.

BY L. H. BENTON.

IKEY CRANE was an inventive genius. There was no getting out of that. His ambition was to perfect a great invention, and thereby attain fame and fortune. Ikey's ambitions were noble ones, but alas! the results were inclined to be ignoble.

Isaac's latest idea was to invent a bicycle which would put the mile record alongside that of the locomotive at least. Surely he could construct a bicycle on which a good rider could cover a mile in thirty-two seconds!

Visions of a second Zimmerman danced before his eyes.

Ikey had been inspecting a tandem bicycle which had come to town for a short time, and the arrangement of the gears interested him greatly. A great idea came to Isaac's active brain. Surely that arrangement of gears could be modified in certain ways so that a wonderful speed might be attained. Anyway he resolved to try — and try he did.

Master Crane went home, and as soon as possible began work on the invention which was to revolutionize bicycle racing.

Having hastily eaten his supper, he repaired to his room and locked himself in. No one must disturb him now; not until his idea was put on paper.

In half an hour Ike had his drawing completed. The annexed cut is a faithful reproduction of it.

There was no one represented as riding the machine, yet the wheels were apparently going around at about the rate of forty miles an hour, and were casting uncertain shadows with surprising distinctness.

However, his idea was there.

The next thing to do was to procure some old wreck for working material. This he did in the course of a few days.

In just one week the great invention was ready for the grand trial.

Ikey had endeavored to keep his movements secret, but somehow it leaked out, and even the time at which the trial was to take place appeared to be known.

Much to the inventor's disgust a large crowd had assembled to see the fun.

Though his thoughts were of success and glory, there came to him the forboding thought, "What if it shouldn't work?"

It must work; it would never do to fail now, and before the assembled villagers.

With mingled pride and trepidation, Isaac trundled the sixty-pound invention out into the road and mounted it.

Now Ikey had forgotten that there was such a thing as friction, and had arranged a 56–gear to work in conjunction with another 56–gear, thus giving him a 112–gear.

The steepest hill in that part of the State was on that very road, about half a mile ahead of where Ikey was making the grand trial.

Isaac mounted that sixty pounds of iron and started.

Considerable "pumping" was necessary to "get the thing agoin' in good shape."

However, after doing the hardest three minutes' work he had ever done, Ikey got an eight-mile clip on and arrived at the first incline of Sky Hill, and he started to climb. He started, and that was all, for inside of ten rods he came to a dead standstill. Sweat was dripping from his hair, and running down behind his ears and down his neck.

He would get some speed out of it anyhow; so with determined mien he dragged the machine up the hill, stopping to rest now and then.

At length he reached the top.

Aiming the Streak of Lightning down hill, he mounted, and with a terrific push off, started.

The hill was long and steep. (Kindly keep this important fact in mind, dear reader).

Ike had been a little careless in regard to the strength of several parts, and just as the Streak had attained a terrific headway, the axle of the double-rear sprockets snapped off flush with the frame.

The rear chain disengaged itself and dropped by the wayside, which seemed to be rushing past at an awful rate! (His chains were outside of the frame.) The fore-chain flew up and gave Ikey such a blow on the calf of his right leg that it made him wince. All poor Ikey could do was to rest his feet on the coasters and "let her go," which she did!

All this happened in less time than it takes to record it, and the railroad locomotive record was in a fair way of getting irreparably smashed — and so were Ikey and his "invention"!

At the foot of the hill was one of those combinations known as a "four-corners." As luck, or rather ill-luck, would have it, Jedediah Slocum was about to cross Ike's path with a load of kindling-wood just as the latter individual came flying along. (The reader will please note that Isaac Crane was travelling just about this time, and on a wheel unhampered by chains.)

Jedediah took in the situation at a glance and had had just time enough to make a half turn, when the hapless Isaac struck the wagon on the starboard quarter and without further hesitation emigrated into the load of wood with excessive celerity.

The "invention" which was to revolutionize bicycle racing was a wreck — and so was Ikey. That unfortunate individual seemed to be the only thing which had been "revolutionized"!

It was just six weeks before Ikey appeared on the street again, and then one ear was furled and one eye closed for repairs!

The family physician seemed to be the only contented person concerned, as he smiled audibly over the bill he was making out for services rendered in digging the kindling-wood out of Isaac's epidermis.

THE SALOON AND THE BICYCLE.

It had seemed that there were enough reasons for the ever increasing popularity of the bicycle, but the Buffalo Courier has discovered another, and one which certainly looks reasonable, and which ought, if possible, to add to the glory of the "silent steed."

It is commonly supposed that one of the chief grievances saloon-keepers have is the existence of so many clubs, which of necessity are injurious to their business. This is not the case. The bicycle is coming in for a heavier dose of their execration. They say the craze for owning one of these implements is far more damaging to their interests than all the saloons ever heard of, particularly during the warm season, or when it ought to be warm. One by one their patrons become affected with the mania, and it cannot be resisted, usually resulting in the victim's getting into debt, and between settling this and racing around the country they seldom visit their wonted haunts, the proprietors of which suffer correspondingly. From the standpoint of a moralist the bicycle would be praised for effecting this change, but you do not want to say much in its favor in the presence of the average saloon-keeper.

SIDE PATHS FOR BICYCLES.

How it is Done in Benton Harbor, Mich.

H. R. HUNTINGTON.

OUR scheme is unique, in that we applied to the city council and obtained their permission to occupy a portion of the street, before any move was made. We then raised, among the wheelmen, a fund of $150 and went to work. The city surveyor established the grade, and set stakes so that our "path" is eight inches above the street grade at all points.

The manner of construction was as follows:

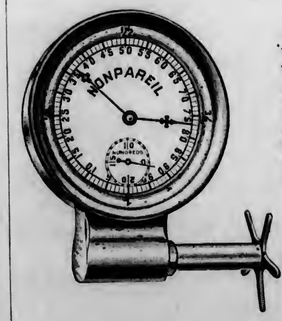
Three feet of the street and equal amount of the tree lawn, between sidewalk and street was plowed to a depth of ten inches, the dirt was thrown up in a bank and a curb of ten-inch plank fastened to four by four oak posts driven three feet into the ground; the earth was then levelled back, wet down thoroughly and rolled, until the surface was four inches below top of curb. This space was then filled with cinders and refuse lime from the gas works, which was wet down and rolled, until we have a surface almost equal to asphalt and far ahead of macadam at its best.

Territorial St., looking East.

The length of path is nearly one-half mile, the width six feet and the cost complete was $132.

The streets on which path is built are very sandy and almost utterly impassable for a wheel, and as there is a good deal of pedestrian travel along those streets it was necessary for us to devise some way to make it passable, without encroaching on sidewalks.

The "city fathers" now seem inclined to help us out by building similar paths on one or two streets that are in a bad condition for wheel travel.



Yours fraternally,

H. R. HUNTINGTON.

Doctor P. was riding in the suburbs of Buffalo with his small boy, and stopped at a tavern to water his horse. The child watched the operation intently, and evidently thinking it clumsily managed, piped out: "Papa, why doesn't the horse take the pail up with his feet and drink?" "Why, he isn't made that way." "Why not?" "Well, God didn't see fit to make him so." "Why didn't God make him so?" "Ah! that beats me. How should I know?" The infant's respect for his father clearly suffered. "H'm!" he said, after a moment's hesitation: "I'll ask grandma. She knows God."—Buffalo Commercial.

ROADS IN CANADA.

Our Canadian neighbors are waking up to the importance of road improvement.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture has just issued a special bulletin containing so much good information which is just as applicable here as in Canada, that we reproduce it entire.

It was prepared by the Ontario good roads association.

Bulletin (Special).—Road-Making.

REQUISITES FOR PERMANENCY. In order to make and maintain a permanent roadway, two rules must be followed:

1. Take the water out.
2. Keep the water out.

UNDERDRAINING. Where a road is to be constructed on a wet and retentive soil, a perfect system of underdraining must be provided. This is best done by cutting ditches diagonally across the roadbed with discharge into side ditches. These diagonal ditches should have a good fall and good outlet and should be from eighteen inches to two feet deep and about one foot wide at the bottom, with a slight slope outward. In these should be laid coarse, broken stone, broken bricks or other material suitable to form a drain, filling them up to the level of the sub-grade.

SURFACE DRAINING. Open ditches should be cut on each side of the roadbed at a distance of about twelve feet from the outsides of the metalling. They should be deep enough to drain the foundation; at least eighteen inches below the sub-grade.

TILE PREFERABLE. Where tile is cheap and a good outlet obtainable, tile side drains are preferable to open ditches. Shallow gutters should be made over the tiles to catch the surface water and conduct it to catch-basins placed at convenient distances apart. The catch-basins should be made of durable materials of sufficient size to be freely cleaned and should be covered with iron gratings. The basins should extend at least two feet below the bottom of the tile to provide space for the deposit and they should be cleaned at least twice a year.

THE ROADSIDES. The strips of ground between the metalled road and the open ditch should be properly graded to conform with the crown and grade of the metalling and should be seeded and kept in sod. This will always be pleasing to the eye, is cheap and very largely useful in preventing the carrying of mud on to the metalling. Moreover, the uniformity of the grade facilitates the passing of meeting teams.

LOCATION OF SUB-DRAINS. In a soil that is gravelly and pervious to water, the open ditches on each side of the road, even of a 66-feet wide road, are sufficient for draining the roadbed. If there be any springs under the road, a sub-drain, leading directly to the side ditch will be required. Should the road be on a side hill a deep, open ditch on its upper side, to arrest the flow from the adjacent land, may be sufficient, the water being at intervals conducted across and under the road by an ordinary stone culvert.

OUTLETS. Mistakes are often made by giving insufficient outfalls to the drains. Under the ditches and watercourses act a municipality has the same power as an individual to enforce the natural outlet for the drainage water of the land. But municipal officers are apt to shrink from forcing an outlet through private lands, and to leave their road drains with insufficient outlets rather than incur the ill will of possibly influential constituents. This should not be so. Municipalities should insist upon their rights, and the owners of lands interfered with should pay the same proportion of the cost of the work as if only private individuals were concerned.

BAD DRAINAGE AND FROST. Imperfect drainage is the cause of the badness of our roads in nearly all cases. The inexperienced are not apt to appreciate the paramount necessity for the maintenance of a perfectly dry foundation of earth for their surface of broken stone, gravel, etc., to lie upon. A protracted rain will soften an undrained road, and on the passing of a heavy load injurious ruts are the consequence. In these latitudes the soil water freezes and the consequent expansions and contractions quickly ruin a roadbed.

DESTRUCTIVENESS OF RUTS. It matters not whether a road be earth or macadam if attention is not given to the preservation of the finished crown. If ruts are allowed to form water is admitted. Every depression is a centre of destruction. The power of resistance to the water becomes less and less until the roadway becomes actually impassable.

ROAD MACHINES. In constructing earth roads a plow should not be used except where actually necessary, because a plowed surface is only with great difficulty made hard and smooth, and the plow is likely to cut too deeply into the earth. A good road machine should be procured if possible, for by the use of a machine the natural foundation of the ground is not disturbed in rounding up the road as is done with common plows and scrapers. Every municipality should own a road machine and should have a man especially instructed and constantly in charge of it. With a road machine in skilled hands, there will be no question raised as to the economy of construction and repairs and the efficiency of the work done.

Width of Roadway. The roadway should be twenty-six feet between the ditches and the metalling for ordinary roads eight feet wide; where more than a single line of travel is required the metalling should be sixteen feet wide.

Height of Crown. A roadway of this width should have a crown of at least ten inches and should always be maintained in this shape.

Rolling. After the road machine has completed its work, the whole grade should be rolled with a roller weighing about five tons. Rolling is essential in making the foundation and surfacing to form permanent or gravel roads. The roller should follow closely upon the grader or scraper so that the loose earth may be consolidated while it is still moist. The roller should pass many times over the softer portions of the road, and where the road is very dry and not inclined to pack, it may be slightly moistened to facilitate the consolidation of the earth. The rolling should begin at the sides of the road and proceed gradually towards the centre; that is, the roller should be passed from end to end along the side of the road and then in the second passage the roller should slightly lap the first passage until the centre of the road is reached.

Metalling. After the formation of the road and the draining are completed, the mass of broken stone or gravel which is to form its wearing surface should be laid, packed and so consolidated that it will be practically water-tight. Such a road will be durable and easily maintained. It will shed water readily. Its hardness will prevent the formation of ruts, which is the first stage of destruction.

Width of Tires. If all the wagons used in country roads could be provided with tires four inches wide, they would roll the surface more smoothly and more quickly, and the road would be in fairly good condition all the year round.

Noxious Weeds. Chapter 202, R. S. O., 1887.

(Sec. 9.) "It shall be the duty of the overseers of highways in any municipality to see that the provisions of this act relating to noxious weeds are carried out within their respective highway divisions by cutting down or destroying or causing to be cut down or destroyed at the proper times, to prevent the ripening of their seed, all the noxious weeds growing on the highways or road allowances within their respective divisions, such works to be performed as part of the ordinary statute labor, or to be paid for at a reasonable rate by the treasurer of the municipality, as the counsel of the municipality may direct."

(Sec. 10, sub-sec. 4.) "Every overseer of highways who refuses or neglects to discharge the duties imposed upon him by this act shall, upon conviction, be liable to a fine of not less than ten dollars or more than twenty dollars."

Noxious weeds include Canada thistles, oxe-eye daisy, wild oats, ragweed and burdock.

USELESS TAXATION.

GEN. ROY STONE.

Among the taxes which the farmers pay there are some that are unavoidable, and these it is useless to talk about. There are others which farmers impose upon themselves, which they hesitate to share with others, which they submit to without a protest, and even cling to when they are being removed. These taxes we cannot talk about too much. These are taxes, too, which bring no useful revenue nor even support a taxgatherer. They are burdens as needless as the traditional stone which balanced the grist on the way to mill.

Through the failure of the government in the original surveys of the public lands to lay out a scientific system of roads and divide the lands accordingly, farmers have been left to lay out the roads for themselves, and generally they have put them on farm lines, going over all the hills that come in their way. The result of this is the hill tax in hilly regions, and what may be called the square corner tax on the prairies.

The amount of hill tax I have estimated in one county in New Jersey, and found that needless hills double all the cost of hauling in the county, making practically a money tax of $10,000 annually to the town. The people have paid this tax for one hundred years, and yet they wonder why they are poor. In the prairie regions, for want of the diagonal roads which the government should have laid out, the farmer, to reach a point ten miles to the northwest, for instance, travels seven miles north and seven miles west, adding forty per cent. to his distance, or, for the average of all travel, twenty per cent. This is the square corner tax.

The mud tax is probably about equal in total to the hill tax, and this, again, doubles the cost of all wagon transportation. Yet many farmers are opposed to stone roads.

However, the farmers themselves are doing away in many places with the enormous burden of the fence tax, and with it will go the snowdrift tax and the waste land on the roadside. They are slowly abandonding narrow tires and tracking wheels. Moreover, many of them begin to realize the enormity and absurdity of the hill, mud and square corner taxes, and we may yet hope in time to see in this country, as we do in France, beautiful hard roads everywhere winding through farms, with crops growing close to the wagon tracks, and the roads serving perfectly every purpose of public use and private convenience.

WHY THEY MOVED.

As the result of the adoption of the new county road system, settlers have already begun to flock in from Canada and elsewhere. The first to arrive was a party of four families, numbering twenty-four people, on the steamer Cambria, Tuesday morning. They came from the county of Grey, and have taken farms in Pickford township. The newcomers had twelve horses, ten cows and farming implements of all descriptions.

* * *

When asked why they picked out this particular section, their answer was: "On account of the excellent farming facilities which we have found on investigation that this county possesses. We were deterred from coming before by the poor condition of the roads. We learned a short time ago that the county would soon have a good system of roads, and made up our minds to emigrate at once. Many others will follow us."—Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) News.

INTERVIEW THE LOCAL EDITORS.

REV. C. E. HARRINGTON.

WHEELMEN are everywhere, but their rights in the highway are not altogether understood or respected, nor are their duties fully performed.

There are still a few riders of the bicycle, and not beginners, who fail to turn to the right when meeting a team. They are indifferent, turning either to the right or left as the greatest convenience suggests. This should not be. Riders ought to be most particular in their observance of the law of the road, whether written or unwritten. When they are so particular, they will be in a position to demand of men and women in wagons or carriages that they, too, observe the law.

Foot-passengers, though entitled to their share of the highway, have never insisted upon the recognition of their rights by those who chanced to be driving. The result has been that drivers of teams often act as though the highways were made solely for the use of horses and carriages. It is true that many have become aware that bicyclers have rights also, and they respect those rights. The number is growing. But there is still need of improvement. All riders know that while the foot-passenger can easily step aside altogether for the traveled part of the highway, the bicycler can not do so.

Many a rider has been compelled to dismount when there would have been no need of it if the driver of a team had recognized the rider's right and "turned out." The road was wide, but the team-driver did not give the cycler room to pass without getting into the rough and rutty part of the road, where he was likely to be thrown from his saddle.

Many an excellent coast has been lost because riders did not feel sure that drivers would give them a "fair chance" to pass while coasting the hill. Now it is not because men or women generally or often are unwilling to share the road with a bicycle rider. One of our American humorists said "Most people are kind if they only think of it." And these people who still hold the road against the bicycler, and not infrequently to the peril of the latter, would turn out if they only thought of it.

How shall they be reminded? One way is for the rider of the wheel to hold on his course, keeping to the right and compelling the driver of the team to turn out or pay the damages. But this requires more courage than many riders have. The other way is for wheelmen in every town or city to go to the local editors, who are generally altogether friendly to the bicycle and its riders, and ask them to keep the matter before the public until the rights of the bicycler are respected as thoroughly as those of drivers of teams. All members of the L. A. W. can do a good deed for themselves and for their fellow-wheelmen by following out this suggestion.

THE CYCLERS LAST WISH.

His loving friends, in deep distress,
Bent over him and pressed his hand.
"Have you no wish you would express
Before you start for that fair land
Where thieves come not nor dust corrodes?"
He, smiling, answered, "Yes, good roads."

A NEW CITY ORDINANCE

For Chicopee, Mass.

"No person shall put or place, or cause to be put or placed, in or upon any street, lane, alley, or other public place in the city, any ashes, glass, crockery, scrap iron, nails, tacks or any other articles which would be liable to injure or damage the tires or wheels of bicycles, or any other vehicles which have wheels with rubber or pneumatic tires.

"Any person violating the provisions of the preceding section shall be liable to a fine of not less than two nor more than twenty dollars for each offence."

The above was passed by the city government June 3, 1895.

The undersigned, representing the L. A. W., will be pleased to receive any information of a violation of the above law.

HARD TO FIGURE OUT.

They say the tricycle is likely to become popular in France this summer. Strange that anyone who has a chance to try the bicycle should care to buy the tricycle.

VALPARAISO, CHILI.

FRANK W. N. KING.

A street scene, where lady road car conductors are the rule and the lady cyclist is a phenomenon.

THIS picturesque city on the South Pacific coast of South America is small, having only three parallel streets in the commercial part. The rest is made up of wharves. The back of the city is surrounded by hills, that are planted by pretty villas in some parts, and houses where those live who do not reside where they work. The climate of Chili is perfect, except in the far south, where winters are cold, though not so bad as in the United States or the North of England.

Valparaiso being so small on the flat, and mountainous, is not a place for cyclists, hence the scarcity of wheelmen in or around the city (Santiago, the capital, offers better opportunities for them), though the roads, on the average, are very good, mostly macadam. In the city, asphalt is the material principally employed.

The population of Valparaiso city amounts to about 150,000 inhabitants, while the province (same name) has 205,000.

During my stay in Chili (Valparaiso and Santiago), a little time back, not one cyclist was seen the whole time. The reason is that horses and mules are less than half the cost of a bicycle, and their keep is in most cases insignificant.

To see a woman on a wheel, as in Paris, London and New York would be a phenomenon. Chilians, like most other nationalities have found the street car to be the best all-round conveyance, especially for the pocket, and therefore their tramways have reached a state of A1 excellence. To describe the car in detail would occupy too much space, so while in the Pacific city I took this sketch of a car belonging to the Ferro-Carril Urbano de Valparaiso (Valparaiso Suburban Railway) the stock of which is held by natives and foreigners, and is quoted on the exchange every day, generally having from 25 to 30 per cent. premium. The cars are quite similar to the Paris trams, except that the former are much better finished in the interior and have a capote for the driver to use against sun and rain, which the French and English car drivers have not.

The Valparaiso street conveyances will be seen to have two flights of steps at the rear and none on the forepart of the vehicle, which is, at each destination, drawn on to a revolving plate and turned with the horses still attached, as is done in Paris; but the French street rail cars have only one flight of steps at the back, while in England the trams have a leading way to the top, at back and front, and the horses are turned but not the vehicle.

Well fed and good, cross-bred, strong horses are always seen attached to the Valparaiso car.

The chief attraction is the girl conductors, who do their work just like the male servant. She very seldom goes on top to collect the fare. All those for the exterior are supposed to pay her before ascending. Inside the car she collects the fare of 5 centavos; outside 2½ centavos is charged. This latter is styled 2d class; very aristocratic Chilians ride in the 1st class. It saves expense of horses, carriage, harness and attendants, they say, and therefore ride in the well-fitted-up car. I have seen none to their equal in London, Paris, New York or Buenos Ayres.

Most of the female conductors (all whites) earn thirty dollars (national currency) per month. With this they are given a blue serge overdress, a straw hat (black generally), with a number on in front. A white apron finishes their attire. Male inspectors pop on the cars very often to see that no mistakes are made, and to check off. The hours for the conductors are from 7 A.M. to 9 P.M. with limited time off for meals.

Sixteen persons can sit inside (without a New York squeeze), and twelve on top. The average earning of one car per day amounts to from ten to fifteen dollars.

Unlike in most other South American cities, the driver has a whistle for warning the public of the approach of the vehicle. Cow horns are used in all other South American cities.

The first tramway was laid about twenty years ago; the cars then were of a very different type to those used to-day. Some thirty or forty are employed for conveying the citizens of Valparaiso. The rails are soundly laid on good, hard, stony roads, and, if I am not mistaken, only one rail is grooved, the other remaining quite flat.

From the port city to the capital (Santiago) is a distance of ninety miles; here the street cars are very poor, after those fine ones of Valparaiso, and worth no notice except that female conductors are employed on them like in the former place.

FARMERS object to paying from twelve to fifteen dollars for a set of wide tires but they are satisfied to drive over the fields twice for each load of corn and keep on doing it.

WIDE TIRE LOGIC.

The Pennsylvania legislature, by enacting what is known as the Harvey bill, has taken a radical step toward the encouragement of wide tires on the highways. By the terms of this law those who own and use only draft wagons, with tires not less than four inches in width and hauling loads of not less than two thousand pounds weight, are awarded a rebate of one-fourth of their assessed highway tax, the rebate not to exceed five days' labor on the roads in any one year. The question of roadway improvement has been agitated by the farmers a number of years past and an appropriation has been sought for repeatedly from the legislature to inagurate the work, but the Philadelphia Times claims that "the Harvey law is even a better beginning than an appropriation, as the terms of the act are so general in their application as to be of immediate benefit." It is rather a peculiar idea, and yet there does appear to be a sort of justice in requiring less work on the highway from men who take some pains not to injure the highway after it has been repaired. Broad tires are favorable to the highways, beyond question, and the man who uses them may well bear less of the burden of maintaining good roads than the man who doss not care what effect his wheels have upon the roadways. The results of the Harvey law will be watched with interest in many other States as well as in Pennsylvania.— Manchester (N. H.) Union.

CONNECTICUT WIDE TIRES.

The committee on roads, rivers and bridges reported that on and after July 1, 1896, all vehicles sold of a carrying capacity of two thousand pounds or more, to be used on roads, not paved, be equipped with tires not less than three inches in width and all vehicles of a carrying capacity of three thousand pounds or more shall have tires not less than four inches in width. On and after July 1, 1899, all vehicles shall be so equipped. A fine of not less than $5 nor more than $20 is provided for violators of the law.— Hartford Post.

WIDE TIRES IN DEMAND.

The discussion of wide tires for country roads has created a demand for such tires, not only for roads but also for farm use and many manufacturers have set about supplying the demand. Owners of lawns in Montrose would be glad of the opportunity to employ a cartman who used a wide tired wagon.—Montrose (Pa.) Democrat.

TO REMOVE CRANKS.

No. 68,791, So. Orange, N. J., writes:

"Can you give a method of removing the cranks from a bicycle without destroying the screw-threads on crank key? I have been advised to loosen the nut a little, hammer it down as far as possible, then loosen again and apply the hammer some more. This plan I have found to work well as a means of removing the thread from both nut and key, but not always successful in removing crank."

This is one of the most important operations that the repairer is called upon to do.

The crank key is, or should be, driven tightly into place by striking its head, which is full size and solid metal, but it must be driven out from the end which is much reduced in size and threaded. If the key is as tight as it should be, it will take a hard blow to start it, and it should be done with one blow if possible. A mistake too often made is to strike a number of blows with a light hammer.

If the threaded end of crank key projects any beyond the nut, loosen nut until key and nut are exactly flush, otherwise remove nut entirely. Hold a heavy bar or sledge hammer under the crank and close against the key (a piece of sheet brass should be placed between, so as not to mar the crank). Take a short rod of brass not less than one-half inch in diameter, place it squarely upon the crank key, and strike it one good, solid blow with a heavy hammer. Whatever is held against the opposite side must be heavy, so as to absorb the momentum of the hammer without injury to the shaft or bearing.

A desirable tool for this purpose is a bar of two inch round steel, about two feet long and having one end tapered to one inch with a hole in its center just a little more than the diameter of crank key. This will give a secure bearing all around the key, and by having the end of bar smooth no sheet brass will be needed.

Don't punish a crank key with a light hammer. Hit it once and hit it right, and you will have no difficulty in getting it started.

AN EXTENSIVE ROAD INVESTIGATOR.

F. J. Beatty, one of the two five thousand-mile cyclists sent out by Hofer Bros., publishers of the Salem Capital Journal, to make a tour of the State and report on the condition of the roads, arrived in Portland yesterday morning, and left soon after for the eastern part of the county. Mr. Beatty has traversed about six hundred miles already, and has been on the road since April 29. He expects to be on his wheel at least one hundred days. The object of the Capital Journal in sending out these wheelmen is to promote the cause of good roads, and the enterprise certainly is commendable and deserving of encouragement.— Portland (Ore.) Sun.

A PLEASANT RIDE FROM NEW YORK.

PHILIP F. TURNER.

THERE is no end of good cycling tours, through picturesque countries and over fair roads. But time and money are limited, and the question before us is, which one of these many routes offers the pleasantest inducements for spending a two weeks' vacation without spending the entire year's receipts.

We could go through New London, Newport, Narragansett, Martha's Vineyard, and so on to Boston, or perhaps to Bar Harbor. Yes, we could do all this, and visit our uncle on our return. But to those of your readers who prefer not doing the society act, visiting your relatives and going to "three balls" in one day, allow me to suggest a trip which will take you through a region noted for its scenic beauties, good roads, fine hotels and an opportunity for amusement.

Leave New York and ride to Hopatcong, N. J., a lake too well known to need description. The Arlington will afford all the comforts of life; while, if you desire the luxuries, the Breslin will supply them.

Remain here a day, and ride around the lake,— it will well repay you.

The third day ride to Budds lake, where you will get a very fair dinner at the Forest house; and in the afternoon ride to Schooleys Mountains, where you will find the quaint but comfortable Heath house as a good resting place for the night.

On the fourth day you will reach Easton, Pa., a town of thirty thousand inhabitants, and the United States hotel will afford you every comfort, but should you not care to be so reminded of your city life, by ascending the mountain you will find the Paxinosa inn a retreat which will fulfil every expectation. Indeed, the view from the hotel veranda is well worth the trip.

Another day's ride up the Delaware brings you to the Water Gap, and the L. A. W. house Kittatinny you will find a thoroughly modern hotel.

The next morning ride to Bushkill, see the falls, and remain there for dinner.

On leaving Bushkill you will strike roads which will fairly make your heart leap with joy. Smooth, level and hard,— what more could you ask? But this is not all, for the country is as beautiful as the road is fine, and an hour's run brings you to the High Falls hotel, at Dingman's Ferry, the heart of the famous Delaware valley.

Here in the midst of this region of waterfalls, beautiful rides and mountain climbs, you would like to spend the remainder of your days, but you can't. You must stay three days, however, and visit the High falls, Silverthread, Adams brook, Indian Ladder, Elphin Gorge, Childs Park and Raymondskill.

Another eight miles of good roads brings you to Milford, where you must stop and see the Sawkill falls; and then eight miles more, over even better road, brings you to Port Jervis, in time for dinner.

That afternoon you leave the Delaware valley and its remarkable roads and at night arrive at Guymores, and the next day sees you at Greenwood lake.

Still another day completes your vacation and brings you back to New York, and the next night at your club you declare that you never spent such a vacation, and are disgusted to think it should be so soon terminated.

THE "OLD DAYS."

STAMSON.

"A member of the old guard in cycling about Stamford, has recently received a handsome gold badge bearing the form of a wheel, and the word 'Veteran,' showing that he has been a member of the largest cycling organization in not only America, but in the world," remarked the loiterer, as he came in this morning, seemingly in a retrospective mood and with a desire to look backwards through the fleeting years.

"It is a pretty little thing in itself, but that is not why my friend got it; it means much more to him than any ordinary piece of wrought gold that anyone can buy and wear, for no one who has not been for ten consecutive years a paid up member of the League of American Wheelmen, can possess a duplicate of this memento of the early days of the greatest of all pastimes.

"It is a reminder to him of his very first thoughts even, of cycling, and of how he was led to finally attempt to ride an old high wheel, and then to buy it.

"It brings to mind many a delightful jaunt 'mid summer charms, and autumn tours in various portions of the country, back there in the old days when the sport was new. Of moonlit rides that will remain with him while memory and life lasts; of friendships formed through wheeling to and fro and up and down in the land, and every time he looks at the little badge it will remind him of some cycling experience in weather fair or foul.

"This veteran's badge will bring back to him the memory of a half completed tour of Long Island, where at Islip he took a shocking header from a fifty-two inch full nickeled Export, when he trained home, weary of ordinaries, and leaving that jaunt unfinished to this day. Then came the Facile, a comparatively safe wheel, which carried him hundreds of miles until the present safety came to bless mankind and lengthen instead of shorten human life.

"Memories of many a charming tour awheel also come up as one looks backward, among them one up in Berkshire, one "After the British at Stonington," and others over in York State and Jersey.

"Since our country roads are being improved, as many in New England have been in the past five years, not to mention that revelation down in Union County, N. J., the lot of the cycling tourist is much more pleasant and devoid of thorns, even if his modern mount is more sensitive to them than was the hard tire of his old love.

"The cycling novice of to-day does not know the amount of hard work he misses by coming at a later day, and having a safe and easy mount to learn to ride, and which does not take an average of two weeks' time to get the mastery of.

"The old story of being better able to see the country from a high wheel, never had much weight with our folks, for, up there you had to pay so much more attention to the wheel than you do to the present one, that the balance is clearly in favor of the new and better for all form. Vive la the modern cycle with puncture proof tires."

TOO PARTICULAR.

Placid I am, content, serene.
I take my slab of gypsum bread,
And chunks of oleomargarine
Upon its tasteless sides I spread.

The egg I eat was never laid
By any cackling feathered hen,
But from the Lord knows what 'tis made
In Newark by unfeathered men.

I wash my simple breakfast down
With fragrant chicory so cheap,
Or with the best black tea in town —
Dried willow leaves — I calmly sleep.

But, if from man's vile arts I flee
And drink pure water trom the pump,
I gulp down infusoriæ
And hideous rotatoriæ,
And wiggling polygastricæ,
And slimy diotomaciæ,
And hard shelled orphryocercinæ
And double barreled kolpodiæ,
Nonloricated ambroeilæ,
And various animaculae,
Of middle, high and low degree,
For nature just beats all creation
In multiplied adulteration.

A NEW INDUSTRY.

And one which promises to assume larger proportions.

At various points along the famous Merrick road on Long Island, can be found resorts which offer what may be regarded as special accommodations for wheelmen. One of these takes the form of racks or stands which hold anywhere from ten to one hundred wheels. On Decoration day, when the writer and a companion rode tandem to Patchogue, we put up at one of these places, and a cycler's attendant, or bicycle groom (we need a new expression to define him), made a fair bluff at assisting us to dismount. After placing our machine in a prominent place in the rack, he operated on it with a rag and duster, and afterwards polished up the chain with a brush. When we were ready to leave he wheeled the machine out and stood in the usual defferentially expectant attitude, which suggests a tip. He got it. But the question arises, can a new industry be established, and is this the first indication of it, as well as a sign of the times?

Not long ago the hostler was scornfully oblivious of the touring wheelman, evidently regarding him as an individual who was unlikely to be a source of profit to him, and therefore beneath his consideration. The owner of a horse or team usually puts on an air of importance when he arrives at a wayside inn and admonishes the groom to give the horses their pail of water, while he goes inside and gets his pint, and heretofore has had rather the advantage over the wheelman in this respect. But is it not probable that the day is at hand, when we can instruct the attendant somewhat after this style: "Be careful of this machine, my good fellow, and don't let anyone meddle with it. Raise the handle bars about an inch, and blow up the tires a little; and be sure to give the chain a rub up, will you? Have it ready in twenty minutes, and I'll make it all right with you when I come out." L. A. W., 16,552.

NOT ADAPTED TO HIE-ING.

Oh, knights of the wheel, as we hie away
Through country lanes and by-ways,
Where the roads are rough, we are forced to say,
"It is hard to hie — alackaday! —
On some of our rural highways,"

It costs considerable money to build first-class roads, but it costs very much more to get along without them.

HE NEEDED A BLESSING.

When Joe Jefferson was here not long ago, as is his custom, he added to his fund of good stories one that he picked up from ex-speaker Tom Reed, who tells it with inimitable humor. Reed's story is about an old farmer, who had some neighbors to dinner with him. Among them was a stranger, who looked like a Baptist preacher. As is the custom in the rural districts when there is a preacher at the table, the farmer looked at him and said: "Brother, will you ask a blessing?" The stranger leaned forward, put his hand to his ear and assumed an inquiring expression of countenance. The farmer renewed the invitation. The stranger said: "I see that you're talking to me, but the fact is, I'm so d—d deaf. I can't hear a word you say." — Washington Post.

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary.

UTAH.

Edgar E. Winters of this city is hereby appointed to be attorney for this division.

As we have now one hundred members on the rolls, I hereby appoint Mr. Geo. B. Brastow of this city to be Vice-Consul.

The division attorney is drafting a constitution and by-laws to be submitted to the members for their approval at a meeting to be held, for the purpose of forming a division, in the immediate future.

Yours fraternally,
JAS. W. NEIL, Chief Consul.

IOWA.

The division championships have been awarded to Jefferson, July 4 and 5, 1895, to consist of one-quarter, one-half, one mile and two mile, open only to members of Iowa division L. A. W., and no charge for entry.

F. B. THRALL,
Chairman Iowa Div. Racing Board.

INDIANA.

The annual meet of our division will be held under the auspices of the Indianapolis Cycling Club, at the State fair grounds, July 4, 1895.

Free admission of Indiana members to grounds and grand stand.

Come, and bring your friends.

THOS. HAY, Chief Consul.

OHIO.

Twenty-Fourth District, Attention!

What, only six L. A. W. members in Butler county, and twenty-seven in Hamilton county outside of Cincinnati! Only five in Wyoming; four each in Hamilton and Edgewood Place; three in Carthage; two each in College Hill, Hyde Park, Norwood and Hartwell; and only one each in Middletown, Seven Mile, Elizabethtown, Preston, Madisonville, North Bend, Mt. Washington, Harrison and Lockland. Only one new member in all this territory since April 1. Great heavens! Won't some one get at least one of the hundreds of wheelmen in this region to join the League?

Sorrowfully yours,
WILLIAM D. KEMPTON,
Representative in charge of Dist. 24.

CINCINNATI, June 8, 1895.

CONNECTICUT DIVISION.

We cannot impress the importance of joining the L. A. W. too forcibly upon the minds of unattached wheelmen. Recent action in our legislature shows the tendency of our law makers to pass restrictive laws upon wheelmen, which, once upon the statutes, will be very hard to have repealed. It therefore behooves us to increase our membership, and, therefore, our power, or we will soon be loaded up with laws difficult to always comply with.

The division has done all it could this year without actually going into debt, and before taking up anything new, i.e., road book, etc., must be assured of an amount sufficient for it in the treasury.

It seems very strange that the riders of this State do not, for their own sake, join hands with us. Everyone knows what advantages are being had in other States, and through the L. A. W. only can we expect such things as road books, guide boards, road improvement, and laws favorable to wheelmen.

Probably by the time this reaches you, you will receive a circular through the secretary-treasurer. Take the advice therein and help build up our membership and thus show some appreciation of the laborious work of your officers.

Yours truly,
PHILIP W. WESTLAKE, Chief Consul.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

The Springfield Regiment band has been engaged for the Springfield Bicycle Club's tournament, and will give a concert in the club's rooms on the evening preceding the first day's races.

Harry Tyler will ride under the Springfield Bicycle Club's colors this season.

RIVERSIDE (N.Y.) WHEELMEN.

The fifth annual race meet of the Riverside Wheelmen to be held at Manhattan Field on Saturday, July 6, will be in the national circuit. The events to be contested are as follows: Class A, one-mile novice, one-mile open, one-mile handicap, and three-mile handicap; class B, two-mile handicap and the annual ten-mile invitation race.

The entries for these events will close on Thursday, June 27, with C. H. Weeks, 232 West 104th street.

TIME FOR RENEWALS EXTENDED.

Owing to the fact that each last year's ticket bore a contract which gave its holder until July 1st in which to renew his membership the executive committee has decided that the new rule which limits the time for renewal to June 1st should not take effect until next year.

The extension of time until July 1st has been officially ordered.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to Monday preceding this date, and published in accordance with Article III of the constitution.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published and to report errors and omissions to the secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at noon on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

NEW DENVER L. A. W. CLUB.

The new Turner Wheel club has just elected its first officers. They are as follows: President, Joseph Brohm; vice president, Ed. Beyer; secretary, William Shaefer; treasurer, Oscar Wolf; directors, with the officers, George Mayer, G. Schirmer and A. Ham; captain, Fred Haberl; first lieutenant, Mike Reuter; second lieutenant, Ed. Schilthaus.

The club starts with a membership of over sixty and will join the L. A. W. and the Associated Cycling clubs of Denver.

KANSAS DIVISION.

The Manhattan hotel is hereby designated League hotel at Wichita, Kansas. Rate $1.50 per day.

BICYCLES AND BOATS.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Savin Hill, Mass., Yacht Club, it was voted to form a bicycle club within the yacht club, members of the club to be eligible to membership in the bicycle club without extra charge, and to admit wheelmen and non-boat-owners to both clubs as associate members, upon payment of $5.00 per annum. There are at present about thirty wheelmen in the club. It was also voted to instruct the house committee to provide a suitable locker for the storage of bicycles.

The entertainment committee was instructed to arrange monthly hops and other entertainments to the members during the summer months, free of charge.

ROAD improvement has in most places become popular. This insures its success.

QUERIES AND ANSWERS

E. S. T., Fremont, O., asks:

Suppose a safety weighing twenty pounds, sixty-six gear, twenty-eight inch wheels and six and one-half inch cranks, was standing on an incline of one foot in ten, and having a rider of one one hundred and sixty pounds weight, how much pressure would be required on the pedal to move machine up the incline; also, how much pull would come on the chain. No account to be taken of friction, or of the upward pull on the handles.

Ans. The total weight of rider and machine is one hundred and eighty pounds; standing on an incline of one in ten the tendency to roll down would be one tenth of the weight, or eighteen pounds. As the machine is geared to sixty-six and the crank is six and one-half inches long, the pressure on crank would be as much greater as the crank is shorter than the radius of wheel. If the crank was thirty-three inches long or just the radius of the imaginary sixty-six inch wheel, the pressure required to hold the wheel would be exactly the same as its downhill tendency; but, as the crank is less than the radius, the pressure needed at that point would be equal to sixty-six thirteenths of eighteen pounds or ninety-one and five-thirteenths. This force would exactly balance the downward tendency and, as your question ignores friction, any additional force would move the machine up the hill.

The pull on chain cannot be computed without knowing the diameter of sprocket wheels.

The upward pull on handle bars would have no effect.

S. A. A., Pittsburgh, Pa., writes:

How can an agent for a bicycle race in class A?

Ans. Just as an agent for a sewing machine or a refrigerator might race in class A.

The bicycle agent who races only for diversion or to advertise his business is an amateur, but the man who races for a business and sells bicycles for a blind is (if he is dicovered) a professional. You may obtain copies of the racing rules by addressing the chairman of your State racing board.

E. C. N., Pittsburg, Pa.:

The total number of L. A. W. members will be printed each week, beginning July 5.

F. W. D., Elizabeth, N. J.:

Any good chewing gum will do; it should be occasionally shifted from side to side, but always inside. A wet sponge in the hat has been highly recommended.

I. S. W., Marinette, Wis., asks:

1. Is a physical director in a Y. M. C. A. a professional because he teaches athletic sports?

Ans. Yes, unless he does it for fun.

2. Is a man a professional if he plays ball or any other game inside an inclosure, the receipts to be donated to a benevolent institution?

Ans. We understand that if the ball player plays for money he becomes a professional. What is done with the money makes no difference. If the players were amateurs before the game in question, and they played solely for some charity and did not in any way profit by the gate money, we would strongly recommend that instead of the death sentence, imprisonment for life be substituted.

T. B. M., Kansas City, asks:

Where on frame of bicycle should name be placed, by process described by Mr. Cox in a late number of the BULLETIN?

Ans. His plan was to put it on the top of one of the main tubes of the frame. It might also be etched onto the handle-bar.

2. How would he go about it, and what use to "touch" surface with nitric acid? I don't quite understand use of word "touch".

Ans. A man who doesn't understand the use of the word is to be congratulated, as he has probably never been "touched"; as applied to acid etching it means to apply the acid to the surface to be "bitten." It may be put on with a brush or swab, or even a plain piece of wood. The surface which has been acted upon by the acid will have a dull frosted appearance; it should be protected from rust by a thin coat of transparent varnish, or, if on the handle bar or other finished part, it may be re-nickeled.

3. Can you recommend a safe and secure lock, i. e., one hard enough to resist nippers and which cannot be pried open or broken with an ordinary hammer?

Ans. We know of no such lock, nor do we consider it practical to make one fully answering your requirements. To harden all parts of the lock and chain so that they could not be cut or filed would tend to make it easier to break. The function of a cycle lock is to prevent the machine being taken by boys or others who might be inclined to mischief, or who might ride it away by mistake. It simply makes the stealing of the machine more difficult; no lock can make it impossible.

W. I., Belfonte, Pa., asks:

Is it good or bad for the health to ride with a sweater on?

Ans. Both; when the thermometer is frozen up and control of the temperature entirely lost, it is good for the health to wear one or more sweaters. When the weather is more than ninety-eight in the shade, however, you might see your physician and obtain his judgment about leaving off one of the sweaters.

ASBURY PARK.

We are in receipt of an abusive and profane letter asking why THE L. A. W. BULLETIN doesn't pay more attention to the coming national meet at Asbury Park.

We will do the writer of this letter the kindness to conceal his name and location, except to say that he is not a resident of New Jersey.

Among other things, we are accused of having a personal feeling against the successful rivals of Massachusetts.

We freely forgive our insulting correspondent and would not feel called upon to notice his letter except that our readers have a right to know the position of the BULLETIN in reference to the national meet.

We confess to having a personal feeling, but it is of the kindliest sort. The officials in charge of the matter are good people, and the BULLETIN wishes them and the coming meet every success. We intend to be there, in company with a large number of Massachusetts members, and have no doubt about the pleasurable features of the occasion.

We hope to make announcement, shortly, of the transportation companies which will give reduced rates from New England. We understand that a fare and a third is offered on all western roads.

[Since the above was in type we have received the following official matter from Chairman Brewster.]

TRANSPORTATION TO ASBURY PARK.

The Trunk Line, Central Traffic, Western Passenger, Southern States Passenger and New England Passenger Associations have authorized rate of one fare and a third, on certificate plan, to Asbury Park for League meet, July 8th to 13th. Directions governing sale of tickets are contained in circular printed herewith. It will be well to read these directions carefully.

The committee is disappointed in not being able to secure a better rate. We believe that the transportation companies would have largely increased their revenue had they accorded us a more equitable rate, but certain local conditions united with other considerations rendered our efforts futile.

From points near Asbury Park, such as New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, etc., the regular summer excursion rates may be found lower than the concession named by the traffic associations. It will be well, therefore, for persons journeying from territory named, to compare rates before purchasing tickets. The Iron Steamboat Company advises that they will transport wheels without charge when accompanied by owners.

OFFICIAL ROUTES: The committee has not deemed it wise to designate official routes this year, but the chairman or any member of the committee will be glad to furnish any information in their power that may assist League members in selecting the most favorable and satisfactory lines for their journey. Once in a while League members are found who are anxious to help those who help us; to these the services of the committee are most heartily tendered.

Fraternally,
W. M. BREWSTER, Chairman.

TRANSPORTATION INSTRUCTION.

First. Each person must purchase (not more than three days prior to the date of the meeting nor later than three days after the commencement of the meeting) a first-class ticket (either unlimited or limited) to the place of meeting, for which he will pay the regular tariff fare, and upon request the ticket agent will issue to him a certificate of such purchase (Form 2), properly filled up and signed by said ticket agent.

Second. If through tickets cannot be procured at the starting point, the person will purchase to the nearest point where such through tickets can be obtained, and there purchase through to place of meeting, requesting a certificate properly filled out by the agent at the point where second purchase is made.

Third. It is absolutely necessary that a certificate be procured, indicating that full fare has been paid for the going journey, and that the person is therefore entitled to the excursion fare returning. It likewise determines the route via which the ticket for return journey will be sold and without it no reduction will be made, as the rule of the association is that "No refund of fare can be expected because of failure of the parties to obtain certificates."

Fourth. Tickets for the return journey will be sold by the ticket agents at the place of meeting at one-third the first-class limited fare, only to those holding certificates (Form 2) signed by the ticket agent at a point where through ticket to the place of meeting was purchased, countersigned by the secretary or clerk of the convention, certifying that the holder has been in attendance upon the convention and vised by special agent of the railway association requiring the last named supervision.

Fifth. Tickets for return journey will be furnished only on certificates procured not more than three days before the meeting assembles, nor later than three days after the commencement of the meeting, and will be available for continuous passage only; no stop over privileges being allowed on tickets sold at less than regular unlimited fares. Certificates will not be honored unless presented within three days after the date of the adjournment of the convention. It is understood that Sunday will not be reckoned as a day.

Sixth. Ticket agents will be instructed that excursion fares will not be available unless the holders of certificates are properly identified, as above described, by the secretary or clerk, on the certificate, which identification includes the statement that one hundred or more persons, who have purchased full fare tickets for the going passage, and hold properly receipted certificates, have been in attendance at the meeting and by the stamp and signature of special agent of the railway association. A violation of the rules in certifying that the stipulated number were in attendance, when actually a less number of properly executed standard certificates were presented, will debar the offending organization from the further courtesies of this association.

Seventh. The certificates are not transferable, and the signature affixed at the starting point compared with the signature to the receipt, will enable the ticket agent to detect any attempted transfer. A transfer or misuse of certificates or tickets authorized under this rule will forfeit all privileges granted.

N. B. Please read carefully the above instructions, be particular to have the certificates properly filled and certified by the railroad agent from whom you purchase your going ticket to the place of meeting, as the reduction on return will apply only to the point at which such through ticket was purchased.

Happy Thought--A "League" Dial!

No use to show a cut of it — for the limitations of black-ink print could convey no idea of the exquisite tints of blue and yellow and green and red in which the Emblem of the L. A. W. is enameled on the dial.

How much extra for a "Standard" Cyclometer, thus adorned, do you ask? Nothing, except your kind approval of a liberal business policy.

WHAT WILL THE LIVERY MEN DO?

IT has long been a recognized fact that the extensive use of the bicycle has cut into the business of men who keep horses to let.

How extensive has been the effect of this readjustment in methods of transportion is shown by the frequent allusions which have been made to the subject in papers devoted to the horse and his vehicles.

As the world progresses such changes as this must of necessity come about.

People as a whole know what they want, and the livery stable keeper who watches the growing tendencies, will, ere this, have discovered that horses are, to a limited extent, being superseded.

People who cannot afford to keep horses are expected to become more or less familiar with this wonderful new vehicle which doesn't require horses.

Many of those who cannot afford a new bicycle take a second hand one from some more fastidious or better fixed friend (or enemy, as it sometimes happens).

This constant wearing out of machines is a fortunate thing, for it enables people to ride a bicycle who could not have a new one of even the cheapest make.

Second hand machines may be had at all prices, so that any person who is not reduced to absolute beggary can usually find one at an appropriate figure.

In many instances the tandem has superseded the horse and buggy and the livery man has been obliged to adjust his business to suit the new order of things.

A recent number of the Livery Stable contains the following. It is one of the best and most comprehensive articles on this subject which has come to us.

"The most sensible and apparently the only thing for them to do is to place themselves in a position where they can retain the business that is now fast leaving them. That position is to keep bicycles for hire and be prepared to meet the demand for both bicycles and other vehicles. There is a good demand for bicycles, they cost less than horses, harness and buggies, they don't get the heaves or the colic, and don't require any feed.

"From what has been said it is self-evident that the competition of the bicycle must be met in a business like way. There will be no additional expense on the livery man for rent or labor and the only outlay will be the original investment for bicycles, which will be no more than it would cost to restock the stable with buggies. In that way only can the livery trade meet the condition now presenting itself. It is bad business policy to allow a man to settle himself next door to your stable and by keeping a few bicycles take away your trade. Your business is to keep conveyances for hire and to be governed as to the conveyances by the public demand. Surely no sensible livery man would lay in one style of carriage if he knows that the style is not wanted and cannot be let. He would certainly buy the vehicle he could let and to the best advantage. Of course the wiser plan is to keep enough horses and such vehicles as can be let, and, to add to these, bicycles. It is no argument to say that it was never done before — the same conditions never existed before.

Adapt yourself to the circumstances which confront you; these are a heavy demand for bicycles. Be prepared to furnish them, and as they are little trouble and less expense than light vehicles with a proportionately greater profit, reap the benefit of your enterprise which the riding public will appreciate. A considerable number of livery men have already sensed the situation, bought bicycles, and are satisfied with their venture.

This is the season for bicycles and there can be no doubt that those who are first in the field will have the advantage. Before the summer is over this new departure can be made to pay for itself and leave a handsome profit for the summer's work. Having bicycles to let will certainly not interfere with your letting horses so that it cannot injure the business you already have; it will, however, prevent your trade from slipping away from you and going to others who are more enterprising. A business man should not only strike while the iron is hot, but keep striking until the iron gets hot. The sooner livery men will consider bicycles as proper livery vehicles the better it will be for the trade."

A HOPELESS CASE.

NIXON WATERMAN.

He was just a common sinner,
But he'd buy a tramp a dinner,
An' he'd sort o' try to put him on his feet;
An' a feller might be needy,
An' his raiment worn and seedy,
Yet he'd stop an' visit with him in the street.

He made no ado about it—
Wouldn't brag around ner shout it,
Yet he did a heap to help his fellowmen;
When he'd find a fallen brother
In some easy way er other,
He would make him organize himself again.

He had money an' he spent it,
Er he give away er lent it;
Seemed ez if the more he lost the more he got.
Made all sorts o' big donations,
Helped support his poor relations,
An' he bought a orphan school a house an' lot.

Never heard o' him a-shoutin'
Ner a-settin' 'round a-spoutin'
'Bout the everlastin' wickedness o' things:
But he just went on a-findin'
Deeds to do, an' never mindin'
Much about a crown er harp with golden strings.

Yet the deacon's folks (it's very Hard to say it), they was merry
When at last death came an' caught him in the lurch,
For they knowed the devil got 'im,
An' it served 'im right, dod rot 'im!
For he never had united with the church.

A GREAT WASTE.

NATURE'S MONOTONY.

THIS is the season of the year when the owners of wheels are permitted to get about a great deal and see much of nature. Persons who almost forget during the winter months that there are such things as hills and vales and trees and brooks and a thousand and one other rural charms, go into the country during the summer and once more renew former pleasant acquaintanceships.

Nature is interesting in all its multifold phases, yet, when one stops to think of it, nature is awfully monotonous. As a matter of course it is too late now to alter the creation of things, but if we had been consulted before everything had been given a fixed form, we could have suggested a great many changes from the plans as they were carried out. We wish it to be understood that we hold ourselves in no wise responsible for any blunders that may have been made. We philosophically accept things as they are, yet, at the same time we are disposed to exercise the privilege of kicking while we have a chance.

What we dislike about nature is its sameness. It lacks variety. It doesn't surprise us often enough. You plant an oak in your dooryard this year and what have you next year? Why, an oak, to be sure. And it remains the same year after year — just a common, monotonous oak. Sundays, weekdays, holidays and all. No change. Oh! It's awful. If you wish a willow or an elm or a cedar, you've got to plant it, and after that it will never be anything else. Now why can't a tree be a pear tree during the summer and an evergreen during the winter? Men are not forever the same monotonous things. Men gamble this year and next year they reform and go to lecturing. Prize fighters become actors, street car drivers become poets, rascals become honorable men, and vice versa. Why need an oak tree be an oak tree forever, and why must its leaves always be the same shape and color? Look at our dear ladies. Note the variety of adornment they put on. They compel all the laws of cause and effect to conform to the vagaries of their wills. Why can't oak leaves be an oval pink one season and a square of blue the next? Trees, grasses and flowers all have this sorry sameness. They do not surprise us: we know what to expect. And it is the same way with the birds and beasts. The robin sings the same old song it did when Columbus discovered

America. The bluebird, the lark and the catbird are doing identically the same thing they were when Methusalah was a little boy pegging stones at them. There has never been a particle of change in the programme. Why don't they keep up with the procession and sing the late popular songs? They are wearing the same design of feathers their great grandparents did. Not a feather more nor a feather less.

The seasons follow each other in the same monotonous succession. Spring, summer, autumn, winter. And then the whole thing over again without any variation. The sun rises in the east and goes down in the west, year in and year out. How much more interesting it would be if the sun came up just wherever and whenever it happened to feel like it. But no, it works just like a machine that never breaks nor slips a cog. There is nothing romantic about machinery.

If things would only keep us guessing we should have more to occupy our minds. All speculation is discouraged. Everything is done on a cut and dried plan. It's all a put up job. The die is really cast a long while before we really get a shake at it. All the rivers run into the sea just as they did in Adam's time. Everything has fixed laws. Everything does just what you expect it will do. Everything except men and women. Ah! They possess variety enough to satisfy the most capricious nature. A man says he will pay you the amount of a bill he owes you on Saturday. He surprises you. He doesn't pay it. A woman says she will be true to you forever and a day. Well, she keeps her word so far as a day is concerned, but the day after she elopes with a freckled-faced man who is nowhere near so handsome as you are.

Men are oaks to-day, willows to-morrow and ragweed next week. They change in size, color, disposition and purpose with the passing of every breeze. You can't tell whether they are marble or mush, bronze, or baled hay.

And after all may be it is best that nature is not so full of variety. It may be possible that more of a regular, assured thing really comes nearer answering our purpose. It would be disappointing to have a hen lay door knobs when one wanted eggs, or to have a cow give peppersauce when one wished milk. If pear trees were to bring forth palm leaf fans and potatoes produced flat irons whenever they happened to feel like it, we should hardly know where we are at. May be it is just as well that things are as they are. Let the show go on. As we remarked before, we are not responsible for the character of the entertainment.

A PERMIT TO WALK.

IT has been suggested in France that in view of the growing popularity of the wheel, people who are so far out of date as to walk should be obliged to submit to some of the regulations which have been made for wheelmen.

An exchange, the name of which we have lost, makes some interesting suggestions for our own authorities. A few of the more important may be referred to. The present tax on bicycles is to be abolished. Every pedestrian will be required to procure a permit to walk. These permits must be renewed annually, and a fee will be charged for them. With each permit will be issued a numbered metal plate, which the pedestrian, while in the street, must always wear on the front of his hat band. Every pedestrian shall supply himself with a bell and a whistle, which he must sound when meeting or passing a bicyclist on the sidewalk, and always while crossing a street, whether or not a bicyclist is in sight at the time. At night he must also carry lighted lanterns on his breast and back. No pedestrian within the limits of a city or incorporated village shall walk more rapidly than at a rate of two miles an hour. France shall be entirely leveled, so that the public may be saved the anoyance and fatigue of hill climbing. A man with a straight back shall be regarded as a suspicious person, and kept constantly under surveillance by the police. Any pedestrian who, by reason of his awkwardness, negligence or being alive, shall, by getting himself run over, or otherwise disturb, impede, annoy or incommode a cycler, or cause damage or risk of damage, to rider or wheel, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of 5,000 francs. On a second conviction he shall be imprisoned for life.

WHAT'S YOUR NAME.

'Twas a shame that man Brown, whose initials "N. G."
Seemed so cheap and so sort of familiar that we Applied to the man the impression they lent,
Never stopping to ask what the two letters meant.
But 'twas not till he died that the folks of the town
Discovered his name was Napoleon Grant Brown,
When they said, "Had we known that was really the case
We'd have made him the mayor, perchance, of the place."

'Tisn't fair toward the parents who go nearly wild
In finding a name to bestow on a child
To have it cut short and the offspring go through
The world with a poor, cheap initial or two.
So whatever your name, spell it out; don't you hide
Your claims upon greatness until you have died
And we find that the name you were given at birth
Might have made you a prince had you used it on earth.

The rumor that Americans are losing interest in the celebration of July 4th will be thoroughly exploded, when that anniversary arrives.

THE "UNATTACHED."

BY ONE OF THEM.

IN every issue of the League organ, as we glance over the list of new members, we are impressed by the great preponderance in number of those classed as the "unattached," and this is no new thing, for when these lists were presented in the old organs, the proportion of this class to the number brought in was about the same. At present the League seems to be increasing more rapidly in number than at any one time in the past: and our membership will soon reach the 100,000 mark. In reality, however, we are far away in number from the figures, as thousands are out of the organization, albeit their numbers are counted in our official enumeration, and this fact suggests the query: Why does membership fall off every year in greater or less number? Why has this been so large, particularly the last year? It may be attributable to the "hard times" we have experienced as a people, though there is a doubt in our minds that it is the cause. Is it not rather the result of a sort of disappointment as to what these new members obtain as members?

It is a common question asked by non-League wheelmen, "What is the advantage of League membership: what do I get for it; what benefit results?" And so on through the whole category; and the answer has been the usual sound, logical reasons advanced, to care for wheelmen's rights, to secure privileges, to seek improvement of highways and so forth.

If the argument is conclusive and we secure our recruit, why does he desert in a year or two? The reasons for his becoming a member still exist, all the purposes of the League are the identical ones urged to secure him as a member. There must be a cause for his withdrawal from the ranks. Is this cause in him or is it to be found in the League itself?

Let us look at the matter in a plain, practical way. How does the League advance the interests of its members? In what manner is our organization conducted so as to cause a general good feeling of comradeship; how does it promote such unity as exists in other great voluntary organizations that have stood the test of years, aye, centuries? What is done to keep wheelmen together in the League? In what manner is the unattached member a factor in League affairs? Who is he? Where is he at? What is he? Anything more than No. 999,999, or any other card number? What is he called upon to do? Where does his work come in? Where are his co-workers? Where is the purpose — but we do not wish to overwhelm with a cyclone of conundrums.

The simple answer to all the above may be given in a phrase — want of organization.

Let us see, we who are in earnest. Before the advent of the "safety" opened a new field of sport, recreation and utility of conveyance, the membership of the League was small. The g. o. o. was much too risky for most people, especially those who were doubtful as to their qualifications for acrobatic feats. With the new vehicle (that is the legalized term, now), a new impetus was given to League membership — new men affiliated — men along in years, of fixed habits, of disposition to secure recognition as a class using public highways, hotels, etc. This new element began the crusade against the barbarism of country roads. It was represented in its work by the Good Roads. It started the work of legislation for the improvement of highways. Its object was to increase membership to make the organization a power to secure good roads, privileges and rights of wheelmen, and a number of minor matters.

With this new era came a torrent of publications, ostensibly devoted to wheeling interests — in reality, trade journals, simply speculative, seeking standing among wheelmen to secure advertising patronage, and in this pursuit to an extent successful: but with their endeavors an element was interjected, which has been to a great extent the cause of decay in a vital part of the League body, namely the introduction of the race-track. Columns have been devoted to this part of cycledom, to the exclusion of other parts of much more consequence — all manner of notes about jim-dandies who were held up as representative wheelmen — squabbles between racing boards over rules — and so ad nauseum, till at meets more time was devoted to the racing business than aught else.

Of course, some of the younger members of the League appreciated this part of the work, but many of the older, who had joined with other business in mind, after a year or two, dropped out, as they felt little interest in what appeared to be the great object of the League officials.

The club, also, has been a potent factor in diminishing the interest among League members. As a rule, its influence has been the power in creating officials for the divisions. And where one club has successfully maintained a prestige in division affairs, the fact has bred jealousy and in a number of cases caused withdrawals and dropping out from membership.

At the present time League matters seem to be on a better footing, as far as increased membership goes. We are optimistic enough to hope for the best. But we cannot shut our eyes to the fact, that unless there is general interest maintained, the same falling away will occur again.

And we need not be oblivious to this fact: that there must be some work performed by those in position in the division to unite the class of League members who are a majority, and called "Unattached." At the present time this class are unrepresented in the State body — they are unknown among themselves and to the division officials. In this matter we speak of our own State — and hope it may not be generally true as applied to other localities. We know our League officials by

COME!

ASBURY PARK, June 13, 1895.

An article in a Philadelphia morning paper, purporting to prove a disinclination on the part of Arthur Zimmerman to race John S. Johnson, places Zimmerman, Joseph McDermott and the Asbury Park Wheelmen as well in a false light. Mr. McDermott positively denies having said anything to the representatives of the Pennsylvania Bicycle Club, (which club is anxious to take the proposed race from Asbury Park), which could possibly be interpreted by a fair mind in any such way as has been done. Mr. McDermott did say that Mr. Zimmerman did not care to race Johnson, nor anyone else, for $1,000, explaining, at the same time, that this was because Zimmerman was in a position to make a large amount of money by exhibition riding, which he would have to sacrifice in order to train for a match race. Mr. McDermott is kept busy arranging these dates for the champion, and is not making racing dates. That department has been turned over absolutely to the Asbury Park Wheelmen, who are making every effort to bring about the race for which the whole country is anxious, and it is to them that those anxious to back Johnson, (as the Philadelphia visitors to Freehold professed to be), must reply. The Asbury Park Wheelmen consider the effort of the Pennsylvania club, (if it was authorized by that club), in trying to take from them the race which they have been at much pains to try to arrange, as most unkind. There is no bluff about the race as they intend to manage it. Zimmerman's money is up, and if Johnson wishes to race the champion he must come here to do it. He will be given every opportunity, but Zimmerman has a right, which the Asbury Park Wheelmen insist upon, to name the place of meeting, and Asbury Park is the place so named. Zimmerman is more than willing to race Johnson, but he objects, and very justly, to doing so for a beggarly thousand dollars.

W. H. BEEGLE, Chairman Race Committee.

An unauthorized souvenir programme is in contemplation, J. E. McLain of 21 Beekman street, New York, having solicited advertising therefore. The Asbury Park Wheelmen have nothing to do with this proposed publication and will not benefit by it in any way, and will undoubtedly suffer by it, as some who might advertise with them will be confused by the apparent intention to issue two souvenir programmes. The only one which is authorized and from which the Asbury Park Wheelmen will receive a benefit, is being gotten up by the press committee, and only the chairman of that committee and Mr. George W. Cole of 111 Broadway, New York, have so far been authorized to solicit advertising. This programme, which will be a credit to the club and to the League, is positively the only one that will be circulated on the grounds during the races.

name as announced in the BULLETIN. We have local consuls, it is supposed, but we have to learn that there has been any effort to get the members of the League together here at any time.

A number of personal acquaintances, who were members of the League are now outside. They are good citizens, honest believers in the platform of the League, but they "haven't any use for it," as at present carried on. They are not "touring"; they don't ask for "cut rates" at hotels; they have been to track races and witnessed the loafing of crack teams on the course till the last few hundred yards' "spurting"; they have witnessed the enactment of laws and ordinances in State, town and city bodies, respecting wheelmen, of an adverse character; they have seen little effort made to protect wheelmen in road privileges, and they ask, "Why should I remain in the League, or use my endeavor to increase its membership?"

This state of affairs may be remedied, and easily enough, if there is the disposition.

Why do not local consuls call together all League members, become acquainted with the majority, organize meetings, appoint a local board of officers, who can act in an executive capacity, ascertain our numbers; and when exigency requires, be found, to act for the interests of wheelmen. In local affairs there is always something cropping out, requiring discernment on the part of interested parties. With a body of citizens in any locality, known to each other, much may be accomplished, so far as securing privileges, maintaining rights, etc., are concerned.

In all honesty of purpose, in desire that the League of American Wheelmen shall become what it ought — a power in the land and a champion for wise laws — we ask the League officers of the Connecticut division to take such steps in effecting a more perfect organization — to retain our present and secure a future membership among those known as the "Unattached."

BENT TUBING.

When a handle bar or other tubular part of a bicycle becomes bent out of its normal position, it should, if possible, be placed in the hands of a professional repairer. Sometimes, however, it is necessary to improve its shape before it can be ridden home.

An attache of the BULLETIN recently saw a rider attempting to straighten a handle bar by pounding it with a stone. This treatment entirely ruined the bar, which might have been saved by careful handling.

The tendency of a tube when bent is to flatten at the bended portion, and if bent far enough, the outer and inner sides of the curve will come entirely together and then bend, or break as two flat pieces of metal.

The manufacturer counteracts this tendency, by bending in dies which come up at the sides of the tube and prevent its widening as it bends.

Blocks of hard wood hollowed out to partially encircle the tube may be used for special repair jobs, but the tube should never be touched by a hammer, vise, or other hard, flat implement.

If no special preparation can be made for the bending or straightening of a tube, fairly good results may be had from the use of soft pine blocks applied at the proper points, the force back of the blocks being applied either by blows or pressure. Very often a bent tube may be corrected by clamping lightly in a vise between soft wooden blocks and pulling carefully upon the longer end of the tube.

It is a peculiar property of all metal that when bent without heating, it possesses a slight tendency to return to its normal position, and hence takes less force to put it back than was required to spring it out of place.

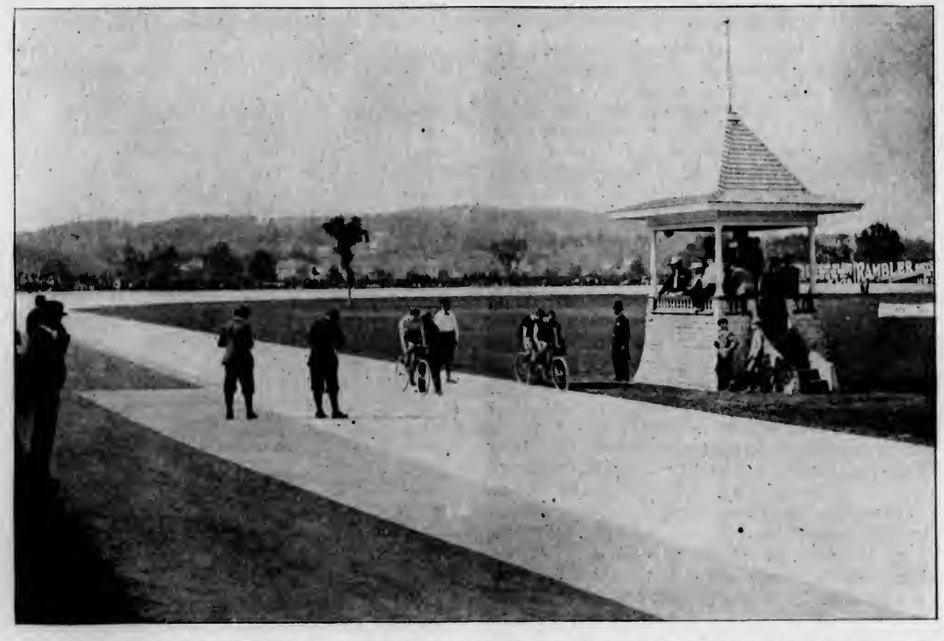
THE RULING PASSION.



One of our country exchanges has a thrilling account of a young lady who rescued her lover from the cruel wheels of a moving train. And in the midst of the more interesting part of the story we find the following:

"When the train stopped at —— the young man, who, by the way, is agent for the —— bicycles, espied the young lady in question on the depot platform."

Verily? advertising is a great thing.

THE PROPER COSTUME.

A LADY writing from Kokomo, Indiana, in expressing her views of the bloomer and knickerbocker costumes for bicycle riders, says that only those women who are so fortunate as to possess a form of perfect proportions, should presume to wear any other than the regulation dress ordinarily worn by women, and wishes to know if we do not coincide with her views. We cannot say that we do. Right at the very threshold of this subject we are met with the question, what are the measurements of the perfect female form? Some time ago, a woman, eminent in the science of physical culture said they should be as follows: Height, five feet, five inches; bust measure, thirty-one inches; waist, twenty-seven inches; hips, thirty-five inches.

It is not for us, who have been too busy keeping the wolf from the door, to permit of our making a critical study of matters of this kind, to say that the eminent lady referred to did not know what she was talking about. Yet we give it out as our hastily formed conclusion that there can be no fixed dimensions by which physical perfection can be measured. It is, and always must remain largely a matter of individual opinion. We can yet vividly recall the image of the first girl we ever really and truly loved — or thought we loved, which in a breach-of-promise suit practically amounts to the same thing. She was nearly six feet from tip to tip, we should judge, and about as slim as the average man's excuse for not accompanying his wife to church on Sunday morning. We have not at hand the statistics giving her exact weight but we remember well that we could hold her on one knee for hours at a time and not grow one-sixteenth as tired as we have since, when we have been compelled to trot a fifteen-pound infant for ten minutes. She must have been very slight. According to the measurements given herewith she would have to be considered defective in form, but on the contrary she was, as we determined when we first met her, a model of physical perfection. While she sat enthroned in our castle of fancy we spurned all girls who were not, like her, of the tall and lithe and willowy type, as being utterly without beauty of figure. We gave all such to understand that there was a great chasm yawning between us which the bridge of matrimony could never span. Later on, by some unaccountable process, our affections were transferred from this tall, slender girl to one who was as short as the modern honeymoon and as broad as the Unitarian creed. We saw then what a great mistake we had made in thinking that a tall, slender girl could be called beautiful in form. This short, thick girl was our ideal of perfect physical proportions for several months. After that we gave up trying to fix upon any unchanging standard of beauty. The one we loved last was always the nearest perfect. Tall girls, short girls, thin girls, plump girls, all seemed to have equal weight in our fancy. There was a time when we would have bet our last dollar that each of her was the perfect type of feminine loveliness. And there you have it. And from what we have seen and heard we believe it is just that way with others, and eminent students of physical culture can go on fixing up standards of perfect measurements till the cows come home and it won't amount to any more than a last year's political platform. We all know the sort of a figure that is nearest perfection and no other living person can pick her out for us any more than they could be measured for our set of false teeth. And it's just this sort of a thing that will prevent anyone saying what women should wear the new bicycle costumes and what should not. It is one of those things that can't be done and the person who tries it might just as well be arguing politics or religion for all the good it will do. Every woman knows what she wants or doesn't want and the opinion of the rest of the world cuts no figure in the matter.

A CYCLET.

BY C. F HAYNES, M. D.

The time has come when ladies feel
They're out of style without a wheel.
At first it seems a little odd
But now the wheel's quite a la mode.

Since Mrs. Crank no longer meddles
We see their feet upon the pedals,
And hear them sing the cycle song:
"I come, I come, ye've called me long."

As out they go to take a whirl
The matron and the blushing girl,
For change of air and change of scene,
From barren walls to fields of green.

No longer tied to cab or car,
They circulate both near and far,
Excelling quite in style and grace,
Though not first in the human race.

Physicians generally decide
To recommend the cycle ride,
And every lady now should feel
It quite the thing to own a wheel.

So great has now become the fad,
The boys expect it from her dad,
That with the hand of Fan. D. Sickle
There goes as well a fine bicycle.

Only One Thing Needed.

HER FATHER: The fact is you could not give my daughter the surroundings she has been accustomed to.

HER LOVER: But she and I both clearly understand that love in a cottage is all we shall want.

HER FATHER: And you will expect nothing from me?

HER LOVER: No — er, that is, nothing but the cottage.

SUNDAY RIDING.

THE fact that the outing spirit is such a factor in our rest days that many clergymen are up in arms against the tendency toward open air enjoyment on Sunday is significant. The alarm felt by the pulpit over the fascination that the wheel and the open country have above the pew and the church service is natural, since the prospect is that this year will see a greater use of the bicycle than ever before among both sexes and all classes. There was a time when the Sunday rider might have lost caste, but that day is long gone by, and whether they forsake the church, or go to church first and take up the wheel afterward, it is evident even to a careless observer that Sunday is now bicycle day par excellence. It is so in Boston, in New York, in this city, the greatest bicycle town in this country, and in Chicago. To-day in this last mentioned city a big bicycle parade is to take place with 1100 club men in line and over 2000 unattached riders. The unofficial outings of clubs and individuals in this city more than duplicate this showing on almost any clear Sunday, and if a parade should be organized the Chicago turnout would be far distanced in numbers and in everything else. This utilization of Sunday as a recreation day for wheelmen will increase rather than decrease, and as a problem for the church to solve it is no mean question.

One Boston clergyman has taken the bull by the horns and proposes an early morning service which would give those who love an open air life a chance to get that meed of spiritual refection that is necessary for well rounded existence, and still would leave the rest of the day practically open for a trip to the country or any disposition that might be made of the day of rest as far as general recreation goes. Another in New York utilized the evening service and invited the wheelmen, doubtless feeling that after their day or afternoon of recreation and animal enjoyment they would be well disposed to the truths of religion, and also hoping doubtless that such practical application of spiritual truths could be made as to act as a means of grace. But to many of the rigid disciplinarians such efforts savor too much of a compromise with the world, the flesh and the devil, and so it is not at all surprising to note that other ministers have denounced Sunday outings and particularly the devotion to the wheel and in no uncertain tones. They doubtless feel that the sanctity of the Sabbath is something that cannot be trifled with and that it cannot be broken into even under the guise of a healthful and innocent amusement.

Still, whatever may be the attitude of the various Protestant communions and of the various ministers in these communions, Sunday riding is a hard fact, and another fact is that those who ride on Sundays have not the slightest shamefacedness about it. That many of them have the closest affiliations with the churches cannot be disputed, and the question then comes up what is to be done with these erring children of the flock? It has been suggested that the churches will have to make some arrangements whereby the bicyclers can attend service, arriving and departing on the wheel. If this is done the bicycle room in the church of the future will take the place of the wagon shed now a familiar fixture of all our country churches of to-day. The sexton will have something else to do beside unlocking the doors of the church and seeing that the ventilation is as it should be. The latter duty, however, is one that must be numbered among the average sexton's sins of omission. But come what will, the bicycle either at the regular service, the early service or the late service is likely to attract increasing attention, for conduct is always more than belief and it is human nature to do those things that are innocent even if dogma disapprove. It will be hard to convince the enthusiastic wheelmen that riding on Sunday is a sin, and especially since in all our large cities the example, whether bad or good, is set by those who are more or less the leaders in society.— *Phila. OLD-FASHIONED WHEELS.

Fathers and Grandfathers of the Modern Pneumatic Safety.

BY NO. 4,389.

MY experience with the bicycle, more especially the "safety," may be interesting or otherwise. In 1863–4 I was riding the old velocipedes in a hall, in the city where I lived, and a few attempts were made with them out on the street. Other boys and myself had great fun racing across and around the hall and a grand game of "dodge" around the posts that supported the roof of the building.

In the seventies I was on the high wheel. It was no less dangerous than a kicking horse. Later on I saw a "safety" imported from England by a firm of agents. I immediately gave it a trial and at once gave the first order for one given in the State where I live. It was a "Rudge," 30-inch wheels, solid tubing, single frame, 65 pounds, 54 gear, the bearings so made as to have an open space at the bottom of each set so that grit and dirt might run out, (quite a scheme) small solid tire and direct spoke.

I was "hooted" wherever I went. My son, a little fellow then, sometimes rode with me on a high wheel, when I would hear such shouts as, "Oh! give the boy a show!" "Get off and give the boy the donkey, you take the horse!" Sometimes apples, tomatoes and even eggs, came sailing dangerously near, thrown by unknown hands, but never but once was I stoned, and then, by good fortune, I was not hit.

After the "Rudge" I passed through all the stages; after every new thing, spring fork, cradle

Sometime, grown tired of walking, seats, etc. I bought the first single tube pneumatic I could possibly obtain, built the wheel over for it, and was again the pioneer rider in that line.

As improvements came I bought and exchanged each year, 'till here we are in '95 with what seems almost perfection. My this year's wheel is of a well-known standard make, weighs about 22 pounds, has single tube tire, which I consider the best made, and 70 gear, as I like to pedal slow and ride fast, if the expression is allowable.

It will be seen that my present wheel is about one-third the weight of the first one and that in one hundred revolutions of the pedal I travel about four hundred feet further on this than on the first machine, and if I may judge by my feelings at the end of, say a five-mile ride, I am now about one-third as tired as I was with my first machine.

During one year, I think it was 1890, I kept an account and put five cents to the credit of my wheel every time I rode it, when otherwise I would have used a horse-car, and its earnings were $52.00 and some odd cents. I have also kept an account since I bought the "Rudge," and I find that with all the frequent changes,— for I am always after my ideal of any new, best thing,— it has cost me an average of $25.00 a year and the $100.00 for this year's machine to maintain my wheel. To be fair to the bicycle, it should have put to its credit every five cent piece I would have used in riding it when I would have otherwise taken passage on any public transport, and the greater benefit of health, pleasure and mental profit derived from it.

With continued interest in Good Roads and a rugged lease of age I hope to make even a better future showing.

It Must, Indeed.

It must be pretty hard for a woman wearing a dress she has "turned" three seasons, and some faded cotton hose with patched heels, to say to her liege lord, "I love you just as dearly as when we were married thirteen years ago." It must indeed be hard to say it.

BURNED CLAY FOR ROADS.

GEO. M. HUSS.

THE use of burned clay as a road material, as suggested by Mr. Olmstead in the BULLETIN of June 7, is worthy of considerable attention in this country, though subject to some decided limitations. The district must be not only without road making stone or gravel, but also close to cheap coal supply, to make the price of burned clay cheap enough for use on the roads. Even with these conditions favorable, I think it is questionable whether the improvement in the quality of the roads will be sufficient, if the locality is high, rolling clay country, susceptible of good natural drainage, though it goes without saying that any material will improve low, marshy spots, such as are found in all clay roads.

I cannot add much to the information Mr. Olmstead gives regarding this material for roads, but, in my experience as a railway builder I have had occasion to use and test burned clay ballast on western railroads, where other material was not available. The clay used was of medium brick making quality. Inferior slack coal was obtainable with a railroad haul of less than thirty miles, at a cost of little more than the freight.

The method of burning the clay was as follows: A piece of ground about fifty feet wide and three hundred feet long, close to the clay pit, was leveled, and a track built along one side of it. The surface was covered to a depth of two inches with coal, over which was spread five to seven inches of clay in its natural condition, as plowed and wheeled from the pit. This layer was fired and another alternate layer of coal and clay placed on top of it immediately. The process was continued till the pile was about five feet high, and, as the coal burned out and the mass settled it was renewed until the pile of thoroughly burned clay was about the full height of five feet. The ballast, which broke up in very irregular lumps from one-half to four inches in diameter, was then loaded on cars. The company manufacturing the ballast sold it to the railroad company for one dollar per cubic yard, during the first year, and subsequently the price was reduced to seventy-five cents. When the coal was delivered free at the pit the price was fifty-four cents. At these prices only a fair margin of profit remained.

The experience of the railroads using burned clay ballast has been eminently satisfactory. Its irregular formation makes it pack well; it is very porus, both through the interstices and the material itself; and it is almost dustless. At the few road crossings where it was used across the right of way, and was subject to wagon travel, it showed a tendency to grind to a fine dust, and was pasty in wet weather.

From my experience I should judge that ordinary burned clay would be too friable for road use where there was any considerable amount of travel or heavy teaming, but it certainly is an ideal material for road foundation, if covered with a top dressing of fine broken stone or gravel.

CHICAGO, June 14.

GOOD ROADS, GOOD MILK.

WE have in our province 1,250 cheese or butter factories. Each receives on an average 4,000 pounds of milk a day, being 5,000,000 pounds per day and 750,000,000 pounds per season for the whole province. On account of the bad conditions of our roads not more than 800 pounds of milk are carried in each load brought to the factory, which is five loads per day, or 750 loads per season, on an average for each factory. Putting each load at 50 cents, which is not too high, on account of the whey being carried back to the farmer, this represents an expenditure of $375 for each factory. For the whole province, calculating that 750,000,000 pounds of milk have to be carried, it represents an amount of $468,750.

Let us suppose now that we have everywhere good roads instead of bad ones. Then we will certainly be able to draw loads of 1,200 pounds of milk instead of loads of 800 pounds. In that case instead of having to carry 750,000,000 pounds of milk in 937,500 loads of 800 pounds each, at a cost of $468,750, we would have to carry only 625,000 loads of 1,200 pounds, which at the same cost of 50 cents would represent only $312,500 of expenditure, making a saving in favor of good roads of $125 per factory and $156,250 for the whole province.— Carmel (N. Y.) Courier.

SPRINKLING STREET CAR TRACKS.

The Southern Street Railway Co., of St. Louis, has placed sprinkling pipes at the rear of its tank cars, and when watering the rails, sprinkles the street between and alongside its track, to the great comfort of its patrons, and the public generally. The small first cost of the piping is the only expense; the city supplying the water free of cost.

AN acre of loam will hold over three hundred tons of water.

A SIDE PATH FOR TRAMPS.

BY ONE OF THE TRAMPS.

NOW is the season for heaping mud and big grass hummocks in the road under the name of repairs, falsely so called — this old tramp would respectfully give his opinion, which the same is as follows:

First — That in road building some regard should be paid to the great army of tramps that are compelled to "huff it," as the old woman called it, because from necessity or choice, as the case may be, that is the way they travel. Now it is a well known fact, to the tramps at least, that the ordinary road builder has no thought or care for the convenience or comfort of that large class of our fellow sovereigns in the construction of our country roads.

He looks with complacency upon the narrow, rounded track, just wide enough for the wheeled vehicle, which must needs keep exactly in the centre in order to avoid being upset in the deep ditch on either side, leaving only a narrow ridge on either side of the carriage track, which in wet weather is mud, and in dry weather a bed of dust, through which the tramp must plod, or, what is still worse, keep the middle of the track through dust or mud, as the case may be.

True, he may wade through the grass and briers on either side of the carriage way, thereby soiling his patent-leather shoes or tearing his feet, either horn of the dilemma being highly unpleasant.

What would I do about it? This — I would have the road-bed built wide enough for a carriage way, and a footpath for the tramps.

All wheeled vehicles should take one side and keep to it, leaving a smooth beaten path on the other side for the tramps; the wheels only encroaching on the footpath in turning out while passing each other, under a penalty of ten dollars for every such encroachment, with the single exception above noted.— Ridgefield (Ct.) Press.

CONVICT ROAD LABOR.

The work of making convicts construct good roads throughout the great State of Texas is proceeding with commendable rapidity. The arrangement is that the state convicts shall prepare the material for roadmaking, while the county convicts shall do the work on the roadbeds themselves. If this plan is thoroughly carried out, it will be millions of money to Texas. Immigrants to the south and west will all want to live where there are good roads.— Ballston (N. Y.) Journal.

THEY ALL WANT IT.

The vote of the House of Representatives to increase the appropriation for State roads from $300,000 to $400,000 indicates the popularity of the new manner of constructing highways. The increase was carried by a large majority. This new method seems to have come to stay. By the way, when is the State road going through Athol? — Athol (Mass.) Transcript.

ROAD COMMISSIONERS.

The following is just as applicable to roads as it is to roofs.

"Josiar," said farmer Corntossel's wife, "the roof's aleakin' agin."

"Is it? Well, I'll investigate it ter-morrow."

"Josiar!"—and she spoke with something like asperity, which was not usual with her — "I don't read the newspapers fur nothin'. What thet roof wants ain't investigation. It wants 'tending to."—San Jose (Cal.) Report.

INVOKING POWERFUL HELP.

A new road machine passed through our village yesterday, bound for our sister town Ashland, and we pray God it may start in at the dugway and display its ability from there to Ashland village. If lightning ever struck a road or mankind forsook it, or pedestrian condemned it, or wheelman swore at it, or jackass brayed at it, it's the pass between the mountains from Red Falls to Ashland, once called a public highway. It is evident Burton G. Morse is dead, and were strangers to go through this pass they would certainly have the right to believe that all mankind in that neighborhood had been dead and buried for years. — Prattsville Advocate.

A DOUBLE BARRELED ROAD.

The commissioners of highways at Harvard, Ill., so the Herald says, are planning a new scheme in the way of road work. They propose to build two driveways upon each road. The first is to be graveled and used by those who have heavy loads and the latter may be used by persons driving vehicles of a light burden. This will be done only where the greatest amount of travel is done.

TACOMA ROADS.

A movement is on foot among the Tacoma bicyclists to organize an association, having for its purpose the procurement of legislation to create better roads. The object is a commendable one. The coming of bicycles seems likely to bring about a better condition of the country thoroughfare, just as the coming of railroads resulted in their neglect.— Tacoma (Wash.) News.

GOOD NEWS FOR MASSACHUSETTS.

Massachusetts is not going to be content with good roads, she has determined to beautify them by planting trees. Her highway commission will soon begin a practical study of the planting of road shade-trees. The estimated expense of the work has been placed at half a million dollars and it is money well invested.—Buffalo Commercial.

ROADS ARE IMPORTANT, BUT —

As between the good roads agitation and the new woman fad, no fear that man will be called upon to arbitrate about comparative importance. He is prejudiced. He has done too much footing of feminine bills over the regular road to his pocket. — Fon Du Lac (Wis.) Reporter.

SIGNS OF A REVOLUTION.

The times change and everything is changed with them. A citizen of St. Joseph, Michigan, has a pet rabbit that instead of being afraid of dogs, on the other hand, fearlessly attacks and puts to flight the smaller representatives of the canine family.

To the thinking mind this piece of information opens up a great field for speculation. It is a well known fact that, sooner or later, nature manages in some way to equalize all things. There is an harmonious leveling up of everything with which she has to do. For example snow comes down in the winter and ice goes up in the summer. The pendulum that swings furthest to one side, will, in turn, swing furthest to the other side.

All of this being true it is almost reasonable to presume that the time is near at hand when dogs, who have been lording it over the rabbit for a long, long while, are about to see the mantle of authority fall from their shoulders, figuratively speaking, and rest upon the hitherto persecuted rabbit. It seems odd that this should be so, but, after all, why shouldn't it? We have become so accustomed to seeing the hound chasing the hare that we are scarcely able to think of the tables being turned, with a pack of hares chasing the hound to his certain destruction. But this Michigan rabbit reminds us that such may be the spectacle we are soon to look upon.

And what the rabbit does, the deer, also, will do. It will be an interesting sight to see a magnificent stag chasing a body of horsemen across country. The birds of the air will take as their pattern the bravery of the beasts of the field, and, ere long, we may expect to see the wren devouring the field hawk and the dove giving chase to the eagle. The poor birds, whose nests have been sacked by wicked boys, will join forces with the bees and butterflies whose wings have been pulled off, and bent upon revenge, they will capture the ruthless urchins and, after mutilating them and destroying their homes, will leave them to be cast into a watery grave at the hands of cats who, by some miraculous means, escaped being drowned during kittenhood. With what glee will the butterflies give chase to each fleeing boy, until unable to longer elude them he must fall a victim to their cruel sport.

When this change in things is brought about the awful women who have been using the wings and heads and feathers of birds as decorations for their hats and bonnets may expect to have to answer for past misdeeds. It will then be the proper thing for every bird to go about with its plumage trimmed with the scalps of those who were so heartless as to set the awful example. Possibly the patient sheep that has so long been fleeced may soon assert itself, and stripping the last rag from the shepherd's back leave him shivering in the cold blast.

There are some pleasant thoughts born of this possible evening-up process. Wouldn't it be jolly just to see the noble horse, unfettered as the winds of heaven, driving a tender-footed coachman, with his head checked so high and tight he could see nothing but a speck of blue sky, at a break-neck speed over a rough and dangerous road. It may then be the happy lot of the meek and inoffensive bicycler to run into a dray and tear it all to pieces and knock the driver galley west. And it may not be too much to hope that the crying infant that has kept the household awake for lo, these many moons, will be compelled to sit up half the night and rock the rest of the family to sleep. If, when that glad time comes, the woman who nows wears a big hat in the theatre, is forever confronted and has her view shut in by an object that appears to be about the size of a stack of hay, who is there among us that will dare say it is not a just retribution?

All things are possible, and who can positively assert that the happy era will not yet arrive when woman — poor, frightened, ballot-seeking, hysterical woman — will pluck up sufficient courage to face and put to ignominious retreat a real mouse, about the size of a dried prune. Careful observers will keep an eye on this Michigan rabbit and see what comes of its strange example.

ON YER WHEEL.

BY TRILBY.

"Tain't no use talkin', it's heeps o' fun
Ter git up in the mornin' afore the sun,
And take a five- er a ten-mile run
On yer wheel.

Yer take a spin through the town still dead,
While the day 's just breakin' overhead,
And yer make less noise than the rabbit's tread,
On yer wheel.

Then 'cross the river so still and blue,
An' fly past the medders all wet with dew,
An' the cattle turnin' ter stare at you
On yer wheel.

Meet a farmer with a "pesky colt"
That tries it's best to turn and bolt
While the farmer cusses "that city dolt
On a wheel."

Then back to the city just beginnin' ter hum
With the whirr and rush of the world's great loom;
And yer feel the richest kind of a swell, "by gum!"
On yer wheel.

An' let us hope when we leave the din
Of this world o' crime an' woe an' sin
An' dogs an' hares an' glass an' tin,
That St. Peter will say: "Jest ride right in,
You've had yer trial on earth below."
An' straight up to the pearly throne we 'll go
On our wheels.

Nothing to Spare.

TEMPORARILY HAPPY.

A little room in a little hotel
In a little country town,
On a little bed with a musty smell,
A man was lying down.

A great big man with a great big snore,
For he lay on his back, you see,
And a peaceful look on his face he wore,
For sound asleep was he.

In his dreams what marvellous trips he made,
What tremendous bills he sold,
And nobody failed, and everyone paid,
And his orders were good as gold.

He smiled and smothered a scornful laugh
When his fellow-drummers blowed,
For he knew no other had sold the half
Of what his order-book showed.

He got this letter from his house one day:
"Dear Sir — We've no fitter term
To use in your case, than simply to say,
Henceforth you are one of the firm."

And a glorious change this made in his life —
He now from the road withdrew,
And really soon got to know his wife,
His son and his daughters, too.

And then he moved from his obscure flat
For a home on the avenue,
Lived swell, was happy, got healthy and fat,
Respected and wealthy, too.

But with a thump-bang-whang-thump bang again,
The landlord stood at the door,
"It's pretty near time for that 5:10 train!"
And the drummer's dream was o'er.

GOOD WHEELING IN ST. LOUIS.

BY JAS. R. BETTIS.

The wheelmen of St. Louis have certain privileges in the way of dry streets that are of great value to them. The city streets are sprinkled under public contract, covering the entire area. Through these the wheelmen have dry unsprinkled ways left for them until nine o'clock in the morning, and after four o'clock in the afternoon, which enables them to ride to and from business and out to the parks at night comfortably and safely. How these were secured and are maintained may be of interest to others.

To begin with, two years ago the wheelmen, as a body, helped to elect, without regard to politics, a level-headed business man, Hon. C. P. Walbridge, as mayor. He was pledged beforehand to do them justice, and being an honorable man, his word was as good after election as before. He appointed as sprinkling superintendent a capable and energetic man of the same disposition as himself, Mr. M. D. Strait. With the latter the L. A. W. city committee arranged at the beginning of the season a programme which included from thirty to forty miles of streets, to be left dry, as stated above. The BULLETIN published this programme a short time ago. The superintendent has, however, improved on the original plan. On the streets having car lines and those most traveled, where the dust is naturally most annoying, he sprinkles two-thirds of the street and leaves the other third dry. In arranging this, he has regard for the law of the road, giving the wheelmen the one side in the morning going, and the other side at night returning. The part of the street left dry in the morning is that last sprinkled at night, and vice versa. By this means, the annoyance of dust to property-owners is reduced to a minimum, while the wheelmen glide safely along. This has proved a rather heavy contract for the sprinkling superintendent to carry out, requiring untiring watchfulness and patience. But the plan is a success. The sprinkling all over the city is being done better than ever before, and cycling is booming in St. Louis in consequence.

The wheelmen's tower of strength lies in the fact that their demands have been made with the greatest possible regard for the pleasure and welfare of others. The mayor, at a public meeting some time ago, stated in a speech that the wheelmen had never asked of him anything that was unreasonable or unjust. When deputations of taxpayers go down to the city hall and seek to get away these privileges, they run against this rock the first thing: and there they stop.

The plan proposed by a recent writer in the BULLETIN, of sprinkling very heavily at night to last all next day, would certainly not work in St. Louis. The asphalt and granite streets would be dry by nine o'clock in the morning, the wood before twelve o'clock; while the dirt streets would hold out longer, they would be impassable in the morning on account of the mud. The St. Louis wheelmen have always been working for more sprinklings with less water each time; in this plan they find the cure for slopped streets.

WOMAN'S SUFFERAGE.

A St. Louis paper is responsible for this yarn: A man met the village doctor and said: "If you happen to be out our way at any time, I wish you'd stop and see my wife. She don't seem to be feeling very well." What ails her? What are some of her symptoms?" "I dunno. This morning, after she'd milked the cows, and fed the pigs, and got breakfast for the men, and washed the dishes, and built a fire under the boiler in the washhouse, and done a few little jobs around the house, she complained of feeling tired-like. I shouldn't wonder if her blood was poor, and I guess she needs a dose of medicine."

A weedless garden is always a hoe-made affair.

RACING BOARD.

To relieve racing men of unjust suspicions of their status caused by unauthorized announcements of the proceedings of the racing board it may be stated that the invariable intent of this board is to fully enforce the rules and discipline all riders who by violation of the rules render themselves liable to penalty.

The fact that no penalization of class B men appears in this BULLETIN is evidence that the board has so far no grounds for disciplining any of them.

In view of what may be a general misunderstanding among racing men, it is deemed advisable to call special attention to rule "A" of the general rules, that "any rider willfully competing at races not held under the rules of the board * * * shall be liable to suspension from the racing track," and the last paragraph of rule "B," that "a rider competing at a race meet or event not thus officially sanctioned shall be suspended at the option of the board." The verbiage plainly includes every rider who races. The riders in professional events at race meets already sanctioned by this board are amenable to the rules of the board.

Bulletin.

Suspended pending investigation: Benjamin Wells, Kent, Ia.; A. D. Kreamer, Des Moines, Ia. (supposed to be same party); A. W. Claver, Los Angeles, Cal.

Transfers to class B: George L. Hall, San Francisco, Cal., clause (b); W. E. McCrary, San Bernardino, Cal., clause (b); H. M. Lamon, Watertown, N. Y., clause (c), exchange of prizes; Eli Winesett, Olympia, Washington, clause (g); George W. Redfern, Wilmerding, Pa., clause (f); Edwin Oliver, Denver, Colo., clause (b).

Additional circuit referees are: H. E. Raymond, C. E. Huck, R. G. Steel, B. W. Cole

Two-mile, flying start, unpaced, (class B) record, made May 25, at Louisville, Ky., by F. G. Barnett, is 4 minutes 42 2-5 seconds, and has been accepted by the racing board.

For knowingly competing at unsanctioned races Richard Morris and Charles Hackett of Kansas City, Mo., are suspended for ninety days from May 30.

Riders suspended for thirty days from May 31, for competing in unsanctioned races: Julian Laube, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Frank A. Munger, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Lansing Cornwell, Freeport, N. GEO. D. GIDEON.

MISSOURI DIVISION ANNUAL MEET.

TO MEMBERS:

The tenth annual meet of this division will be held at Shelbina, Mo., July 3 and 4, and every member should make it his duty to be present. A special rate of one fare for the round trip has been applied for, effective on the night of July 2, and good returning till the morning of July 5. The meet is held under the auspices of the Shelbina Cycling club, who have already arranged a most attractive programme for our entertainment. The program embraces a run to Paris, run to Macon, distance seventeen and twenty-four miles respectively, and a grand century run over good prairie roads to Moberly and return via Macon. On the evening of the first day there will be a grand entertainment, interspersed with music and athletics at the Shelbian Opera house. On the morning of the Fourth there will be held the usual parade, photograph and the annual business meeting of the division at which nominations for officers to serve during the ensuing year will be made. It is therefore of the greatest importance that all the members be present.

The races will fill out the afternoon and the programme embraces eleven events, including the State championship. A magnificent prize list has been provided aggregating fully $900 in value. There is no inflation and every prize is guaranteed to be exactly as represented. Entries for the handicap events close June 27, and all others on July 1. Entry fee $1.00 for the first and fifty cents for each succeeding event. Entry blanks, programmes and full information can be had of H. C. Jewett, secretary, S. C. C., Shelbina, Mo.

On the evening of the Fourth there will be a gigantic smoker and athletic entertainment, followed by the distribution of prizes, and the whole affair will wind up with a grand exhibition of fireworks.

Admission to the entertainments will be free only on presentation of '95 membership card or a certificate from Secretary Butler stating that you have applied for membership. All L. A. W. members participating in the parade will receive a free ticket of admission to the races.

The Waverly house will be the official hotel as well as others and they will make a special rate of $2.00 per day to L. A. W. members only on presentation of card.

Secretary Butler will open up League headquarters at both the Waverly house and at the rooms of the Shelbina club, where application will be received and certificates issued.

All trains will be met by the reception committee, who will escort the visitors to the hotels.

An elegant silver water service is offered to the best represented L. A. W. club in the parade. Competing clubs must have not less than twelve men in line.

A fine opera glass is offered as a prize for the best exhibition of trick riding.

Entry blanks containing the full list of prizes mailed on application to H. C. Jewett, secretary.

Make your arrangements now to take in this grand affair and thus help to make the tenth annual meet the greatest on record.

Secretary Butler advises me that to date the following renewals have been received: From St. Louis, 238; Kansas City, 50; the State at large, 186, making a total of 474 out of a possible 685, or sixty-nine per cent. This means a loss of about 200 members to us and is entirely too heavy, especially in view of the fact that we are getting out a new road book this year costing $600. Members who have renewed are again earnestly requested to stand by the officers who have guaranteed the cost of the work with the hopes of getting in every renewal, by looking up the delinquents and collecting their dollar. Lists of delinquents will be furnished to all who will assist in this work.

You are advised that the renewal season has been extended till July 1, and if you co-operate with us we will have one thousand members by that time.

We desire to thank the local consuls and others who have so nobly assisted us in getting in new members. Over two hundred and sixty have been admitted since April 1, and if this good recruiting work continues we are bound to be near the top. Over half of the entire membership is now resident in St. Louis and we would like to see Kansas City membership begin to boom. Ah there, Moriarity!

Chairman Gilbert of the road book committee promises the work to be ready by about June 20. Ten cents will be required to pay for postage and packing. Send it in at once. First come, first served.

Census of wheelmen.— All local consuls are requested to send in at once the names of all non-league men in their respective cities who are eighteen years of age or over, so recruiting matter and sample pages of the new road book can be sent them.

Kansas City local consuls.— To date I have not received a single application from Kansas City for appointment as local consul. We must have one in every ward and agency. Please send in your name at once. Big inducements offered to hustlers.

Recruiting pamphlets, application blanks and all needed information furnished on application. Thousands of wheelmen are riding everywhere who must be asked to join. Interview them and get your commission.

Fraternally yours,

ROBERT HOLM, Chief Consul.

ST. LOUIS, June 1, 1895.

INDIANA.

A meeting of the board of officers of the Indiana division L. A. W. was held at Indianapolis June 3, 1895.

The members answering to roll call were as follow Thos. Hay, chief consul; F. H. Fox, vice-consul; L. J. Keck, representative, and E. V. Minor, secretary-treasurer.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary-treasurer and accepted by the board.

Mr. L. J. Keck made a motion to the effect that the Indianapolis bicycle club be given the L. A. W. State championships to be run in connection with their meet on July 4, providing the club would admit all members of the Indiana division to the grounds and grand stand free. The representatives of the club consenting to this the motion was seconded and carried by a unanimous vote of the board.

A motion to have the division set aside a sum of money not to exceed $140.00 for the purchase of medals for the State championship races, the medals to be selected by the chief consul and secretary-treasurer, was seconded and carried.

E. V. MINOR, Sec.-Treas.

OHIO DIVISION.

The annual State meet of the Ohio division will be held at Canton on July 3, 4 and 5, 1895, by order of the chief consul.

ARTHUR B. HOWSON, Sec.-Treas.

June 8, 1895.

WEST VIRGINIA.

I have appointed the following local consuls: Mr. J. F. Reanck, Martinsburg, W. Va.; Mr. T. A. Quisenberry, Elk Garden, W. Va. Yours respectfully,

CHAS. H. GEIGER, Chief Consul.

TIME FOR RENEWALS EXTENDED.

Owing to the fact that each last year's ticket bore a contract which gave its holder until July 1st in which to renew his membership the executive committee has decided that the new rule which limits the time for renewal to June 1st should not take effect until next year.

The extension of time until July 1st has been officially ordered.

ANNUAL MEETING BOARD OF OFFICERS MASS. DIVISION, L. A. W.,

Held in Boston, December 12, 1894.

The annual meeting of the Board of Officers, Massachusetts Division L. A. W., was held at Young's hotel, Boston, Wednesday evening, December 12, 1894. Ex-chief consul George A. Perkins called the meeting to order and after giving a brief review of the work accomplished by the division under his administration, introduced the newly elected chief consul, Mr. Sterling Elliott, who took the chair and presided throughout the meeting.

The following representatives were present: D. Edward Miller, J. Fred Adams, Chas. L. Barker, J. S. Dean, W. C. Dillingham, W. S. Doane, F. I. Gorton, J. C. Kerrison, A. O. Knight, F. S. McCauseland, A. D. Peck, C. G. Percival, A. K. Peck, G. A. Perkins, L. W. Piper, A. W. Robinson, J. B. Seward, F. E. Shute, G. L. Sullivan, A. W. Swan, F. H. Williams, S. T. Williams, W. B. Chipman, D. J. Chisholm, W. J. Emerson, W. L. Toppan, N. W. Starbird, J. E. Town, L. P. Jackson, A. M. Child, James Keltie, Henry Crowther, R. S. Swan, E. M. Thayer, H. E. Morine, H. W. Robinson, D. J. Dwyer, W. H. Senter, Fred McArdle, J. W. Porter, Frank O. Dean, L. A. Bowers, J. S. Gray, A. G. Frothingham, J. L. Beal.

Mr. Elliott outlined at considerable length the policy which he hoped to be able to pursue during the year to come.

It was voted to dispense with the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting.

The following reports from the chairmen of the several standing committees were read and accepted.

REPORT OF SECRETARY-TREASURER.

TO THE CHIEF CONSUL AND BOARD OF OFFICERS, MASS. DIV. L. A. W.:

Gentlemen,—A year ago the secretary-treasurer had the pleasure of presenting a much more pleasing financial statement than it is possible to give to-day. But considering the business depression which has prevailed throughout the country, and which an organization such as ours must necessarily have shared in, the retiring board of officers have every reason for feeling satisfied with their work. Compared with what has happened in other State divisions Massachusetts fairly revels in the sunshine of prosperity. We lost during the year less than fifteen per cent. of our members, while the average loss in other States was from thirty to fifty per cent. Proportionately Massachusetts has gained in L. A. W. representation. A year ago we had about one-sixth of the total membership of the League, to-day we have nearly one-fourth of the entire membership.

Massachusetts has to-day five thousand two hundred and fourteen members, the State next nearest to us is Pennsylvania with about three thousand two hundred members or two thousand behind us. New York comes third with about three thousand, then Illinois with one thousand five hundred and seventy-five, New Jersey one thousand three hundred and forty-three, and Connecticut one thousand one hundred and thirty-seven.

Of our five thousand two hundred and fourteen members, two thousand nine hundred and thirty were new members, and one thousand two hundred and eighty-four renewals. The percentage of renewals was considerably larger last year than previously, a fact undoubtedly due to the publication and free distribution to members of a new road book. I shouldn't like to imagine what would have happened to our membership roles if it had not been for that new road book.

I have here a table showing the number of members this year and last in all the cities and towns of the State which have a membership of fifty or more.

It will be seen by this table that there has been a loss in every city except Boston, which has gained forty members. Springfield which last year renewed nearly ninety per cent. of its members and gained materially in new members shows this year a loss of nearly one hundred and gained but thirty-five new members. Worcester lost eighty-eight members, Lynn and New Bedford about fifty each. The falling off of members in the smaller cities has been notably great.

The explanation of this seems, to me, to be in the fact that Massachusetts is wofully lacking in a competent consular service. In the very large cities local consuls cannot do relatively nearly as much as can those in smaller places where the members can be personally approached. For several years past I have strongly recommended that some decided action be taken towards obtaining efficient consuls. We should have one in every village of the State. Under the present system it is very difficult, if not impossible, to obtain good men for consuls. In order to obtain their services some recognition for work done must be given them.

The finances are, under the circumstances, in a very satisfactory condition. The expenses of the year have been inordinately large, due chiefly to the necessity of sending delegations to two national assemblies and to the publication of a new road book.

The total receipts during the year were, about $5,600, and the total expenditures $6,500, leaving a cash balance on hand of $785.

Were it not for these uncommon expenses the treasury balance would to-day be more favorable than it has ever been in the past. As it is we have on hand a balance which should be sufficient to meet all necessary expenses of the division between now and next April, when we will begin to receive money from membership applications. The running expenses of the division, estimated on the cost during the same time a year ago, should not exceed $300, including salaries of officers, postage, stationery, etc. The expenses of sending the division's delegates to New York, presuming that the same will be paid as heretofore, will probably be less than $20 per delegate or a total of $360. This makes just about our balance now in the treasury.

For a detailed report of receipts and expenditures I refer you to the report of the finance committee.

CHAS. S. HOWARD, Sec.-Treas.

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMITTEE.

TO THE CHIEF CONSUL AND BOARD OF OFFICERS OF THE MASS. DIVISION, LEAGUE OF AMERICAN WHEELMEN:

Gentlemen,—In accordance with the usual custom I have carefully audited the accounts, examined the vouchers and verified as far as possible, all entries on the books of the Treasurer from December 5, '93, to December 7, '94, inclusive, and, as usual, found them correct in every particular.

Our receipts are about $1,700 less than last year, the shrinkage being on account of the falling off of new members, as this year's applications to October 1st was only 1,448 against 2,706 in 1893. We did much better in the renewals, 3,999 being this year's figures against 3,671 last year. Of course smaller receipts mean in a measure less expenditure, but we were fortunate in having a good balance to commence the year with, so that our running expenses are about as usual, although we spent about $700 less for the entertainment of our membership than in 1893. The expense of sending our delegates to the National Assembly has been a very serious item with us for the past three years, the trip to Louisville costing the division over a thousand dollars. The money spent in road books and maps all consider as a good investment.

The receipts and expenses of the several meets, spring meet excepted, are entered in full in the general balance sheet, and the detailed expenses you will find as usual on separate sheets, which will give you the net cost of each.

Since October 1st thirty-six new names are to our credit on Secretary Bassett's books, and he therefore owes the Mass. division about $50 on their account at this time.

Your careful attention is asked for the several statements as follows:—

Dr. Chas. S. Howard, treas., in account with the Massachusetts Division L. A. W.

From December 5, '93, to December 7, '94, inclusive.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to Monday preceding this date, and published in accordance with Article III of the constitution.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published and to report errors and omissions to the secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at noon on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

THAT FELLOW FEELING.

On occult sciences she dwelt — this learned Boston miss;
She knew the nowness of the Then, the Thatness of the This.
"And do you not at times," she asked, "in fervor long to clasp
The near though unattainable — the Just beyond your grasp?"

The sweet Chicago girl to whom her question was addressed,
Looked in her far-off, soulful eyes and candidly confessed,—
"You bet I do, just lots of times!" (Oh, Concord, calm thy shades)!
"It's when I have an itching right between my shoulder blades."

HEADGEAR FOR HOT WEATHER.

WILLIAM D. KEMPTON, M.D.

When we consider the helmets worn by English soldiers in hot climates, by African explorers, and by our own soldiers in hot weather, and contrast them with the little caps worn by wheelmen on broiling hot days, we must conclude that either the soldiers or the wheelmen are wrong.

If a horizontal line is drawn back from the top of the ear, it will indicate, approximately, the dividing line between the upper and lower brain. The lower brain or cerebellum, as it is more properly called, presides over muscular action and bears much the same relation to the muscles as does the generating station of an electric railroad to the trolley cars. The nerves running from the brain to the muscles carry power to them just as the trolley wires carry power to the cars. If the generating station breaks down the cars will not run, and if the cerebellum is overheated, its generating power is diminished, the muscles contract irregularly and less vigorously and the body is soon fatigued.

The thick, long hair of the American Indian hangs down his back and protects these parts from the direct rays of the sun, but the American wheelman has the hair in this region clipped as close as possible, and instead of providing some protection in its stead, puts on his little cap, starts out on a red-hot day and wonders why his steering grows so erratic and he feels so played out.

A helmet with a long peak in the back gives these parts the proper protection and, by permitting a current of air to pass up over the head, prevents it from being overheated.

Those who have never worn helmets will be surprised to find how much more heat they can stand and how much farther they can ride with helmets than they can with caps.

A COMPREHENSIVE BUSINESS.

The Hardware Dealer gives the following as the wording of a sign which is displayed on the store of a country merchant.

Hardware and Kitchen Goods, Roofs repaired — flour and feed for sale — engines built — bicycles and machines of all kinds repaired — real estate bought and sold.

A large sign suspended over the alley way read: "Painting, Glazing and Paper Hanging." In one corner of the window a very modest sign announcing "Boarding by the day or week" was quite overshadowed by the following lapse into poetry:

Wringers repaired, good as new,
Lawn mowers sharpened, well and true,
Skates in season, scissors, too,
Well and cheap by
L. VENUE.

Judged by its peel, the banana is a fall fruit.

QUERIES AND ANSWERS

P. E. A., Louisville, Ky., writes:

In your issue of May 31, a dialogue between a rider and an agent, is headed "Another Absurdity." While most people might be willing to believe it to be an absurdity, it is not so easy to see why. Will you kindly explain it?

Ans. Because the chain is endless, and whatever part of it is "running up hill" is exactly balanced by an equal weight of chain which is running down hill, and this would be the case in whatever position the sprocket wheels were placed.

A SPACE FILLER.

It very often happens that
In making ready for the press,
There is a corner to be filled—
An inch or two, say more or less.
In such a case, with copy short,
It's handy just to have about
Some fellow who can write a verse
Like this, to fill the column out.

TWO LIARS.

At a recent gathering of notable men the after-dinner chat turned upon personal experiences, and a distinguished jurist related this:

After graduation, he migrated to a western town. Months of idleness, with no prospect of improvement, induced him to seek a new home. Without money to pay his fare, he boarded a train for Nashville, intending to seek employment as reporter on one of the daily newspapers. When the conductor called for his ticket he said:

"I am on the staff of the ——, of Nashville; I suppose you will pass me?"

The conductor looked at him sharply.

"The editor of that paper is in the smoker. Come with me; if he identifies you, all right."

He followed the conductor into the smoker; the situation was explained. Mr. Editor said:

"Oh, yes; I recognize him as one of the staff. It is all right."

Before leaving the train the lawyer again sought the editor:

"Why did you say you recognized me? I'm not on your paper."

"I'm not the editor, either. I'm travelling on his pass, and was scared to death lest you should give me away." — Fashions.

TRADE NOTES

The Sterling Cycle Works, of Chicago, have just closed a contract for State agency on the Sterling bicycle with the firm of T. C. Powers & Co., of Helena, Mont. Mr. T. C. Powers. the senior member of this firm, is ex-senator from Montana, and is interested in a large number of business enterprises throughout his State, having branch stores in twelve different localities. They are a very pushing firm, and in their several departments or stores handle nearly everything produced in the country which is used by the people of that State. The bicycling department which they are just inaugurating will be under the management of Mr. C. W. Sparr, who has been the private secretary of Mr. Powers for some time.

The two handsome half-tones on page 14 were made from instantaneous photographs taken on Stanley plates No. 50. For time exposures, they make an excellent plate and mark it No. 35. If your dealer doesn't handle the Stanley plates, send directly to the factory for them. See their advertisement on page 16.

The Awful Clove Habit.

The demon with the cloven hoof
Is sure to get, at death,
The man who all the while on earth
Possessed a cloven breath.

Just Happens That Way.

Even the scrupulously conscientious young woman who would not for the whole world deceive her lover concerning her physical charms, is likely to get her shoes a size or two larger after she marries.

To the person just learning to ride, the two-wheeled steed seems to be a try-sigh-cle.

Why He Succeeds.

The undertaker ought to play
His part so as to make a hit,
For all his life, day after day,
He goes about re-hearse-ing it.

Many and far-reaching will be the effects of the wheel upon our habits and institutions. The day is not remote when everybody who is not physically incapacitated will ride a bicycle. It will become the common mode of transit in our cities and towns. As soon as woman frees herself from the slavery of the skirt she will have taken a mighty leap toward equality with man. The bicycle will do more than any other agency to place her in her proper sphere of strength and independence. And the women won't give up the bicycle now that they have found out that it gives them not only a new delight, but also a sense of freedom and self-sufficiency that is as delicious as it is novel. They will be faithful to their new friend, the wheel, and before many seasons pass their natural good sense and the necessities of the case will dictate that rational costume is the thing and that the skirt is not only out of style but really improper on the whole.

"The little girls will ride, and in a score of years we will have a new race of women, strong of body, clear of mind and light of heart, and they will become mothers of a sturdier race of Americans than ever trod the soil of this promised land. People will go to business and to pleasure on the bicycle. They will use it for social calls and will ride to church upon it. Sabbath breaking will not consist then, nor does it consist now, in riding a wheel on Sunday, but in neglecting the proper rest of mind and body and the proper worship of God on that day of privilege which was made for man's good. In fostering interest in the wheel and promoting its use among all our friends and acquaintances we will be conferring a distinct benefit on humanity."

Editor L. A. W. Bulletin:

Dear Sir,— Permit me to offer the following addenda to your editorial on Sunday riding:

Riding a bicycle is certainly not wrong, per se. Then the question of riding must resolve itself to one of time and place. If you owe a Sabbath duty to God or man, O wheelman, perform it thoroughly. Give the church and benevolence the hours that belong to them, and then, with a clear conscience, ride away awheel to commune with nature, and recuperate your mind and body among the woods and fields.

THROUGH THE ADIRONDACKS.

Ed. L. A. W. Bulletin: —

In response to letters asking for information about a tour in the Adirondack mountains, I take the liberty of sending you a route which would lead one through the best part of the country. Various modifications and side trips might be made, and probably some would suggest themselves to the tourist en route.

Taking Port Kent on Lake Champlain (Delaware & Hudson R. R.) as a starting point, to Lake View House (3 miles) and visit the wonderful Au Sable Chasm. To Keeseville (2), Au Sable Forks (12) and Black Brook (4). Avoiding the poor plank road, turn northwest to Silver Lake(12), Union Falls (3), across to the main road, (not entering Franklin Falls), to Bloomingdale (18); thence to Paul Smith's (9) and Saranac Lake village (14) by the west road. The lower Saranac is 2 miles distant, and the roads out and back are excellent. To Lake Placid (10) and across the high table land of North Elba in sight of the grand chain of mountains, to Cascade Lakes (9); down into Keene Centre (6), along the East Au Sable River to Keene valley (5) and St. Hubert's Inn (3). Visit the Au Sable Lakes (3½) a lovely woodland ride over a magnificent road, with a fine coast on the return. From St. Hubert's eastward, past Chapel Pond to Euba Dam (7), and over the "State road" to Root's (13), at Schroon River P. O.; thence via Schroon Lake (9), Pottersville (9), Chestertown (8), Warrensburg (12), to Caldwell (6), at the head of Lake George, and then by Glens Falls to Saratoga; or, from Root's by Hammondville (10), Paradox P. O. (2), Ticonderoga (13) to Baldwin (2), and take steamer through the beautiful Lake George to Caldwell.

Of the above proposed route three-fifths is excellent riding, one-fifth poor to fair, and the balance apt to be tough; but it depends largely on the weather, because in rainy times the mountain roads are soft and disagreeable. Fair hotels will be found in all the smaller places, and at the more important points excellent accommodation may be had.

If any rider desires other information about the mountains I shall be glad to supply it, if possible.

I am, Yours very truly, A. W. B.

Please say to No. 68,791, that the best way to start a crank pin is to use a C-shaped iron loop large enough to slip over the crank shaft, with a hole in it on one side large enough to accommodate the head of the pin, and a threaded hole in the opposite side with cupped set screw; with this contrivance the most obstinate pin may be removed without damaging the thread in the least.

The Unique Guaranty—

Three of a Kind.

C. HOWARD WILLIAMS, ESQ., BUFFALO, N. Y., says: "New Cyclometer received, in exchange for one badly damaged in collision. I beg to thank you for your extremely courteous treatment. Yours is a guarantee worth having."

ALBERT C. DAVIS, ESQ., ST. LOUIS, MISSOURI, writes: "I beg to thank you for exchange, and wish to express my approval of the principle you are displaying. It should meet with the commendation of all right-thinking people."

MR. ARTHUR H. WILSON, PORTSMOUTH, NEW HAMPSHIRE: "New cover for Cyclometer received—thank you. I am much pleased with your guaranty. There is a great difference in guaranties, and yours is the most liberal I ever heard of."

the most liberal ever placed on any article of merchandise—"We will repair, without charge, any 'Standard' Cyclometer that is injured in a mishap to the bicycle." Can you buy anything else that carries an accident insurance policy with it?

"Guaranty"—how wretchedly the word has been abused heretofore! We are giving new life to the word, establishing a final definition of it. Or will the word be finally dropped from the dictionaries, and "Standard" be used instead, as representing the same idea?

THE CURSE OF POLITICS.

A BATTLE can be viewed best from a distance. A fellow who is right in the midst of it may be able to see one side of the struggle, but his views are not comprehensive.

During an "off" year like this is the best time to size up a presidential campaign. If those daring revolutionists who threw off the British yoke and started this nation like a young and impetuous colt cavorting down the highway of Time could have foreseen or foreheard what a campaign of these latter days was to be like, no doubt they would have made the dates for holding presidential elections as distant from each other as are millionaires and their poor relatives.

In the minds of many, politics is a mighty serious thing. They allow it to distress or enthuse them to an unwarranted degree. Many good people who express great faith in the wisdom of the Ruler of nations have been known to "view with alarm" the party He has permitted to get control of their country.

Almost everybody agrees that this glorious land of ours has too much politics—of the kind, and the party that lands the head of its ticket in the White House is confident the president's term of office should be made much longer. The fellows on the outside feel differently about it. It is quite too long for those who are waiting out in the cold, hungry world.

The newspapers are already devoting much space to the grand pyrotechnic razzle-dazzle that is to take place next year. The sweat and worry process has almost begun. The differences between party policies, one of which would make a paradise and the other a purgatory of this land, are being clearly pointed out.

Presidential campaigns have a bad effect upon the general business of the nation. The badge and banner maker enjoys a boom and the bass drum man prospers, but there are others of more importance who do not. Too many people take it seriously and are nervous.

It is a positive relief to have the campaign come to an end and the restraints it has opposed upon friends and neighbors removed. Men, because of coarse, unfeeling natures, seem better fitted for the jibes and jousts of politics than do women on whose tender sensibilities the harshness of a campaign grates sadly.

Mrs. Amanda Smith's husband is a democrat, always was and always will be. Mrs. Dorcas Brown's husband is a republican, always was and always will be. During off years of politics these estimable ladies are the best of friends, and, being next door neighbors, show their kindly regard for each other by a thousand and one little social amenities that make their lives a positive joy. Mrs. Brown hardly ever fries doughnuts but what she takes a plateful of them to Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Smith never makes mince pies or quince preserves without remembering Mrs. Brown. The two families are seemingly inseparably united, and indeed nothing of a business, social, or religious nature could ever divide them, but alas! the presidential campaign comes on. First a coolness springs up between Mr. Brown and Mr. Smith over some political argument they have down town. Afterward it never seems convenient for them to go and come on the same car, as they used to do. But the wives—well they sensibly conclude that it would be foolish for them to enlarge upon the political differences of their husbands.

Says Mrs. Smith: "I'm glad we women have little to do with politics, and that we could never dream of letting anything of the kind sever the close ties of friendship that bind us to each other."

"So am I" says Mrs. Brown. "Let the men fight the political battles. All the politics in the world cannot disturb me. It all seems very foolish and unnecessary anyway."

"Yes, that's what my husband says," responds Mrs. Smith, "but he insists that if it wasn't for his party the country would go to the bow-wows — he puts it stronger than that — in short order."

"Well, my husband feels just that way about it, too," says Mrs. Brown. "He declares if it wasn't for the presence of his party, the opposition, composed of thieves, perjurers and plunderers would ruin this government in ninety days."

"Did he say that of my husband's party?"

"He did," replies Mrs. Brown, "and he's not a man given to making misstatements."

"It's just what one might expect from a member of his mean, thieving old gang!"

"O, you horrid creature! My husband is a perfect gentleman, and would no more associate with the political crowd your husband does than an angel would with the imps of satan!"

"Dorcas Brown, you say what isn't true!"

"You are deliberately telling a falsehood, Amanda Smith!"

"——!! ——! ——! ——!! ——"

From this time on the parents, the children, the dogs and the cats of the respective families are on the warpath, ready to annihilate one another, and even the pet parrots call each other names until — until the election is over, and white-winged Peace comes limping back with a bandage over her left eye. Then they all wish they hadn't been so intense and impulsive. They made matters more serious than they need to have done. No matter how the election terminates the world goes on with no perceptible wobble and the government at Washington still lives.

Since we cannot get along without politics, a devotion of thought to the study of how best to get along with it is eminently proper. Let us not go into the next campaign with the distressing thought in our minds that about one-half of the voters of the nation are bent upon sending this government to the everlasting dogs. As a matter of course, the demagogues will howl and the radical partisan press will whoop 'er up. That's their business. It is bread and butter to them. But the good, common people should take things coolly.

The voter who stays quietly at home with his family is a safer citizen than the one who is out every night wearing out his shoes in a political parade. Let's be calm regarding politics.

DON'T STING.

NIXON WATERMAN.

Don't you be a stinger. In whatever you may say,
Try to have it worded in a gentle sort of way.
The tongue was never meant to be a bludgeon or a knife
With which to injure mortals and to scar them up for life.

Everybody makes mistakes. They've done it from the start,
But, sakes alive! that doesn't prove that they've a wicked heart.
Be sort of easy with them and they'll make the error right.
It's better than to fuss and howl and challenge them to fight.

A sprig of apple blossoms answers better than a lath
To punish erring mortals with. Let's try to make the path
Of every one about us glad and easy while we may,
And never put a stinger in the things we have to say.

HOW TO REACH THE PEOPLE.

IT is generally supposed that roads must be built by farmers or through the co-operation of farmers. While this is true in some localities, the average amount of tax paid by those engaged in agriculture is small compared with the total tax levy.

The old system of "working out" the tax, put the main work of road building in some places on the farm owner. We regret to say that this relic of barbarism is fast fading away, and that the construction of highways is coming to be considered a profession.

Yet it is of the greatest importance that the farmer be reached and interested in the good roads work. The League of American Wheelmen has spent much energy and money in the direction of road education, and what is the logical consequence, road reform.

This interest on the part of the League will no doubt continue, and as it gets into better shape, which it is doing rapidly, the question must be raised, just how can we accomplish the best results, and how shall we expend the money at our disposal so as to do the widest possible amount of good.

We believe that while the L. A. W. member may be, and we hope is, interested in this paper and can be reached and influenced to some extent by it, this is not the only medium through which we must work. If the circulation of THE L. A. W. BULLETIN should be raised, as it no doubt will be in a few years, to half a million copies, we would still be reaching but a small number of people and presumably those which we do reach are already converted to the general idea of road improvement.

What shall we do?

Establish a road news bureau and through it receive and distribute road matter to all sorts of publications.

Nearly all general periodicals use road matter now, but it is done as this paper uses political matter and not with any system or regularity.

For a few thousand dollars per year, which the League will soon be in a position to spend, we can establish a system of collecting, editing and distributing road matter which would place the subject in an attractive manner before ten million of the very people who need that sort of instruction.

A CASE OF LUNA-CY.

NIXON WATERMAN.

Oh, moon that looks in at my window to-night,
Hast thou added her smile to thy mellowing light?
Hast thou stolen the languorous beauty that lies
Half-drowned in the fathomless depths of her eyes?

Hast thou hung at her lattice, and peeping between
The loosely-drawn curtains within, hast thou seen
The grace of a form of such exquisite mould
Its charm were too great for the eye to behold?

Did she whisper a name? Did a sigh of unrest,
As a breeze stirs the forest, well up through her breast?
And lips that were formed for the spelling of bliss,
The ring that I gave did they glad with a kiss?

Did she look in thy face? Did she give thee a glance
From eyes whose soft beauty will ever entrance?
If so, I would raise this petition to thee,
Oh, moon, let that glance be reflected on me!

ANOTHER NEW YORK TRIUMPH.

Much to our surprise we find that New York also leads in eating beans, the record being held by a Tonawanda man. We of Massachusetts have almost begun to fear that we are not up in the matter of recruiting League members, but until recently we had thought we could eat beans.

Mr. Waterman, although a Massachusetts man of but two weeks' standing, feels keenly this defeat of ours in the bean eating contest, and calls in patriotic despair to our countrymen to save us:

Proud sons of Massachusetts! Oh, where—where are you at?
It is our bounden duty to herewith remind you that Amid the world's most famous gastronomical events
The man who ate more beans than any one before or since
Was not a Boston citizen—how trying!—but instead
A New York man—Oh, woe is we!—he ate six pounds 'tis said,
And all in forty minutes. Think of that! But let us trust
That someone here at home will now eat seven pounds or bust.

POINTS FOR TOURISTS.

GEO. L. BAHL.

CENTURY runs are much in vogue and while people are prone to think them of little account, saying it is "only ten miles an hour for ten hours" yet the last few hours often seem one hundred and twenty minutes in length. The Century wheelmen of Philadelphia have always made a good record of century runs, finishing one hundred and six out of one hundred and eight starters, one year, and last year finishing eighty-six out of eighty-eight men on a day when the thermometer disported itself around ninety-eight and one hundred degrees during the greater part of the day. A great secret of their success has been the organization practiced. The club rode in a body and at the end of the line. They had a complete repair corps and hospital stall and were prepared to take care of every thing from putting in a new valve to sewing up a wound. The work was carefully mapped out, each man carried what was necessary and nothing more. So no two men carried the same thing and left something else important at home.

There are always a great number of new riders on these rides and these need looking after the most. The old stagers have been through it before and know how to take care of themselves.

The first drawback to a century run is the inability to get any sleep the night before. As all the men are quartered in some hotel or hotels they proceed to make things lively and as a result sleep is an unknown quantity. Our plan has been when we went to another city to start to secure a sleeping car and not leave Philadelphia until evening. Then the car would be side tracked at its destination and with the exception of the noise of the trains things would be comparatively quiet.

A good breakfast and then the start. The first part of the day is all right, but after the sun gets up and commences to get in his fine work the trouble commences.

At every stop there is always a grand rush for a pump and everyone fills up on water, or if not water, on soft drinks, etc. As a result they commence to feel uncomfortable and after several hours of this abuse the stomach often objects so seriously that a man gives out. Drink as little as possible. It is far better to rinse out the mouth and take a few small mouthfuls of water. Avoid much soft drinks. A little weak lemonade (not very sweet) or cold tea with some lemon juice in it is far better. Avoid malt and spirituous liquors. Their effects are only temporary and the re-action leaves you worse than before.

If possible get a good dinner during the day. Of course on a large run it is a question of the survival of the fittest and the weaker ones are often left to shift for themselves, but a good meal is a great strengthener. I have seen many good riders go under from a lack of this. I recollect

COME!

THE PROGRAM.

Monday, the 8th of July, will be given up to the reception of visitors, and the travelers will find at each of the railroad stations, and at the clubhouse of the Asbury Park Wheelmen, a branch of the information bureau, where they will be supplied with any information they may desire. Of course those who have arrived previous to Monday will be taken on runs to various places. On Tuesday there will be runs to Long Branch and Spring Lake over superb roads; the parade; and in the evening a clambake on an immense scale. On Wednesday morning, there will be a run to Manasquan, the home of Arthur Zimmerman, which will be led by that gentleman himself. In the evening there will be a carnival on Wesley Lake, with illuminations and fireworks. The races will be run on Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons. The trial heats, which will be run in the morning, being entirely free, both as to admission to the grounds and to the grand stand. On Thursday morning there will be local runs, and also on Friday. On Friday evening there will be a run to Long Branch, where the Ocean Hotel will provide entertainment for the L. A. W. On Saturday morning the Ladies' Auxiliary committee will have a special run for the ladies, with some form of special entertainment. League members are to be given free tickets to the bathing pool, and to many of the various entertainments with which Asbury Park is liberally provided. This is simply an outline of the entertainments proposed, and it is being elaborated more and more every day. The entertainment committee propose to have something going on all the time, which will interest every one who attends the Meet, no matter what his or her tastes may be.

The National Meet at Asbury Park will be opened, practically, by the arrival of what promises to be the largest Century Run ever made. This run is engineered by the Associated Cycling Clubs, and will be in two divisions; one starts from Newark, N. J., and the other, which will be under the guidance of a member of the Associated Cycling Clubs, from Philadelphia. The two bodies will unite at New Brunswick and make the remainder of the trip together. Those in a position to know, estimate that the starters will number from two to three thousand.

Wheelmen from anywhere within reach are invited to join either the Newark or the Philadelphia contingent. Handsome prizes will go to the clubs having the largest number of survivors. These prizes consist of banners, and also of two very handsome silver cups, donated by the Asbury Park wheelmen, and in addition to this a very elaborate and complete list of races in which nearly all the leading riders will compete.

For entry blanks apply to W. H. Beegle, Ocean Grove, N. J.

An unauthorized souvenir programme is in contemplation, J. E. McLain of 21 Beekman street, New York, having solicited advertising therefore. The Asbury Park Wheelmen have nothing to do with this proposed publication and will not benefit by it in any way, and will undoubtedly suffer by it, as some who might advertise with them will be confused by the apparent intention to issue two souvenir programmes. The only one which is authorized and from which the Asbury Park Wheelmen will receive a benefit, is being gotten up by the press committee, and only the chairman of that committee and Mr. George W. Cole of 111 Broadway, New York, have so far been authorized to solicit advertising. This programme, which will be a credit to the club and to the League, is positively the only one that will be circulated on the grounds during the races.

on one ride I came across a man lying in the road not able to move. I asked him what he had for dinner and he said he had only had a banana and a glass of water. I went back to a farm house and begged something for him to eat and drink. Five minutes afterward he rode away and finished the run in good shape.

Don't forget a sponge, and apply it frequently to your face, neck, wrists and hands. It is very refreshing. Carry a little something to eat with you late in the day. Your strength needs husbanding then and you can get some fruit or other edibles at stores along the road.

A little medicine is an excellent thing. For sprains, cuts, etc., phenol sodique is first-class. Also take in a small bottle some aromatic spirits of ammonia. A few drops of this in water is an excellent remedy for the effects of the heat.

There are more cases of sick stomach, nausea, cramps and diarrhœa on these runs than any other complaints. A well known physician of this city who has always taken a great interest in the sport, and who I hope will become a rider next year, recommended the following prescription. It was used on our last run and was invaluable. Its effect is very quick and gives almost instant relief:

Spirits of chloroform, one-half ounce.
Spirits of ammonia aromatic, one-half ounce.
Tincture of ginger, one-half ounce.
Tincture of cayenne pepper, one drachm.
Paregoric, enough to make the whole measure three ounces.

Dose. One or two teaspoonfuls in water as the severity of the case requires. Repeat in a half hour. Two doses are generally sufficient.

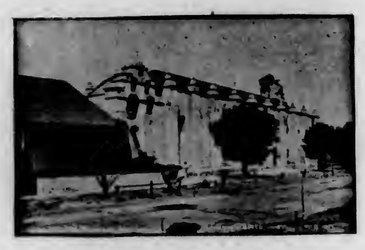
Is it necessary for a newspaper with backbone to have a "spinal column?"

A REMARKABLE BICYCLE.

The above cut is taken from a daily newspaper, and shows the wonderful effect of mind over matter. You will observe that the handle bar stands parallel with the frame and that the front axle has side braces running to the crank bearing (this is undoubtedly intended to prevent wobbling); the frame is unique in its way, and the cranks are not at cross purposes, but are supposed to go around together. Seated on the top of the frame is a very calm and restful-looking hen, who, contrary to the long-established custom of her kind, is sitting lengthwise on the roost, thus following the example of the handle bar.

We don't wonder that Senator Hill hesitates to mount this "strange device."



HOW TO KEEP PANTS ON.

For a person who finds a belt uncomfortable and who would wear suspenders if it were not for the appearance when riding without a coat, the following plan is suggested. Cut one of the loops from each of the front ends of a pair of suspenders; have a buttonhole worked in each side of the shirt, just a little below the belt line. Sew a button on each side of the knickers inside the band, a bone button preferred, as it won't rust. Then put your suspenders on under your shirt, passing the front loop and one of the back loops through the hole, buttoning both onto the button on that side.

Having one button at the side is better than the regulation number all around, as it acts as a hinge when you lean forward and does not draw the trousers behind.

You can also attach a hose supporter to the button. E. W. Cox.

CONCERNING RECORDS.

EDITOR BULLETIN AND GOOD ROADS:

Will your widely-circulated and highly-influential journal kindly tackle the "record" business and reduce it to such terms as may be understood by a very average sort of a mind. Every race that is ridden breaks a record of some kind. The fastest mile ever ridden on a wheel is 1.35 and something, but it don't seem to "cut any ice." John Smith rides a mile in 3.20 and "breaks the record" because it is the fastest time ever made on a wheel with a pink rim. John Brown rides in 3.25 and has on a yellow sweater. He breaks the yellow-sweater record. Robinson has a green celluloid visor on his cap and breaks the green celluloid visor record in 3.30 time. Now what on earth is the use of so many finely sub-divided records, and who cares for them? It is easy to get the fastest locomotive record or the fastest mile done by a horse, but the record for wheels is too many for me. Shall I give it up or do you advise me to try for the short-winded-fat-man's-red-sweater-hot-dusty-day record?

L. A. W., 73,071.

[Our correspondent is entitled to an explanation, and there are others who have yearned for this same sort of enlightenment.

It should not be forgotten that the holding of a world's record is an honor which is not to be lightly considered.

Suppose like the running horse or the locomotive, the bicycle rider could have, at once, but one world's record, how monotonous it would become, perhaps a single record might last long enough so that the figures would be remembered by a considerable number of people.

Then, too, but a single rider could hold the world's record at a time, and this would limit the glory too much. What we want is still more records. If the people cannot remember them all that is another matter.—ED.]

WHAT MAN OWES TO SCIENCE.

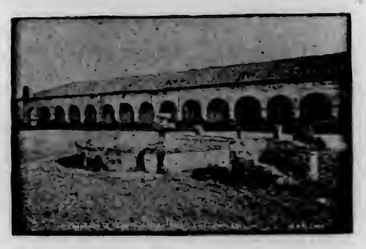
BY OUR SPECIAL SCIENTIST.

MANKIND has but a very faint realization of how much it owes to the scientific investigators. In the hum and hurry of our workaday lives we go jostling on without scarcely giving a thought to the debt of gratitude we should pay to those long-haired, near-sighted, narrow-chested professors of deep thinking. The fact of the matter is that life is short and hearts like muffled drums are beating funeral marches to the cemetery. We cannot all be scientific investigators and examine the eyes of gnats with a microscope that magnifies ten thousand times. A great many of us are otherwise employed. This is an age of specialists, and a man can't make a success of but one thing. And since the majority of us are making a specialty of trying to get an average of about three meals a day, we can't spare the time to make a minute diagnosis of the paraphernalia of every strange beetle, bug and butterfly that may inadvertently flit across our plain, hard path of duty. And besides, some of us are married.

But while we may not personally bring to light the bright gems of truth hidden everywhere, we may, if we are not too proud-spirited, receive the facts second-handed, but every bit as good as new, from the learned investigators. And what can so well repay us for the time spent, as to memorize the truths they have gone to so much trouble to obtain. Just think of the vast amount of studious application it must have required to find out that the thickness of the film of a soap bubble when showing the violet shade is but one million two hundred and forty thousandths of an inch. Now the average man, engaged, say in paper-hanging or market-gardening or running a store, might go plodding on forever and not know much about the thickness of the film of a soap bubble. Of course he might guess at it or estimate it or something of that kind, but he could never feel downright sure that he knew it just to a T. He wouldn't dare bet on it because when they come to measure it up he might be two or three millionths of an inch off one way or the other. But the scientific investigator studies the subject and knows to a dot, and we then go ahead with the proud, firm tread of a man who has a lead pipe cinch on a fact and knows precisely what he is talking about. When one is troubled in his mind and can't sleep nights because of the distressing uncertainties of the things of this world, how like a gentle rain to a field of thirsting clover comes the thought that he is at least sure of the thickness of a soap bubble's film.

Then again, the learned investigators tell us if a man could jump as far according to his size, as a flea can, he could go round the world in three leaps. What thought could be more consoling to a man who is running to catch a train he feels pretty sure he will miss. For the moment he pays the mental homage due to the great minds that have figured out the wonderful truth.

Who of us would ever have known that it requires seven hundred and sixteen miles of a certain kind of spider's web to weigh an ounce? But very few of us, we venture to say. We never would have had the patience to gather seven hundred and sixteen miles of web of exactly the same size and number, and after weighing it on an old, rusty pair of steelyards, proclaiming the result to the world as an incontrovertible fact. But scientific investigators like that sort of thing. They delight in delving for truths that the rest of the world is not scrambling after.



A man wearing a sallow expression and a convex pair of spectacles, shuts himself up in his laboratory for a number of months, and when he emerges therefrom he startles the world by announcing the fact that the ordinary house fly, of the proper gender, lays three million eight hundred and seventeen thousand nine hundred and sixty-two eggs during a summer. And the amazed world steals side glances at the wise man's brow and says, "A great brain that!" No one takes the trouble to keep tab on the number of eggs a certain fly lays during the year, and so the investigator's figures are accepted as correct and are added to the world's fund of handy facts for busy people. Bald-headed church goers may forget the text and all that was said about it, but they distinctly remember that a fly lays three million eight hundred and seventeen thousand nine hundred and sixty-two eggs annually. And peace comes to their tired spirits.

And so we might go on and on, like a farm mortgage, but what we have said must suffice to make clear the purpose of this article. Without the great truths brought to us by scientific investigators we would be as "An infant crying in the night;

An infant crying for the light;
And with no language but a cry."

These three pictures show roads around the "Old Mission" at San Gabriel, California, roads which were built by the Indians over a hundred years ago. Might it not be well for the Indians to send missionaries to teach some of their pale-faced brethren how to build roads.

A MEAN INSINUATION BY OUR NEW EDITOR.

A woman doesn't mind it
If she isn't richly dressed;
And she's seldom ill at ease because
Her gowns are not the best.
With perfect firmness she can face
The crowd, however great,
If she's only half-way certain that
She has her hat on straight.

A Deserved Compliment.

DeGozzom — Miss Freschoe's face is as pretty as a picture.

Miss Ehrwyus — It is a picture, hand-painted. She did it herself.

CYCLERS' ROAD RIGHTS.

BY AN L. A. W. LAWYER.

IN the BULLETIN of May 24, an invitation was extended to the legal members of the L. A. W. to discuss the rights of cyclers and their property, in the public ways.

The right of the cycler to have his wheel protected from malicious injury is clear; and this whether or not, by leaving it standing in the public street, its owner is guilty of the technical violation of some municipal ordinance. His own violation of the law is a matter between himself and the constituted authorities, and is not a justification of the person who negligently or wilfully breaks down the machine, or disables it by puncturing its tires or otherwise.

Again, any person who carelessly or maliciously places in a public way obstructions which injure cyclers or other travelers, their carriages, horses or bicycles, is doubtless liable for such injury in a civil action by the injured party.

These rights in favor of injured parties exist at common law. But although technically existent, they are clumsy and often slow and inadequate, especially so far as injuries caused by obstructions placed in the ways are concerned. There are many communities in which it has become a common and offensive practice on the part of evil-disposed persons to scatter on the highways, especially in the well-marked bicycle tracks, broken bottles, old iron and other dangerous objects, in the manifest hope of cutting some inadvertent cycle tire. In other places, there are young miscreants who lie in wait for the purpose of puncturing tires. So far as regards the danger existing from obstructions placed in the ways, not only cyclers, but pedestrians and the owners of horses, have a common interest in detecting and punishing offenders. A special and speedy punishment should be meted out to such offenders, and as in other cases of peculiar and malicious mischief, the offender, if able to respond in damages, should pay these to the injured party in double or treble measure.

The writer believes that special legislation is, or soon will be, necessary to protect cyclers and other travelers in the public ways from injury by evil-disposed persons, and he suggests for the consideration of other lawyers, who like himself are enthusiastic cyclers (and their name is legion) the propriety of invoking the influence of the League to bring about the passage of some act in substance, as follows:

An Act for the Better Protection of Travellers and Pedestrians in the Public Ways.

Section 1. Whoever places upon the surface of any street in a city, highway, townway, parkway, or other way customarily and lawfully used for public travel, or upon any sidewalk appurtenant to such a way, any glass, metal, stone, earthenware, or other substance of a nature likely to cause injury to pedestrians or horses, or to carriages, bicycles or other vehicles travelling or moving on said way, shall forfeit for each offence a sum not less than five nor more than one hundred dollars; and shall be further liable to any one injured in his person or property by such unlawful act in a sum double the amount of damages proved to have been caused by such injury to be recovered in an action of tort.

Section 2. Whoever wilfully or negligently breaks, cuts, defaces, runs down, collides with, or otherwise injures any carriage, bicycle or other vehicle belonging to another, and travelling or standing in any street in a city, highway, townway, parkway or other way customarily and lawfully used for public travel, shall forfeit for each such offence the sum of not less than ten nor more than two hundred dollars, and shall be further liable to any one injured in his person or property by such unlawful act in a sum treble the amount of damages proven to have been caused by such injury, to be recovered in an action of tort.

This sketch of an act has been drafted with especial reference to Massachusetts, but, with necessary changes, it may be adapted to the needs of other states. It may, very likely, want amendment or modification, but the writer hopes that its publication will at least serve to attract attention to the necessity which it attempts to answer.

WORLDLY HAPPINESS.

The owner of a German menagerie keeps caged together a lion, a tiger, a wolf and a lamb, which he labels "the happy family." When asked confidentially how long these animal had lived together he answered, "Ten months, but the lamb has to be renewed occasionally."

NEW YORK STATE DIVISION.

Office of the Secretary-Treasurer.

CORRESPONDENCE.—I must again request that members in corresponding with the office give, in all cases, their L. A. W. numbers, and the same address at which they received the BULLETIN. As I have explained before, many members who reside in one city and do business in another almost invariably, when they have a kick to make and must have an immediate answer, use their office stationery and omit to give League number or League address, making it almost an impossibility for me to trace them.

Owing to an absence of ten days from home my correspondence has fallen behind. I therefore crave indulgence, trusting before this number of the BULLETIN is issued to be entirely caught up. The secretary-treasurer after an exhaustive examination of the Constitution and By-Laws is of the opinion that he is not required to answer impudent or insulting letters. A very small minority of the members of this division will kindly accept this notice and govern themselves accordingly.

CAP PINS AND BUTTON BADGES.—I have just received a small supply of the very handsome cap pins. All back orders will be mailed before June 26. Members who have ordered pins or badges from this office and have failed to receive them are requested to notify me at once.

CASH PRIZES. Competitors are again notified that they must observe strictly the conditions as printed in the circular mailed to all members. I will not agree to give credit to those failing to do so.

ROAD BOOKS. The 1892 Road Books (some two thousand one hundred copies) turned over to me by my predecessor were mailed to members entitled to receive them, as long as the supply lasted. This book will not be reprinted. This is the second or third notice.

ROAD MAPS. As noted in the BULLETIN several times, the limited supply of Road Maps was exhausted some two months ago.

These maps were originally prepared for the New York Division members of 1893. To answer an urgent demand a new and correct edition is being prepared at considerable expense. Price to N. Y. State division members, 50 cents per set; to members of other divisions, $1.00 per set; to non-members, $2.00 per set. Do not write for the Maps before you see a notice in the L. A. W. BULLETIN that they are ready for issue.

TOUR BOOKS. Owing to the unexpected and unparalleled growth of this division the first edition of five thousand copies was exhausted some weeks ago. A second edition of five thousand copies is in the hands of the printers nearly ready for mailing. The Tour Books will be mailed as soon as possible to all members entitled to receive them. Members who have written regarding failure to receive the Tour Books will kindly accept this as a reply.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP. During my absence applications sent to my office were not forwarded to Secretary Bassett. This will explain cause of non-appearance in the BULLETIN. Those who have mailed applications to this office are requested to notify me at once if their names have not been printed.

W. S. BULL, Sec.-Treas.

NEW YORK.

Three hundred dollars in cash prizes for members of the New York State Division, League of American Wheelmen.

To enlarge the membership of our State division; to increase its influence; to add to its working force; to advertise its work for better roads and its benefits to its members; to extend this work and to enhance these benefits, our executive committee announces the following

Offer of Prizes.

1. A first prize of $100 will be paid to that member of our State division (man or woman) who obtains the largest number of paid applications for membership between April 30 and December 31, 1895, both dates inclusive.
2. A second prize of $50 will be paid to the member obtaining the second largest number of paid applications in the same period.
3. A third prize of $40 for the third largest number.
4. A fourth prize of $35 for the fourth largest number.
5. A fifth prize of $25 for the fifth largest number.
6. A sixth prize of $20 for the sixth largest number.
7. A seventh prize of $15 for the seventh largest number.
8. An eighth prize of $10 for the eighth largest number.
9. A ninth prize of $5 for the ninth largest number.

Conditions.—Each competitor must send his (or her) name, address and League number to the Secretary-Treasurer (W. S. Bull, No. 78 White Building, Buffalo, N. Y.) before beginning competition.

Blank applications for membership will be supplied to competitors in quantities as required on application (postal card request) to Secretary Bull at above address.

An account will be kept with each competitor, and he or she will be credited regularly with the number of paid applications sent in.

No person shall, under any condition, be informed of the number of applications credited to any other competitor.

All applications for membership obtained by a competitor should be sent (with $2 for each application) direct to W. S. Bull, 78 White Building, Buffalo, N. Y.

It may sometimes occur that a new member will join the L. A. W. through the influence of a competitor, and that the applicant will prefer to forward his own money and application. In such case the competitor may receive credit for the application, provided he sends the name and address of the applicant to Secretary Bull before the application is printed in the Bulletin.

No application will be credited to any competitor unless a memorandum or notice thereof is sent by said competitor to the secretary-treasurer before it appears in the L. A. W. Bulletin.

In case sufficient entries are not received for this competition before July 1, 1895, to warrant its continuance, the officers of the State Division reserve the right to cancel the offer of these prizes upon paying to each competitor the sum of twenty cents tor each application credited to his or her account.

Special Ladies' Prize.

Any lady who is a member of the New York State Division (or who shall become a member before the award of prizes) may compete for either of the prizes above mentioned, and in addition may also compete for a special ladies' prize under the following offer:

The New York State Division will present to the lady who obtains the largest number of League members between the dates mentioned in the foregoing offer, a new lady's bicycle (pattern of 1896); the winner to be at liberty to select any high-grade American lady's bicycle of standard pattern, make, weight and equipment according to her fancy.

The officers of the Division reserve the right to cancel this offer and to pay any competitor for applications sent in according to the rate above stated, provided a sufficient number of competitors shall not have sent their names to Secretary Bull by July 1, 1895.

As soon as a sufficient number of competitors have signified their intention to enter these contests, announcements of the fact will be made through the columns of the cycling press and by direct communication with the competitors; but the name of a competitor shall not be published without his or her permission at any time before the final award of prizes.

Important Hints to Competitors.

1. Combine your efforts Any number of persons may combine in an effort to gain one of these prizes, or club members may work together jointly in the competition; but in such cases all the applications for membership sent in by the competing club or persons must be sent in the name of a single League member, and will be credited to the account of that member by Secretary Bull. The winner of a prize may divide it according to any agreement had between the several persons who assisted in winning it. The secretary will not enter the name of a club or combinations of persons in the competitors' account, but only the names of individual competitors.
2. A single competitor may enlist the efforts of his (or her) club or friends in any part of the State to aid him (or her) in getting applications for membership, but in all cases the applications must be sent in by or in the name of the individual competitor.
3. Any lady member of the Division (or any lady who may hereafter join the L. A. W. in this division), may compete for both the special ladies' prize and a cash prize, and will receive both in case of success. She may enlist and combine the efforts of her friends in obtaining applications for membership for her benefit, but all new members so obtained will be credited to the single competitor in whose name they must be sent.
4. Any number of applications may be sent at one time but the cash (or check, draft or P. O. money order) must in all cases accompany the applications ($2 for each application).
5. The utmost care must be taken by competitors to write clearly all names and addresses of applicants, so as to avoid mistakes.
6. No competitor will receive credit for applications or money lost in the mails; but only for paid applications actually received by the secretary. Money should be sent by check, postal order, draft or registered letter.
7. All applications must be sent in promptly and as soon as received. When a person makes application for membership he (or she) has a right to expect that it will be forwarded at once. All applications will be published in the L. A. W. BULLETIN, and by watching the columns of that paper, competitors may know when applications sent by them have been received and credited. When personal acknowledgement is wanted, enclose postal card to Secretary Bull when you forward applications.
8. Blanks will be supplied to each competitor to simplify the work of sending applications for membership and making returns in this competition.

Button Badges for New York State Division Members.

To answer a popular and growing demand, the Executive Committee has arranged to supply official buttons and cap pins for consuls and members at a nominal price.

Member's Button

The member's button is made from special design, of which a copy is shown in the marginal cut. The face is of finest enamel, the L. A. W. emblem, wings, background and letters being in handsome and appropriate colors, and the scroll at the bottom being in gold. A member's button will be sent to any member on receipt of twenty-five cents, or to any member who shall send to the secretary-treasurer two applications for membership, with initiation fees and dues ($4 00).

The consul's button is a trifle larger than the member's button and is handsomely designed, in rich colors, with the word "Consul" at the bottom. In each button the setting is of rolled gold plate, with convenient screw back fastening, so as to fit any buttonhole. A consul's button will be sent to any consul on receipt of twenty-five cents, or on receipt of two applications for membership with initiation fees and dues ($4). A button will be sent to each consul or member taking part in the competition for prizes (for securing new members) as soon as two new applications have been accredited to the account of such competitor.

Consul's Button.

The cap pin is still larger in size and is of beautiful design. The oak leaves of the wreath are of bright green color, enlivened by gold lines, and the appearance is extremely tasteful and attractive. Pin fastening at the back. The price of the cap pin is thirty cents, or a pin will be sent free to any member sending three new applications for membership with $6 fees and dues to the undersigned.

IOWA DIVISION MEET.

At the Iowa Division meet at Jefferson, July 4th and 5th, all members of the L. A. W. will be entitled to free admission to the races and also to all the entertainment which will be provided by the Jefferson Cycling Club. Members of the Iowa Division are urged to attend this meeting and share in the good time provided for their benefit. The races will be open only to members of the League. In the championships it has been decided to offer medals for second and third prizes. These races are open to members of the Iowa Division only and no entry fee will be charged.

Let every member of the division plan to attend this meet and urge other wheelmen to join the League in time to attend also.

FRED BEACH, Chief Consul.

THE N. Y. DIVISION BADGE.

The official souvenir badge distributed by the officers of the New York State Division to members who attended the annual meet at Brooklyn and Manhattan Beach is unusually attractive and is made from a special design prepared for the occasion. The above cut represents only the general design and gives no adequate idea of the handsome appearance of the badge itself. We still have a few hundred of these badges on hand, and will send one to each member of our State division sending his name and address with a two cent stamp, and an additional badge to each member sending in one new application for membership with the sum of $2.00 (application fee and dues).

ISAAC B. POTTER, Chief Consul.
Potter Building, New York, N. Y.

PENN. DIVISION.

How to get to Asbury Park.

Penn. members who will attend the League meet at Asbury will have several special trains run for their benefit. The Pittsburg Press will run special train from that point and pick up members throughout the State en route, and Philadelphia will have arrangements to be announced in a few days. For the accommodation of their own members and the wheelmen from north-eastern Penn., the Scranton bicycle club has arranged that the D. L. & W. R. R. will run a train leaving Wilkes Barre, on Saturday, July 6th, at 11.45 A.M., Scranton, at 12.55 P.M., for $4.55 round trip to New York, at which point the 1⅓ rate can be secured to Asbury for I think $1.45, making the round trip by rail from Wilkes Barre and Scranton, $6.00. The Scranton club will leave the train either at Dover or Paterson, and tour the balance of the trip to Asbury, through the Oranges and down along the coast. Full details are not yet completed, so any one interested can become fully posted by inquiring of me. While the Scranton bicycle club are running this train for their own benefit, they invite anyone going to join with them. Penn. headquarters at the meet will be announced later. Hope Penn. will show up in large numbers.

Fraternally,
JOHN J. VAN NORT, Sec'y.

A. F. Senn, Ilion, N. Y. is suspended from all amateur racing, pending investigation.

Under clause (i) class A rules, George E. Quinn, Mobile, Ala., is transferred to Class B.

Guy C. Brown and J. A. Drain, Spokane, Washington, and William P. Fowler, Ogden, Utah, are transferred to class B, under clause (b), class A rules. (Competing in class B race.)

Charles Pugh, Denver, Col., and Herb. McCrea, Los Angeles, Cal., are suspended from class A pending investigation.

Leonard J. Berlo, Boston, Mass., is hereby declared a professional—violation clause (b) amateur rules.

Ed. F. Smith, H. R. Renshaw, C. F. White, Otis Emmons, J. M. Daniel, A. B. Stone, F. L. Sugrue, J. J. Keith, Hugo Block, A. D. Keller, William Schnell, J. F. Patterson and E. F. Pynchon, Denver, and L. C. Wahl, Colorado Springs, Col., are transferred to class B—violation clause (e) class A rules.

The statement in previous BULLETIN that G. W. Redfern, of Wilmerding, Pa., was transferred to class B was erroneous; he remains in class A.

Transfer of "P. Skelton" to class B should be Joseph Skelton.

Under clause (d) A. J. Nowlin, Louisville, Ky., is transferred to class B.

For competing in unsanctioned races, Paul Cronenwett, George Mardorf, Elmer Helmbold, Mark McBride, J. Sherman, Thomas McBride, Frank Larkin and Joseph McCandless, of Butler, Pa., are suspended for thirty days; C. C. Matlock, Ed. McClennahan, Roy Morgan, —— Kincade and —— Gilstrap, of Eugene, Ore., are suspended for ninety days from June 12; A. S. Harness, F. Donaldson, R. D. Kaime and C. V. Whitbreck, of Concord, N. H., are suspended for ninety days from June 5; E. Allard, J. Slaysman, William Elgert, T. Cecil Downes, James Q. Farmer, L. Herpel, J. Litzinger, W. A. Schwarth, W. A. Bochau, T. Carroll and H. Krebs, of Baltimore, are suspended for one year from June 18. (Competed after warning); Dick Slatterley, Milo Weaver, H. B. McCreary, of Centreville, Ia., are suspended for thirty days from June 22; William Biederman, Phillip G. Safford, Harry De Groff, Thomas J. O'Brien W. L. Miller, A. A. Peters and T. W. Kemlin, St. Louis, Mo., are suspended for thirty days from June 15.

Race promoters are warned that the actual retail price of a prize is the only valuation they may safely advertise.

Race promoters giving race meets near the Canadian border should see that any rider from Canada is able to produce a certificate from the C. W. A. Racing Board as to his status. This is a matter of justice to the Canadian Board, as well as to the L. A. W.

Fred St. Onge, Allston, Mass., is suspended from all amateur racing pending investigation.

OHIO, 24TH DISTRICT.

Three new members on June 7th, one from Butler county and two from Hamilton county, outside of Cincinnati. That looks more like it! An increase of over 9 per cent. Pretty good for a starter, but just think of the hundreds of riders who ought to be members.] Can we increase the number next week?

CARRY WHEELS FREE.

The Ocean Navigation & Pier Co., running a line of steamers between New York and Coney Island, have announced that bicycles accompanied by owners will be carried free; also that accommodations have been provided whereby wheels may be checked free on the "Old Iron Pier," and may also be cleaned for a small consideration.

The president of this company, Mr. Kent, is an enthusiastic L. A. W. member.

PENNSYLVANIA.

To the Members.

There should be a large delegation from Pennsylvania to the national meet at Asbury Park, N. J., July 8 to 13, 1895. A rate of one fare and a third for the round trip will be given. See page 3 of L. A. W. BULLETIN of June 21, 1895, for instructions how to secure this rate. See, also, if the usual excursion rates on the Pennsylvania and other roads are not lower before buying tickets.

Yours truly,

S. A. BOYLE, Chief Consul.

Our columns are awfully crowded this week.

TEXAS.

We learn through Mr. Culmore of the Houston Daily Press that cycling is getting to be very popular in Texas. They have a racing team which is liable to be heard from. Races will be held at Galveston and Houston July 4th, and the Texas State meet takes place at Dallas, July 3, 4 and 5.

OHIO, 24TH DISTRICT.

Two more members in District 24 on June 14th. They are from Elmwood Place this time. Elmwood Place now takes the lead of all other localities in this district in membership. Hamilton and Wyoming are tied for second place with only four members each. Let the good work go on.

Cheerfully yours,

WILLIAM D. KEMPTON,
Representative in charge of District 24.

CINCINNATI, June 22, 1895.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to Monday preceding this date, and published in accordance with Article III of the constitution.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published and to report errors and omissions to the secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at noon on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

Buy the Elliott Noncorrosive Soldering Fluid

It has been used for years by many well-known concerns, a few of whom have written their opinions below.

OFFICE OF
STANLEY RULE AND LEVEL CO.,
Manufacturers of Carpenters' Tools, Etc.
NEW BRITAIN, CONN.

ELLIOTT CHEMICAL WORKS,
Newton, Mass.

DEAR SIRS:—Will you please hurry the ten gallons Noncorrosive Soldering Fluid just ordered. We like this better than anything we have ever used. It does not stain nor corrode the work. Our men do not have to be careful about handling tools when they happen to have a little of the Fluid on their hands. Yours,

CORRESPONDENCE

THE GUARANTEE.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

In your issue of Dec. 13 you print a contribution from the pen of W. W. Randall regarding the evil of the present system of guaranteeing bicyles against accident. Assuming that Mr. Randall is neither a maker nor an agent of one, I have the following comments to make.

Now the average wheelman will not abuse his wheel by riding carelessly over bumps, crossings and rough spots in the road, but will on the contrary, naturally be careful, if it is only for his own safety and comfort that it is so.

No wheelman takes any pleasure in being spilled on the road by reason of the breaking of some vital point on his wheel due to his own carelessness, nor does he enjoy the walk to the nearest car-line or repair shop, being subjected to ridicule by all who meet him.

It is quite evident that Mr. Randall never had such things happen to him on account of a flaw in the workmanship of his wheel, causing it to give way at the wrong moment, or he would not talk of guarantees in a way so favorable to manufacturers and agents. No. 62,838.

DENVER, COLO.

"EXCELSIOR" WANTS LIGHT.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

I don't know that a man can be brief in describing what is needed for a bicycle lamp for 1896, but I'll try.

The lamp should be small in size, not to exceed 4 inches in height, light in weight, not to exceed 5 ounces, and cheap in price but not in quality, say about $3.00.

There are many reasons why some other fuel than kerosene oil must be used.

The new electric lamp promises to fill a long felt want, but will it fill the bill? To do so, it must be wind and jolt proof, neat in appearance, light in weight and of medium price. The vapor lamps are too big and too long. Who will fill this demand for an ideal lamp?

The old lamps do not. Will we have this lamp for use in 1896?

"EXCELSIOR."

No. 74,193, of Binghamton, N. Y., thinks he has found the best use to make of back numbers of the L. A. W. BULLETIN. He puts them in the pockets for reading matter in railway stations where the casual traveler may read and enjoy them.

Two Hundred and Sixty-three Thousand Four Hundred and Twenty-Seven!

The figures represent the measure of merit of the "Standard" Cyclometer, as gauged by the demand of discriminating buyers. In the first eleven months of 1895, we sold 263,427 "Standard" Cyclometers—which is many times the total sales of all other makes of cyclometers combined.

There will be three styles of "Standard" Cyclometers in 1896—three unapproachable values in distance measurers—and we shall make half a million of them. The generous partiality of wheelmen, the appreciation of the best that can be had, requires a large provision; and this partiality and appreciation have decreed that it is to be another "Standard" year.

THE EVER-BLOOMING QUESTION.

BY MISS HELEN W. FOSTER.

The bloomer question, boiled down, would seem to be simply a matter of personal courage. We must all admit that a bifurcated garment is par excellence that which is fitted for cycling. A skirt clearly was not designed with a view to this excercise, and must necessarily impede and obstruct that freedom of motion which alone renders it enjoyable. In view of these facts, how can a skirt as a cycling costume be justified?

A correspondent in last week's issue of the BULLETIN tells of her long runs in which she has found a skirt reaching to the ankle no impediment to her freedom and happiness while cycling. I have ridden a bicycle four years, the first three of which I wore a skirt of about the length she suggests. Last summer I wore a short skirt, over bloomers, with leggings. The skirt reached to within two or three inches of the top of my boots, and was so made, being buttoned down the side, that it could be easily taken off or put on while travelling. On long rides I could strap the skirt on the wheel while I rode, and when I got off it was a very simple thing to slip the skirt on. I never really enjoyed cycling, I think, until I wore this costume.

Certainly the sight of a wheelwoman clad in a skirt the length of that in the cut above referred to, always gives me a feeling of sympathetic weariness for the rider, who, in blissful ignorance, thinks she is enjoying herself. I can only say that if the young lady whom the cut represents can ride 100 miles so easily and quickly with that skirt on, she certainly could ride 150 miles in the same time, and with three times the enjoyment, if she wore a bloomer costume.

The question for us to decide is, whether we will have the courage of our convictions, and of our own good sense; or whether we will blindly obey Custom, however senseless its mandates may be. Is the expression we often hear from numerous unthinking men and women, who are not cyclists, "that bloomers look horrid," of so much importance that we should sacrifice to it our own personal comfort and freedom and enjoyment,—much less our own individual convictions and our rights as human beings? Is it not nobler to brave a certain transient unpopularity, it may be, in a cause we know to be right and sure to win in the end?

There is truly an ethical side to the bloomer question; but it is not included in, or represented by, the cant about "womanliness," etc.—which is the weapon with which every step women have made to greater breadth and freedom of life has been opposed, and which, because of this, has now become so nauseating to all self-respecting women.

FEAR and respect are very similar. The mule fares better than he would if he could n't kick.

A BRAND NEW YEAR.

Hello! Here we are again!

Here's a nice new year, with its enamel untarnished, tires sound as a dollar (not a silver dollar) and everthing adjusted true as a die.

Gentlemen and ladies, what shall we do with it?

What did we do with last year and the year before and the one before that?

But it may be best to not look too closely into the past. May be we had best let bygones be bygones. We meant all right but somehow things didn't go as we had hoped. In

> Looking backward through the ages
> We must candidly confess
> We have not, at looking forward,
> Been a blooming big success.

Let us then, leave the dead past with the undertaker and turn our faces toward the great, untried future.

This, we believe, is the proper thing to say and do on the first of the year. All of our exchanges will say so.

Jan. 1, is when we turn over a new leaf. We can devote the other three hundred and sixty-five days to turning it back.

It's a sad custom many have fallen into of reforming on one day of the whole year and of being tolerably good one day in seven.

> "Every day is a fresh beginning,
> Every morn is a world made new."

Let us this year resolve to re-resolve on every day of the year to do better things.

Total number printed this week, . . . 41,000
Sent to paid subscribers, ... 38,359
Samples to Advertisers, Exchanges, etc., 1,641
Sample Copies Chicago Cycle Show, . . 1,000

This thing of getting only one shot at the bull's-eye of goodness and wasting the other three hundred and sixty-five* in shooting at all sorts of folly, makes the likelihood of reform mighty slim.

Let us make a consistent effort to be tolerably good this year. Let us be honest with ourselves.

It isn't so much of a trick to fool the neighbors but we ought not to fool ourselves. We should really desire to do better things if we hope to reform.

The man who tries to reform without wishing to do so has an up-hill task on his hands. He can get farther ahead by walking backwards. There are too many men who pray to be kept out of the paths of temptation and who then go three blocks out of their way in order to pass by the bill boards on which are shown the posters of the French Folly company.

Every man should, now and then, take a day off and get acquainted with himself. He should look in the mirror some morning while his wife is down stairs struggling with a balky furnace fire and ask himself,—

"If the people knew me just as I am, would it be possible for me to remain in this neighborhood?"

Let our goodness be a steady growth like that of the oak. It doesn't jump to its full size in a minute. It grows a little every day.

Now is a good time to begin but we should keep everlastingly at it.

We should hope and work, and merit what we desire. And so with a firm faith in the just law of cause and effect,—

> Let us, then, be up and doing,
> With a heart for any fate,
> Still achieving, still pursuing,
> Either fish or cut the bait.

* Bear in mind this is leap year and it contains 366 days. We call attention to this so that a score or two of readers will not call our attention to what might seem like an error. We have studied a new calendar and know where we are at.

AN IMMEDIATE WANT.

Wanted—To-day, an artisan who has the needed skill,
To frame some resolutions in a way they'll hold until
The new year has grown old again,—some that will longer last
Than have the fragile, fickle ones we've broken, in the past.
They must be double-riveted, half-soled and iron bound,
With triple-twisted cable made of steel run clear around;
They should be copper bottomed, best of stuff and extra thick,
Or else we'll do as heretofore—we'll smash them awful quick.

UNINSTRUCTED PROXIES.

We had something to say, not long since, on the proxy question.

We endeavored to point out the harm which was liable to result from the use of proxies when

What did we tell you about Light-weight Bicycles two years ago?

Read this, it is an extract from our '94 catalogue:—

"We do not think extremely light wheels for all round use are profitable to the maker, dealer or rider, and we believe 'featherweight' bicycles will cause more or less trouble if sold promiscuously for road use in any and all localities."

Were we right? Ask those who tried the experiment.

they served simply to multiply the representation present without necessarily indicating the preferences of the absent men who gave them. This subject has brought to us numerous letters and has led us into many discussions. The result of which is that our opinions have crystallized into the following:

States very commonly act on important questions as a unit; some of the smaller divisions send one man to represent all the votes of a State. In such cases there could be no harm in allowing one man to cast the votes of any absent members of his own State in accordance with whatever written instructions they might give him, even to the extent of casting the entire vote according to his own judgment, for the parties in interest would naturally agree upon some one of their own number who would actually represent their ideas.

We are even more fully convinced, however, that a division which does not send even one delegate, should place its proxies in the hands of the secretary with written instructions on each point upon which they care to vote.

In response to many requests, this volume of the L. A. W. BULLETIN will be paged consecutively and supplied with an index.

Even an evil tongue could not do much harm if there were no evil ears to listen.

THE AGE LIMIT.

Should we accept, as members, persons under eighteen years of age? Our comments on this question have borne fruit.

We have strong letters on both sides, but the general opinion seems to be that young people should not hold office even if admitted to membership. We had supposed that this part of it could be taken care of by the voters who elect, as they are expected to nominate and elect those among them who are best fitted for the positions.

Age is no positive indication of wisdom.

Youth is not in itself an evidence of unfitness. These two propositions need not be demonstrated to the average reader.

A singular fact in connection with the letters received, is, that so far as we can tell, the older members are most likely to favor the present, or even a higher age limit. While we receive many letters from minors who show a decided interest and desire to become members.

It is to be hoped that this question will be carefully considered by the national assembly in order that the best thing may be done. Some very good arguments have been made in favor of not taking in members under twenty-one.

This is leap year. The women will now occupy the rear seats of the tandems.

THE PATIENCE TRYER.

He was a patient mortal and the folks for miles around,
They all declared they didn't believe his equal could be found.
It seemed there wasn't anything his spirit could annoy,
And that which should have fretted him he seemed to much enjoy.
He'd cling as patiently as does a bird's nest to a limb.
Job wouldn't have been in it in a patience match with him.
But now, alas! he has become the crankiest of men,
And all because he tries to use a so-called fountain pen.

THE "SIMPSON" CHAIN.

Several readers of the L. A. W. BULLETIN ask our opinion of the Simpson chain which is just now creating some talk on the other side of the water.

We have not seen or used a chain of this description but are quite familiar with its construction and the principle on which it operates. We fail to see how it can be as desirable as the chain commonly used, even if it were as light, and it must necessarily be more than twice as heavy.

The claims which have been made for this chain, like the claims which are often made for similar devices, are not to be seriously considered; for instance, we are told that hill climbing is accomplished with about one-half the effort required by other chains. The facts are that in order to take a rider and wheel of a given weight, up a hill of a given height, in a given time, requires a fixed and unalterable amount of force. It is controlled by the most relentless fact in nature and with all due respect for Mr. Simpson we must beg to doubt his ability to overcome the supernaturally established law of gravitation.

The only talent given to man in this problem is that he may reduce the friction of the necessary mechanism to the lowest point possible. This is done in the ordinary bicycle until it amounts to less than 10 per cent. on a hard hill and but a fraction of that on a smooth level. (we are talking now of machine friction, for it is not yet claimed that the new chain affects the road friction.)

If we admit that half of the machine friction in a bicycle is in the chain, and that all of this could be eliminated, there might still be a reasonable doubt in the mind of a man who was asked to take stock in a five million dollar company. But mechanics have not usually found that friction was reduced by doubling the number of working parts, especially when the same old hard facts are there, and up to the present time those facts refuse to be juggled with. No, boys, we do not take any stock in the Simpson chain.

A WISE LIVERYMAN.

The keeper of a prominent New England horse conservatory has for his own use a bicycle, and when he wants to go anywhere in a hurry he doesn't wait to "hook up" a horse. This reminds us of the proprietor of a restaurant, who, the cashier said, "had gone out to get some lunch."

NO BICYCLE TAX IN ENGLAND.

On the hother side of the bloomin' hocean, in good old Lunnon, don't ye know, they're discussing the bicycle tax question, just as we are over here in Yankee Doodledum. In a recent number, the News said:

No minister who did not wish to qualify himself for a lunatic asylum would propose a tax upon bicycles. It would be one of the most unpopular taxes that could possibly be suggested. But that is very far from exhausting the objections to it. A tax should be easily collected, should be cheap to collect, should be difficult to evade, and should fall upon those who can best afford it. A tax upon bicycles would sin, and sin heavily, against all these canons. The fact is that there are a very large number of fussy people in this country who want to interfere with the taxes and who do not know what a tax is. The legitimate object of a tax is to raise money for the purposes of revenue. The best tax is that which raises the most money compared with the loss or inconvenience it inflicts upon the individual. But there seems to be a fashionable idea of a tax as something to restrain your neighbors from doing what you don't like them to do. A prohibitory tax in a revenue tariff is a contradiction in terms. To protect native industry against foreign competition a duty may be levied without hope of valable return. Such a system is, in our view, detestable and mischievous.

"There are many men of many minds" on the sunrise side of the Atlantic, as well as on this. Another London paper says:

There is no reason why cycles should not be taxed, although the failure of Mr. Goschen's proposed taxes on wheels and "pleasure horses" will probably be a warning to future chancellors of the exchequer. The bicycle is emphatically a pleasure horse; but the "weal and woe" tax had so ignominious a fate that probably the experiment will not be repeated. And yet the very uncertainty about fresh sources of taxation, which will have to be found, shows the utter absence of all fixed principle in our system of finance. Have we any logical or consistent basis of taxation? It is a cant phrase that luxuries, not necessaries, should be taxed. But why? If the object of taxation is to make everybody contribute to the State fund, then necessaries, not luxuries, should be taxed.

The "scorcher" is in evidence in London, and, as a matter of course, is disliked by every one with whom he comes in (violent) contact and by the many more who by their agility avoid meeting him. The London Daily Telegraph thus speaks of him:

Those who wish well to the sport, and who desire to see it flourishing and popular, will be the first to denounce the conduct of those "wheelmen" who take advantage of the ease with which they can usually escape after an accident. There has been too much "scorching" and too lax a police surveillance of it; and the consequence has been an outcry, and in some specially afflicted districts almost a revolt, against the capture of the highways by those who pay nothing for their use. What the future will bring for cyclists depends very largely upon themselves. Should they take every precaution to discourage and discountenance reckless riding on the public thoroughfares, then they may hope to enjoy their sport for a long time to come unvexed by the attentions of the tax collector.

The London Standard also protests that the mere walking man — a type not yet extinct — has certain elementary rights, such as that of going along the streets and crossing a road without being knocked down or frightened out of his wits. It believes that in crowded streets the bicyclist should dismount and walk by the side of his machine. In commenting on the bicycle's exemption from taxation, the Daily Graphic, says:

"Once the initial expense of buying the machine is over, there is very little more spending about it, if you are a moderately careful rider."

Editorially the Bicycling World could not go beyond the above statement. At the same time, it is only fair to add that the above optimistic condition of affairs can only be realized by purchasing the highest grade bicycle. Now, dear reader, we intend to amplify the above statement and when we tell you in all sincerity that is the high st grade wheel known to the art, we have a great mass of evidence up our sleeves. We can prove it; we enjoy the seal of public approval gained by honest devotion to the public good.

The cycle is in a sense the poor man's horse, for although it has been adopted largely as a means of recreation, it is every day becoming more largely used as a business vehicle by way of saving expense. Add to this that the cycling industry is one of the few entirely prosperous and untouched by foreign competition, and it will be seen that there are reasons to spare for allowing the cycle to pursue its course with wheels unchecked by the brake of taxation.

So it seems they are about in the same boat we are. The wheel is not likely to be generally taxed in England or America. It should not be. It isn't built that way.

A PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

An Illinois member writes that his membership in the League actually saved him in cash, $17.50 in '94 and $22.75 in '95. He casually remarks that he considers this a very fair return on an investment of $1.00. Experienced financiers will be liable to agree with him.

THOMAS A. EDISON SAYS

"High explosives have done more than the average man thinks to equalize the strength of nations. What it took an army to do years ago a handful of men can do now. I believe there are a hundred men to-day — inventors — who are not paying attention to destructive engines because they did not believe the government wanted them, who could turn out some new, devilish thing that would horrify the civilized world."

If Edison was in the bicycle business he would know that "some new devilish thing" was being turned out every few days, and that they would certainly "horrify the civilized world" if manufacturers could only be induced to put them on the market.

THE NEW HIAWATHA.

The Winona (Minn.) Herald has on its staff a second Longfellow who has written of the dubious escapades of the modern Hiawatha. The sequel to the doleful story is hereto appended:

"Thus departed Hiawatha
To the land of the Dakotas,
To the land of handsome women,
And in ninety days returning
A divorcelet he brought with him.
To his wife he gave the ha-ha,
Sent her back unto her ma-ma
In the outskirts of Chicago."

NEW YORK CLUB AND THE LEAGUE.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

In the interesting account of the formation of the League, recently published by you, there was a statement which struck me at the time as not quite correct; and I have been waiting only for an opportunity to examine the old minute book of the New York bicycle club to call your attention to it. The statement that I mean was to the effect that while the original suggestion for the Newport meet, at which the League was organized, came from Capt. Monroe of the New York club, this was only on the lines of a semi-social reunion; and that the idea of forming an organization was developed among the Boston delegation, on their way down to Newport.

Now upon examining the minutes of the club, I find in those for the meeting of March 1, 1880, the following: "The Captain's report embraced a description of the first meet of the club on Feb. 23, and an account of what had been done in the way of arrangements for the Newport meet. A letter was read from Mayor Bradish of Newport promising his aid and co-operation. It was then moved, seconded and carried that the New York bicycle club take the initiative step by sending letters to the various bicycle clubs inviting their co-operation in the plan." And again under date of May 5, 1880, "It was moved, seconded and carried that the New York bicycle club be represented at the convention in Newport by two delegates with power to act for the club in all matters pertaining to the formation of a national association of bicyclers."

As both these meetings were held well in advance of the meet, it can hardly be questioned that they corroborate the perfectly clear recollection of all our older members that our club started the movement and with the well defined purpose of forming what was afterward entitled the League. It has always been a matter for pride in our ranks that we hold the premier position on the list of League clubs, and that this honor of first signing the roll was accorded them in recognition of their right of paternity, and I hope therefore that you will kindly give this correction a place in your columns.

Yours truly, E. J. SHRIVER.

We are misquoted by our correspondent when he credits us with the statement that, "The idea of forming an organization was developed among the Boston delegation, on their way down to Newport." This does not come within three rows of apple trees of what we did say.

We did say this:

"The L. A. W. was organized May 31, 1880, at Newport, R. I. Kirk Munroe, president of the New York Bi. Club, proposed a meeting of all wheelmen at Newport and issued invitations in the name of his club to all riders of the wheel. He proposed a parade, a banquet and a general good time."

Here is the call as it was issued:

TO THE UNATTACHED BICYCLE RIDERS OF THE COUNTRY:—

You are hereby cordially invited to participate in the grand meet of wheelmen to be held at Newport, R. I. on May 31, next. An unattached brigade to be commanded by officers appointed by the Captain of the New York Bi. club, will form an important feature of the bicycle parade on that day. All unattached riders desiring to participate in the meet will please communicate their intentions to K. N. Putnam, secretary New York Bi. club, 54 Wall street, New York. Further information concerning the meet will be furnished through the columns of the Bicycling World.

Respectfully,

C. K. MUNROE,
Pres. N. Y. Bi. Club.

The above was given broad publicity to catch the unattached. A circular of the same tenor was sent to the club secretaries. In no one of the circulars was the idea of forming an organization broached.

The Bi. World of March 20, says, editorially:

"Since the first of February considerable correspondence and conference has been had between the officers of the New York Bi. club and those of other leading clubs respecting the feasibility and the desirability of a creditable and enjoyable union meet at Newport, R. I., on Decoration day. * * * This will be a stimulus to the practice of good, orderly company riding this spring, and will offer a fine opportunity for mutual acquaintance and courtesies."

We find nothing about a permanent organization in this. Now we come to the first suggestion in this direction which was made at the conclusion of the editorial quoted:

"We wish to suggest now for consideration, in season, whether this proposed meet will not offer a suitable occasion for a meeting of delegates from all the clubs for the organization of a bicycle League, which may serve to protect and to further the general common rights and interests of wheelmen throughout the United States and Canada, and combine the best points of the Bicycle Union and the Bicycle Touring club abroad."

In a letter sent to the clubs, dated April 26, published in Bi. World May 1, 1880, Mr. Charles E. Pratt, president of the Boston Bi. club issued a call to the wheel clubs of the country, inviting them to send two delegates each to a meeting at Newport, the purpose of which should be the formation of an American League of Cyclists. We will not give the call in full but will make a few extracts to show its tenor:

"Believing the time has nearly arrived for American wheelmen to avail themselves of some of the advantages derived through the organizations already pretty well known here as the Bicycle Union and the Bicycle Touring club, and that at any rate a conference of the various clubs would be not only interesting, but of much benefit to the cause, * * * at the forthcoming Decoration day meet in Newport, at some suitable place to be announced, there will be a meeting called of all bicyclers present for a conference upon the formation of a bicycle League. * * * It would be desirable that every club should send two delegates authorized to attend this meeting. * * * I think that the general proposition for a conference of bicyclers will meet with approval, and result in benefit, and so have assumed the responsibility of issuing this call beforehand, so that those who attend may be prepared to understand and dispose of such propositions as might properly arise."

Deeds speak louder than words. Our latch string is out.

Toledo for the L. A. W. National Meet, 1896.

The action of the New York Bi. club, May 5, as cited by Mr. Shriver, was taken in response to the above circular, and the two delegates chosen to represent the club were J. C. Olmsted and H. C. De Rhun.

Karl Kron (New York) was present at the Newport meet and was active in the work of forming the League, although he never joined it. In his history of the League (see "Ten Thousand Miles on a Bicycle") he says:

> Newport, R. I., was the birthplace of this association, and Monday, May 31, 1880, its natal day. The initiative must be accredited to Kirk Munroe, who arranged that the other clubs should join with his own in making a public display of their wheelmanship, and who invited the unattached also to take part in the pageant. The editor of the Bi. World who was also president of the Boston Bi. club * * * suggested that the gathering would offer a suitable occasion for organizing a wheelman's protective League, and by the time the delegates actually assembled, the idea had gained such acceptance among them that they readily adopted the brief constitution which he had formulated, and selected him as the first president under it."

The delegates not only elected Mr. Pratt to be president but they took up a subscription and appointed a committee to procure some form of testimonial to testify their appreciation of his services in suggesting, planning and perfecting the organization. At a later date, in Boston, Mr. Pratt was presented with a silver pitcher and dubbed, "Father of the League."

We are willing to accord Mr. Munroe all the credit that he is entitled to for proposing the meet, but we must also be just to Mr. Pratt. Let the records decide the question.

Now one word as to League clubs. Mr. Shriver says that the honor of "first signing the roll" was accorded the New York club.

There is nothing in League history nor in its archives to show that there was a roll of League clubs, or that there was such a thing as a League club.

The first constitution provided that "the entire active membership of any recognized amateur bicycle club may be received at one-half the initiation fee per member."

This was a scheme to get the entire membership of a club. The name League club was not used till several years after.

Moreover the clubs were not arranged in numerical order during the early years of the League. We challenge any man to show a list of League clubs arranged in numerical order in any book, circular, periodical or record previous to 1887.

When the present secretary (Mr. Bassett) came into office (January, 1887) he found a list of League clubs in alphabetical order. In this way and no other it had always been kept. He made up a list of clubs and gave them numbers in sequence to correspond to their date of organization. The New York club was made club No. 1 by Mr. Bassett. The records of the League office are open to the inspection of any or all who may wish to verify or dispute this statement.

The New York Bi. club was and is entitled to the gratitude of all members of the League. It has remained a League club from the date of the formation of the League, and its members have always been loyal to the cause and patriotic in the pursuit of our interests. But we are writing history and in that work we must seek the truth regardless of the idols that we may pull down.

It is a real pleasure to help a fellowman who is in trouble. It is a sad thing to have him cry for help and to feel we are powerless to help him. Fred'k W. Dusterdrick, of Elizabeth, N. J., has a sweater that grows larger every time it is washed and he wishes us to tell him how to shrink it. He says his wife, his mother, his sisters, his cousins and his aunts have tried to aid him but the sweater continues to expand. We are at a loss to know what to say, but it seems to us that if the sweater is at all self-respecting its appearance will soon be such that it must naturally shrink from public gaze.

A number of correspondents have expressed their approval of a recent suggestion that wheelmen should use their influence to have freight shipped over the railway lines that carry wheels free. Our friends first, the rest of the world afterward.

No man was ever blamed for being a gentleman.

Can You?

Can you put the kernel back in the nut,
Or the broken egg in the shell?
Can you put the honey back in the comb,
And cover with wax each cell?
Can you put the perfume back in the vase
When once it has sped away?
Can you put the corn-silk back on the corn,
Or down on the catkins, — say?
You think my questions are trifling, dear;
Let me ask another one:
Can a hasty word ever be unsaid,
Or a deed unkind undone?

— Wide Awake.

WE ADMIT IT.

No. 59,110, New York city, says "the rule of the road" should be put in large type. He says: "I was riding quietly along a wide road not long ago, and hearing several wheelmen coming, turned to the curb and was almost knocked over by a humpbacked scorcher, who dashed by on my right instead of taking the left of the road. I had given up fifty-eight of the sixty feet of road to the party. Those who have used horses at all have no trouble, but ninety-nine per cent. of the cyclists one meets seem to have no idea which way to turn."

"THE VALLEY TURNPIKE" IN VIRGINIA.

BY SAM'L M. BARTON.

RADIATING out from the historic old town of Winchester, Va., like the spokes from the hub of a wheel, are seven macadam turnpikes. These feeders to the city vary in length, as well as in the degree of excellence as highways, though it may be said to their credit that none of them are bad roads. They are all toll roads, but, with possibly two exceptions, they bring in no profit to the stockholders, the gate receipts being consumed in repairs and other necessary expenses. The longest, the most historic, and, before the railroads came, by far the most important of these highways, is the road leading from Winchester to Staunton, commonly known as the Valley Turnpike. It is our purpose in this article to give briefly an historic sketch of this old highway, which runs through the most highly cultivated, the most fertile, and the most thrifty portion of the Old Dominion.

In times of peace the Valley Turnpike was a powerful factor in developing the resources of the superb farming section through which it ran, in building up numerous thriving little towns along its route, while it was the channel through which the produce of East Tennessee and Southwest Virginia reached an eastern market. In times of war it did excellent service, for along it Federal and Confederate armies marched and countermarched, and over its hard surface rolled heavy cannon and many a wagon train loaded with ammunition and other army supplies. Certainly, until very recently, its only rival in Americea was the great National Road.

Unlike the National Pike, however, which, I am told, has been practically abandoned for many miles of its course, the great macadam pike which winds down the beautiful Shenandoah Valley in Virginia, is still kept up in good condition, if not as smooth and hard as in ye olden times, before the Civil War. As it is now paralleled for the whole ninety-two miles, from Winchester to Staunton, closely by one railroad and more distantly by a second, travel has fallen off immensely, and the picturesque old stages and long line of wagons have long since given way to the locomotive, with its train of cars. But, although there is some little complaint about high tolls, the good old road gives eminent satisfaction to the farmer, the teamster, and the pleasure driver, and its smooth, hard surface attracts wheelmen from the eastern half of the Union. In "Streets and Highways in Foreign Countries," Mr. Tanner, U. S. Consul in Belgium, pays the following tribute to it: — "I have only made the acquaintance of the public roads in the Southern and Western states, and there is only one within my knowledge that can make pretensions to being called a road in the Belgian sense, and that is in the Valley of Virginia."

As illustrating the superb condition of this celebrated road, it is worth while to mention the hauling of six or seven locomotives and some forty freight cars over it during the Civil War. These locomotives were captured by the Confederates from the B. & O. R. R., at Martinsburg, and as locomotives were much needed in the South, it was decided to haul them by mules and horses via Winchester to Strasburg, a distance of forty miles, where they were put on the Manassas Branch of what was afterwards known as the Virginia Midland R. R., and carried south. Eye-witnesses testify that not only did the flat surface of the wheels not crush through the hard macadam, but in most places the flanges did not even make an indentation. Of course the bridges along the route had to be strengthened by extra braces and supports.

In the old days there was immense rivalry between the different stage lines. As a result of this the service was excellent, the time made was fast, the horses, except up very steep hills, going at a full gallop, there being relays for the change of horses every twelve miles. Mr. E. C. Bruce, of Winchester, a few years ago, in the Richmond Times, wrote as follows, concerning the travel: —

"I helped build de pike."

" One is never out of sight on it of vehicles or horsemen, although seventy wagons in three miles would be an extraordinary sight now. The writer once counted that number, and it was in time of peace, too, nearly every vehicle being a " mountain chaise " bound to or from East Tennessee and Southwestern Virginia. On the Valley Pike there were at one time no less than three daily stage lines each way. . . . The Valley was the vale of steers. Five hundred head were an average drove, and I recollect church services being materially disturbed by the bellowing of a herd of twelve hundred, which took the better part of one hour to pass the door. . . . The road is of stone, flanked with stone walls. Naturally it came to stay, it has stayed, and it promises to stay."

The Valley Turnpike owed its origin to that flood of public spirit that caused Virginia to appropriate large sums of money for internal improvements. We are not concerned with the fact that debts thus incurred gave the state much trouble a few years ago; but, in passing, it would be well to note that these financial troubles grew out of the demoralizing and impoverishing effects of the war, and in no sense do they show that the state was unwise in making such appropriations.

The legislation under which this pike was built will form an interesting paper for next week's issue of the BULLETIN.

THE bi-sickle is cutting a wide swath.

THE LOCAL LICENSE HERESY.

BY HOWARD WATSON, NO. 20,285.

It has come to the front again and this time in definite form. Last winter a bill passed both houses and only failed through accident to be signed by the governor, authorizing the supervisors of Niagara county to license and register bicycles, and to apply the funds to build side paths. C. D. White of Utica refers to this in the BULLETIN of Dec. 20, and urges similar legislation for other counties.

What does this signify? It amounts to authorizing the supervisors of any county to forbid the use of their highways to non-resident wheelmen. One would think that such a proposition needed only to be announced to draw out a storm of protests that would swamp the BULLETIN office; and yet it has been put forth at divers times within the last few months and, so far as I have seen, but one voice except my own has been raised against it.

This is the most serious danger that has threatened us in a long time, and the worst part of it is, that what opposition there will be to it, will not come from the localities where it is sought to be introduced, but from the surrounding counties, and of course will have no weight with the authorities.

I cannot think that Mr. White has given the subject the consideration it demands. It is incredible to me that any true sportsman should seriously contemplate the exclusion of non-resident wheelmen from the highways of his home county, in order that he may have side paths. We built a path in connection with the Schenectady wheelmen, and raised the money to pay for it. We had hard work raising it, and it is not as good as it might be; but such as it is, you are all welcome to ride it, wherever you are from, and if you think this is the right spirit for wheelmen to manifest toward one another, watch for local license bills this winter, and write your senators and assemblymen asking them to vote against them.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 21, 1895.

No. 38,417, of Peekskill, N. Y., writes that there is about two miles of road between Peekskill and Garrisons, on the Hudson, known as Nelson Hill, which is in a deplorable condition. If put in good shape the run from Peekskill to Garrisons would be delightful. Every member of the Van Cortland Wheelmen Club would be glad to contibute something to the road's improvement. It is desired that interested wheelmen shall " get together " and make the road right.

The man that hath no bicycle, himself,
Nor cares to glide upon the graceful wheel,
Is fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils;
The motions of his spirit are dull as night,
And his affections dark as Erebus.
Let no such man be trusted.

No. 89,118, St. Louis, Mo., writes of a wager made between four " trampers " and four wheelmen to the effect that two wheelmen would cover the distance to Collinsville (13½ miles from St. Louis), in two hours quicker time than the four trampers, of whom he was one. The start was made at 6.20 P. M., the evening being a beautiful one; the full moon appeared in all its glory in a cloudless sky. The trampers took to the railroad track, the wheelmen the wagon road, the outcome of the wager being that the wheelmen beat the trampers only 1 h. 40 m., hence the trophy belonged to the trampers. On the return trip the day following the distance was covered in about 2 h. 15 m. by the trampers.

The above has been related by me to show in what awful condition the roads are outside of East St. Louis. If I had not been over the road myself with my wheel, I would have considered the wager a very foolish one, as any person able to master a wheel could have easily covered the distance in 45 minutes on ordinary roads.

IN case of doubt, buy a good bicycle.

We shall take pleasure in making mention in this column of any bicycle catalogue which may be sent us. If our readers who send for any of the catalogues mentioned will kindly say that the notice was seen in the L. A. W. BULLETIN it will be appreciated by us as well as by the manufacturer.

Lyndhurst.

The first catalogue which came to us containing a page devoted to the L. A. W. is published by McKee & Harrington, 173 Grand Street, New York, manufacturers of the Lyndhurst bicycle. It is a very artistic production as to paper, ink and general design. It contains 24 illustrations which are very slick. In fact the entire book, from its beautiful frontispiece to the L. A. W. page at the back is well worth the perusal of any one interested in bicycles.

Victor.

The Overman Wheel Company, manufacturer of bicycles and sporting goods, whose principal office is at Chicopee Falls, Mass., has long been noted for getting out artistic novelties in the catalogue line. This year it is Japanese from start to finish, except that the reading matter is English. We have no doubt that Mr. Overman considered printing it in the Japanese language but desisted for obvious reasons. The leaves are of real Japanese paper, double, and printed only on one side, thus following the true Japanese idea of book making. It is a remarkably unique creation and fully sustains the reputation of this house for novelties.

Owing to the delay mentioned on page 8 of our Dec. 13 issue, it was impossible to get the L. A. W. leaf into the catalogue, but we understand that the O. W. Company has undertaken to put in an insert

THE ADVERTISING HABIT.

Successful advertising is like a sugar coated pill in that the coating makes it easier to swallow.

One of our exchanges, devoted to the subject of undertaking contains an advertisement which is so well calculated to attach itself like a barnacle to the memory of the reader and then just simply stay with him through life, that we have thought best to print it after changing the names so as to partially defeat its deadly purpose.

THE RULING PASSION.

NIXON WATERMAN.

A tiny tot of only three,
  Sweet as the dew the rose inhales,
I gayly dance upon my knee
  The while I tell her fairy tales.
Unclouded is her placid brow;
  "No care," muse I, "such lives distress!"
"Dear me," says she, "I wonder how I'd better make my dolly's dress?"

A fair young bride in queenly gowns
  Comes down the grand Cathedral aisle;
The mighty organ sweetly sounds,
  And on her lips a saintly smile.
And in her heart a prayer? Not so,
  For truthfully I must confess
She's thinking this: "I'd like to know
  What folks are saying of my dress."

A matron near the gates of death
  With weeping kindred at her side,
All fearful that each fleeting breath
  Will bear her soul across the tide.
She tries to speak! She faintly clasps
  The kindly form that bends above.
And with the parting breath she gasps,
  "See that my shroud is ruffled, love!"

If all the Scriptures say is true,
  There 'll be more women, ten to one,
Than men in that fair realm where you
  And I may meet when life is done;
But all the joys designed to bless—
  Bright crowns and harps with golden strings—
Won't please the women there unless
  Each has the nicest pair of wings.

THE MAYOR OF BROOKLYN.

F. W. Wurster has been well known since, as well as before election, as a very enthusiastic worker for whatever pertains to road improvement.

The support of wheelmen had much to do with his recent election, and our brothers in Brooklyn have reason to congratulate themselves upon the prospect of some good work which is liable to be brought about through the official acts of Mayor Wurster.

He has recently joined the League of American Wheelmen, and seems to be very much interested in our welfare as an organization.

He says, "I am in favor of making extra efforts to provide good roads and other accommodations for the wheelmen, for what we do for the wheel in this respect we do also for the driver and equestrian. I cannot see why the wheelman should not have his comfort looked after with just as much forethought, and with the same expenditure of money as any other class of people. I want to see good roads leading in every direction."

He further says, "Although I have two fine horses, I am free to confess that I would rather ride a bicycle, as I get more solid enjoyment out of it."

A very suggestive remark recently made by Mayor-elect Wurster, who has the appointing power, was this. "You can say for me that the next Park Commissioner for this city will be a practical wheelman."

TWO POINTS OF VIEW.

Of all the tedious, irksome jobs
That I have ever tried,
The toughest and most tiresome is
To teach a girl to ride!

And yet the most ecstatic bliss
It's been my joy to feel
Was when it fell my lot teach
A girl to ride the wheel!

The mystery of this paradox
Is easy to unfurl,
For whether it is work or play,
Depends on who's the girl!

GODEY'S Magazine of New York announces a prize of fifty dollars for the best short story in which the bicycle plays an important part. It must not be a century run scorcher, but just a short outing of three or four thousand words. The bicycle is such a pleasant fact, it surely ought to be made the theme of some delightful fiction.

IF, as the many insist, beauty is strength, then the Christmas number of The Wheelwoman is a most stalwart, yet withal a most charmingly graceful amazon. It is really mild praise of its beauty to say that it is the handsomest number of a bicycle magazine yet issued. From cover to cover, inclusive, its well-filled and ably-edited pages present a series of pleasant surprises in which the work of the artist and the writer are most happily blended. Mrs. Ida Trafford Bell, in her new relation as associate editor of The Wheelwoman appends her name to a number of strong and practical papers which handsomely supplement the splendid work which the readers of that paper enjoy every month written by its able conductor, Mary Sargent Hopkins. It's a magazine no wheelwoman should be without. Readers of the L. A. W. BULLETIN who may so desire, may send a dollar, the price of a year's subscription to The Wheelwoman, to this office, and the same will be given to the publishers of The Wheelwoman.

No. 84,806 writes:

"I am a heavy-weight (225 pounds) and ride a wheel geared to 68 inches. Commenced to ride last spring and got the "bicycle knee" (or knees, rather), so badly that it was torture for me to go either up or down stairs, but the pleasure of riding a wheel was so fascinating that I was determined not to give it up unless compelled to. However, I used liniments of all kinds, even going so far as to use a "horse liniment"; interviewed my physician, carefully and conscientiously took medicine prescribed by him, all to no purpose, knees just as bad. Finally my physician advised me to try a Bryonia and Rhus Tox. plaster, which I did, applying a piece of plaster on each knee, covering the sore spots and leaving plasters on for a week; result, entire cure, and I can now ride my wheel for hours without inconvenience; cost of plaster twenty-five cents."

BICYCLE FACTORY FOR SALE.

The extensive works located at South Framingham, originally built and occupied by the Para Rubber Company, and now owned by the Hickory Wheel Company, is for sale.

While occupied by the Hickory Wheel Company this property was put into first-class shape, and is now in the best of condition and well cared for.

It has 12 85 horse-power steam boilers, one double engine of nearly one thousand horse power, several smaller engines, dynamos, etc., in good order.

It has a side track from the Boston & Albany R. R., large fire-proof store-house and very large enameling ovens.

All the main floors have railroad tracks with turn tables at all elevators, a large number of cars for the handling of material through the buildings, and a large separate office building, plenty of heating apparatus, gas and water pipes, beside being thoroughly wired and equipped for electric lighting, both arc and incandescent.

The building contains about six acres of floor space, and the entire plant, including boarding houses, etc., covers about 18 acres of land.

This is a rare opportunity for some large manufacturing concern to locate in the very centre of the Massachusetts manufacturing district.

Particulars may be had by addressing" The BULLETIN Office, Boston."

BREAK THE RECORD

Increase the speed of your wheel and the ease of driving it: make your chain run easier and last longer by the use of Dixon's "679" Graphite CYCLE LUBRICANT. Prepared of the choicest and smoothest soft graphite, it thoroughly lubricates chain and sprockets, and prevents them from wearing. Will not gum or hold dust or dirt. Saves money and muscle. A GOOD ROADS SYSTEM.

The Ontario Good Roads Association has recommended the system of making and caring for roads as outlined in the following, from a recent report:

The county council, of Hastings, has control of and maintains nearly 400 miles of county-roads — some of these were first constructed as toll-roads and afterwards purchased by the county.

The annual expenditure in this county for road maintenance and construction is from $12,000 to $15,000 per annum. The work is done systematically. A superintendent of gravel roads is appointed at a salary of $700, he paying his own expenses. A gravel road committee is appointed by the county council. Two or more gangs of men are engaged, the foremen of each getting extra wages, the work is put directly in charge of the superintendent who reports monthly to the committee all details as to men, wages, work, etc. The strong points of this system of maintenance are:

First. The whole work through the committee is directly under the control of the council.

Second. The work is well done, as there is no inducement to scamp it.

Third. It is done where most required at the best time.

Fourth. The rate-payers are in touch with those performing the work and for any man to shirk his work will soon reach the superintendent.

Fifth. By employment of good men continually at the work they become experts and capable of doing more than inexperienced hands.

The cost per mile of maintenance is about $40 annually.

The same system, in variously modified forms, is now being employed in different sections of Canada and the United States.

The basis of assessing county roads is that of equalized value, care always being taken in assessing a road that it connects with the system in the adjoining municipality. The cost of maintenance of the roads is levied as a general rate to apply on any part of the system as found to be required.

MANUFACTURERS OF BICYCLE SUNDRIES—Would do well to correspond with F. E. Gilmore, Chickasha, Ind. Ter., with reference to the best "bicycle alarm bell" ever invented.

Alas, Too Often.

By sparing the rod we are spoiling the child,
And all through his life he will show it;
But "train up a child in the way he should go"
And the first chance he gets he will "go it."

THIS year promises to be the greatest in the history of bicycling.

THE growing importance of wheeling is shown in a bulletin recently issued by the Brooklyn Public Library, in which is the following note: "Bicyclists will find at the library the most recent works on wheeling, and also the road books published by the League of American Wheelmen of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and the New England States."

The Proper Thing.

Every play that's laid in Erin
Is quite certain to have therein
Some rocky passes where the villains their Poor victims slay.

But the rocks are only paper,
For 'tis quite the proper caper
To always have some sham-rocks shown in Every Irish play.

TALMAGE says bicycling is all right. That settles it.

Not a truth has to art or to science been given,
But brows have ached for it and souls toiled and striven.
—Meridith.

GOOD digestion has more to do with happiness than good preaching has.

TEN THOUSAND NAMES.

They are four in ten thousand, these men who are looking at you out of our pages this week. They work for and represent the division that has put ten thousand members into the League. They are so well known and their biographies have been written so many times that it would be an act of supererogation to write them up. We have delegated the official rooster to crow for them in the application list. The exultant bird that we are so proud of, and who is so useful to us is on strange ground, but he will crow none the less lustily for that. He shall go into the same field when any other division shall record ten thousand members. All honor to New York and her officials. Let the deafening cheer resound, strike the official hewgag and give the bass drum a one'r.

FIGURING GEAR.

A correspondent suggests that instead of multiplying the diameter of rear wheel by the number of teeth in front sprocket, and dividing by number of teeth in rear sprocket, that it is simpler to divide diameter of rear wheel by number of teeth in rear sprocket and multiply by number of teeth in front sprocket.

Of course the result would be the same. "You pays your money and you takes your choice."

DEAD men tell no jokes.

See-Saw.

An artist went to sea to see
What he might see at sea to draw,
He only saw what all may see—
The sea was all the artist saw.
And when he saw he'd seen the sea,
Proceeded he the scene to draw.
And since his scene I often see,
I've seen the sea the artist saw.

THE health-giving bicycle is doing much to make the doctors feel all out of patients.

IF the truth were known we should probably be made aware of the fact that Edward Bulwer Lytton wrote his famous line, "The pen is mightier than the sword," with an ordinary lead pencil. The poets and the essayists have not given the lead pencil the honor due it. A good lead pencil—ah! but there's the rub. That may explain everything. Maybe they haven't used Dixon's. There is as much difference in some folks as there is in anybody. It's the same way with pencils. Those made by the Jos. Dixon Crucible Company, Jersey City, are as smooth as oil.

For A Rainy Day.

Let's lay up something for a rainy day,
For since to market we must draw our loads,
We 'd better plan to lay up while we may
A system of good, well-drained public roads.

NOW IS THE TIME.

ALL of us have heard the story of the "Arkansas Traveler," in which it is related how the owner of the house with a defective roof explained that he couldn't repair it while it was raining and when it wasn't raining the roof answered all right, just as it was.

In too many localities the bad condition of the public highways may be accounted for in the same manner. Through the busy teaming season the farmers are too much occupied with other work to give the condition of the highway much attention. And when their season's business is over, it isn't worth while, so they think, to do anything until the next year.

And so with a "lick and a promise," the roads are patched up "for the time being," and a good piece of road is an accident or the result of nature's kindness.

Just now is a good time for the farmers and the residents of smaller towns to build their good roads, "on paper," at least.

A careful looking-over of the work to be done, and planning how to do, will make its accomplishment more certain than if the whole subject is left in a catch-as-catch-can condition.

With correct roads in this country two-thirds of the expense of marketing its produce would be saved. It is worth considering. The value of farms would be greatly increased and everybody would be made happier.

Are the farmers of the land properly improving the time in educating themselves and others in this most important matter ?

A neighborhood is judged by the roads it keeps. The man who builds a good public road is a benefactor to mankind.

Plan your work now and do it just as soon as you can.

MUD!

Mud!

Murky, mucky mud!

It is a halt and a hobble to every hoof, and a worry and weight to every wheel.

The clammy clutch of its multitudinous finger clings to every foot and felly.

It is a monster born of clouds and darkness. The devil-fish of the path and the highway.

The sunshine is its enemy, before whom it creeps into its hidden caves.

Mud is the monster mother of earth's slimy things.

It is the antithesis of flight. It is a drag placed on the feet of the world.

It is the sloth seeking to make a sluggard of every moving thing.

Its purpose is to daub and delay, distress and destroy.

It is the ugly handicap of time and a blasting blight to progress.

Its presence means isolation and ignorance, superstition and squalor.

It is the smoky glass enshrouding the light of liberty and motion.

It is the underbrush in the path of progress; an impassable lock in the current of commerce.

It is an incessant toll-gatherer and a perennial tax-monger.

Its joy is to bother and besmirch, to balk and to baffle.

It represents grief and gloom, and throws its shadow over gayety and gladness.

It was not made for man.

Better a roaring lion in the street than a highway filled with mud.

Banish it forever and a day.

Amen.

AT the annual meeting of the Steuben County board of supervisors State of New York, 38 members in number and representing 80,000 population, the following resolution offered by Supervisor John S. Kennedy of the City of Corning, an enthusiastic wheelman, was unanimously adopted.

Resolved: That the senator from this district and the members of assembly from this county be requested to favor the enactment of good roads measures and the appropriation of a liberal amount for improving the roads of the State.

Horses are not built like frogs,—
Roads should not be spongy bogs.

GOOD ROADS AND BAD.

We trust that the legislature at its coming session will, as one of its first duties, take up the subject of improved road laws for the state. We do not know that any change is necessary in reference to the common unpaved roads, unless a severe penalty is provided against the working of the roads late in the fall. All the work on the common roads should be done early in the summer.

The thing needed is such legislation as will give the most liberal encouragement to the construction of paved roads. It is now a fact that nearly the whole people favor these improvements. Each citizen is willing to bear a fair proportion of the burden of the expenses needed. This is the almost unanimous sentiment. There is no other part of our indebtedness more cheerfully paid than that which has been incurred in the construction of good roads. The expense is so small compared with the vast benefits received in return, that the desire is general to improve all the roads on which there is much travel. The present law is good enough as far as it goes. Under its operations, however, only a few of the more favored roads can be improved. What is needed is a law that permits all roads to be improved as soon as a majority of those persons most interested and who must bear the chief burden of the expense desire to do so.—Toledo (O.) Commercial.

ASSEMBLY HEADQUARTERS.

The annual meeting of the National Assembly of the L. A. W. will be held in Baltimore, Md., Feb. 10, etc., 1896.

The headquarters have been fixed at Hotel Rennert with rates of $1.50 to $4 00 per diem, European plan.

The assembly will meet in the Royal Arcanum Hall directly opposite the hotel.

I would respectfully request all delegates who expect to attend to secure their rooms as soon as possible.

It is the duty of every delegate to attend if possible, and if impossible to attend, he should send his proxy.

ARCHIBALD C. WILLISON, President L. A. W.

AMENDMENTS.

On behalf of the Committee on Rules and Regulations the following amendments to the Constitution and By-Laws will be proposed at the meeting of the National Assembly in February, 1896.

ALBERT MOTT.

CONSTITUTION.

Add new Section to Article II., as follows:

"Sect. 6. When the membership of any division, subdivision or consulate shall be less than twenty-five, such division, subdivision or consulate shall be discontinued, and all moneys and property shall be turned over to the secretary of the League within thirty days after notification by the Secretary."

Strike out Section 5 of Article III., and substitute the following:

"All memberships shall expire one year from the date on which the application is published in the official organ."

Strike out the words "except that on Auditing" at the last of the seventh paragraph of Sect. 1, Article IV.

Article IV., Sect. 4. Strike out the word "February" and insert "January."

Insert the word "exclusively" after the word "roll," in the fifth line of Sect. 1 (b) to Article V.

Article V., Sect. 7. After the word "consulate" in second line, insert "or any delegate to the National Assembly."

Article V., Sect. 10. Add after the word "By-Laws" at the close of the paragraph "and shall incorporate the latter therewith."

Strike out the words "Officers and" in the first line of Sect. 4, Article VI.

Strike out the words "except that on auditing" in Sect. 4 of Article VI.

After the word "committees" in the first line of Sect. 5. Article VI., insert in parentheses the words "(except that on Auditing, which shall be elected)"

Insert after the word "list" in the seventh line of Sect. 1 (b) of Article VIII., the words "of all its members, designating those who are members of the League."

After the word "members" in the eighth line of Sect. 1 (c) of Article VIII., insert the words "with the League members designated as such."

Insert in Article VIII., Sect. 1, new paragraph as follows: "(h) League clubs containing members belonging also to other League clubs will have such members on or before the first day of October in each year, advise the secretary-treasurer of the division as to the club in which he elects to be counted for League club representation in the division board of officers, and the secretary-treasurer shall thereupon notify all the clubs to which the member belongs of his decision as to representation."

BY-LAWS.

Remove sections (b), (c), (d) from Sect. 3 of Article IV., and make them sections (c), (d), (e) of Sect. 1 of same Article.

Article III., Sect. 4. Strike out in sixth and seventh lines the words "at the close of each term of his office," and insert in lieu thereof the words, "quarterly, in the months of January, April, July and October of each year."

Notice is filed that Sect. 1 of Article VI. may be amended to authorize the collection of a fee for transfers after the secretary-treasurer of each division interested has been notified that the change is pending.

Thanks are due from the committee and tendered the following members of the League for suggestions and advice: Mr. R. M. Welch, (matter referred to racing board); Mr. F. P. Prial, Mr. Thos. F. Cooke.

By Mr. M. L. Knowlton: Article III., Constitution·

substitute for Sect. 2. "All applications for membership and renewals of same shall be sent to the secretary-treasurer of the division in which the applicant resides, together with the proper fees and dues, and such information as may be required. And the secretary-treasurer shall forward said application or renewals to the secretary of the League with the portion of dues belonging to the national body, and to the official organ, retaining the portion belonging to the division.

Amend Sect. 4 to agree with above.

Mr. J. Emory Tippett.

By Mr. Douglas W. Robert: Article IV., Sect. 1, Constitution. Strike out the word "chairmen" in the fourth line of seventh paragraph, and insert the word "members."

By Mr. Abbot Bassett: Article II., Sect. 1 (b), By-Laws. Add at close of paragraph, "Provided, also, that the secretary of the League may vote such instructed proxies as may be sent to him for that purpose."

Dr. Geo. E. Blackham; Mr. W. C. Munro: Matter referred to racing board; Mr. Otto Dorner.

Mr. Sterling Elliott: By-Laws, Article I, Sect. 1. Strike out the last sentence and insert "He may employ a clerk at wages not to exceed $1,000 per annum."

Mr. Chas. L. Wenner: Matter referred to racing board; Mr. H. C. Nickerson, Mr. W. S. Bull.

Submitted for the committee on rules and regulations.

ALBERT MOTT.

MASSACHUSETTS CONSULS.

The terms of all local consuls in Massachusetts expired Dec. 1. Many of the last year's consuls will be reappointed.

I have received numerous letters on this subject, which cannot be answered at present.

All communications relating to local consuls will be taken up and acted upon between now and February 1.

STERLING ELLIOTT, Chief Consul.

BOARD OF OFFICERS, MASSACHUSETTS DIVISION.

The annual meeting of the board of officers, Massachusetts division, L. A. W., was held at Young's Hotel, Boston, Wednesday evening, Dec. 11, 1895. Chief Consul Sterling Elliott presided, and the following officers were present: D. E. Miller, A. D. Peck, J. Fred Adams, Louis H. Adams, Chas. L. Barker, W. B. Chipman, Josiah S. Dean, W. C. Dillingham, Warner S. Doane, W. W. Eddy, Howard B. Emery, John J. Fecitt, A. G. Frothingham, Fred I. Gorton, W. G. Kendall, J. C. Kerrison. Fred S. McCausland, Henry C. Nickerson, H. E. Morine, Geo. A. Perkins, Arthur K. Peck, Arthur W. Robinson, Allen W. Swan, Geo. H. Stevens, Frank B. Sibley, J. Emory Tippett, Spencer T. Williams, D. J. Chisholm, G. W. Dontee, F. O. Dean, C. W. Fourdrinier, Bertram Harriott, A. M. Lloyd, J. A. Langford, R. A. Moses, Fred McDonough, A. W. Norcross, C. G. Percival, J. W. Porter, H. W. Robinson, Reuben S. Swan, N. W. Starbird, J. E. Towne, A. W. Pease, W. C. Toppan, G. M. Babb, L. P. Jackson, F. H. McKee. Ten other members of the board were represented by proxies.

Mr. J. S. Dean moved that the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting be dispensed with, asking, however, that a clerical error in the rights and privilege committee's report be corrected, substituting $5.00 for $500, as printed in the report of damages awarded Mr. Boyer.

Chief Consul Elliott then made the following report:

Chief Consul's Report.

The largest membership which the Massachusetts division ever had, was at the close of March, 1894, when we had enrolled 6,297 members. Of these there were renewed during the summer and fall of 1894, 3,999, or about 63 1-2 per cent. To those renewals were added 1,338 new names, so that at the close of last March we had a total of 5,337, or a little over 84 per cent of the former year's membership.

Of that 5,337 we have renewed 3,459, or about 64 3-4 per cent, a gain of 1 1-4 per cent in renewals over last year.

The total number of new names received to March 31 of last year, was 1,338. The new names received this year to Dec. 1 number 2,459, or a gain of nearly 84 per cent, with three and a half months yet to hear from.

Of the new names received, 815, or about one-third have been sent in by local consuls. It is my belief that a considerable proportion of these names may be credited to the cash prizes which we offered.

The total amount received by the division in fees from new members, put in by local consuls, is $1,100.25. The total amount of the prizes is $200, awarded as follows, the money being divided in accordance with a circular sent out from my office last spring.

1.	Lincoln Holland, Worcester	122 names	$50 00
2.	A. D. Peck, Boston	60 "	39 00
3.	W. C. Butman, Middleboro	42 "	25 00
4.	F. W. Taylor, Westboro	35 "	20 00
5.	G. Edgar Russell, Brockton	32 "	15 00
6.	Alexander Keltie, Roxbury	25 "	10 00
7.	L. W. Piper, Newburyport	23 "	6 66
8.	Dr. A. F. Wyman, New Bedford	23 "	6 66
9.	Abraham R. Duryee, Cambridge	23 "	6 66
10.	Frank H. Erskine, E. Bridgewater	20 "	5 00
11.	Henry T. Brown, Winchester	19 "	5 00
12.	Frank C. Flint, Chicopee Falls	18 "	5 00
13.	I. N. Chase, Malden	17 "	5 00
14.	G. W. Loring, Allston	17 "	5 00
15.	G. Arthur Babbitt, Taunton	16 "	2 50
16.	James Lehan, Stoughton	16 "	2 50

I would suggest that in view of the nearness of the merry Christmas times, we pay these prizes at once.

The total number of local consuls appointed up to Dec. 1 was 126. Of these, 73 have sent in new names, though 12 of them sent but one name each.

Although the greatest care was used to find and appoint the best man in each case, we are confronted with the sad fact that 53 of those consuls did not send in a single new name. Forty-two consuls sent five or more names, and were furnished with the painted local consul signs. Thirty-two sent ten or more names, and have received the local consul badge.

The division had no unpaid bills Dec. 1, and as will be shown by the secretary-treasurer's report, had a balance on hand of $1,450.17.

I would recommend the appropriation of $200 for prizes next year, to be divided among the fifteen consuls who shall send in the largest number of new names and renewals.

I am in a position this year to give more careful attention to the duties of the office of chief consul, beside being better informed as to what should be done.

And I will certainly make an earnest effort to deserve the confidence you have shown in re-electing me.

Chief Consul's report accepted.

The present secy.-treas. not having received from the ex-secretary-treasurer a report, none was rendered. Mr. Reuben S. Swan, however, as chairman of the finance committee presented the following report, showing the financial condition of the division.

The finance committee respectfully submit their final report for the year just closed.

The books and accounts of the secretary-treasurer have been carefully audited each quarter, and balances verified. No bills have been paid unless approved by the chairman of the committee.

The accounts of Charles S. Howard, late secretary-treasurer have been examined to Dec. 1, 1895, and found correct, and the books have been transferred to the newly elected secretary-treasurer.

It appears to your committee that some change should be made in the manner of keeping the financial accounts of the division. Under the present system, few detailed appropriations are made, and the secretary-treasurer has no knowledge of what payments he is liable to be called on to make, on account of bills contracted outside his office. Your committee would suggest that specified amounts be appropriated for such expenses as the division is liable to incur, and that each bill be charged to its proper appropriation.

The condensed financial statement for the past year is as follows:

Respectfully submitted,

REUBEN S. SWAN, Chairman.

Report accepted.

Chairman J. S. Dean of the rights and privileges, presented his report, which was also accepted, and is as follows:

Since my last report I have had a great many requests for advice from members of the League, in regard to accident cases.

The number of them has very largely increased. By far the greater number comes from those whose bicycles have been smashed while standing at the side of the streets. I have succeeded in getting fifty dollars for one member from an express company, and twenty-five dollars for a member whose machine was injured by the West End street railway. These amounts were satisfactory to the members, and were obtained without expense to either the League or the claimants. Some members of the Boston Wheelmen were sued a short time ago by a colored rider, who claimed that he was unlawfully discriminated against on account of his color. At their request I entered my appearance in court, where the matter is still pending. He seemed to think that it was a matter the League should take up, and I leave it to the representative to say whether or not I should conduct the defence as a League official. I have had also a number of requests to appear in court as prosecuting attorney against bicycle thieves. This it is impossible for me to do, as it takes too much time from my business, and no compensation was offered by anyone, the members seeming to think that it was part of the duties of the chairman of the committee on rights and privileges.

I have not given in detail all the cases I have been consulted about, as many of them have been simply requests for a legal opinion. In some I have made demands which have been resisted, and the League members have failed to satisfy me that they could maintain their side of the case, the matter has been dropped. I believe that this department ot the League work is a very important one, and has been of great benefit to the League.

Verbal reports were rendered by Messrs. Geo. A. Perkins, chairman of the highway improvement committee, J. C. Kerrison, chairman of the touring committee, and Spencer T. Williams, chairman of the rules and regulations committee.

Mr. H. C. Nickerson, chairman of the transportation committee, who is also a member of the national committee, reported a meeting held by a joint committee from the League and the cycle board of trade, in which a committee of three was appointed to confer with the trunk lines passenger association, and to explain the position taken by the wheelmen. This committee was refused an audience. The matter was then laid before the national executive committee, with a recommendation to carry it before the courts. In the course of his remarks he cited a local case of disagreement between the Fitchburg railroad and a cyclist, who on September 10 sent his wheel by that road from Hudson to Boston. He paid twenty cents tariff, but since that time the owner has not seen the wheel, and is unable to get satisfaction. The railroad claim that they are not liable for baggage not called for on arrival of train.

Pres. Willison of the L. A. W. recommended to Mr. Nickerson that the matter be referred to W. M. Brewster, chairman of the national transportation committee.

Report was accepted.

Chairman Henry W. Robinson, of the racing board, said that his position on the national board was interwoven with the State board, and offered the following report which was accepted:—

TO THE CHIEF CONSUL AND BOARD OF OFFICERS MASSACHUSETTS DIVISION, L. A. W.

Gentlemen,—During the year just closed, the racing in Massachusetts has, we think, been quite up to the standard of any in the country.

The general increase has affected our State about proportionally with the other States, and with the increase, the number of unsanctioned meets, and other fractions of the rules has been on the decrease, showing that the people interested, have, by persistent work on the part of the racing boards, come to recognize that it is better to abide by the rules rather than take the chances of being found out and punished for acting contrary to the rules.

During the year, some one hundred and seventy odd sanctions have been granted for Massachusetts alone, by the national board.

To show the interest that racing has by degrees worked up the public at large, I will say that nearly all of the country fairs have this year included as a part of their "show" a few bicycle races, and these are in place of what has always been considered as one of the chief attractions of the fairs, viz., the horse trots.

The racing at the two division meets has been under the supervision of the board, and that at the Worcester meet, in the direct charge of one of the members of the board, Mr. Knight, of Worcester.

At these two meets, the members of the division were admitted at reduced rates, or free, and thereby saved about three quarters of the dollar that it cost them to renew their membership this year.

Such inducements as these are what very many of the members expect, and to satisfy their expectations, is to have a hold on them for members for the coming years.

There have been two division championships run off during the year, and resulted in making Mr. J. J. Casey, of Worcester, the division champion for the year at one-half mile, and Mr. Warren S. Reynolds, of Hyde Park, the champion for one mile.

A Massachusetts man, Mr. Nat Butler, of Cambridgeport, has done honor to the division during the year by winning the two-mile national championship.

In closing, I wish to thank local consuls for assistance given the board in various matters during the year.

With bright prospects for another successful year of racing, we remain, Yours,

MASS. DIV. RAC. BOARD,
by H. W. ROBINSON, Chairman.

Chief Consul Elliott announced that he had appointed Mr. Arthur K. Peck as chairman of the road book committee.

Mr. J. S. Dean moved that they proceed to the election of a finance committee, and that a committee of three be appointed to receive and count the ballots, and the following were appointed: J. S. Dean, H. W. Robinson and Dr. Kendall.

Mr. McCausland nominated Mr. Swan, and Mr. Williams nominated W. W. Eddy and H. E. Morine. The three nominees were elected.

Mr. Dean moved that they proceed to elect delegates to the national assembly, and that the entire board be placed in nomination.

The following is the result of the election:

Total number of votes, 58.

J. S. Dean,	42	votes	S. T. Williams,	41	votes
Arthur K. Peck,	40	"	J. J. Fecitt,	39	"
W. C. Dillingham,	38	"	C. W. Fourdrinier,	36	"

L. H. Adams,	33	"	A. G. Frothingham,	33	"
F. I. Gorton,	32	"	H. W. Robinson,	30	"

All the above are elected. Ballots cast for the other candidates are as follows:

J. Fred. Adams,	21	votes	W. G. Kendall,	6	votes
J. C. Kerrison,	18	"	R. S. Swan,	6	"
J. W. Porter,	18	"	A. W. Norcross,	5	"
A. W. Robinson,	17	"	F. P. Sibley,	5	"
H. B. Emery,	17	"	F. McDonough,	4	"
W. C. Toppan,	13	"	W. S. Doane,	3	"
C. L. Barker,	9	"	H. E. Morine,	3	"
H. C. Nickerson,	9	"	G. H. Stevens,	3	"
L. P. Jackson,	8	"	W. W. Eddy,	2	"
W. B. Chipman,	8	"	G. E. Patton,	2	"
D. J. Chisholm,	7	"	James Keltie,	1	"
F. A. Dean,	7	"	J. A. Langford,	1	"
F. H. McKee,	7	"	A. W. Pease,	1	"
G. W. Dortee,	6	"	G. A. Perkins,	1	"

The following additional members are entitled to seats in the assembly, Vice-pres. Geo. A. Perkins, J. E. Tippett, chairman of national membership committee.

Mr. L. P. Jackson of the Lynn Cycle club spoke of the successful political campaign waged in that city. The wheelmen elected twenty-eight out of the thirty-four candidates for city positions, every one of the number being pledged to support the good roads movement.

The club now wants to get a superintendent of streets who will be willing to place the thoroughfares in a much better condition than they are at the present time.

This fight, the speaker said, grew out of the war waged against the wheelmen using the piece of ground between the car tracks and the Lynn common. To ascertain if the division was in sympathy with the Lynn Cycle club in this matter, Mr. Jackson offered the following resolution:

Resolved, that we, the Board of Officers and delegates of Massachusetts State Division, L. A. W., thoroughly approve the action of the Lynn Cycle club in entering the political field in Lynn for the purpose of obtaining good roads.

That we approve all work already accomplished, and urge that it be continued along the lines laid out by the chairman of the good roads committee, Norman C. Bassett.

That we congratulate the members of the Lynn Cycle club and the Lynn members of the L. A. W., on their loyalty to the cause in so strongly supporting Chairman Bassett throughout the recent municipal campaign in Lynn, and that we further congratulate all concerned on the extremely successful results attained in the election of yesterday.

That we offer our moral support, our voting strength, and our assistance in every way possible to further the cause of good roads in Lynn.

Mr. Frothingham moved that it be received and printed in the BULLETIN.

The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Geo. A Perkins spoke against the proposed amendment offered by Isaac B. Potter to the national assembly, to do away with cycle racing, so far as the League as an organization is concerned, and in closing moved as the sentiment of the board that the League should not surrender its jurisdiction over cycle racing, his motion offered reading as follows:

Voted, that it is the sense of the Massachusetts Division Board of Officers that it is unwise that the League of American Wheelmen give up its control of racing, and that the delegates to the National Assembly should oppose the adoption of any such amendment.

Messrs. Dontee, Fecitt and Fourdrinier spoke to the question. Resolution passed by a unanimous vote.

Mr. S. T. Williams moved that it was the sense of the meeting that the Associated Cycle clubs conduct the race tournament to be held in conjunction with the spring meet of the Massachusetts division.

Carried by a vote of thirty-two to nine.

Mr. Elliott asked that an informal vote be taken on his amendment in regard to abolishment of proxies. Numerous arguments pro and con were advanced by the board. Messrs. A. W. Robinson, J. C. Kerrison, G. H. Stevens and Reuben Swan taking the affirmative side and Messrs. A. K. Peck, J. J. Fecitt and A. G. Frothingham taking the negative. The motion was apparently informally carried, but a recount resulted in a tie. Mr. Elliott withdrew the amendment from this meeting. To be acted upon formally in March.

Mr. A. G. Frothingham moved the following: That Article XIII of the By-Laws be amended by striking out the words: "An Annual Meet in July or August, and adding, after the word October, and a Midwinter Meet in January or February."

The motion was withdrawn by Mr. Frothingham and as a substitute it was voted that the General Committee be given power for a midwinter meet in January or February at an expense not to exceed $200.

Carried.

An offer was received from the Indiana Cycle Co., tendering free use of their building, 541 Tremont Street, at such a time for entertainment purposes that the committee may agree upon.

Mr. McCausland moved that the sum of five hundred dollars (to be paid quarterly) be appropriated as the salary of the Secretary-Treasurer for one year, said sum to cover all the clerical expenses of his office, except the expense of sending notices, etc., to the membership at large.

Carried unanimously.

Secretary-Treasurer A. D. Peck moved that a vote of thanks be extended to ex-Secretary-Treasurer C. S. Howard for his work to the League in years past.

Carried.

Mr. Williams moved that the meeting adjourn.

Carried.

Meeting adjourned at 11 P. M.

INDIANA LOCAL CONSULS.

Am extremely anxious to have a letter from each one of you this week — fifty-four all told. I want to get acquainted with you, to know what you have done, are doing, and expect to do for our division. Please write me fully concerning L. A. W. matters at your point and in that vicinity. Give me close estimate as can of the number of wheelmen there, whether any club or clubs. State if L. A. W. has a strong foothold or if interest is lagging. If the latter, what, in your opinion, is the reason of it? Let me have any suggestions that occur to you whereby the membership in your section can be built up and quickly. How is your supply of application blanks, renewals, recruiting literature?

Do you feel thoroughly acquainted with the duties and responsibilities of your position? Are you keeping posted on matters pertaining to the League and its work? If not, try reading the notices that are published from week to week in the official columns of the BULLETIN. It will assist you in keeping posted on current matters. In addition, brush up some on the Constitution and By-laws, both of the National Organization and of this division. They will undoubtedly give you some information concerning the ground plan of the League that you did not know or have lost sight of. If you have no copy of the Constitution and By-laws, ask for them. Will be only too glad to supply you. By getting more thoroughly acquainted with the principles and rules of the organization, you will not only become more deeply interested in studying out some plan to make a showing in your part of the State, but will be better able to make such a showing. It will post you more thoroughly and enable you to place the general workings of the League and this division more clearly before prospective members. Before a man joins an organization he wants to know something about it and the more concisely you can inform him on this point, the easier it will be for you to draw on the advantages derived in joining us. Right here, let me add — study your man. You can't approach every one alike. What will interest one and induce him to become a member, will have little or no effect on another. You cannot work by an iron-clad rule in recruiting. On this point I shall have more to say later on and in answer to you letters.

One reason in particular why I want to get in touch with each local consul is to inform you fully about our new road book which is being gotten up now. There has been lots of good, solid work put in on it and there will have to be a whole lot more, for we are bound to make it as complete and up-to-date as can be done. Your aid will in many cases be necessary to accomplish this and I feel quite sure it will be given. I want a chance to describe some of the features of this road book to you, so write me at once. A road book will be a great big talking point for you in recruiting. The maps in this book will be the best and most complete road maps yet published of this State.

In concluding I wish to ask of you that if there is a local consul in this State who feels he has not the time to spare to advancing the interests of this division by working up a larger membership, drop me a line and tell me so and at same time give me the names of 'one or two members whom you feel would take hold and interest themselves in the work on hand by hustling for new members. The Indiana Division is going after scalps. We'll lay for Minnesota as a starter and it will not take but a few more members to pass her and then some of the other divisions will have to look after their total enrollment. "Keep your eye on the Indiana Division." Sincerely yours,

MARO R. THOMPSON, Chief Consul.

MEMBERS, INDIANA DIVISION.

It undoubtedly is the wish of every member of the Indiana Division that our membership be materially increased. In order to bring about this desired result, combined action is necessary. One man cannot do it, nor can six, but if we all pitch in and work together, it can be accomplished and in a comparatively short length of time.

One of the first difficulties that confronts me is a lack of local consuls. There must be some sort of a head to the division work in each locality for, if not, then what is every member's business is no member's business, and as a result the work of advancing the division at such a point is neglected. Wherever its interests are not looked after and pushed, it very naturally results in the division and the League becoming a sort of back number and you are confronted with "What is the L. A. W.?" If you want proof of this, ask any of your friends who have toured through other divisions where the L. A. W. is not simply a name but a power.

Now in many towns and cities of this State we have no local consul at all. In others a local consul has been appointed but has seemingly not been able to do much toward piling up the membership in his town. In many cases this has no doubt been through lack of time. Now what I want and what I must have is the earnest and hearty co-operation of each and every member of this division. If there has never been a local consul where you are, then write to me explaining the situation and recommend some one for the position. If you yourself have the good of this division and that of the L. A. W. at heart, sufficiently to take up the work entailed by the position, don't delay, but drop me a line at once stating that you are willing to take hold. If there is a local consul at your town but he has not the time to devote to the work, let me know about it and at same time send the names of several good, live members whom you believe could and would put their energies and time in the work. It takes a hustler to make a success in this work. I hope that each member of this division will read this and in doing so have the feeling that I am talking right at you. Take it as a personal communication and after you have read it over carefully, see if you haven't something you wish to write me about, and if so, don't put it off but write me at once. Our division has got to grow, will you help? Sincerely yours,

MARO R. THOMPSON, Chief Consul.

UTAH DIVISION.

I have this day appointed Mr. E. E. Winters, rooms 318-19-20, Atlas Block, Salt Lake City, as division attorney, and wish to call the members' attention to the fact that any wilful oppression or disregard of the rights of members of this division will receive prompt attention and legal prosecution if the facts are reported to him.

C. N. BUTLER, Chief Consul.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Dec. 6, 1895.

OHIO DIVISION.

To All Cincinnati League Members.

Cincinnati has recently regained from Cleveland, by a safe margin, her long lost prestige as the leading city of Ohio in League membership. Now we are in danger of being passed by Toledo. Each and every Cincinnati member is therefore urged to secure one or more applications, in order that the Queen City of the West may retain her rightful position in the League. Applications handed to Robert L. Martin, 435 Walnut Street, will be promptly forwarded to headquarters. W. C. MUNRO, Representative in Charge of District 22 (Cincinnati).

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27, 1895.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to Monday preceding this date, and published in accordance with Article III of the constitution.

Tickets will be issued fourteen days after the publication of names.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published and to report errors and omissions to the secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges, so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at noon on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

QUERIES AND ANSWERS

"Wheelman," Pannu, Oklahoma:

No. 89,721, P. O. Box 1595, New York City, is looking for some one as a companion on an around-the-world-on-a-bicycle trip. Write at once.

No. 35,831, Bridgeport, Conn.:

An amendment to the constitution will be introduced at the meeting of the general assembly at Baltimore in February, by Albert Mott, that will just about cover your suggestions.

HORACE M. JOHNSON, Chicago, asks:

Will you please publish in the BULLETIN a summary of some of the different State Laws in regard to the authorities controlling the construction and maintenance of highways?

Ans. From incomplete data at hand we find that:

In California, where the township system is optional, the city council constructs and maintains all roads.

In Indiana the roads are maintained by the townships; but the county council may assume control of particular roads when so authorized by vote of electors of municipality interested—the local municipalties paying all expenses.

Massachusetts has a combined system of county and state roads.

In New Hampshire the township councils control and maintain all roads.

In New Jersey, where it is said the greatest advance has been made in road making, the townships have charge of the roads, while the county council may select certain roads for improvements, at the joint expense of the state, county and township.

In New York the county and township authorities maintain the roads, each providing for the expense of the roads under their control. Statute labor is abolished in all local municipalities when a road is assumed by the county.

In Wisconsin all roads are controlled by the Township authorities. Statute labor is abolished, although it may be performed any year if a majority of the electors by vote so decide.

TANDEM CRANKS.

We are asked the following question: "In building a tandem cycle why have both sets of pedals been set with the same 'dead centers.' Why not give them the same arrangement as the two engines have on a locomotive. Would it not give greater speed as well as more power in hill climbing? Has the above arrangement ever been tried?"

Ans. This arrangement has been tried and abandoned for the reason that the power applied to a bicycle is not continuous, but consists of a series of impulses corresponding to the thrusts of the rider's feet. The speed of a bicycle varies slightly with each half revolution of the pedals, in other words the machine is moving forward faster while either pedal points directly ahead than it is while the pedals are at the top and bottom of the stroke.

This difference in speed at different parts of the stroke is enough to be plainly noticed by the close observer when a light machine is being vigorously pushed. It is seen to move forward by a succession of jumps differing only from the jumps of the rabbit in the fact that the speed slackens instead of stopping at the end of each impulse.

If the cranks of a tandem are set so that each rider is pushing hardest while the other is on the dead center, then the push given by one rider is against the entire weight of both, machine and all, at a time when the other rider can do little or nothing.

If both riders work in harmony then the effect is the same as in all other human affairs, viz., that much more is accomplished when we have a common purpose than when we are working against each other.

WHY "UNATTACHED?"

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

Will you tell a new member how "Unattached" came to be our title? Were Clubs the original organizations, and are members of L. A. W. and only L. A. W. unaffiliated folk? Why are we not "League Members" generically? Clubs have their specific advantages, but the unclubbed are as truly and loyally attached to the all-embracing League.

Would it be impolitic, or might it not be good policy to have our Kodak friends photograph sections of streets where the water-cart makes travel miserable and to reproduce in your columns pictures of the same, with such definiteness of name of location as you may think prudent?

No. 79,610.

"Unattached" merely means unattached to a club.

We are always glad to receive good photographs and are willing to pay for them if they can be used in the L. A. W. BULLETIN

Children should be punished (if at all) for their misdeeds, with the sole idea of reformation, and not as a result of parental indigestion.

FOR once we were determined that this page of the L. A. W. BULLETIN should be red.

CORRESPONDENCE

CORRECTING ROAD BOOKS.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

Mr. Bolton Hall's suggestion to offer rewards, either monetary or otherwise, to those members who find errors in their Division Road Books may be a good idea, but I doubt it.

For what constitutes an error? If two towns are said to be ten miles apart when they are but five, that is an error. But how about a case like this? The Road Book gives two towns as ten miles apart. "A" measures the distance with his cylometer and sends in a report saying these towns are but eight miles apart and claims his little quarter. And yet both himself and the Book might be right. The original reporter of the distance might have measured the distance from the centres of the towns and the quarter-chaser from their outskirts.

"Errors" in grades, so called, are not always errors. One rider might think a road only fairly hilly and report it as such. Another rider, not so strong a one as the first, might think it very hilly. Even "adjective" hilly, if he were a profane man. The same holds good in regard to quality of road surface. But in this we not only have men's varying opinions but the effects of weather on the road as well.

Take an actual case. The writer had two reports sent him of a twenty-mile stretch of road. A man at one end said the road was very poor and mountainous. The man at the other end said the road was good and level. Suppose our division were offering quarters as suggested. Whichever of the two above quoted reports was published, the division would be liable to receive a claim for a reward.

It is all right to offer rewards for typographical errors. A word either is, or is not, spelled correctly. But a road report is an entirely different thing. It is not only dependent on what different men's ideas are of good, bad, or hilly roads but also upon how those men were feeling when they traveled the road they afterwards reported.

This being the case, I think the division which started to offer rewards with a view of correcting its road book would be "hunting trouble," and with a capital T. W. W. RANDALL,

In your issue of Dec. 27th, I notice a clipping from a Harrisburg paper entitled "Who Made this Bike?" The article deals with the fact of a gen

Two Hundred and Sixty-three Thousand Four Hundred and Twenty-Seven!

The figures represent the measure of merit of the "Standard" Cyclometer, as gauged by the demand of discriminating buyers. In the first eleven months of 1895, we sold 263,427 "Standard" Cyclometers—which is many times the total sales of all other makes of cyclometers combined.

There will be three styles of "Standard" Cyclometers in 1896—three unapproachable values in distance measurers—and we shall make half a million of them. The generous partiality of wheelmen, the appreciation of the best that can be had, requires a large provision; and this partiality and appreciation have decreed that it is to be another "Standard" year.

The New York Standard Watch Co.

tleman of Brooklyn having been cured of paralysis by the use of the wheel, and it calls the fact an "extraordinary test of credulity," and seems to doubt the truth of the report.

The report is entirely true in every detail; the gentleman in question was completely cured of paralysis by the use of the wheel and is now an enthusiastic devotee of the sport and is a consul of the New York divison. He is nearly seventy years old and yet rarely misses a day's ride, and can do his century with the best, and can give the youngsters a great hustle for endurance.

As to the make of wheel, that is entirely irrelevant. He was not cured for advertising purposes; any wheel would work the same way

The author of the Harrisburg article says that the rest of the world is paralyzed. I think that is so, at least the Harrisburg contingent, for he seems to forget the great utility of the wheel as a remedial agent. It is a notorious fact that wheeling cures dyspepsia, quite as distressing and persevering an ailment as paralysis. Why not then paralysis?

I reiterate that the cure was an accomplished fact, witnessed and assisted in by many of the gentleman's friends, and I hope that the use of the wheel may do as much for others as it did for my friend. FRANK L. MILLER, No. 42,572.

TROUBLE IN MISSOURI.

The Springfield (Mo.) Republican says, "There is an impassable hole filled with mud on the Campbell Street road two miles south of the city. This hole has been growing in size and stickiness ever since the rains of a week or two ago. Trade with Southern Missouri and Northern Arkansas points is completely blocked by it, and there have only been three freight wagons passed through in two weeks."

IT is expected that during the Eastern Cycle show, at Madison Square Garden, most, if not all, of the prominent officials of the League of American Wheelmen will attend the show, and Manager Sanger has set apart for these distinguished gentlemen the entire set of royal boxes over the Madison avenue entrance to the amphitheatre. Recent information on the subject inclined one to the belief that the opening night will be a most memorable one, particularly as relates to the members of the clubs in the Metropolitan district.

JANUARY 10, 1896.

THE TRIUMPHANT WHEEL.

The world may have been Monte Cristo's once, but just now it belongs to the bicycle.

It is high time for those who still refer to the bicycle as a "toy," to revise their notions. It has climbed up near the top of the list of pleasurable, practical and profitable necessities.

The exhibit of bicycles and appliances just closed in London was an immense affair and attracted the attention of all classes and ages.

This week the Western Cycle exposition is being held in Chicago. There are about six bicycles or cycle machines on the average to each of the 350 exhibition spaces, which makes a total of 2,100 machines on exhibition. It is by far the greatest cycle show ever held in the west and marks an epoch in cycling. Thousands are attending.

The Eastern Cycle Show will open in New York on Jan. 18, and will eclipse in magnificence and magnitude all previous shows held at Madison Square Garden.

These are unmistakable signs of the times. The bicycle is a forceful factor in the world of to-day. It is well-nigh triumphant.

It is the people's carriage.

In 1878 ninety-two bicycles were sold in America. This year it is said that something like 1,000,000 will be placed on the market.

The bicycle is so swift the world is kept almost out of breath in trying to keep up with it.

The big cycle shows mark the mile-stones of progress it is making. They are the "getting together" of the bicycle forces. Makers and users "compare notes" and then go out to conquer the rest of the earth.

CYCLE PATHS.

There is a growing interest in cycle paths and with the coming of spring many clubs and organizations will proceed to build delightful ways for the velvet-footed steed.

The L. A. W. BULLETIN has published a number of interesting papers regarding cycle paths. Another article of the same nature appears in this number.

It is a subject that seems likely to attract much more attention than it has done. This being true, the L. A. W. BULLETIN desires those of its army of readers who may possess information regarding the cost of construction, maintenance and other points of interest to contribute short, practical papers. Where photographs can be used to more clearly bring out the desired facts, they should accompany the articles.

The advisability of constructing paths on the cycle tax plan might be discussed with interest and profit.

Where did you get the money to build your path, and how did you build it?

"We pause for a reply."

Angels and Men.

"I want to be an angel,"
But not before I die,
And so until I go to fill
My mansion in the sky,
I pray the gods will favor me
In every way they can,
And bless me, nor distress me for
I want to be a man.

SAFETY IN TRAVEL.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has just made its ninth annual report to Congress, in which it says that "during the year ending June 30, 1894, 1,823 railway employees were killed, and 23,422 were injured. Compared with the previous year this shows a decrease of 904 in the number of employees killed and 8,307 in the number of employees injured. One reason for this large decrease in casualty is the reduction, to the extent of 93,394, in the number of employees. No statistics covering the year ending June 30, 1895, have as yet been compiled."

Mr. Business Man...

There is $25.00 difference in price between our Business Clipper and a Hundred Dollar Bicycle. Both are "High Grade" (if you know what that means. We used to think we did, but recent examinations of several $100.00 "High Grades" has convinced us that we don't know anything about it). Some bicycles are worth a hundred; some are not worth half that. Some $50.00 bicycles are listed at $100.00, and sold for $75.00. Our Business Clipper, No. 20, is worth $75.00; it is unquestionably the best value yet offered in bicycles. Our Catalogue tells some mighty interesting facts.

Here is an object lesson for those who are forever descanting on the dangers of bicycle riding.

Think of it! Over 25,000 killed and wounded employes, to say nothing of the others not employed by the railways.

On the basis of safety the railways should be abolished at once. But they won't. The thousands of grade crossing murders will go gorily on.

In the meanwhile the traducers of the gracious bicycle will howl every time someone gets the skin rubbed off his shin.

The bicycle need not have a surgeon or an undertaker in attendance.

A little court-plaster usually repairs its hurts.

A man in Randolph, Mass., stole a pair of overshoes. A clerk on a bicycle caught him. Moral: Don't do a wrong thing, for there are bicycles all over town.

This country is said to have the best bicycles and the worst roads in the world.

If we do wrong it will "do" us.

Are You?

Are you honest in your heart,

Are you "proper" in your mind?
Are your inner thoughts refined?
Are you sound and deep and broad,
Or a hollow, whitewashed fraud?
Are you big and brave and high
Or a little, creeping lie?

A THIRST QUENCHER.

A well-meaning but misguided reader of the L. A. W. BULLETIN writes to us that he has found a dry cracker the very best thirst quencher obtainable, while riding his wheel.

We hesitate to make this fact public because who can say what a hold the cracker habit may get on the youth of this land, once this knowledge becomes general.

The cheapness of the cracker and the ease with which minors and others may obtain it makes the cracker danger doubly alarming.

Think of strong men being driven to cracker-eating by every cloud of trouble. And fancy all the chappies slipping out between the acts to nibble at their favorite tipple, or they may even safely munch a cracker during the play, behind the friendly seclusion of the mammoth theatre hat.

It is too awful, too waffle!

And to think we have been feeding crackers to our children and our parrots!

"Seeing is Believing,"

—but there are some persons whose sight is more acute than others.

A man has a wheel shown to him, and is told by the manufacturer (or some one interested) that it is the wheel to buy, of course. He is not told why, except that it is the finest and best wheel made. Nothing about the material, manufacture or reputation.

Some persons see more readily than others, and this man purchases one of these "High Grade" Bicycles (so called).

Before long his repair expenses begin, and he wonders if they will ever stop—but they don't.

It is not a "SOLID STERLING," or no repairs would be necessary. We can prove all we claim for it.

No wonder the most of them swear. (The parrots.)

Henceforth we shall do things better, and we will not put a cracker into our mouths to steal away what we, in a complimentary frame of mind, refer to as our brains.

Wine is a mocker and strong drink is raging,
But who cares for that when his thirst he's assuaging?
Yet take if you must our wine, beer and "terbacker"
But leave us the soul-cheering, thirst-quenching cracker.

Hold! It may be possible we have reasoned from the wrong premises. Possibly the cracker may be like

"The cups
That cheer but not inebriate," of which Cowper writes so feelingly. If this is the case, the prohibitionists will cease distributing tracts and scatter the reforming cracker broadcast through a rum-cursed world.

All in all there seems to be great possibilities in the meek and lowly cracker. On a pinch it can, at least, take the place of the pretzel, with the usual something on the side.

In the meantime bicyclists are advised to try it as a saliva producer and a thirst quencher. It comes highly recommended.

THE lightness and neat finish of the American bicycles cause them to be much admired in Paris.

NOT HIS IDEAL.

S. RAYMOND KITCHEN.

A minister once, in a neighboring town,
All weary from working long,
Asked of his church a month of rest
That his worn frame might be strong.

Then up rose a deacon old
And remarked with animation,
"All have doubtless heard it said
Satan takes no vacation."

The pastor rose to make reply
And he looked at the deacon grim,
"Satan's ways have ne'er been mine,
Would you have me imitate him?"

A KIND-HEARTED MAN.

Ho, Mr. Foolkiller! You are wanted out in San Francisco and wanted mighty bad.

Last October the president of the San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, having nothing else to do, got to watching the married wheeling enthusiasts who were wont to go riding with tiny tots strapped to the handle-bars of their bicycles and his great, big, tender heart rebelled against the fathers' cruelty.

How kind, how altogether gracious!

We are informed that he intends to renew his crusade in the spring.

With such public officers looking after the interests of the people there is absolutely nothing else for the individual to do. He will understand that "the powers that be" have their eyes on him and will tell him when and where and how to eat, drink, sleep and breathe.

It will be a relief to the father to know that his natural, inherent desire to murder his child in some slow, subtle way, such as giving it an outing on a wheel, will be frustrated by a public officer, whose heart is too kind to see such things and make no sound.

In the meantime it might be well to ascertain whether or not this kind-hearted San Franciscoan is a member of a stock company engaged in the manufacture of the old-fashioned, shin-bumping, child-torturing baby-buggies.

Sic 'em! Mr. Foolkiller.

THE bicycle path from Smithtown to Brentwood is now completed, making a much needed road across Long Island from Smithtown to Bayshore via Hauppauge and Brentwood. This work has been done entirely by one individual, a gentleman of means and public spirit, and withal an enthusiastic cyclist, who from a dislike of publicity does not wish his name mentioned in connection with the matter. His fellow wheelmen will, however, have no trouble in recognizing their benefactor, nor are they likely to fail in appreciation of the work.

J. A. OVERTON.

So the editor see'd Atlanta, an' visited the fair;
(I'm glad thet feller tuk him, else he never hed gone there,
Fer you're aware thet editors ain't every one so rich
Thet they can take long car-rides, an' work the fairs an' sich).

But any ways he's been there (he saw a awful lot),
An' now he's back to Boston a tellin' of us what
Lots of things us fellers missed what didn't git to go
With that ere monied feller what tuk him to the show.

I thought at first 'at I'd go, an' then I changed my mind;
I'm glad too, fer I'd hate real bad when I got home to find
A poet on the platform (right in a crowd perchance)
Who'd call so wife 'ud hear it: "Did you see that wiggle-dance?"

THE LENGTH OF (BICYCLE) CRANKS.

We are asked which length of crank is best for a rider having a given "reach," and what objection we have to eight-inch cranks.

We assume that it is generally understood that long cranks have the same effect as a low gear, i.e., they increase the leverage of the rider against the resistance of the road, but it is always true that when a greater leverage is gained the force is necessarily exerted through a greater distance.

If the leverage is obtained through longer cranks, the feet of the rider must travel in a larger circle and hence a greater distance. If the leverage is obtained by a lower gear, then the feet travel a greater distance by going more times around the same circle.

The Wheelman's Complaint; or, the Story of a Sensible New Year's Resolution.

Under a spreading chestnut tree,
The maddened cyclist stands;
His wheel is bent and out of shape,
And bloody are his hands.

He started, sunrise, for a spin,
On a cycle made to sell;
A ten mile spin on a level road,
And the wheel and rider fell.

Just simply fell to the smooth, hard earth—
Fell like a tree that's hewn;
And the road, for many yards around,
with skin and wheel was strewn.

We said he stood neath the chestnut tree,
We told the simple truth;
He stood and looked at the ruins grim,
And then exclaimed "Forsooth!

"A penny saved is a penny earned,"
My copy book mentioned at school;
But precepts, like doctors, go often astray
And make a man act like a fool.

I thought I was saving my honest dough
When I put twenty-five of it back;
I'll add three times more, and my lot deplore,
If I can't get a CRACKAJACK.

No hard and fast rule is possible as to length of cranks. In general it is true that every rider should use as long cranks as can be operated with perfect comfort, then the gear may be such as to offer an amount of resistance proportionate to the rider's strength.

A rider having leg bones of a certain length could use a longer crank while young than he could after age begins to get in its work.

A rider who lives or does business up several flights of stairs can push a higher gear than one who lives on the ground floor or uses an elevator.

When we go to buy a pair of spectacles, the dealer makes numerous tests to ascertain the condition of the eye and the convexity of lens best suited to it.

We predict that some day the up-to-date cycle dealer will have a device upon which a rider may be seated, and by some quick adjustments determine the length of crank and size of gear best suited to a given customer.

INDIANA ROAD BOOK.

No Harm Done.

BY J. A. KOONS.

There was a man who thought he knew,
About a wheel, a thing or two;
He mounted one and rode away,
So this is all I have to say.

A FUSSY FERRY.

"Has the Pennsylvania Ferry Co. a legal right to compel me to dismount as soon as I enter the gate and walk through the ferry house to the boat?" is asked by a New York wheelman.

We are not sufficiently informed as to the legal status of a ferry company, but assume that it is much the same as that of a railroad corporation, say about as follows: The people grant to the company the sole right of way over a desirable route, with the understanding and belief that the chartered organization is to cater to the convenience of the people whose money it lives on.

We should never forget that the primary object of a ferry or railroad company is to pay dividends and that the accommodation of patrons is a mere means to that end.

THERE must be something in this mental telegraphy theory, for every man in the car knows when a pretty girl wishes the car window raised.

Good roads are the nearest ways.

CATALOGUES.

We shall take pleasure in making mention in this column of any bicycle catalogue which may be sent us. If our readers who send for any of the catalogues mentioned will kindly say that the notice was seen in the L. A. W. BULLETIN it will be appreciated by us as well as by the manufacturer.

Columbia.

The Columbia catalogue issued by the Pope Manufacturing Company, Hartford, Conn., is a most pretentious and perfect book of fifty pages printed on the finest paper. The superb cover design is of the same style as that of the cover of the preliminary catalogue sent out previously. The artist's name does not appear, but certain it is, the designer of the splendid work in black and white deserves special mention. The numerous pages of half tones showing every variety of Columbia, and all of its technical points, are very fine, s are the many marginal thumb-nail sketches and initial letters.

Gendron.

The Gendron Wheel Company, Toledo, O., have issued a very artistic catalogue. Its three-color pages set forth in a most attractive manner the "points" of the "Gendron" and "Reliance" wheels. All in all it is a finished work of art, its cover pages being particularly fine.

Clipper.

From its elaborate cover to cover, the 24-page catalogue issued by the Grand Rapids Cycle Company, Grand Rapids, Mich., is a pleasure to the eye. The artist's embellishments are unique and pertinent and happily supplement the text of the handsomely-printed booklet.

Falcon.

The "forerunner," issued by the Yost Manufacturing Company, Toledo, Ohio, has a very "catchy," colored cover page and among its interesting contents is a two-page insert relating to the L. A. W. and advantages to be obtained from being a member of it.

Humber.

"Humber Specifications" is the title of a neatly-printed," 20-page book, sent out by the Humber Company, America, Limited, Westboro, Mass. It is printed on paper in royal purple ink.

The G. M. Shirk Manufacturing Company, Chicago, have issued a neat 20-page catalogue, printed in green and brown, with a dashing 3-color cover.

WHEELS CARRIED FREE.

For the present, at least, the publication of the list of railroads carrying wheels free will be discontinued. The reason for this is the fact that the official department of the L. A. W. BULLETIN is occupying increased space owing to the publication of yearly reports, and furthermore, there are but few wheelmen traveling now and such can consult the list as it last appeared.

The Fruits of Folly.

At first, so they tell us, poor Adam and Eve
Had never a garment to wear,
And then, so we all have been taught to believe,
The apple brought grief to the pair.
And Eve from the fig tree made clothing to don,
But the blooming new women of late,
They don't care a fig about what Eve put on,
They prefer their gowns made up to date.

THE GUARANTEE.

The New York Cycle Board of Trade has adopted the following interpretation of the manufacturers' guaranty on bicycles:

We will not fix punctures free of charge.

We will not replace cut or worn out tires, but will patch a cut tire if it is not beyond repair, and will charge a reasonable amount for the work.

We will not replace broken or bent frames, forks, handlebars, cranks, rims, pedals or pedal pins, unless it is absolutely proven that defect was the cause of the damage.

All repairs on these articles, if not defective, will be charged for, as they are almost invariably damaged by use, misuse, neglect or accident.

Truing of wheels and broken spokes will be charged for. Tightening loose spokes will be charged for,

Stripped threads and worn out nuts will not be fixed free of charge.

We do not agree to keep our bicycles in repair for one year or one day. We will be liberal and fair with our customers, but we do not wish to be imposed upon.

THIS might have been a better world if fish had refused to "bite" on Sunday.

CYCLING IN SPAIN.

BY F. S. CARR.

My "testimony" regarding touring in Spain might interest some L. A. W. wheelman. I have been an enthusiastic rider since 1878 and that year I purchased my first "safety." It was manufactured by Herman Bucholtz, a carriage builder, in Janesville, Wis., and retailed for $75.00. The wheels were of hickory with iron tires; the saddle a flat piece of board covered with some carpeting, and large wooden spools constituted the pedals.

Just before starting for Spain, this last July, I had a canvas case made for $4.35 to carry my dissected bicycle in, and there was room enough for my riding suit. This complete outfit weighed forty-one pounds, and could be easily carried in a passenger coach, on the steamer, or to the depots, and saved me ever paying a cent for bicycle transportation. After landing in Gibralter, I took a small local ferry five miles across the bay to the Spanish town of Algeciras, where a duty of $1.55 was taxed my wheel, and was told by the examiner that had I ridden my wheel into his country there would have been no charge.

Several times I took the train to avoid a bad piece of road or riding over some mountain range, but there was never any charge for my wheel, as passengers were allowed fifty-six pounds free, and bicycles were not discriminated against. All roads between the large cities were good and kept in repair by uniformed government employees. I always stopped at the commercial hotels and paid from $1.25 to $2.00 per day, and always received eighteen per cent. premium on my American gold, or letter of credit. There is less begging in Spain than in England; yet the masses are very poor, and all are most obliging and kind to an American tourist. It was not always thus; for numerous stone crosses along the highways mark where some unfortunate took an unexpected start for his long home. This was before the appointment of the Civil Guard, a magnificent body of 25,000 uniformed police soldiers, two of whom accompany every train — are on the highways and everywhere, and under every circumstance refuse any pay except from their government.

There are more interesting historical ruins (and all are not ruins, thanks to the perfect climate) in Spain than in any northern European country. Here can be seen phases of life and national character, peculiar alone to this land of Isabel and Columbus. Here only can be seen the bull-fight in its original form and the hilarious exclamations of the audience when the bull or horse dies; the Spanish dancing girls with their castanets; the fortune-telling gypsies of Seville and Granada; the interesting ruins of the Druids, the Romans and the turbaned Moor; the aqueducts of the latter are used to-day, although they were driven back across the Mediterranean the year Columbus discovered us; and above all a clear blue sky without a cloud from May to October.

I have toured in the northern European countries, and would advise every one to see Spain first, and when at Gibralter go over to Tangier, sixty miles across the straits, but leave your bicycle, as I did not see a wheel of any kind in Morocco, not even a carriage wheel nor a wheelbarrow.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., Dec. 28, 1895.

A correspondent writes that although the route given in the road book through the Adirondacks from Newcomb to Root's (Schroon River P. O.), has been much improved, he still recommends the route from Port Kent to Bloomingdale, Paul Smith's, Saranac and Lake Placid; thence to Keene Valley and Schroon Lake; and out by way of Baldwin on Lake George, or straight southward to Glen's Falls and Saratoga.

Pure as the crystal springlets!

THE BROOKLYN BRIDGE.

People may walk over it free, but if they desire to ride the soft-footed bicycle, toll is charged.

The trustees of the bridge are all right, but the legislature must act in order to allow them to do away with the minimum charge of one cent now exacted.

It is interesting to note in this connection that when a body of soldiers is marched over a bridge the men are ordered to "break step," so that the uniform "tramp, tramp" will not rack the framework. Obviously the bicycle would have no injurious effect.

A GOOD BEGINNING.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

A number of members of the L. A. W. residing in this city, believing the time to be ripe for the local agitation of the question of "Good Roads" and especially the question of improved paths for wheelmen, called a meeting of the league members to consider the subject and act thereon.

At this meeting a committee of five were appointed by the local consul to take charge of the whole subject and to do such things as in their judgment would further the object of the meeting.

At their first meeting it was voted: "That for the present the committee devote its energies to having a bicycle road or path constructed from the Junction to Coltsville, this city, and to ask the City Council to appropriate for the construction of the same a sum not exceeding $300.00."

This road is about one mile long and at present is in some places almost impassable for wheels. It is a part of the direct road from this city to Springfield, and offers as good an opportunity to exhibit the benefit to be derived from the expenditure of a small sum of money as any location in the city. If this proves to be a success, then another year we expect there will be no difficulty in having such paths constructed in other parts of the city.

The wheelmen of the city will be asked to see to it that no one be elected to the city council who is not in favor of granting this very reasonable request. With the co-operation of the 1,000 or more voters in the city who ride, we anticipate no trouble in carrying this through.

The committee also passed the following: Voted: "That a petition be presented to the Mass. Division L. A. W. at their meeting in December asking them to take the necessary steps and to use their influence for the passage of an act by the next general court, to amend Sec. 1, Chapter 479, of the acts of 1894, which will permit selectmen in towns and mayor and aldermen in cities to designate certain specified sidewalks outside of the thickly settled portions of such towns and cities, on which bicycles and tricycles may be ridden, under such reasonable conditions and restrictions, as to them may seem proper."

Pittsfield, (and it is presumed that almost all other towns and cities in the State are similarly situated) has a number of miles of so called "temporary sidewalks" or paths for pedestrians on which there is very little foot travel and are now more largely used by wheels than pedestrians. Such use by wheels is wholly unlawful. It is now and probably will be tolerated by sufferance, until some accident happens, or until some crank makes complaint, when the officers of the law will be obliged to prohibit such use.

Wheelmen do not wish to be classed as law breakers, but in many instances they are now almost compelled to be. Such an amendment would be a great boon to all wheelmen, and we do not think any difficulty will be experienced in procuring necessary designations. Will not wheelmen throughout the State push this thing along?

"IT'S ENGLISH, YE KNOW!"

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

I have been a reader of your interesting periodical for a long time. Outside of its mission in a particular field the BULLETIN has a literary excellence that many sheets devoted almost exclusively to letters fail to attain. The matter you have provided for your subscribers has ever, in addition to its mere interesting qualities, contained the embodiment of a motive or the expression of an opinion that according to the scope of my perceptions and the depth of my judgment I have flattered myself that I understood thoroughly and appreciated accordingly.

Sometimes you have been plainly outspoken on subjects you have taken up and at others you have allowed your correspondents to ventilate opinions, which save for the terse headlines over the article printed left your readers in doubt as to your exact position in the matter. I have always fondly supposed however, that I knew just how you felt personally, and have been content to sit back in complacent silence, perusing your columns, confident that when I didn't agree with a correspondent that you had inserted his comments in quiet irony.

But after reading over carefully half a dozen times your article in this issue entitled "At Home and Abroad" from Elwyn A. Barron's London letter I feel an itch to say something, strong upon me, and I rise to make a few remarks.

I confess I can't exactly determine in this case what the motive of the article is, or what your real sentiments are regarding the subject talked about. It is certainly interesting, but I hardly think with the average American that it will cause an interest that will leave a pleasant taste in his mouth. I can't think you inserted the article because you agreed with Mr. Barron. You will notice the proviso he makes in the eighth line, that "if you seek the proper sort" of shops you will receive all this attention that he is so enthusiastic about. He seems to pick his shops there. Possibly he never stumbles into the right shop on this side. He might have been born here, and resided here all his life and yet not have been so fortunate in his "proper sort" barber shop discoveries as in London because he didn't know where to go to get to them.

"In my opinion the excessive politeness on the part of the cockney barber is nauseating to an unbearable degree. It approaches the farcical if (for illustration) carried a step or two farther that agreeable to Mr. Barron's ideal he may be properly treated.

The English barber begs his customer's pardon for daring to ask him (the customer) if the razor hurts him! Why? He again fervently solicits forgiveness and expresses deep gratefulness that the customer condescends to answer a plain business question. And again because his customer informs him he will not have a hair cut to-day he falls down in a profusion of thanks that would make a self-respecting American feel so cheap for him that, lather and all, he would quit the shop at once.

Why don't the dust-licking tonsorial artist go farther and beg his customer's pardon for shaving him at all? Why not say, bowing to the floor, "Honorable Sir, words cannot express to you how grieved I am that I should have to be the wicked means of removing your hirsute adornment. Can you, will you forgive me this time? I know I am a curse to you. You hate me for having to come here at all but please put up with me for the sake of a large family dependent upon me," etc.

Politeness is a nice enough varnish when applied in the proper place and manner, but there is such a thing as spreading it on too thick. Doubtless Mr. Barron is like some of the high bred dames in the olden time when Claude Duval and his ilk were rampant. The dear ladies used to like to be stopped on the highway and relieved of their valuables just because of the polite and winning way in which the bold fellow conducted the ceremonies. He was always sorry to have to bother then but "would they please hand over what little they had in their purses and any little trinket of value, ah, yes, their watch and rings, etc;" and they were in a flutter of flattered fear because of the slick manner in which the trick was done. They didn't get their valuables back, though. In Mr. Barron's barber case all the politeness in the world will not prevent the razor hurting you if it does, either. Doubtless though, he would rather be hurt with a polite English barber's razor than be shaved with the sharp one of the American, even though it didn't hurt. He would have been tickled to death in the old times to have been held up and robbed, if his pardon had been begged while doing it.

So far as politeness and barbers in the abstract go, I think they are what their customers make them. They soon read human nature and know what is liked and what not. It is a great object lesson of the difference between the two nations. Subservience in the old country and a manly independent spirit in this. Englishmen like such deference shown whenever they can have it, for fifteen minutes later they in turn bow down to some one else a little higher in rank than they. An American barber considers himself as good as his customer, and thinks that the latter is getting a fair equivalent for his money in the shave alone without rhetorical frills. When you change him to the English style that Mr. Barron seems to like, you will find that the great actuating principle then, under all his graces and nice speeches, will be that which animates his London cousin, the hope for a fee. Underneath all the magnificent politeness will be discerned the outstretched hand waiting for the expected "tip."

Yours very truly,

DEFENDS THE DIVISIONS.

EDITOR L. A. W. BULLETIN:

As a local consul and a minor officer of the greatest division the L. A. W. has ever known in its history, I most respectfully protest against those who are finding fault with local organizations, and would ask them to point out wherein the national officers have done more for the members than men like Chief Consul Potter, who have devoted their time to the cause without more than a 'thank you" from the members at large. If the fault finders would try to get in touch with their divisions by becoming local officers, working on the different committees, recruiting for the benefit of their own division, they would soon become convinced of the fact that local benefits can only be obtained through localizing the responsibilities. They may as well argue that congress at Washington should supervise the affairs of North Troy, Vermont, or any village of four or five hundred inhabitants, as to expect the national board to publish maps and road books for the States, whose members do not appreciate the League enough to devote a little of their time to the work. If members will not work for their individual benefit, it would hardly be wise for us to expect them to work for the members of another division with whom they have no interests in common. The California division, for example, can not be expected to display great enthusiasm in supporting the national officers in their efforts to procure a cycle path for New York wheelmen, or good roads for the State of Maine. These are purely local issues, and as such, must be fought for by those most directly interested.

"THE VALLEY TURNPIKE" IN VIRGINIA.

BY SAM'L M. BARTON.

Before considering the regulation bearing upon the building and control of this road, we shall give in substance the General Law governing Turnpike Companies, as contained in an Act passed by the Virginia Assembly, Feb. 7, 1817, regulating the chartering and construction of turnpikes, and fixing the rates of toll. Mr. H. W. Anderson, Secretary of the Virginia State Good Roads Association, has kindly examined this and other Acts for me, in the official records at Richmond, and to him I am indebted for much valuable information. This Act provides that the companies shall construct the necessary bridges over water courses; that a road shall be constructed at least 60 feet in width, 18 feet of which shall be covered with stone or gravel where necessary, and that the road shall be kept smooth, firm, and in good order generally. It also provides that these companies shall keep a summer, or side road, 18 feet wide, for use between May 1 and Oct. 31. This Act also regulates the loads that shall be carried on various widths of tire, etc.

It provides that when a section of the road five miles in length has been completed, the court shall appoint three commissioners to examine and report on same, and if they report that it is completed in accordance with the provisions of the Act, toll gates may be erected and tolls charged on the section as follows: —

Every score of sheep or hogs, 6¼ cents. Every score of cattle, 12½ cents. Every horse, mare, mule or gelding, 5 cents. Every two-wheeled riding carriage, 10 cents. Every four-wheeled riding carriage, 20 cents. Every cart or wagon where the wheels do not exceed 4 inches in width, 6¼ cents for every four-footed animal drawing the same.

Every cart or wagon the wheels of which exceed 4 inches in width, and roll less than 7 inches, 3 cents for every four-footed animal drawing same. Every cart or wagon with wheels 7 inches or more in width, 1 cent for every four-footed animal drawing same. Return wagons and carts shall pay only half tolls. Same rules should apply to each section of the road when completed.

Troops and public property were free from toll. Complaints as to the condition of the road might be made before a magistrate, who was required to appoint three commissioners to make an investigation, and, if the road was found to be in bad order, no tolls should be collected until the road was put in good condition. If the road was out of order eighteen months, the company should forfeit its interests. So much for the general law governing turnpike companies.

We find the first mention of the "Valley Turnpike Company" in the Act of the Virginia Assembly of Feb. 27, 1828, authorizing certain commissioners to open books for subscription to the stock of "The Valley Turnpike Company," for the purpose of building a turnpike from Winchester to Stony Creek, and fixing the capital of the company at $100,000. An examination of the official records at Richmond fails to show that this company did anything. The next mention of the company is in Acts of Assembly of 1838, an Act passed March 24, 1838, which was entitled "An Act to provide for the construction of a road from Winchester to Staunton, and for other purposes." We shall mention only the main features of the Charter as set forth in this and succeeding Acts. These Acts provide:—

Valley Turnpike, 1½ Miles South of Winchester; Toll-Gate No. 1 in the Distance.

That for the purpose of conructing a macadmized road from Winchester in the county of Frederick, to Staunton in the county of Augusta, it shall be lawful to open books for receiving subscriptions to the amount of $300,000, to be divided into shares of $25 each.

governing such companies (see General Road Law, as given above).

That the company shall not be required to keep a summer, or side road.

That the company shall not be compelled to make the road over 40 feet wide, at least 18 feet of which shall be paved or macadamized, not more than 12 inches thick.

That the company shall construct the road along what was then known as the stage road from Winchester to Staunton, that the grade shall not be over 3½ degrees and that no obstruction to travel shall be allowed.

That as soon as shares to the amount of $40,000 have been subscribed or secured, the Board of Public Works shall be authorized to subscribe on behalf of the State of Virginia for a number of shares equal to $60,000, and as often thereafter as additional subscriptions shall be made by individuals to the amount of $20,000, the Board of Public works shall subscribe an additional amount of $30,000, and in like proportions to the subscriptions of individuals until the whole amount of capital stock shall have been subscribed; — that is. individuals subscribed two-fifths, and the state three-fifths. That a competent engineer shall be appointed to locate and superintend the construction of the road.

That plots of said road shall be filed with the clerks of the respective counties through which it passes.

One section of an act of 1839 authorizes the condemnation of land for materials, etc.

Various acts relate to the borrowing of money by the state, the declaring of dividends by the directors, etc.

The board of directors were appointed in part by the state and in part by the individual stockholders. The road has had the following presidents: Bushrod Taylor, 1838-41; Joel Pennybacker, 1841-43; John W. Rice, 1843-62; Samuel Shacklett, 1861-86; B. G. Patterson, 1886—.

Mr. Patterson, the present incumbent, who lives in Harrisburg, informs me that the first meeting of board of directors was held in Woodstock, on the 11th of June, 1838.

The capital stock was increased three different times until the entire authorized capital of the company was $425,000. Of this amount, the State subscribed $265,000, upon which payments were made amounting to $263,081.13. Individuals subscribed $160,000, on which they paid $158,720.75.

(The Construction of the Pike will be treated in a concluding paper, next week.)

WHAT TO DO.

The following excellent suggestions were read at a recent meeting of the road improvement committee, in Chicago. They embody the very best ideas regarding what and how wheelmen may do to further the interests of the League and the good roads movement:

Aid in forming good roads Leagues. Get the highway commissioners to join them. Also to form county organizations of their own.

Try to do away with that farce: working out the road tax.

Use a rubber stamp as does our friend Locke from Jerseyville, saying, "We want Good Roads." Hand an occasional number of the BULLETIN to the local editor, asking the reprint of a road article. Urge the use of broad tires on wagons.

Prepare articles for the plate matter used in the country newspapers.

Next time the railroad commissioners of Illinois issue a map, ask them to show the wagon roads, or, at least, the hard roads in each county.

Let Arbor Day be wheelman's day; assist in planting trees along our highways; or plant a guide board or "helping hand." Show the people you are as ready to give as receive. Ask for and urge an honest and just plan of taxation. We should have an equitable State system.

Make a friend of the farmer, not an enemy.

See that we do not ourselves set the example to the highway commissioner and road hog in selfishness and jealousy.

Aid the chief consul to secure local consuls who will answer correspondence and help in road matters.

Distribute Potter's "Country Roads" to road workers, and read it also.

Become familiar with our road laws.

Secure the names of road commissioners and officers and supervisors in every county in the State and forward same to this committee that printing may be mailed them.

TRUTH is the hardest missile one can be pelted with.— Geo. Eliot.

A CYCLE TAX FOR CYCLE PATHS.

BY W. F. COOPER.

It has been stated very often by the wheeling advocates of good roads in their arguments to the farmers in favor of better roads, that it is possible for the wheelman to do without better roads, and therefore, without their aid, by constructing alongside the roads comparatively narrow paths at very little expense, but I am extremely doubtful if more than a very few really appreciate their great advantages in regard to cheapness of construction and maintenance and the fact that they would make riding perfectly practical when the ordinary road is absolutely impassable.

The Meriden Wheel Club and the wheelmen of Meriden generally, have constructed from their city to New Haven a cycle path which forms a practical illustration of the above fact, and that it is much superior to the ordinary road, or in fact to any road, very few who have ridden over it will attempt to deny. The path as at present constructed is about nine and one-half miles long, consisting of about six miles constructed of crushed stone, and three miles of natural path: although in all probability the remaining distance will be built of stone next year.

The total cost of the six miles of stone path was $688.56, which was almost entirely raised by individual subscription taken up in the city of Meriden, the Pope Mfg. Co. and the Overman Wheel Co.

each giving $25, and $18.26 being subscribed for in Wallingford, through which town the path runs.

The stone used was a voluntary contribution from J. S. Lane & Son, who own a large quarry near Meriden, so that the probable cost would have been somewhat in excess of the amount stated. For the 490 tons of stone used, the cost in Meriden would have been about $196 (at 40 cents per ton), making the probable total cost about $884.56.

The N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. charge for freight was $243.31, leaving a balance of $445.25, which was used for team work and labor.

At first the path was constructed by turning with a plow two furrows about three inches deep, one to the right and the other to the left, the space between being filled in with stone and finished with a dressing of dust.

It was afterwards found more practical to clear the sod out of the way and fill in the furrow with stone as before.

In the opinion of those who supervised the construction of the path, a similar one could be constructed from the experience gained at less than half the expense of the present one, by the use of a wide double or single cutting plow that would first cut the sod the width and depth of the path and then turn it to one side. The plow was used mainly to get a fairly level foundation on which to lay the path, so it was not necessary to cut a very deep furrow, in fact in some places it could have been done without,— the stone being laid upon the sod itself.

The success of the path was mainly due to the efficient work of the general committee appointed for the purpose, having J. E. Brainard, president of the Meriden Wheel Club, as chairman. The committee was divided for more efficient work into three different divisions:

1st. To select route of proposed path, to estimate the cost, and the proportion of payment, J. E. Brainard, W. H. Squire, F. E. Sands, E. A. Smith and J. E. Cottril.

2d. To look into the legal phases of the plan, G. A. Fay, H. Dryhurst and W. L. Ingraham.

3rd. To secure subscriptions, two members from each of the six clubs in Meriden.

The greatest difficulty was experienced in collecting sufficient money, for although great enthusiasm was manifested at the first meeting, yet when the question of finance was broached, it was found that only a very few would contribute, while some who afterwards used the path more than anybody else, spoke depreciatingly of the subject, stating that the road was good enough and that they were not going to throw away their money on such a thing, etc.

It being very evident to anybody that subscription is a very poor way to raise money for any public improvement, it would seem that some better plan could be devised, and it would seem that there could be no simpler one than an individual tax levied by the towns, on wheels, the proceeds of which should be devoted to path construction.

Several articles have appeared in the cycling papers by different writers, urging the building of paths by the towns, in the same manner that sidewalks and streets are built. If possible this would certainly seem advisable, but I believe it would be more just and would invoke less criticism if the wheelmen should build the paths themselves, in the best manner possible. One thing is certain, in whatever way we get them, the cycle paths have come, and come to stay.

PROBABLY the first century run of the season was made by a party of eleven members of the Century Wheelmen of Philadelphia, between 12 o'clock midnight, Dec. 31, and 10 A.M., Jan. 1, 1896. The course was from Century Club house to the head of the Wissahickon, thence to Chester, returning over the same course. The party consisted of eleven men, six of whom rode Sterlings, W. A. Morgan's mount being a new '96 Sterling of 27½ inch frame.

In the Sweet By-and-By.

Some say that Heaven is to be
The joys of earth prolonged;
That there we'll have the things which we
While here have shrined and songed.
If so I'll have my wheel and go
On centuries untold,
For 'cycling's good up there, you know,—
Their streets are paved with gold.

COST OF MACADAM AND TELFORD ROADS.

We have frequent letters asking for figures on the cost of building macadam roads. It is impossible to offer any figures which would be of practical use without knowing all about the local conditions, the kind ot stone available, the distance it must be hauled, the nature of the soil, the condition of the present road, etc., not to mention the important question of how wide the road is to be built and how thick.

The following general facts may be of use: Where the soil is hard and up to the proper grade with suitable stone close at hand without quarrying, a good "fifteen foot" road may be made for anywhere from $900 to $1500 per mile, The conditions must be favorable, however, to get the work well done at this price. Much of the macadam road being built costs more than double this amount. The telford road, or more properly a macadam road with a telford foundation, costs with ten inches of telford and six inches of macadam about $1,000 per mile for each foot in width. We submit the following figures which are actual cost of building a mile of new street in the Back Bay district of Boston. This data is given us by Henry Manley, assistant engineer:

4,550 cu. yds.	Sub-grading,	$0.37	$ 1,683.50

MUD AND MERCHANDISE.

The merchants of the country towns, from one end of the land to the other, are complaining of a light Christmas trade, and in most cases the ones interviewed say that the poor condition of the roads was largely responsible for the unhappy result.

It so happened that in many parts of the country warm, wet weather prevailed, and in many sections the country roads were almost untravelable, and the country people simply let shopping go by the board. They made Christmas presents of colored popcorn and red apples and rye straws.

There is a strong relationship existing between trade and travel, mud and merchandise. It is to the townspeople's interest, as well as the farmers, to have good roads.

WHAT ABOUT THE CONVICTS?

The convict labor question is a very knotty problem, that is still waiting for solution.

It knocks at the door of nearly every state capital, during each session of the Legislature, but is usually turned away with a promise of more consideration at some future time.

The good roads problem is also a question of importance in the land. In some localities one of these problems is permitted to solve the other. Two birds are killed with one stone.

The L. A. W. BULLETIN is ready to publish any reasonable protest against the employment of convict labor on the public highways. The whys and wherefores will be of interest.

That the present mode of employing convicts is very unsatisfactory is proved by the unsettled condition of the question in nearly every State where it is done. The following is from a recent issue of the Dayton (O.) Herald:—

The Ohio Penitentiary seems to suffer from the general business depression. The annual report of the board of managers shows that in 1893 the surplus of earnings over expenses was $31,079; in 1894, the deficit of earnings was $9,137, and in 1895 the deficit of earnings was $55,461.22. The board ascribes several reasons for this change of about $86,000, among them the passage of a law requiring the branding of all prison-made goods, and the passage of the Llewellyn law, restricting the number of laborers engaged in making any one kind of goods in the penal and reformatory institutions of the State to ten per cent. ot the free labor employed in making like goods in the State. These have led, as the board claims, to a demoralization of the contract system. It recommends the repeal of the last-named law, the first having been declared unconstitutional; or if this cannot be done, then that the limit fixed by the Llewellyn law be raised to at least twenty-five per cent. The situation is one of great interest, and will probably lead to further agitation of the difficult questions of employment of convict labor.

In this connection it may be said that whether or not penitentiaries are self-supporting has nothing to do with the case.

The more money the convicts make for the state under the Ohio system, the more free labor is deprived of. Thriving penitentiaries are not the most hopeful of signs.

It would be even better to tax free labor to support idle convicts than to have the convicts rob free labor of its means of support.

At the present time the work of making magnificent systems of highways appears to offer the best means of employing many of the convicts. They should not be permitted to compete with free labor in the manufactures. Roads should be made better.

When, oh when will the immemorial moss-gatherers, known as legislators, awake to the needs of the hour.

OUR ROAD LAW.

It may cause a shock to the community. It may even cause a change in the plans of the rambunctious comet which is now circulating by devious ways amongst the bodies terrestial. We can't help it. We must endorse an editorial which appeared in yesterday's issue of our evening contemporary. The editorial in question is the following, and we wish to assure the Democrat that this article of faith qualifies it to dance in the same set with us for at least one number of the program:

The Democrat has for many years advocated the repeal of our road working laws as the surest means of accomplishing a reform in good laws. The people know that the old road working system has never resulted in the improvement of a single road. We have had it for more than fifty years, and it has no effect, except to stand as a barrier in the way of progress. We shall never have good roads until we repeal it and build on new foundations. To this end we hope that candidates for the legislature throughout the state will pledge themselves to vote for its repeal. This done, we can lay the foundations of a new system of road improvement—either by the working of the convicts or the imposition of a tax levied for road purposes. In the opinion of the Democrat the people generally are ready for a change and for a forward movement in behalf of roads. They are beginning to realize the fact that nothing so retards the growth and prosperity of our state as the wretched condition of our public highways.

The Press is fearful, however, that the hope that the legislators who assemble here next year may have sense enough to repeal the present road-law is a vain one. We have struggled along under the present unsystematic system for 50 years, and they will contend that if it was good enough then it is good enough now. The modern legislator must pass away before we can hope for any such improvement as a new road law; and before this happy condition of things can be reached, the modern elector must either pass, unapplauded, off the stage, or be forced into the background by either a new native article or a greater number of imported ones.—Little Rock (Ark.) Press.

Fix the road and save fixing the vehicles.

The condition of a road should not depend wholly upon the weather.

ONE OBJECT LESSON.

Just a word with you.

What would you think of a railway management that would permit its road to be full of sags and grades and low joints and broken rails and soggy places and would seek to overcome these obstructions by increasing the size and strength of its locomotives and cars?

Of course it would require lots more fuel to make the steam, only a half a train could be hauled, the rolling stock would soon be destroyed and the whole resources of the company would be spent in the repair shops.

Briefly, the first thing to do would be to build a good road-bed.

Isn't this an object lesson for farmers? What is the difference in principle whether it is a railroad or a wagon road?

NARROW TIRES.

If there were toll roads in Northampton County, farmers would have broad tires on their wagon wheels because they could get, thereby, better rates on the turnpikes. But is it not more important to the farmers that the roads they own and help to build and maintain, should have the benefits of broad tires? There is scarcely a country road in Northampton that is not more or less cut up by narrow wheels.

But still the farmers use narrow tires. Why? Not because they are cheaper or more durable. Ask any Monroe or Bucks County farmer who uses wide tires and he will tell you they are as cheap as narrow tires and last longer.

Our farmers ought to make a united effort to introduce wide tires. It would be money saved, and, with better roads, money made.—Easton (Pa.) Free Press.

NEW YORK has passed a law that after Jan. 1, 1897, no person confined in any State prison, penitentiary, jail or reformatory shall be employed on any work furnished by contract with business firms or corporations, to the detriment of free labor. It is believed that sufficient pressure will now be brought to bear on the Legislature to induce it to try the plan of utilizing convict labor in building good State roads. Gov. Morton has called special attention to the necessity for road improvement. Here is an opportunity for legislative work the wheelmen should improve.

THE greatest aids to happiness are a smooth road, a clear conscience and a good bicycle.

One of the worst things to get over is a bad road.

If you are really the horse's friend,
His broken paths you'll kindly mend.

SAN BERNARDINO has started a "rock-corral" for tramps. Large quantities of stone suitable for street work will be provided, and the tramps will be required to break it up into pieces for macadamizing the roads. The Bakersfield Californian says that every county in the State ought to do the same thing, and in a few years California would have the best roads of any State in the Union.—San Jose News.

TO DIVISION SECRETARIES.

We ask the indulgence of division officials for delay in publishing reports. Our space for official matter is limited by contract to six pages of nonpareil or its equivalent, and as we are already using much more than that amount there may be some delay in accommodating the many long reports that are now coming to us. We have many reports on the waiting list and these will be published at the earliest possible moment.

AMENDMENTS TO BY-LAWS.

Notice is hereby given that at the annual meeting of the National Assembly of the League of American Wheelmen, appointed to be held at the city of Baltimore on the second Monday in February, 1896, the following amendments to the By-laws of said League will be moved for adoption, to take effect on the first day of May, 1896.

Article IV. Strike out Section 7 and substitute the following: "The Committee on Local Organization shall consider and advise with reference to the formation of local clubs, consulates or associations composed of League members resident in cities and towns to the end that the objects of the League may be better advanced, the rights of cyclists determined and defended, and their interests better served. This committee may formulate and recommend rules for the organization and government of local bodies and may from time to time report through the official organ, such facts and information as may tend to encourage the work of local bodies and to inform the membership at large of the progress, condition and benefits of these organizations; but no local club, consulate body or organization shall be formed or maintained whose constitution or by-laws shall be in conflict with the constitution or by-laws of the League or of the State division in which such local body is contained, nor shall any such club, consulate body or association be formed or maintained except by the direct sanction and concurrence, and under the direction of the State division in which it is contained. Any State division may by its board of officers or by any authorized officers or committee thereof, prescribe and adopt rules not inconsistent with the foregoing provisions, for the formation, government and maintenance of local organizations, and may issue charters or certificates of approval to such organizations and from time to time cancel and revoke the same as may be deemed necessary."

ISAAC B. POTTER.

NOTICE OF RESOLUTIONS.

In case the proposed amendments to the constitution and by-laws, of which notice is given in this issue of the BULLETIN, are adopted, I shall move the adoption of the following resolutions:

Whereas, The fear is expressed by a considerable number of members of the League that the relinquishment of the control of cycle racing by the League, as an organization, will lead to an increase and aggravation of the abuses already existing among persons now engaged in the business of cycle racing and that the future jurisdiction of cycling contests may fall into incompetent or improper hands, now therefore be it

Resolved, That we recommend that with reasonable diligence after the adjournment of this assembly the members of our national racing board and the racing boards existing in our several State divisions, the official handicappers and such officers of our State divisions as may so elect, together with such other persons as may be duly qualified by character, experience and desire, form themselves together into an association having for its main purpose the promotion and control of cycle racing on the track and to that end that they adopt a title and formulate and publish such rules and regulations as shall to them seem to be approved by knowledge and experience, and be it further

Resolved, That this body by its duly authorized representatives, the Executive Committee of the League of American Wheelmen, (upon satisfactory showing being made to such committee that the organization herein proposed or an organization of similar character and competency has been duly organized with proper rules and equipments) resign and surrender to such body in the name of the League of American Wheelmen the exclusive jurisdiction and control of cycle racing upon the track to the full extent to which said jurisdiction and control are now held by the League of American Wheelmen.

ISAAC B. POTTER.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

Notice is hereby given that at the next annual meeting of the National Assembly of the League of American Wheelmen, appointed to begin at the city of Baltimore on the second Monday in February, 1896, the following amendments to the Constitution of said League will be moved for adoption, to take effect on the first day of May, 1896.

Article I, Section 2. Strike out the words "and to promote and regulate cycle racing on the track."

Article III. Strike out all of Section 8.

Article VI, Section 3. Strike out the words "Racing Board" and insert instead thereof the words "Local Organization."

Article VI, Section 5. Amend this section so as to read as follows: "The Committee on Local Organization shall consist of the chief consuls of all divisions having memberships of one thousand and upwards on their respective rolls at the date of the annual meeting of the National Assembly next preceding the official year for which this committee shall take office. The members of the Committee on Local Organization shall select their own chairman by the ballots of those members personally present at the said annual meeting. All other national committees shall be appointed by the President, who shall have the power to suspend or remove any member of such committees, and to fill vacancies therein arising from suspensions, removals or from any other cause."

ISAAC B. POTTER.

AMENDMENTS.

At the annual meeting of the National Assembly I shall propose the following amendments to the Constitution.

Fraternally,

SPENCER T. WILLIAMS.

Add to Article III., Section 6. (a). Add to this, "except that he shall pay no more than $1 for a full year." Strike out (b).

Article III, Section 9, add at end of fifth line, "having three hundred or more members." He shall credit to the account of all divisions having less than 300 members all but forty cents of the dues and initiation fees, and the funds thus credited shall be used to pay the legitimate expenses of the division as evidenced by bills rendered by the chief consul or secretary-treasurer. Add to the end of sixth line, "having three hundred or more members."

Article IV., Section 1, third paragraph, change "two hundred" to "five hundred." Fourth paragraph, change "one hundred" to "three hundred."

AMENDMENT.

Notice of amendment to be offered at meeting of national assembly, Feb. 10, 1896.

Amend Article V., Sect. 1 (a) of the constitution, by adding at the end thereof, the following:

"Provided, however, that whenever the board of officers of any division shall adopt a by-law or rule providing that the secretary-treasurer of the division shall hold office during the pleasure of the board, the secretary-treasurer thereafter elected shall perform the duties of his office until the board of officers shall declare his office vacant, by resolution duly adopted at any meeting regularly called, and after thirty days notice of such proposed action shall have been given by mail to the members of the board of officers.

"In the event of the removal of a secretary-treasurer by the board of officers, the chief consul shall appoint a secretary-treasurer who shall serve until the next anunal election thereafter."

CHAS. F. COSSUM.

POUGHKEEPSIE.

AMENDMENT.

At the meeting of the National Assembly I shall move the following amendment to the Constitution. This is made in the interest of the remote divisions which can now be represented only by proxy, and is a part of a scheme to be carried out in another amendment which allows a division to choose delegates that are not members of the division.

ABBOT BASSETT.

Article IV., Section 4. Add "the place of meeting shall be determined by the National Assembly during its session of a preceding year, or the Assembly may, by vote, delegate the power of choosing to the executive committee."

AMENDMENT.

Article III, section 8 (class A), amateur rule, clause (i), fourth line, strike out "thirty days", insert instead, "ten days subject to an extension to thirty days upon proper showing of cause therefor."

Class B rules, clause (f), same correction.

Very truly yours,

GEO. D. GIDEON,

Jan. 4, 1895. Chairman L. A. W. Racing Board.

AMENDMENTS.

Dear Sir,—On behalf of the racing board it is expected that the following amendments to the constitution and by-laws of the L. A. W. shall be proposed at the national assembly.

Amateur Rule.

CONSTITUTION.

Article III., Sect. 8, "of class A" to be stricken out of lines 1 and 10; insert after "description" in sixth line, "except as hereinafter provided."

(b) Strike out "amateur of," first line; insert "rider" after B. second line.

(e) Strike out "fifty," insert "thirty-five."

(f) Strike out "of class A," first line: strike out "two" and insert "one," third line; strike out all of this clause after word "residence," and insert "except at national or division championship meetings."

DEC. 28, 1895.

AMENDMENT.

Under Article III., Sect. 8, constitution, amateur rule (class A) clause (f), it is desired to amend to strike out the words "outside of his own State." Will you kindly have it published in the BULLETIN in accordance with the rule?

GEO. D. GIDEON,

Chair. L. A. W. Rac. Board.

AMENDMENT.

As an additional amendment to those sent early in the week I offer the following:

Strike out of clause (i) amateur rule (class A), Sect. 8, Article III., of the Constitution, the words "Class B" on fourth line, and insert instead, "class in which the racing board believes him to belong"

Very truly yours,

GEO. D. GIDEON,

Chairman L. A. W. Racing Board.

JAN. 2, 1896.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

W. T. Robertson, 429 10th street N. W., Washington D. C., is hereby appointed chief consul of the District of Columbia to fill vacancy.

We bespeak for Mr. Robertson the cordial support of all wheelmen in the District and we urge that they assist him to awaken an interest in League affairs in that section.

Fraternally,

A. C. WILLISON,

President L. A. W.

CONNECTICUT DIVISION.

Recognizing the need of a new road book, or map of folding form with roads well delineated, the board of officers have authorized the publication of a tour book and map combined with a table of ordinances existing in the various towns, names and residences of the consuls and any other information of special interest to wheelmen, in a condensed form. Much of this information will have to be acquired from the members of this division and although a committee has been appointed for the purpose, much of it has been left to your chief consul who will be very pleased to receive any information. No matter of how little importance you may deem it, send it in. It may be useful in connection with matter sent in by some one else.

The chief consul cannot possibly become personally acquainted with all, and in some cases, he has perhaps selected the wrong person for local consul. We wish to improve the consular force and now is the time to do it. I would be pleased to receive recommendations for the position and will, to the best of my judgment, use such in the selection.

Such communications will be strictly confidential.

The League hotel question is also undergoing a change and although in many towns we may not be able to show an improvement, I will be glad to receive recommendations as well as complaints, and wherever possible for me to do so, will make terms and conditions more favorable to L. A. W. members, and if, in some cases, letters on these matters are not replied to, they will nevertheless be attended to as in the judgment of the chief consul necessary. I make this apology for not replying in all cases as the subject is one that calls for so large a correspondence that it will necessitate economy in my time. However, I am willing to try to at least acknowledge receipt of such communications.

In writing on these subjects, I would suggest that a separate sheet be used for each subject, fully dated and signed, that they may be more easily accessible.

These matters will be more fully treated in circulars later.

Yours very truly,

PHILIP W. WESTLAKE, Chief Consul.

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Jan. 1, '96.

Samples of folding maps and prices of same from any source will be gratefully acknowledged.

REVISION OF WISCONSIN BY-LAWS.

In conformity with Article IX of the present division By-Laws, the undersigned, constituting the board of officers, recommend the adoption of the following amendments and additions to the present By-Laws:—

Adopted June 20, 1890; revised December 20, 1895.

In the first paragraph, fourth line, omit the words "rules and" and insert following the word Constitution "and By-Laws."

The Wisconsin Division, League of American Wheelmen, organized in Milwaukee, September, 1886, under the provisions of the parent body, is subject to the Constitution and By-Laws of said League, and is pledged to support its interests and uphold and obey its laws.

In Article I. omit the words "in good standing" from the third and fourth line.

ARTICLE I.

The officers of this division shall be a chief consul, vice consul, secretary-treasurer and one state representative for each two hundred members; these officers, together with the authorized League club representatives, to form the State board of officers, with general authority to transact all business of the division.

Article II. shall remain as it is, except that the duties of the vice consul shall be made to constitute Article III.

ARTICLE II.

The chief consul shall preside at all meetings of the board of officers or of the division; shall appoint all committees not elected by ballot, shall act on resignations from committee men or local consuls, and shall fill such vacancies by appointment; shall appoint one consul for each locality that in his judgment is entitled thereto, and shall appoint League hotels on recommendation of local consuls or majority of members in stated locality.

ARTICLE III.

The vice consul assumes all duties of chief consul, in his absence and fills office for unexpired term in case of resignation.

Article IV. shall make provisions for the duties of the secretary-treasurer, and shall read as follows: —

ARTICLE IV.

The secretary-treasurer shall receive and account for all the moneys belonging to the division; shall only be permitted to draw on the division funds for the necessary running expenses of the office and submit an itemized account of such expenditures at each meeting of the board. He shall keep a complete list of the division membership, keep all records of meetings of division or board of officers, and shall perform such duties as pertain to his dual office by order of chief consul, board of officers or will of meeting. He shall give bond in such amount as the board of officers may require.

Article V. shall provide for the duties of representatives and shall read as follows: —

ARTICLE V.

Representatives shall look after the interests of the League in the territory in which they reside, and make such recommendations to the chief consul as in their judgment will be to the interests of the division. They shall in connection with the chief consul have power to decide all local matters in the State.

Original Article III. which provides for the duties of local consuls shall remain as it is except that it shall be called Article VI., and that on the tenth line the month "September" shall be changed to "January."

ARTICLE VI.
